LONDON, Nov. 10.—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin had a warm reception when he appeared at the Guildhall tonight to take his place at the new Lord Mayor's banquet.

A year ago he slipped in almost unobserved, managing to elude the fanfare of trumpets which every Cabinet Minister who attends the Guildhall banquet is expected to face. Since then two general elections have taken place, and fate having decreed that Mr. Baldwin should again attend as Prime Minister, the City Fathers took good care that on this occasion he should not escape the triumphant welcome prepared for him.

The members of the new Cabinet who had arrived before their chief also met with a great reception, notably Winston Churchill, who received an ovation from the representatives of the City which would have gladdened the heart of any Chancellor of the Exchequer. When Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin appeared and the fanfare of trumpets was heard every person in the hall seemed to join in the cheering. The enthusiasm was equally hearty when a couple of hours later Mr. Baldwin rose to respond to the toast of "His Majesty's Ministers."

Government to Be National One.

The Prime Minister, after some humorous introductory remarks, made a reference to the significance of the recent election.

"We know," he said, "it is a testimony of our fellow-countrymen in favor of progress and not of stagnation. We know that it is a decisive vote against minority government and we know that we have received support from many of those who at ordinary times might have given their support to other parties. They have attempted to put into power a national government, and it is in the exercise of that trust that we shall endeavor to deserve their confidence."

In conclusion the Prime Minister referred to domestic problems, such as housing and insurance. The Government, he said, would do its utmost, but the real redemption of the people must come from themselves. The Government would not attempt to control the country's industries, and they would do all they could to prevent others from obtaining that control.

"We believe that ordered progress lies along the lines which this country has hitherto pursued," he said, "and that by changing the basis of our system we should fall into a pit of poverty and misery hardly to be visualized by our workers, and certainly never yet experienced by them."

In view of the fact that he and his colleagues had only just taken over office, Mr. Baldwin begged to be excused from making that comprehensive survey of political conditions at home and abroad customary at the Lord Mayor's banquet. He could, however, say that in regard to foreign policy the one object of the Government would be stability and continuity.

Will Stand by Peace Treaties.

"We stand by peace treaties, and we will cultivate good relations with foreign countries on the basis of those treaties," he said. "That this policy is not a policy of stagnation is shown by the action taken by the last Unionist Administration that led directly to the Dawes report and the London Conference, which under the able direction of Ramsay MacDonald proved so successful.

"Not only was the London Conference valuable in itself, but it had special significance in that it marked the reentry of the United States into European politics. The Government, while fully understanding the peculiar circumstances which rendered difficult the continuous cooperation of that country in European affairs, cannot but express its appreciation and gratitude for the leading part America played in the negotiations which culminated in the London protocol.

"That protocol is now in a fair way toward execution. The various organizations contemplated by the Dawes report have been set up and are functioning. The administration of various pledges has been handed back to Germany and various mixed commissions have been set up to settle disputes to which the transfer of authority might give rise. The Reparation Commission declared on Oct. 28 that fiscal and economic unity had been restored within the meaning of the London agreement.

"This very satisfactory result which encourages such good hopes for the future would not have been attained but for the statesmanlike attitude of the French Government. M. Herriot has earned the gratitude of Europe for his moderation and he may rest assured that His Majesty's Government will continue to furnish him with the most

Brussels Brokers Quit Bourse Kept Open Over Armistice Day

BRUSSELS, Nov. 10. — The Bourse opened today, but not a single transaction was recorded. The Governing Commission had decided to keep the exchange closed in honor of Armistice Day and also to make a three-day holiday, beginning yesterday.

The city authorities, however, ordered the Bourse to remain open. Every employe was at work and the tickers ticked, but only a few brokers stood around and smiled and refused to do any business.

FASCISTI IN ITALY FACE GRAVE CRISIS

TWO BIG MEETINGS TODAY

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Nov. 10.—With the reopening of Parliament only two days distant, and with public opinion still in a state of feverish turmoil after the Armistice Day incidents between the Fascisti and opposition ex-combatants, the feeling is widespread that Italy is on the brink of big political developments, and some even believe that the fate of the present Cabinet may be decided within relatively few hours.

Partisan sentiment is running so high, and the battle is engaged with such bitterness, that victory for one side or the other cannot be long delayed. Two meetings of great importance are scheduled to take place tomorrow. The first is the general assembly of Fascist and pro-Fascist Deputies, to whom Mussolini will deliver a speech. The second is a gathering of the opposition Deputies, who will issue an appeal to the Italian people.

To prevent these two meetings from furnishing pretext for a repetition of the unpleasant incidents which marred Armistice Day celebrations, the Government meanwhile took the precaution of following up its decree prohibiting any one from carrying weapons with another one prohibiting until further notice all public political meetings or demonstrations of any sort whatsoever.

It is understood that Mussolini in his speech to the Deputies constituting the majority of the Chamber will review the present political situation and the work of his Government during the last four months, will roughly outline his program for the future and will end with an impassioned appeal to the Deputies who still support him to stick together and resist all secessionist manoeuvres of the opposition.

The constant fear of the possibility of a split in the Fascist majority in the Chamber is caused by the fact that the Deputies who entered Parliament on the Fascist ticket are not all Fascisti, but include many Liberals and ex-combatants whose allegiance to the Fascist régime is beginning to show signs of waverings. If the Liberals and ex-combatants joined the opposition and abandoned the Parliament, the Fascist Deputies alone would be insufficient in number to form a quorum necessary for the decisions of Parliament to have a legal value and Mussolini would find himself obliged either to govern without a Parliament or to face the possibility of failure in the general elections.

As the opposition remains faithful to its intention of boycotting Parliament and not taking part in its sittings, Parliament will reopen on Wednesday with only Fascist and pro-Fascist Deputies present. To these may possibly be added the Communists, who, though they are part of the opposition have not joined the opposition bloc and are therefore not bound by the decision of the Executive Council of the opposition bloc not to take part in parliamentary work.

Mussolini Says He Holds Back Fascisti.

ROME, Nov. 10.—Premier Mussolini informed The Tribune correspondent tonight that he would recommend the dissolution of Parliament and the proclamation of a dictatorship if necessary to execute his economic and political program.

"I am holding the Fascisti in check," Mussolini said. "If I should let them go, as they are pleading, the Opposition would go like that."

"I shall inform the majority now supporting the Government of this tomorrow when I address them. I shall inform the members exactly how many Fascisti are now in jail."

The number is estimated at over 1,000.

"The Opposition trembles with fear and it is to me they telephone and beg for protection. They know that were it not for my restraining hand there would be no Opposition."

PUBLICITY OF TAXES MAY BE REPEALED AT SHORT SESSION

COMPLAINTS BY THOUSANDS

ALBANY TAX LISTS OPEN

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Present indications are that Republican leaders will confer with Secretary Mellon soon and then reach a decision on the question of tax revision. There appears to be much opposition by Senate leaders to attempting any adjustment of taxes in the coming short session of Congress. Treasury Department officials and Administration leaders in Senate and House are determined, however, to bring about the repeal of the income-tax publicity provision of the new revenue law as quickly as practicable, and the effort may be made in the session beginning next month.

Senator Pepper conferred today with President Coolidge and called upon Secretary Mellon. He declined to indicate the attitude of Secretary Mellon on the proposal to begin revision of the taxes in the coming session of Congress.

If there is a surplus, the only thing for the Government to do is to prepare to return the unnecessary collection to the people as soon as possible, Senator Pepper said while discussing tax reduction at the White House.

Varying Views on Revision.

"Of course, I am for tax reduction," he said. "But I do not wish to express an opinion as to when it should be undertaken. The program should be arrived at by the Administration after due consideration of the situation. One cannot tell at this time what will be the attitude of those men who opposed reduction of the high surtaxes. We cannot undertake revision any too early, but it should be started with a chance for success.

Senator Fess of Ohio, another White House caller, said he was opposed to tax revision at this time. He favors using the surplus to reduce the war debt, believing that a reduction in this would be better business than returning the surplus in driblets to the people.

"I think that there should be a commission appointed to study tax revision, say, members of the Ways and Means and Finance Committees, and experts in the treasury," said Senator Fess. "This commission could begin its work early next year and report to Congress in December, 1925, a plan which would equalize taxes. I am strongly in favor of Secretary Mellon's plan to reduce the surtaxes, and think that a commission could work out a program which would include a radical reduction on surtaxes and other taxes hitting the taxpayers generally."

Frederick W. Gillett, Speaker of the House, who was elected to the Senate from Massachusetts last Tuesday, was one of the early callers on Mr. Coolidge. They talked over matters pertaining to the legislative program in the House during the coming session.

Will H. Hays, former Postmaster General, called to congratulate Mr. Coolidge on his election and to chat about the political situation. He was accompanied by Al Christie of California, a motion picture producer.

Want Publicity Repeal Now.

Some of the Administration leaders believe that the reaction against publicity of income tax returns has been so strong that a Congress composed of the same men who voted for publicity would agree to strike out the provision. In any event the most conservative of the Administration directors are now predicting with confidence that the law will be changed, either during the short session or when the new Congress assembles.

Decision as to the best time to bring the matter before Congress will be withheld until a canvass is made of the situation. If the Administration leaders find they can assemble enough followers

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRID, Nov. 10.—Two of the men arrested at Barcelona in connection with Thursday's affray were executed in prison there this morning after being adjudged guilty of participation in the attack on the police by court-martial.

The fourteen men arrested near Vera have been taken to Pamplona for military trial. Arrests continue to be made on both sides of the frontier, the French police being also on the watch. The French Ambassador has been in close conference with Admiral de Magaz, Vice President of the Directory.

There can be little doubt that the Vera affray was part of a widespread plot which has misfired. Some details of the Vera affair are to hand from Pamplona which show the admirable spirit of the Civil Guard, the picturesquely uniformed force of horse and foot constabulary of Spain.

The invaders were first noticed in the streets of Vera at 4 o'clock in the morning by the Town Secretary, who heard and saw them from his bedroom. Directing hastily, he sent to call the Civil Guard. Two guards at once set out along the road the band had taken.

A sudden volley laid one of the guards low, and while the Secretary went back to the village for help the fight continued. When other forces reached the spot one Civil Guard was found dead, and a stream of blood to the river bank indicated that the other guard had been thrown in, perhaps alive. His body was found later. This guard had fixed his bayonet and probably he inflicted most of the casualties on the band of invaders.

MADRID, Nov. 10 (Associated Press). —Admiral the Marquis de Magaz, acting head of the Spanish Military Directorate, tonight in an address warned persons concerned in subversive movements against Spain that they will be summarily dealt with.

The speaker characterized as suicidal the attitude of the Catalonian Separatists and as treason against Spain the activities of other Spaniards who in the name of liberty have organized bands composed of the débris from the World War, which are now being hurled against Spain to bring about a revolution."

Carbon Monoxide Kills Well-to-Do Woman Sitting in Car in Her Garage at Pelham

Mrs. Eva Robinson Taylor of 410 Wynnewood Avenue, Pelham, who had been prominent in society circles of the Pelhams and Mount Vernon, was killed yesterday by carbon monoxide gas in the garage of her former home, whither she had gone to get some clothing. Her body was found partly hanging from the door of her automobile by Rudolph Krause, a butler employed by Curt Taucher of the Metropolitan Opera Company, to whom the Pelham house had recently been leased. Coroner Edward Fitzgerald, who was called by Dr. A. C. McGuire of Pelham, said that her death was accidental.

Mrs. Taylor, who was 33 years old, was the wife of the late Sutherland Taylor Jr., who was killed in an automobile accident on the Boston Post Road on Aug. 29. Clinton T. Taylor, former Corporation Counsel, who was in the automobile with his brother, was severely injured. Mrs. Taylor was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Robinson of East Sidney Avenue, Mount Vernon, with whom she had been living.

Coroner Fitzgerald said that the indications were that Mrs. Taylor had left the engine running while the doors of the garage were closed and had gone into the house to bring down her belongings. The air-tight space of the small one-car garage immediately became filled with the deadly gas. When she came through the door adjoining the kitchen into the garage it is believed that she managed to gain the seat of the machine before the gas took effect. Two slight marks on the right side of her cheek are believed to have been caused when she collapsed inside the machine.

Rudolph Krause, butler for the Taucher family, said they intended to take up occupancy of the Taylor residence and that he had arrived at the house shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning to make preparations for the coming of his employer. The butler said that the keys had been turned over to him by the real estate agent and that he had walked into the garage, where he discovered the odor of gas and the body of Mrs. Taylor.

WALL STREET BOOM SETS NEW RECORD

Trading in 526 Separate Issues Greatest Number in Stock Exchange History.

BROKERS' OFFICES SWAMPED

Working on Night Shift—Orders Pour In for Fifth Working Day Since Election.

For the fifth successive business day since the sweeping victory of President Coolidge and his party throughout the nation, the physical machinery of Wall Street yesterday was taxed to its utmost to handle the flood of new business. The turn-over of securities on the New York Stock Exchange aggregated 2,226,220 shares and trading on the Curb Market was proportionately as large. This trading was in a total of 526 separate issues, the largest number ever handled in a single day on the Stock Exchange. The previous high record was 517 separate issues, on Dec. 27, 1923.

Nor was the bullish enthusiasm which has cropped out since the election confined to the securities market. December wheat advanced 2 cents per bushel and May 2¼ cents. At the best price for May wheat, a new high record was established at $1.00⅝ per bushel. More moderate advances were made in the corn market. December cor was up ⅛ cent at the close and May corn exactly one cent. Rye made a net gain of 2½ cents for the December option and May 2¾ cents per bushel.

In the international markets the feature was sterling. Its gain for the day was 2¼ cents to the pound and its best price, in a strong and active market, was $4.62 15-16. French exchange gained 4¼ points, Italian exchange 2¾ points, while the guilder of Holland sold at 40.02 cents, a new high record for the year.

Orders Still Pouring In.

The wave of speculative enthusiasm engendered by the election and by the possibility of improvement in every line of business during the next few months did not appear yesterday to have reached its crest. Orders poured in for the purchase of stocks in large blocks from literally every part of the country. This was most evident at the market's opening, when the average price of fifty representative stocks rushed up to a new high for the year at 98.53. This is the highest since the 99.55 average on Nov. 5, 1919. The difference between conditions then and now is that the 1919 figure was established at the peak of a long era of excited speculation, not only in stocks but in commodities and in inventories. No such condition prevails today, but rather industry and business as a whole are proceeding at a measured pace, with their era of expansion, should it develop, ahead of them.

More than a million shares of stock—counted in Wall Street as a good average day—were traded in up to the noon hour yesterday and at times the ticker was from ten to twenty minutes behind actual sales. Scenes of excitement on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange and the Curb Market, which have become familiar since the big market started, were repeated. Every necessary cog of the speculative and investment machinery was revolving at high pressure. Sales of 10,000 to 80,000 shares of stock for the day in the speculative leaders were common throughout the list. Because of this tremendous volume, the Stock Clearing Corporation was obliged to extend its time for clearances last night past the usual hour.

Wall Street has literally gone on a "night shift" during the last week. The tremendous inrush of orders caught the financial district almost unawares and with most brokerage offices operating with subnormal or skeletonized forces. With the first speeding up of the market extra employes were put on, but even then the offices were unable to keep up, and many of the large brokerage houses were casting about last night for experienced clerical help. The Stock Clearing Corporation sent out an early call to its members for experienced men and the staff has been considerably enlarged in the last few days by the addition of men loaned to the Clearing Corporation by its members. Practically every large house in the street worked its clerks last night far into the night.

Close observers of the market discerned a moderate shifting in trading yesterday. Many recent purchasers were turning their paper profits into cash. This became evident after Atchison, New York Central, Lehigh Valley and other representative railroad issues

NICHOLSON REJECTS CRAIG BUS PROGRAM

FINDING STARTS DISPUTE

Controller Accuses the Mayor of Attempting to Defeat Bus Legislation.

In a voluminous opinion Corporation Counsel George P. Nicholson yesterday informed the Board of Estimate that in his view the Home Rule act does not place it within the power of the Municipal Assembly to grant to the Hylan Administration power to own and operate municipal bus lines.

The opinion, when read in the meeting of the Board of Estimate, precipitated a warm dispute between the Mayor and Controller Charles L. Craig, whose view of the law is diametrically opposed to that of Mr. Nicholson. The Controller is the author of four Municipal Assembly bills which, he contends, would empower the city, if adopted, to organize, own and operate a comprehensive bus system.

Controller Craig questioned Mayor Hylan's right to submit his (Mr. Craig's) bills to the Corporation Counsel for an opinion. He pointed out that while the Corporation Counsel may be a proper legal adviser of the Mayor and of the Board of Estimate, the Municipal Assembly is a legislative rather than an executive body and therefore has no legal adviser.

Controller Craig argued that if Mayor Hylan had done as the Controller urged and had called immediately a special meeting of the Municipal Assembly the legal aspects of the case could have been determined by the courts in time for definite action by the Municipal Assembly at its next regular meeting on Nov. 21 and such action would then be in harmony with court rulings and would not be prejudiced in advance by the Corporation Counsel's opinion, which Mr. Craig held to be "impertinent" and irrelevant to the issue.

Turns on the Mayor.

After the reading of Corporation Counsel Nicholson's opinion, Controller Craig, wheeling toward Mayor Hylan, declared:

"The purpose of this action today is to intimidate the Municipal Assembly, so that body will have its work of defeating the municipal bus bills all cut out for it. Anything that the Board of Estimate does today is simply an act of impertinence. Every one knows the Corporation Counsel is not a legal adviser of the newly created Municipal Assembly. Therefore, by what right does he offer to that body an opinion which has been unsought? I introduced my bus bills in the Municipal Assembly. What right has this board to consider them?

"You have not called a meeting of the Municipal Assembly, Mr. Mayor, to consider these bus bills. Now, as a result of your delay, we must wait until Nov. 21 before even beginning officially to consider the city bus plan. Why, if you had called a meeting of the Municipal Assembly, as you should have done, you could have had the bus bills passed, and then let the courts and not your Corporation Counsel decide whether or not the Municipal Assembly, under the new Home Rule law, has a right to decide to establish a municipally operated bus system. This action could have been decided by the courts by Nov. 21, the date of the next meeting of the Municipal Assembly."

When Controller Craig had finished, Mayor Hylan remarked:

"What are you making all this fuss about? Your bills will be submitted to the Municipal Assembly. Nothing that has occurred here today will interfere with them. Our only object in getting the opinion of the Corporation Counsel is to set ourselves right when we meet as a branch of the Municipal Assembly."

A motion was adopted to refer Mr. Nicholson's opinion to the Municipal Assembly.

In his formal opinion the Corporation Counsel held that "there are insuperable legal barriers in the way of the accomplishment of municipal ownership and operation of buses through the enactment of the proposed local laws." The opinion went on to say that "the decisions of the courts prior to the constitutional amendment of 1923 and the City Home Rule law have been uniformly to the effect that the City of New York lacks the necessary grant of power from the Legislature to enable it to own and operate buses."

Mr. Nicholson then quotes the lan-

NEW DEADLINE HALTS CRIMES IN MIDTOWN; HOLD-UP IN THE BRONX

EXTRA MEN DOWNTOWN, TOO

BANDITS FLEE WITH $3,000

Five Hold Up Milk Station, and One Shoots Manager as He Tries to Draw Gun.

The new police midtown deadline, together with increased detective and uniformed police protection for the shopping district and the downtown financial and jewelry sections, went into effect at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, apparently with great success.

No hold-ups, robberies or burglaries of any importance were reported from either the new or the old barred zones. As far as could be learned the extra details of police guarding both districts did not recognize any known criminals inside of the two deadlines. According to the police, the crooks were frightened by the publicity given to the move, and did not dare take a chance. Naturally the police officials were highly pleased with the first day's results.

Outside the new deadline, however—in the Bronx—five bandits successfully held up a milk supply station and, after one of them had narrowly missed killing the manager, escaped in an automobile with $3,000.

The only other attempts to commit sensational crimes after the deadline went into effect were reported from Brooklyn, where no detailed scheme of holiday protection has been announced, although the Brooklyn police are working on a deadline plan similar to New York's. Some of the men arrested in Brooklyn gave Manhattan addresses, indicating that the new deadline has driven Manhattan crooks across the river or outside of the city.

Tour Area in Large Autos.

When the order went into effect at 8 A. M., detectives of five squads in Police Headquarters began to patrol the territory between Fourth Street and Sixtieth Street and from Third Avenue to Seventh Avenue in high-powered automobiles, smaller cars having been discarded so that they could effectively cope with hold-up men in a chase. Other contingents of these squads were sent to patrol the financial and jewelry district south of City Hall.

These squads were the safe and loft squad, under Acting Captain John Stapleton; the automobile squad, under Sergeant Edward Dilion; the pickpocket squad, under Sergeant William Rastis; the truck squad, under Sergeant Samuel Dribben, and a special squad of picked detectives, operating under the supervision of Inspector John D. Coughlin, head of the Detective Division.

At the same time, uniformed policemen were assigned to posts of two blocks each along Fifth Avenue from Thirty-fourth Street to Sixtieth Street and from Twenty-third Street to Sixtieth Street on Broadway and the other avenues in the zone. All of the detectives and policemen will be in almost constant touch by telephone with their respective stations and Police Headquarters.

It was announced at Police Headquarters that many letters had been received from business men in this district commending the police for the effort to shut off crime there during the period of the new order.

Louis Greenberg, manager of the Morrisania Stock Farm Company, a milk supply corporation at 883 Tinton Avenue, the Bronx, with three other employes, was receiving receipts from the company's forty drivers and paying them their weekly salaries at 5:30 o'clock in the evening when three well-dressed young men entered the office of the company on the second floor, and pressing pistols through the steel grill work of the partition shouted "Hands up!"

Greenberg was standing near a steel wicker basket in which there was about $3,000 when the command was uttered by one of the robbers, who had trained his pistol on the manager. Greenberg instinctively reached for his right hip pocket, in which he carried a pistol, but the bandit on the other side of the partition, who appeared to be the leader of the trio, pulled the trigger of his weapon and a bullet grazed the skin on Greenberg's right cheek.

Japan to Honor Memory of the Unknown Who Died to Protest Against Exclusion Law

By WILFRID FLEISHER.

TOKIO, Nov. 10.—The body of the unknown Japanese who committed harakiri several months ago close to the compound of the former American Embassy in protest against the enactment of the American exclusion law, is to be removed from its present resting place in Aoyama general cemetery to the military cemetery where are buried some of Japan's greatest heroes and statesmen.

Permission of the Tokio municipality for transfer of the body to the military cemetery has just been granted as a result of efforts made by Mitsuru Toyama, leader of the Black Dragon Society, which was active in agitating against America after the passage of the immigration bill.

Toyama first approached the authorities of the War Office for permission to rebury the body in the military cemetery, and while the War Office could not officially comply with the request it transferred a plot in the cemetery to the Tokio Municipality, which thereupon granted the authorization.

The reburial will be conducted under the auspices of the National Funeral Service Society and will be on a large scale. The tomb will stand in a space of forty square yards. Among the prominent men buried in the military cemetery at Aoyama are General Nogi, hero of the Russo-Japanese War, who committed hara-kiri on the night of the funeral of Emperor Meiji, and also the late Marquis Okuma.

MAN SLAIN IN FIGHT IN CROWDED 5TH AV.

SHE FLEES AMONG AUTOS

Tragedy Occurs in Middle of the Avenue at 61st Street at Evening Rush Hour.

At the height of the home-going rush in Fifth Avenue yesterday evening a man was shot dead at Sixty-first Street in a revolver battle with a Deputy Sheriff of the Bronx.

The sudden burst of shots in the middle of the avenue terrified pedestrians, and the whizzing bullets gave some anxious moments to motorists until they saw one of the contestants throw up his hands and fall dead by the Central Park wall.

The dead man is Henry Rau, 31 years old, a blacksmith, who lived in Old Bowery Bay Road, Astoria. The Deputy Sheriff who killed him is Erwin Kleeblatt, 26 years old, 1,155 Boston Road, the Bronx, who has a printing business at 1,674 Broadway, and who was a Lieutenant in the A. E. F.

Until a moment before the shooting neither of the men had seen each other. About 6 o'clock Kleeblatt was standing at Sixtieth Street and Fifth Avenue waiting for a Fifth Avenue bus, when he was startled by the sudden blazing of a revolver a block to the north. Feeling it his duty as a Deputy Sheriff to try to maintain order, he ran up the avenue, drawing his own revolver.

Finds Rau Shooting at a Woman.

In the middle of the avenue at Sixty-first Street, Kleeblatt saw Rau firing at a woman who was making a frantic effort to escape through the darting automobiles. Kleeblatt ran up to Rau with raised revolver and ordered him to hold up his hands. Rau turned and fired another shot. Kleeblatt replied with a shot which struck Rau in the forehead. Then Rau fired again and started running toward Central Park. A second bullet from Kleeblatt's revolver struck him in the back. He suddenly raised his arms, groaned "I'm through," and fell headlong on the pavement.

Patrolmen who made their way through the excited throng that had gathered hurried Kleeblatt and two women who had figured in the shooting to the East Sixty-seventh Street Station. There it developed that the shooting had grown out of a quarrel between Rau and his wife.

According to Mrs. Rau, who lives at 536 Seventh Avenue, Astoria, she and her husband separated a month ago after a series of quarrels. Last week she met him by agreement to try to settle their difficulties but without success.

Her Husband Confronts Her.

Yesterday afternoon she had not expected to meet her husband and believed he had been waiting for her, knowing it her custom to meet a friend, Mae Irwin of 5 West 138th Street, after work, at Fifth Avenue and Sixtieth Street.

As she was walking north in the avenue she was suddenly confronted by her husband, who again pleaded with her to return. When she refused again, a bitter quarrel ensued. Suddenly Rau drew out a revolver and fired at her, she told the police. The shot passed through her skirt, as did the second, fired a moment later.

It was then that she darted, terrified, into the midst of the Fifth Avenue traffic in an effort to reach safety in the park. Her husband, following her, had just reached the middle of the street when Kleeblatt ran up.

Patrolman Alex Swanson of the East Sixty-seventh Street Station took Rau to the Presbyterian Hospital in a taxicab, but Dr. Murth said that he was already dead. Kleeblatt and the two women were held at the station house last night for questioning by William Ryan, Assistant District Attorney.

Warship Is Scheduled to Be Sunk Saturday—Court Sets Hearing of Secretary for Friday.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Associate Justice William Hitz of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia signed an order this afternoon directing Secretary Wilbur of the Navy to appear in court next Friday and show cause why he should not be restrained from destroying the superdreadnought Washington, one of the new American first-line battleships, the scrapping of which is provided for in the arms conference naval-limitation treaty.

The action was brought by William B. Shearer, who sues as a citizen and taxpayer, alleging that the destruction of the Washington will work "great and irreparable injury" to the Navy and result in the loss of a vast amount of money to the nation. Mr. Shearer further alleges that the arms conference treaties were not properly ratified, and that some of the signatories to the naval treaty are not living up to the letter of the agreement. Hence no further scrapping of American battleships should be carried out at present.

Secretary Wilbur has not yet been served with the papers. It is expected that service will be obtained tomorrow morning. Until he has seen the papers in the case the Secretary will not make any comment.

The Washington left the Philadelphia Navy Yard today for the Virginia Capes, where she is to be sunk in experimental bombing and target practice next Saturday at a point about sixty miles east of Cape Charles. High explosive bombs will be placed in the water at designated distances around the battleship and detonated to ascertain the effect of such explosives on the hull of the warship. If after this the vessel remains afloat she will be sunk by target fire. She is to be scrapped, in other words, by experimental attack.

Declares for a Finish Fight.

Mr. Shearer appeared in court flanked by a big array of counsel. Following the action of Justice Hitz he announced that he was going to make it a finish fight. When the action comes up for argument, he asserted, he will offer witnesses of the highest standing who will substantiate every allegation made in the complaint. On the other hand, the Navy Department does not seem to be greatly worried over the case and apparently does not expect any considerable delay in carrying out the obligation it understands to be imposed on the department under the terms of the naval treaty.

In the complaint Mr. Shearer is named as the plaintiff and Secretary Wilbur as the defendant. Mr. Shearer is described in the document as a resident of New York and a taxpayer. He is further described as a qualified naval expert and as the inventor of a war craft known as the Sea Hornet, a one-man torpedo boat, which, it is stated, was bought by this Government during the World War and met all the tests of the department.

The papers in the case were filed by Wilton J. Lambert, William E. Leahy, Martin J. McNamara and Rudolph H. Teatman, Washington lawyers, Mr. Lambert being in charge for the plaintiff. In the order signed by Justice Hitz, Secretary Wilbur is directed to be in court at 10 o'clock Friday morning prepared to show why his orders to destroy the Washington should not be canceled. This is just twenty-four hours in advance of the time set for the sinking of the battleship.

In the papers setting forth his case, Mr. Shearer asks that the United States battleship Washington, as therein described, remain intact in good order so that no part of the battleship be touched or any part removed, machinery or otherwise, and that the vessel be kept in the best condition possible and not allowed to suffer deterioration or neglect.

Construction of the Washington was authorized on Aug. 29, 1916, and the contract signed Jan. 17, 1917. The ship's keel was laid in the New York Ship Building Company's yards at Camden, N. J., on June 30, 1919, and the Washington was launched on Sept. 1, 1923. She is of 33,500 tons, with a length of 600 feet and beam of 97.3½ feet; carries eight sixteen-inch guns, twelve five-inch guns, eight three-inch guns, and is designed for a personnel of sixty-six officers and 1,396 men.

Declares Treaties Are Not in Force.

Mr. Shearer alleges that she is about 85 per cent. complete and has cost the people of the United States of America about $35,000,000 as she stands today. He bases his efforts to save the Washington on the argument that the Limitation of Arms treaty concerning or covering ships to be scrapped or destroyed based on capital ship tonnage is not in force or legal. To support this argument he offers the following contentions:

"Failure of France to ratify makes two important treaties ineffective and vacated. I. e., relating to poison gases and submarines, and the one mentioning the territorial integrity of China and the Open Door.

"This treaty was the cause of the Four-Power Pacific treaty among Great Britain, the United States, France and Japan relating to their insular possessions in the Pacific.

"The British protest against any action on their American battleships before the limitation of Armaments is in session until three [illegible]

tion, understanding or agreement on gun elevation or modernizing battleships. The British and American interpretation on the following are acutely different: No alterations in side armor in calibre, in number or general type of mounting shall be permitted. The treaty ratio is Great Britain, 5; America, 5; Japan, 3. The spirit of the treaty is in question.

"The British in capital ship tons are allowed 526,000 tons, and are far in excess of the tonnage allowed.

"The United States made sacrifices in the Pacific based on the understanding that all treaties would be carried out, ratified and fully lived up to.

"The British capital ships Glorious and Courageous of 18,600 tons each, 15-inch guns, are not permitted or allowed under the Washington treaty. These two ships are retained and could be used in case of war.

"The spirit of the treaty is in question based on the British naval program.

"The spirit of the treaty is in question based on the Japanese naval program, Japan having the largest naval program in the world.

"All further scrapping, destroying or placing out of commission of all types of ships should stop until the Limitation of Arms Treaty is proved to be in force and all treaties are ratified and are fully lived up to by the powers involved.

"Naval powers have made charges and alterations in ships and guns that are denied by protest to this country under the treaty.

Says Ratifications Have Failed.

"That they (the treaties) are not in effect because Article IX. of the Nine-Power Treaty to respect the integrity of China says:

"The present treaty shall be ratified as soon as possible, in accordance with the constitutional methods of the signatory powers, and shall take effect on the deposit of all the ratifications, which shall take place at Washington."

It is in this last connection that Mr. Shearer cites "failure of France to ratify, though we made surrenders of our own and of Chinese interests in the Four-Power Treaty."

After his argument that the Arms Conference treaties are one and all inoperative until all have been ratified in the manner specified, Mr. Shearer reverts in more detail to his allegation that Britain is over her alloted tonnage, alleging: That, whereas under the terms of the treaty the United States is allowed 525,000 and the British Empire 580,000 capital ship tonnage, the latter to be reduced later to 528,000 tons, "the British Government has continued to maintain a navy of 711,000 capital ship tonnage, and this notwithstanding that when the ships Rodney and Nelson were completed the British Government was then obligated under the treaty to scrap the King George V., Thunderer, Ajax and Centurion," none of these ships, it is charged, has been destroyed, although the Rodney and Nelson are said to be practically completed.

Emphasizes $35,000,000 Loss.

In emphasizing the monetary loss feature of the sinking, the complaint asserts that if the Navy Department orders are executed, it will mean a dead loss of $35,000,000 to the taxpayers of this country. It would be a better business solution of the problem, Mr. Shearer says, to convert the ship into an airplane carrier.

The plaintiff avers:

"In view of the serious situation shown by his (Mr. Shearer's) report on the condition of the United States Navy, the destruction of the Washington will do great and irreparable injury not only to the present state of the national defense, but will also cause the loss of the vast amount of money expended in its construction."

The plaintiff also maintains that demolition of the Washington should not now take place for the reason that Congress is about to meet and begin committee hearings to determine the policy of the Government as to the possible retention of the ship by converting her into an airplane carrier or of salvaging the material in her so that the greatest amount may be saved. The plaintiff further avers "that such destruction will result in absolute loss to the taxpayers" and to the plaintiff as a taxpayer, and that he has no adequate remedy at law."

When the case comes up Friday it is understood that the Judge Advocate General of the Navy will appear for Secretary Wilbur in opposition to the granting of a permanent injunction. Mr. Lambert will be in charge of the case for Mr. Shearer.

Mr. Shearer's complaint is voluminously documented, the author retracing much of the ground he covered in a series of interviews in The New York Times after last Spring's fleet manoeuvres had shown up some of the weaknesses of our navy, and bringing up to date the data that he has gathered as to the relative standing of our navy with Japan's and Great Britain's. At that time Mr. Shearer maintained that instead of the three principal navies standing in the 5-5-3 ratio prescribed by the Arms Conference treaty, they stood 5-5-3-1, with Great Britain first, Japan second and this country last.

In a supplementary document in which he considers the American and Japanese navies, Mr. Shearer agues that the Washington Conference did not solve the problem of peace and we must arm ourselves properly.

"We have not the slightest doubt regarding the good will of the powers interested in the Pacific," he continues, "but it is unwise to trust our national security to the good will of others.

Recalls Japan's Naval Activity.

"In the Japanese naval budget approximately 900,000,000 yen ($450,000,000) is asked. Italy, Germany and other countries are building war equipment for Japan. Submarine building in Japan is being supervised by German experts.

"Japanese naval estimates for the year 1924 devoted a total of ¥24,000,000 to naval undertakings, or two and one-half times more than is estimated to represent earthquake losses. The naval undertakings are being carried on at a fast pace. There is no slacking for want of funds. There are eighty-four new warcraft under construction or afloat to reinforce the Japanese Navy. The Japanese maintain great secrecy in naval building and fuel supplies and are to a certain extent successful. No one outside Japan's naval circles knows to what extent the Japanese intend going.

"Today Japan will discuss nothing but speeding up her naval program. While Britain and the United States are preaching further disarmament, Japan is pushing ahead with a naval program bigger than both these powers combined. The Japanese Navy is busy preparing an oil supply which will make it independent in the event of war. A company acting for the navy is opening new oil and oil soil regions in Manchuria. Japanese activities in Sagmalin, also with naval backing, are reported. The equipment for oil development has been landed on the island. In Formosa and other parts of the empire oil producing is under way. It has been denied in the Japanese Diet that the earthquake cost the navy the major part of its oil reserves, at Tokio, Yokohama and Yokosuka."

Mr. Shearer goes on to repeat his hitherto published reasons for believing that Japan is far superior in naval force to the United States, asserting that she has ships of superior speed, radius of action, torpedo protection and gun range. He speaks of secret mine laying submarines, mentions her big fleet of navy oil tankers, dwells on her "six modern naval bases on the Pacific side of Japan," and lists the ten Japanese capital ships on the Pacific as follows:

	Tons.
2 Negato class	70,000
2 Ise class	36,500
2 Fuso class	34,000
2 Hauuna class	27,194

Total	513,584

Passing to a comparison among the three nations, Mr. Shearer gives this table:

Reviews Britain's Position.

In a more detailed consideration of the British naval position, Mr. Shearer says:

"Today Great Britain has twenty-six capital ships, counting the Glorious and Courageous, which are 18,600 tons each, with fifteen-inch guns and a speed of thirty-two knots. These ships are not allowed under the Limitation of Arms Conference. It is said the British have appropriated £70,000 to remodel these two ships into air carriers. Has it been done? Can it be done for 235,000 a ship, less than £170,000 a ship?"

In support of his argument that Britain is over her tonnage, the plaintiff offers this list of her capital ships:

		Tons.
	Hood	43,000
2	Repulse class	31,100
2	Glorious class	26,400
	Tiger	29,600
	Thunderer	23,350
3	Ajax class	71,700
4	Iron Duke class	109,400
5	Queen Elizabeth class	144,622
5	Royal Sovereign Class	151,000
2	Nelson class	74,000
	Total tonnage	741,125
	United States tonnage	528,350

Next Mr. Shearer lists twenty-two British flotilla leaders after pointing to our lack of vessels of that class, after which he enters into a discussion of Far Eastern bases, comparing the British bases at Hongkong and Singapore with Cavite, thus:

At Hongkong—Well fortified, complete repair yard. Special base for submarines. Docks: (1) 574½ by 95 by 29¾, (2) 750 by 89 by 34½, (1) 700 by 98 by 30 (Kau Lung); also 8 smaller for destroyers and (1) 466 by 85.5 by 20. Oil fuel depot. Hospital.

Singapore—Well fortified. Oil and coal fuel depot. Average anchorage 10 fathoms. Fair repair facilities. Docks: (1) 460 by 64¾ by 20, (2) 471 by 59½ by 21, (3) 380 by 47¾ by 14 (Keppel Harbor), (4) 440 by 64 by 17 (Keppel Harbor); also (5) 873 by 100 by 34 at Keppel Harbor. One very large dock to take two 35,000-ton ships proposed.

Cavite—Defenses obsolete, very old short 12-inch guns. No docks except floating Dewey, now at Olongapo. Small repair facilities for destroyers and submarines. No oil facilities. A small coal pile. Hardly enough land for any improvements.

Says Our Navy Is in Bad Shape.

Mr. Shearer at one point in the argument whereby he hopes to support his plea for an injunction declares:

"The British and Japanese naval policies demand that we look our defenses squarely in the face. It is a condition that must be met. We can only expect a proper national defense from a common sense Congress.

"The Secretary of the Navy has ordered the War College, Newport, to report on the general condition of the navy. The general opinion of the War College is that the navy is in bad shape, many ships being useless until necessary repairs are made. There are numerous other reasons, including lack of naval bases properly equipped, fuel oil tanks, oil in reserve tanks and general equipment that constitutes a fully equipped naval base.

"The confidential and secret report is the basis of the war problems now being fought out by the board of strategy on the war table. The American fleet is shown to be weak to a point of serious and alarming degree, not being backed up by reserves, auxiliaries, supplies, fuel, and a lack of policy and preparedness. The problems now being played will show we cannot handle a battle fleet in the Pacific. Lack of bases, fully equipped, will be the reason given. Mare Island will only figure as a repair yard for light ships. The proposed Alameda base will never be mentioned as a possibility, as no move is being made to build that base. It will be shown that to handle the battle fleet of capital ships for the Pacific it will be necessary to dock the ships on the Atlantic and use the Panama Canal Zone as an operating base. Six hundred to 700 ships for supplies and fuel would be necessary to guarantee supplies and fuel for operations overseas.

Says We Lack Bases in Pacific.

"In case of a Far Eastern engagement we would start convoys from Hawaii. Pearl Harbor could only be used as a repair base in its present unfinished condition. There is no base or harbor in the Pacific equipped to accommodate the entire fleet in every respect. Floating dry docks will have to be towed to Hawaii even to be used as an advance base or repair base. If San Francisco harbor were used it would be necessary to take over private ship yards docks and mercantile fuel supply and to equip and prepare it as much as possible as an emergency base. Panama remains the only operating base for the fleet, as the Atlantic is better equipped to handle capital ships and the bases better equipped to draw from.

"It is the consensus of opinion that such a report was the direct cause of the Secretary of the Navy's return from the West; that a decision must be made as soon as possible in time to get the budget in shape to present to this session of Congress, that the situation is considered serious."

Among Mr. Shearer's recommendations as to policy are these:

"Large fuel supplies must be stored at the Panama Canal as the chief operating base for the Pacific Fleet. Fuel supplies and other equipment must be stored at Pearl Harbor as an advance base and repair base. Current oil should not be figured. Mercantile oil must eventually be figured as the navy supply. Naval fuel oil in naval tanks and naval reserve tanks is one of the problems now facing the board of strategy.

Men Wanted for Destroyers.

"Training and qualifying officers and men for the destroyer service should begin at once. Of our 300 destroyers, 103 are in commission, six are mine layers; 200 of our destroyers are slowly but surely going to rust and ruin tied up at Philadelphia, Pa., and San Diego, Cal., less twenty-one turned over to the United States Coast Guard.

"Our air defense is weakest of all, one air craft carrier of ten knots speed. Rating France 100 per cent, England 54 per cent, the United States would stand at 16 per cent. Our army and navy air forces must be increased but not at the expense of the capital ship.

"For security we must have an adequate number of vessels of many types—the capital ship to bear the brunt of the engagement, the destroyer to get home torpedo attack under cover of night or a smoke screen, the swift cruiser to scout for the enemy and deny information to his scouts as well as to support the destroyer attack. The plane carrier and the air craft are used for scouting and bombing. The uses of the submarine we well know. All of these vessels are useless without their train of auxiliaries—tankers, ammunition ships, supply ships, repair ships and tenders for submarines and destroyers."

After arguing extensively that the bombing airplane has not made the battleship obsolete, Mr. Shearer sets down this charge:

"A foreign lobby exists today in America that is against our navy and merchant marine. A pacifist lobby exists that would weaken our defense. They fight the battle of the first and may not know it. The third lobby is guided for business reasons and would take from our navy the power to plan for defense or offense. That lobby strikes at our War Plans Division and our Board of Strategy. Each of the three lobbies is happy in the success of the other."

Hannett Leads in New Mexico.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 10.—Unofficial returns today from Rio Arriba and San Miguel Counties showed that the vote in 700 of the 715 precincts in the State was: For Governor, Otero, Republican, 56,244; Hannett, Democrat, 58,453. For Senator, Bursum, Republican, 54,529; Bratton, Democrat, 55,783. For Congressman, Hubbell, Republican, 53,577; Morrow, Democrat, 57,332.

LODGE TO BE BURIED WITH SIMPLE RITES

Funeral Tomorrow at Christ Church, Cambridge, With Nation and State Represented.

COOLIDGE HEADS TRIBUTES

Butler Likely to Be Named for Senate Seat—Upper House Changes.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge will be buried from Christ Church, Cambridge, the church in which he was married and from which Mrs. Lodge was buried in 1915. The service has been set for noon on Wednesday.

The service will consist of the burial offices of the Episcopal Church. Two hymns will be sung, "The Strife Is O'er" and "The Son of God Goes Forth to War." Bishop William Lawrence, playmate and college mate of Senator Lodge, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Prescott Evarts, rector of Christ Church.

The Senator will be buried in the family lot in Mount Auburn Cemetery. The bearers will be Dr. Frederick Shattuck, John T. Morse Jr., Henry T. Walcott, James Ford Rhodes, William C. Endicott, Clayton Johns, George Mackay and George P. Gardner.

The civil and military authorities of State and nation were prompt to offer their condolences and proffer the services of troops as escort. It was the sentiment of the family, however, that the strictest simplicity should prevail, and it is doubtful whether troops will take part in the funeral.

President Coolidge, one of the first to send his message of sympathy to the family, at once designated Secretary Charles E. Hughes, Secretary John W. Weeks and Captain Adolphus Andrews, naval aid to the President, as his personal representatives to attend the funeral.

Brig. Gen. John D. Barrette, who is temporarily in command of the First Corps Area in the absence of Major Gen. Andrew W. Brewster, acting under orders from Washington to offer any services possible to the family of Senator Lodge, went with his aid to the home of Dr. William Sturgis Bigelow, 50 Beacon Street, whither the body of the Senator was taken from the Charlesgate Hospital and where the Lodge family gathered. The General tendered the good offices of his officers and troops should the members of the family desire that military honors be paid.

Governor Cox, immediately on receiving the news of the Senator's death, issued a proclamation voicing the sympathy of Massachusetts. It was directed that all State offices be closed during the funeral and that all flags on public buildings be flown at half-staff. The Governor also sent Adjt. Gen. Jesse F. Stevens to the home of Dr. Bigelow, with instructions to carry out any wishes of the family regarding the funeral.

City and town authorities throughout the State ordered flags on all public buildings lowered to half staff in token of respect. A similar ceremony was observed at hotels, private institutions, clubs, residences and other places where the national colors are flown.

A proposal that the body lie in state in the Hall of Flags of the State House was made to the family by Adjt. Gen. Stevens by direction of the Governor, but no action to this end was taken.

The Town Hall at Nahant, where Senator Lodge presided as moderator at town meetings, was draped in black, as was the public library of which he was a trustee. The mourning period is to be thirty days.

The Boston City Council, on motion of Councilman William J. Walsh, brother of Senator David I. Walsh, passed resolutions of tribute to Senator Lodge.

WASHINGTON PAYS TRIBUTES TO LODGE

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—On every hand in political and social Washington deep regret was expressed today over the passing of Henry Cabot Lodge. Even those who were opposed to him politically spoke highly of his personal qualities, which only his intimates and some others realized showed him to be strikingly different from the picture of the Massachusetts Senator that the public mind had visualized.

President Coolidge paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Lodge. He made known that he had designated Secretary Weeks to represent the President at the funeral, and that Captain Adolphus Andrews, U. S. N., commander of the Mayflower and chief personal aid to the President, had been assigned as aid to Secretary Weeks. It was said also at the White House that Captain Andrews had been instructed to offer his services to the family of the late Senator in making arrangements for the funeral. The President and Mrs. Coolidge will send a wreath to be placed on the coffin of the late Senator.

Secretary Hughes will also attend the funeral. He likewise paid a tribute to the personal character of Mr. Lodge and the position he occupied in public life.

The following Senate committee was designated to attend the funeral: Walsh, Massachusetts; Curtis, Kansas; Borah, Idaho; Swanson, Virginia; McLean, Connecticut; Smoot, Utah; Ashurst, Arizona; Pittman, Nevada; Sterling, South Dakota; Underwood, Alabama; Wadsworth, New York; Fernald, Maine; Watson, Indiana; Gerry, Rhode Island; Hale, Maine; Moses, New Hampshire; Spencer, Missouri; Ball, Delaware; Edge, New Jersey; Keyes, New Hampshire; Pepper and Reed, Pennsylvania; Copeland, New York; Edwards, New Jersey; Greene and Dale, Vermont.

Speaker Gillett appointed the sixteen members of the Massachusetts delegation in the House as a committee to represent that body.

President Coolidge's tribute to Senator Lodge was contained in the following statement given out at the White House:

"Senator Lodge was a prominent figure in Massachusetts before I knew anything about the public affairs of that Commonwealth. For a long time he has been our senior Senator. He was the floor leader of the Senate. This is not the occasion to undertake to review the positions he has filled and the work he has done. It is enough now to recall that he has been one of the great men of our time. He had a wide scholarship and a wonderful facility of expression. His influence has been world-wide. A large collection of his writings and speeches are left to us which will be not only of historical interest but of permanent literary value. Full of years, bearing the honors that have never ceased to be bestowed in increasing number, he has been gathered to his fathers.

"A considerable number of prominent men who commented today on the death of Senator Lodge stressed the point that his passage meant the ending of an era. It was mentioned that in the forty years he has been in active politics he has had a prominent part in great affairs. It was just forty years ago when, in association with Theodore Roosevelt, he fought the regular Republican organization which sought to control the party's national convention of that year, and was one of those foremost in the movement which nearly culminated in a revolt of young Republicans against the candidacy of James G. Blaine. More than thirty years ago he was brought into preminence before the nation as the author of the so-called Force bill, aimed at Federal supervision of elections in the South. These and his leadership in the opposition in the Senate to the ratification of the covenant of the League of Nations were looked upon by those familiar with his public service as the high points of his political career.

Already it appears to be well understood by Massachusetts Republicans here that Governor Cox of that State will appoint William M. Butler to the vacancy caused by Senator Lodge's death. The appointment will run until the next regular election in Massachusetts in November, 1926, when the place must be filled by a vote of the electorate, unless the Governor cares to call a special election for an earlier date.

It is also well understood that Senator William E. Borah, who is the ranking Republican member of both the Committee on Foreign Relations and the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate, will elect to take the chairmanship of the former. He will have the choice of both chairmanships.

The ranking member of the Judiciary Committee next to Senator Borah is Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa. He was formerly Chairman of the Committee on Interstate Commerce and his inclination is said to be to seek that position again. In the last Senate session, Senator Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina, a Democrat, was elected Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee through a combination of Democrats and La Follette Republicans, but it is apparent that in the next Congress the Republican regulars will have enough votes to choose Senator Cummins for the place.

The Chairman of the Judiciary Committee in the present Congress was the late Senator Frank B. Brandegee of Connecticut, who died in October. Next came, in order of seniority, Senators Borah and Cummins. After them was the late Senator LeBaron B. Colt of Rhode Island, and the next ranking member was Senator Thomas Sterling of South Dakota, who failed of renomination and will retire from the Senate in March. Next after Senator Sterling came Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska.

It is likely that Senator Sterling will be given the Judiciary Chairmanship for the few months remaining of the present Congress and that Senator Norris will be offered the Chairmanship for the next Congress. That Senator Norris may prefer to remain as Chairman of the Committee of Agriculture and Forestry is not overlooked in political quarters, and in the event that he should take that course, Senator Richard P. Ernst of Kentucky will be in line for the Judiciary Chairmanship.

Senator Ernst did not enter the Senate until 1921. Should he be chosen to head the Judiciary Committee, it will mark the most rapid rise of any Senator in recent years to such an important committee position.

Secretary Hughes: "The death of Senator Lodge removes one of the outstanding figures in our public life. He was a man of great intellectual power and rare culture, and his career forms a highly important chapter in the history of the country."

Secretary Weeks: "Few men in our public life have acquired such intellectual distinction. He would have been conspicuous as a teacher, historian and author, and in other ways had he not devoted his life to public service. He was an extremely industrious man and possessed an unusually retentive memory. He had been conspicuously identified with the consideration of practically all the present legislative enactments of Congress during the past thirty years. In fact, Senator Lodge was the best trained legislator with whom I have been associated, and whether or not one agreed with him in all his opinions, his importance in the public life of the nation cannot be overestimated. His passing will make a serious break in the political life of Massachusetts and his death brings deep sorrow to those who have known him and served with him. * * *"

Senator Borah: "Senator Lodge was in the fullest, finest sense the scholar in politics. For nearly fifty years he has been a powerful factor in our public affairs. His death not only removes one of the striking figures of this era but terminates in some respects a régime. We shall long miss him in the body which he graced for so many years."

Senator Smoot of Utah—"The death of Senator Lodge is a great loss to the State of Massachusetts, as well as to the nation. His death removes from public life one of America's leading characters. He will be missed in the Senate, where he was always a wise counselor and a statesman in every deed."

Senator Ladd of North Dakota—"In the passing of Henry Cabot Lodge, the conservative party in America has lost its greatest leader. In every crisis that has arisen in the last quarter of a century between the two schools of political thought, the conservative element always looked to Senator Lodge to plead their cause with the public, and it can be truthfully said that he always measured up to expectations. Senator Lodge's long legislative experience in the House and Senate was a great political asset to him. It made him thoroughly familiar with men and measures, as well as parliamentary procedure. His colleagues will always remember him as an able, scholarly and cultured historian and statesman."

Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania: "The death of Senator Lodge marks the end of an era. Although he was twice elected by direct vote of the people, he really belonged to the period when Senators were chosen by the Legislatures of the States. He grew up under a system of party government. He was accustomed to the exercise of power by an inner circle of able leaders. He put little trust in the workings of the public mind. It was hard for him to adjust himself to a condition of affairs in which any man by pinning a party label on the lapel of his coat may capitalize Republican good-will while repudiating Republican responsibilities.

"Within three years eleven Senators have died, fifteen have failed of renomination or reelection, three have declined to run again and one has been the victim of a tragic accident. Thus nearly one in every three Senators has suddenly passed out. Their successors are products of new and disturbed political conditions. What the outcome will be is still a matter of speculation. * * *"

Representative Martin B. Madden of Illinois, Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations: "It will take a long time for any person who may succeed him to bring into the nation's councils the knowledge and experience which Senator Lodge possessed. It is a pity that men who have acquired such knowledge and experience and are willing to devote them to the service of the country cannot live forever."

Candidates for Lodge's Seat.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Uncertainty exists in political circles as to who will succeed Henry Cabot Lodge in the Senate. William M. Butler, Chairman of the Republican National Committee; Speaker Alvan T. Fuller, Governor-elect; Speaker Young, William F. Whiting of Holyoke, the "original Coolidge man," and Governor Cox are being mentioned, but there is still cause to believe that a "dark horse" may be chosen by the political powers and appointed by the Governor to hold the office until the next State election.

In some circles it is felt President Coolidge will recommend the selection of Mr. Butler, because of the Chairman's successful management of the Republican campaign this year. On the other hand, several well-informed Republicans declared today that Butler would enter the Coolidge Cabinet in preference to having to fight to retain a Senate seat two years hence. It is now regarded in political circles as certain that Secretary Weeks will not continue in his present capacity much longer, thus making an opening for another Massachusetts man.

Benjamin Loring Young of Weston, Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, is regarded by many political leaders as the logical successor to Senator Lodge.

It is also considered a bare possibility on Beacon Hill that Governor Cox might resign and that Governor-elect Fuller, as Acting Governor, might then appoint Governor Cox to the vacant Senate position.

A bitter legal battle over the appointment looms on the political horizon. Leading Democrats are preparing to test the constitutionality of the State law which gives the Governor power to fill a vacancy in the Senate until the "next biennial election."

The opposition points out that the Federal Constitution specifically states that any appointment must be "temporary." They call attention to the fact that the next biennial election in Massachusetts is in November, 1926, and that any appointee of the Governor under the present law would serve for two years, or one-third of a regular term.

FINDS LODGE VANISHING TYPE.

London Times Thinks He Missed Meaning of Modern Changes.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—In an editorial article on the death of Senator Lodge, The London Times says:

"Boston, Bunker Hill and the Civil War determined the character and views of Henry Cabot Lodge. He was a very stalwart American of a type that is fast vanishing, and though he cherished memories of the War of Independence and maintained a traditional, and, it may be hoped, obsolete antagonism to England, the disappearance of such a remarkable figure cannot but be felt as a loss. His rigidity, his resentment against England and his distrust of Europe represented an important element in the complex process by which American national character is being formed. His spirit was essentially that of the pioneer who had cut loose from the Old World and was determined to make a new world of his own. He was possessed of the idea of the separate and special individuality of America and of the perpetual need for keeping that individuality unrammeled, utterly free to develop its instincts and energies in the continent in which Providence had given it room and great opportunity. For that reason the attempt to etherealize American ideals, to make them elastic and cosmopolitan, seemed to him to be a mere evasion of patriotic duty.

"Personally Senator Lodge was very sensitive to European culture. He was a scholar of the New England type whose literary tradition is still closely connected with England. It was, perhaps, just because he felt this vital connection that he insisted so vehemently on American independence long after it was absolutely and irrevocably learned.

"Perhaps many of the implications of modern American life escaped him—the significance of vast economic changes, the shortening of distance, the mingling of diverse populations. He might have been the philosophic statesman taking breath when his cause was won. The New World is crowded and noisy with incessant change. He would never forget Bunker Hill."

LADY TERRINGTON SUES ON CRITICISM OF DRESS

Defeated Liberal M. P. Charges Libel in Newspaper's Interview About Her Clothes.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Can a woman be libeled by declaring that she wears good clothes? That is the contention which Lady Terrington, a member of the last Parliament but who was not reelected, is making in a libel suit she is pressing against the Daily Express before Lord Darling and a special jury.

The alleged libel occurred in an interview Lady Terrington gave soon before polling day last year, and her counsel, Sir Ellis Hume Williams, contended in court today that it represented her as a vain, frivolous, extravagant woman, unfit to be in Parliament. The article complained of made her say:

"If I am returned to Westminster, I intend to wear my best clothes when I get there. I shall put on my ospreys and my fur coat and my pearls."

Counsel denied that Lady Terrington ever mentioned ospreys or pearls, and then continuing, he read this from the article:

"I do not believe in a woman wearing a dull little frock with a Quakerish collar, and keeping all her nicest clothes for social appearances. It is all humbug."

Sir Ellis also complained that the interviewer had not included Lady Terrington's statement that election work so occupied her mind that she awoke at night with her arms outstretched, as though addressing a meeting. He could not understand an intelligent reporter omitting that.

Lady Terrington, in her testimony, denied that she had ever made the statement the interview attributed to her, and when in the cross-examination Sir Edward Marshall Hall asked her about her "rope of pearls," she said that one row of pearls in the photograph of her that was published was false and that only the little row was genuine.

She was also cross-examined about another interview which appeared in a woman's newspaper and made Lady Terrington discuss the clothes to be worn on the platform at public meetings. She was represented as saying that it was not fitting for a woman to wear a short, tight skirt, which made her uncomfortably conscious that it was still shorter when she sat down.

Counsel also quoted this sentence:

PENSION ROLL DROPS 14,000

Federal Payments Are Reduced $33,017,723 in a Year.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—More than 14,000 names were dropped from the Government pension roll during the past year, reducing the total to 325,539. Pensions for 1924 totaled $229,994,777, or $33,017,723 less than for the previous year.

Interior Department statistics made public today showed Civil War pensions decreased 21,808 last year and now number 146,815, while widows and dependents of veterans of that war declined from 204,580 in 1923 to 203,136 in 1924.

Spanish-American War pensions, however, increased 16,046 to 65,068, and the number of widow and dependent pensions of this war advanced from 13,167 to 16,104.

MRS. HARDING IS NO BETTER

Old Fighting Spirit Is Gone, Says Dr. Sawyer in Late Bulletin.

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding is no better tonight, and "her conditions remains about the same," a brief bulletin issued by her physician, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, said tonight.

Her old fighting spirit, according to Dr. Sawyer, has fled, and she is critically ill. Mrs. Harding is suffering from an old kidney trouble with complications of many years' duration.

Dr. Sawyer's earlier bulletin today said:

"Mrs. Harding rested comfortably last night. She has been able to take some nourishment and her general condition is slightly improved this morning."

DAHL QUOTES HYLAN IN TRANSIT REPLY

Declares High Costs Used in Budget Argument Should Apply to Transportation.

RECALLS CITY FARE RISE

Hedley Resents Mayor's Statement That I. R. T. Is Purposely Overcrowding Cars.

Gerhard M. Dahl, Chairman of the Board of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation, in a statement made public yesterday, accused Mayor John F. Hylan of "misstatement" in his radio address last Saturday night over the Municipal Broadcasting Station WNYC. Mr. Dahl cited the Mayor's justification for a greatly increased city budget on the ground that all prices had advanced since the war. He argued that what is good logic for the budget and for all other expenses is equally applicable to the operation of transit lines.

Uses Mayor's Own Words.

"You repeated in your radio address Saturday night a misstatement which you made many times, namely, that the transit companies in this town can and do make plenty of money on a 5-cent fare," said Mr. Dahl. "I shall prove to you out of your own mouth that you know this to be a misstatement.

"Recently you broadcast from the municipal radio station a defense of a 1925 city budget amounting to $388,964,-236. You complained that the newspapers did not treat you fairly in dealing with this budget. You said: 'As a rule, you will find very few newspapers spending much time in explaining the reasons for the growth of the city budget. They will not tell you that if the purchasing power of the dollar was worth more than the 60 cents which it is today our 1925 budget would not be in excess of $240,000,000.'

"You also said: 'For example, the war, which brought about very high prices for materials and supplies of every description, as well as for foodstuffs and clothing, has been the cause of most of these high prices continuing to this very day. There is not a man or woman in this city who does not know that it costs more to live since the war than it did previously. It does cost more to live. This applies to the conduct of the city Government as well as to your own home.'

"If a dollar buys 60 cents, a nickel buys 3 cents and, therefore, a 5-cent fare today is equivalent to a 3-cent fare before the war. Did you ever claim that a 3-cent fare was a sufficient rate of fare before the war? Do you claim now that a dollar buys 60 cents and a nickel buys 3 cents for the city, but a dollar buys a dollar and a nickel buys a nickel for the transit companies?

"Why doesn't everything you said about an increased expense to the city and the increase in prices for materials and the increase in prices of foodstuffs and clothing apply to the things the transit companies have to buy? Does the increase in prices, as you say, apply to the conduct of City Government and to the homes? If so, why does it not apply to the transit companies?

Cites City Fare Rise.

"You yourself have recognized the fact that it applies to the transit companies. Why did you raise the fare on the Williamburg Bridge line 20 per cent.? You know that that is the equivalent of making the fare on our line 6 cents instead of 5 cents. What about your Staten Island street car lines operated by the city? Your own Commissioner of Plant and Structures has admitted that on a five-cent fare they are operating at a loss. On your trackless trolley in Staten Island it has been demonstrated to the public that while you are carrying people for 5 cents, it costs 10.27 cents to transfer each five-cent passenger.

"Why don't you be honest with the people and tell them the facts? Why do you attempt to apply one rule to the city's affairs, your trackless trolleys and your Williamsburg Bridge Line, and another rule to the transit companies?

"This company has never asked for an increase in fare. But it is our duty to tell the public facts. One fact is that it costs 7 cents or more to carry the people who are today riding for 5 cents. That this can be done is due to two things. First, the city has $150,000,000 invested in lines operated by us on which the city is not getting a cent of return. Second, the investment in our company is not receiving a fair return. Between the total loss of return on the city's investment and the very small return on the company's investment, those who ride on the subways get a seven-cent ride for a nickel. But it is our duty to tell them they cannot get an eight-cent or a nine-cent or a ten-cent ride for a nickel at the expense of the investor. If the city desires to pay the constantly accruing deficit, well and good."

Hedley Explains Schedules.

Frank Hedley, in his statement, speaking for the Interborough, said in part:

"I have read in the evening papers extracts from a letter addressed by his Honor the Mayor to the District Attorney of Kings County relating to the conditions existing at the Nevins Street subway station in Brooklyn. This matter has been the subject of public hearings ordered by the Transit Commission which began last month and are about finished, although no formal order has been made by the commission as yet. That proceeding was instituted for the purpose of determining the best distribution to be made of the 100 new cars which are about ready to be put into service. Especial attention was devoted at the hearings to the service in Brooklyn. The company has taken the position that it is its duty to prepare its train schedules so that the best service will be rendered to the greatest number of passengers. Such a plan will not permit the running of every train through to a terminal.

"The company's proposal made at the last hearing was to the effect that seventy cars, or 70 per cent. of the 100 cars just received, be placed in the Brooklyn service to relieve conditions between Chambers Street station, Manhattan, and New Lots Road station, East New York. This would mean an increase in service during the morning and afternoon rush hours of 25 per cent. to 30 per cent. between Chambers Street and Utica Avenue, and 83 1-3 per cent. between Utica Avenue and the terminal at New Lots Road.

"The suggestion of the Transit Commission to alternate trains on tracks 2 and 3 at Atlantic Avenue during the rush hour periods was proven to be impracticable on account of the physical layout of track, signals and switches at that point.

"I desire to add that the Interborough Rapid Transit Company is not engaged in a campaign for any purpose. We are not trying to discredit anybody. We deplore controversy with the public officials and we shall not willingly engage in any such controversy. We desire, however, the good will of our patrons and we feel that we must assure them that it is a mistake for any one to state to them that we intentionally cause passengers to be crowded for any purpose whatever. We are doing the best we can with the facilities available."

Accompanied by Commissioner Frank Monaghan of the Department of Health, District Attorney Charles J. Dodd of Kings County Corporation Counsel George P. Nicholson and Joseph Fenneily, Commissioner of Highways, representing Borough President Edward Riegelmann of Brooklyn, who has just been elected a Justice of the Supreme Court, Mayor Hylan made a personal investigation of transit conditions at the Nevins Street station of the Interborough subway system.

With the Mayor when he left the City Hall soon after 5 o'clock was his body guard, First Grade Detective Thomas Reilly, and several newspaper men. The party entered the subway at the Brooklyn Bridge station and arrived at Nevins Street station at 5:20 P. M. In a few minutes the other officials joined the party. After watching a few minutes the Mayor said:

"Gentlemen, you can see for yourselves the conditions that exist here. If in this rush somebody was to be pushed from the platform to the tracks and killed, somebody would be liable. I do not wish to tell you what to do, but if you think this condition can be remedied you should write to the State Transit Commission, the McAneny commission, and make any suggestions that you may have.

As each train pulled up to the platform the Mayor stood on his tiptoes to better observe the overcrowding in each car. As each Lexington Avenue train approached the Mayor warned the members of the party to be ready for the rush across the platform of passengers bound for Flatbush or East New York. While the Mayor was on the platform a Lexington Avenue train came in. He prepared for the usual rush. Instead the guards shouted, "All aboard for Flatbush!"

"See," cried the Mayor to the little knot of persons who recognized him and stood around in a circle, "they are sending that one through. If we keep this up you will all be able to get home in good time."

That one Lexington Avenue train was the only one sent through to Flatbush while the Mayor remained in the subway. Some one asked the Mayor if he thought conditions at the Nevins Street station could be remedied.

"Yes," he answered promptly, "they can be remedied. If they will send more of the Lexington Avenue trains through to Flatbush and East New York they will be remedied." Then, calling his official party about him, the Mayor said:

"The trouble is that the railroads crowd the passengers in to get more nickels, to save overhead expenses, to make the stock of the corporation sell at a higher figure, to make the riding public tired of conditions, so that propaganda for a higher fare will be more acceptable to the passengers and then to place the blame for poor service at the door of the officials of the city. Well, I am going to let the people know all about the conditions, so that they will know where to place the blame."

A few minutes after 6 o'clock the Mayor called the other officials about him and again told them that if they saw fit they could write to the State Transit Commission and call attention to the conditions as they found them at the station. He then pulled out his watch and, calling attention to the time, bade the others "good evening."

NEW POLICE HEADQUARTERS

Board of Estimate Approves $624,000 Building for Brooklyn.

Brooklyn is to have a new Police Headquarters building. The Board of Estimate approved plans and specifications yesterday for the structure, which is to be erected at Bergen Street and Sixth Avenue, at a cost of $624,000. It is to be ready for occupancy by next Fall.

The building will be five stories high, on a site 126 by 100 feet. It will house the general executive offices and those of the traffic division, which are now at Vernona nd Tompkins Avenues, together with the Detective Bureau. There will be also provision for the Ninety-second Precinct, and a garage 25 by 100 feet.

The structure will be of limestone with terra cotta cornices. On the first floor will be the station house, with twenty-four cells; on the second and third, dormitories, with a part of the second given over to the traffic division. The fourth floor will be devoted to general offices and trial room, and the fifth to the Detective Bureau and telegraph room.

PRESBYTERY ADMITS A DOUBTING BAPTIST

REBUKES HIS EXAMINERS

Fundamentalist Minority Will File With Synod a Complaint Against His Reception.

Although he admitted that he was uncertain as to the doctrine of the Virgin birth, the Rev. Carlos G. Fuller was received yesterday from the Baptist denomination into the Presbytery of New York. The meeting of the Presbytery took place in the Adams Memorial Presbyterian Church, in East Thirtieth Street.

So bitter and lengthy was the wrangle over the Fuller issue that the Presbytery was unable to reach the report of the Committee on the First Church, which has to do with the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, a Baptist, whose resignation as associate minister of the First Church was recently accepted by that congregation, but who, at its request, has agreed to preach Sunday mornings until April 1.

After his examination by the Presbytery had been completed Mr. Fuller said to the Presbytery:

"It has been a matter of keen regret to me that I have been the cause of this disturbance. Having been ordained by another denomination in my home town, where, although I could not affirm all the doctrines, they had faith in me and accepted me into the ministry because they believed in me, it was somewhat disappointing to come here and find a group like this where matters not vital are discussed when there are such big things for the kingdom to be done. It hurts something within me, and I confess to you frankly I would not have come had I anticipated such treatment."

The Rev. Dr. Edgar Whitaker Work, Chairman of the committee, came forward to present the report, but as there was "an order of the day" already long overdue for a devotional and evangelistic meeting, it was voted to hold an adjourned meeting next Monday in the First Church to hear the Fosdick report and "to transact all other unfinished business."

Minister's Third Hearing.

Mr. Fuller, who is 29 years old, is in charge of the Featherbed Lane Church, the Bronx, the newest church in the Presbytery. This was his third appearance before the Presbytery. In June and in October his admittance into the Presbytery was held up because he declined to affirm belief in the virgin birth.

After a rigorous technical examination Mr. Fuller was admitted yesterday by a vote of 69 to 23. The 23 Fundamentalists who opposed his reception held a meeting immediately afterward and decided to file an official complaint with the Presbyterian Synod of New York State against the Presbytery of New York for accepting his examination and receiving him into its membership.

The Rev. Dr. Walter Duncan Buchanan, pastor of the Broadway Church at 114th Street, stated after the meeting that a complaint would be filed rather than the usual protest, as a protest went only to the Presbytery and stopped there, while a complaint went to the Synod. If a Synod sustained the Presbytery the complaint could be carried up to the General Assembly.

An interested listener was Miss Margaret Stemple of Philadelphia, an Episcopalian, who is engaged to be married to Mr. Fuller. Mr. Fuller was graduated last May from Union Theological Seminary, this city. For some time he has been doing post-graduate work in Columbia University. He is a graduate of Colgate University. He was ordained to the Baptist ministry in September, 1923, at Central Square, N. Y., and came to Featherbed Lane from the pastorate of the Long Island City Baptist Church.

Both Sides Applaud Points.

The Rev. Dr. Walter Duncan Buchanan led the fight against Mr. Fuller, and the Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, pastor of the Madison Avenue Church, led those in favor of receiving him.

When the Modernists won a point they applauded and when the Fundamentalists won a point they clapped. William H. Wells, clerk of the session of the West Park Church, remarked:

"This is no tennis tournament, or ball game, or prizefight—this is a most sacred meeting, and I am ashamed of you men; you are acting disgracefully."

The Rev. Dr. Anthony H. Evans, pastor of the West Park Church, who is Chairman of the Committee on Candidates, in a report for his committee recommended that the examination of Mr. Fuller by the committee be sustained and that Mr. Fuller be received into the Presbytery.

The Rev. Dr. Mebane Ramsey, pastor of the Calvary Church, West New Brighton, Staten Island, who is a member of the committee, brought in a minority report signed by two other members, asking that the examination be not sustained and that Mr. Fuller not be received into the Presbytery. Dr. Ramsey was not allowed to read the minority report until after Mr. Fuller had been examined by the Presbytery. The other signers were Paul F. Barackman, an elder, and the Rev. Dr. Albert Dale Gantz, pastor of the Williamsbridge Church and permanent clerk of the Presbytery.

The Minority Report.

The minority report was as follows:

"We, the undersigned members of your Committee on Examination of Candidates, beg to dissent from the majority record regarding the Rev. Carlos G. Fuller, and, as a substitute, we recommend to the Presbytery that his examination in theology be not sustained, and on the following grounds:

"1. His inability to affirm his faith in three specific miracles mentioned in the examination, viz., the raising of the son of the widow of Naon, the walking of Christ upon the water and the raising of Lazarus.

"2. His inability to accept the inspiration of the Scriptures as taught in our standards, as made by his unwillingness to affirm belief in the historicity of the miracles above referred to because of doubt as to the credibility of the passages in the Gospels relating to them.

"(3) His inability to affirm his belief in the virgin birth of our Lord, because of what seemed to him to be a confusion between the accounts of the birth as given in Matthew and Luke.

"It is with sincere regret that we feel impelled on these grounds to make this adverse report. We do not for a moment question the personal devotion of our brother to the Saviour. But his conception of the Christian faith is so far at variance from the conception of that faith as given in our standards that it is clear he can find no logical place for ministry in a Presbyterian pulpit. It is only fair to him personally, as well as to the Church he temporarily serves, to recognize this; and certainly it is the only way to show continued loyalty to our Master as our Church has taught to believe in Him.

"Our judgment has not been arrived at hastily, but only after earnest prayer that we might be preserved from all uncharitableness and error, and we make it without hesitation in our hearts and with confidence that it will appeal to the Presbytery as the only course that is open to her that will be consistent with loyalty to our standards and to the Christ that they set forth.

"Therefore, we earnestly recommend that the examination of the Rev. Carlos G. Fuller be not sustained."

Mr. Fuller's Examination.

In beginning the examination Dr. Anthony Evans read several letters to show that Mr. Fuller was in good and regular standing in the Baptist Association.

"The main difference of opinion between us in the committee was the virgin birth," explained Dr. Evans. "Mr. Fuller could not positively declare it, but he could give it the benefit of the doubt. He could accept it as being the historic position of the Church."

Here Dr. Evans addressed Mr. Fuller, asking, "Mr. Fuller, do you still give the virgin birth the benefit of the doubt?"

Mr. Fuller replied: "My belief in Jesus rests not upon the manner of His birth. I do recognize the fact that as it is recorded in two of the four Gospels I am not in a position to deny it. I am ready to give it the benefit of the doubt."

At this point Dr. Buchanan cross-examined as follows:

Q.—We demand of all those who come into our body that they affirm their belief in the Westminster Confession of Faith. Do you believe or not believe in the virgin birth? asked Dr. Buchanan. A.—I have given my answer.

Q.—Do you believe in the resurrection of Lazarus? A.—It is found only in the fourth gospel and it took place in Bethany at a time when the other three gospels were chronicling all the main acts of Jesus. I am not in a position to make a positive affirmation.

Q.—Do you believe Jesus walked on the water? A.—I am not in a position to make a positive affirmation.

Q.—Do you believe Jesus raised from the dead son of the widow of Nain? A.—My position would be the same on that.

Q.—Do you believe that Jesus Christ rose from the dead in the same body with which He was buried? A.—I am not able to explain it.

Q.—Do you believe Jesus Christ rose from the dead the third day with the same body? A.—I believe He rose from the dead, but I am afraid I could not tell how the exact transformation took place.

Q.—You are not able to affirm the physical resurrection of Christ's body? A.—Not the physical body.

Hans P. Freece, an elder in Fort Washington Church, asked:

"Do you believe that Jesus Christ had a physical mother?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Fuller.

"Do you believe Jesus Christ had a physical father?" Mr. Freece continued.

"Yes," Mr. Fuller replied.

Drill into Bank, Get $12,000.

WEST WINFIELD, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Robbers forced the rear door of the First National Bank of this place some time last night and after opening the vault with an acetylene torch escaped with $12,000 in cash, officers of the bank said this morning. Cashier H. H. Wheeler said an undetermined amount of securities, some of which were negotiable, had also been taken. He said the loss was entirely covered by insurance. State police found two crowbars and two acetylene torches which the robbers had left behind. It was believed they traveled in an automobile.

COUNSEL DISPUTE POINTS

Jury Is Dismissed While Judge and Lawyers Discuss Intent of the Volstead Act.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 10.—After placing only two witnesses on the stand, the Government closed its case against Representative John Philip Hill this afternoon, and defense testimony was begun in his trial in Federal Court on indictments charging violation of the Volstead act through the manufacture and possession of wine and cider of more than one-half of 1 per cent. alcoholic contents.

George F. Beyer and Richard Ryan, Government chemists, testified for the prosecution. Mr. Beyer said he was sent to Mr. Hill's home here in September, 1923, to take samples of the Representative's home-made grape juice for an analysis.

The question, "Was certain liquor in a five-gallon keg at Mr. Hill's home wine?" put to the witness by District Attorney Woodcock, was objected to by defense counsel. Mr. Beyer then testified that the beverage he tested contained "around 11 per cent." of alcohol by volume.

Mr. Ryan testified that the cider made this Fall by Mr. Hill contained 2.75 per cent. alcohol.

Tells of "Cider Party."

The defense opened its case by calling Dr. John J. McGinity, a pharmacist, who was asked if he had attended the "party" given recently by Mr. Hill, at which the defendant furnished his cider to several hundred guests. The doctor replied that he had.

"Did anybody get drunk?" asked defense counsel.

Judge Soper, presiding, asked Mr. Woodcock if it was his understanding of the law "that any beverage containing over one-half of 1 per cent. content is forbidden."

The District Attorney replied that it was, the defense took issue with him, and the jury was dismissed until tomorrow morning while the point was argued.

Judge Soper asked Mr. Woodcock if it were not his understanding of the Prohibition act that Congress, in referring to cider and fruit juices, meant the word "intoxicating" to mean intoxicating in fact, without reference to the one-half of 1 per cent. alcoholic limit placed on other drinks.

Claims Right of Seizure.

Mr. Woodcock replied that this was not his understanding, and said the Government had the right to seize fruit juices with no alcohol in them if they suspected that they would be converted into intoxicating beverages. He cited the fact that prohibition agents may seize sugar if they think it is going to be used for manufacture of liquor.

Arthur W. Machen, of defense counsel, read a quotation from a decision by Judge Bland of New York, issuing an injunction against a New York District Attorney, unnamed, to restrain from interfering in the business of a New York manufacturer of sweet apple cider. In his complaint, on which the injunction was issued, the manufacturer had declared that it was practically impossible to manufacture a sweet cider the alcoholic content of which would not occasionally go above one-half of 1 per cent., even at the moment of manufacture, Mr. Machen said.

Court adjourned until tomorrow, with opposing attorneys still arguing the exact meaning of the word "intoxicating" as used in the Volstead act.

Schieffelin-Hylan Trial Put Off.

The suit of William J. Schieffelin, head of the Citizens Union, against Mayor Hylan, for $250,000 damages for libel arising out of comments by the Mayor concerning the drug traffic, was on the calendar for trial before Supreme Court Justice Tierney yesterday, but a week's adjournment was asked the attorneys. Edmund L. Mooney, who has been designated as Special Assistant Corporation Counsel to appear for the Mayor, is engaged in another case and it is expected that the selection of a jury from a special panel will consume a week.

DEADLINE HALTS CRIMES IN MIDTOWN of 306 South Broadway, Yonkers, was seated at her desk, a short distance away and when she heard the shot, swooned and fell to the floor. One of the two other robbers then vaulted the partition, and after taking Greenberg's pistol from the floor, opened the door of the partition and admitted his confederates.

Woman Notifies Police.

The robbers made no attempt to molest the girl, but they backed Greenberg and Henry Lohse, the foreman, of 914 Tinton Avenue, and William Leary, a clerk, of 284 East 158th Street, into a corner, where they were held until the leader of the robbers had gathered up the money and started down the stairs to join a fourth and fifth confederate, who had pointed pistols at John Kowarck, one of the drivers, of 442 East 120th Street, and had driven him into a closet in the corporation's store.

Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick, who keeps a candy store across the street at 890 Tinton Avenue, had noticed the five men drive up in the place in a high-powered car and hurriedly enter the store, which is in front of the corporation's stables. Kowarck was seated near the entrance to the store reading a newspaper. She saw three of the strangers run up the stairs leading to the office on the second floor, while the confederates walked over to Kowarck, and pushing pistols over the newspaper at his head, ordered him to throw up his hands.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick jumped to a telephone in her store and called up the police of the Morrisania Station. A few minutes after the automobile containing the five bandits disappeared north on Tinton Avenue half a dozen policemen drove up to the place in automobiles. They started in an unsuccessful pursuit of the robbers. Greenberg after being attended by a private physician gave good descriptions of the five thieves.

About four hours before the holiday precautions went into effect, two men were caught in an alleged attempt at burglary south of the old Fulton Street deadline. They were discovered by policemen leaving the shop of Sharp & Dohmen, manufacturing chemists, at 41 John Street. According to the police the men had twenty-five bottles of a narcotic drug which they had taken from the shop. They said they were Albert Stapleton, 20, and Joseph Donovan, 25.

Uses a Glass Pistol.

Louis Kaminsky, 19 years old, a pattern maker, of 288 East 121st Street, was arrested after an alleged attempt to hold up a bakery and lunch room at 1,049 Lexington Avenue with a glass pistol. The bakery is half a block from the 104th Street police station. Jacob Winter, proprietor of the store, was in the back room at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, standing on a chair taking down meat from hooks, preparatory to closing for the night, when he heard a commotion in front. He looked out and saw a man with a pistol forcing Mrs. Winter back from the cash register.

Winter jumped from his chair to a counter between the two rooms, and from the counter leaped on the back of the man. After a scuffle the intruder broke away and ran to the street. Winter followed, blowing a police whistle. Patrolman George Rivers dashed out of the police station and pursued the fleeing man to Madison Avenue, to 105th Street, to Park Avenue, and finally caught Kaminsky in a coal bin in the cellar of a tenement house at 1,470 Park Avenue. The policeman also found the glass pistol in the cellar.

Kaminsky said that he had come here from Boston a few days ago, had no money, and was hungry. He pleaded guilty in the Tombs Court to a charge of attempted robbery, and was held for the Grand Jury in $2,000 bail.

Edgar Whalen, 28 years old, of 332 East 125th Street, a former policeman who was dismissed from the department on charges, was arrested yesterday on the charge of assault and robbery. He was accused of being one of three men who a week ago held up the jewelry shop of Abraham Duboff at 8,206 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, and stole $9,000 in jewelry, cash and Liberty bonds.

Three youths, all under 20, were held in $5,000 bail each yesterday in the Fifth Avenue Court, Brooklyn, on charges of assault and robbery. They said they were Benjamin Scarpara, 16, of 37 Forsyth Street, Manhattan; Henry Aliperci, 19, of 303 Henry Street, Brooklyn, and Alfred Zaccaria, 17, of 292 Degraw Street, Brooklyn. A fourth, Placida Bertuccio, 15, of 307 Henry Street, Brooklyn, was held for the Children's Court. The four were charged by Carl Sigurd of 488 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, with holding him up at Rapelyea and Henry Streets, Brooklyn, and threatening to shoot him if he did not part with his valuables.

Robbed in the Subway.

Joseph Dunn, a furniture dealer, of 1,345 Park Place, Brooklyn, found somebody trying to pick his pocket in an Interborough subway train near the Atlantic Avenue station yesterday. He seized the man's hand and yelled for help. According to Dunn the man tried to stab him with a penknife during a struggle to get away. Patrolman Edward Dunn, who happened to be in the same car, put the man under arrest. He said he was Louis Poldski of 60 Penn Street, Brooklyn, and was charged with grand larceny and felonious assault.

Three Brooklyn youths who described themselves as members of "the Happy-Go-Lucky Club" were arraigned on charges of burglary in the Adams Street Court in Brooklyn yesterday for the alleged theft of four chests of tea. They are Joseph Levin of 111 Jay Street, Joseph Levinsky of 183 York Street and John Bitka of 25 Little Street. Magistrate Walsh held them in $1,000 bail each.

Four young men arrested in connection with the theft of an automobile from in front of 579 Crown Street, Brooklyn, were held in $1,000 bail each when arraigned on charge of grand larceny before Magistrate O'Neill in Flatbush Court, Brooklyn. The men are George Engle, 366 Sterling Place; Frank Angers, 206 St. Johns Place; Frank Connelly, 453 Park Place, and John Worthly, 321 Park Place, all of Brooklyn.

Tony Bedame of 85 Columbia Street, Brooklyn, was arrested on the street near his home by detectives of the Butler Street Station on charges of assault and battery. It is alleged that Bedame on Oct. 13 last held up the conductor of a trolley car at Columbia and Irving Streets, Brooklyn, taking $35 from him.

Two Held in $100,000 Bail.

Edward Foss, 31 years old, and his wife, Margaret, 25, were held in $100,000 bail each yesterday by Magistrate Moses R. Ryttenberg in the Essex Market Court, on the charge of having brought to New York $150,000 worth of jewels stolen last Tuesday in a hold-up at New Orleans. The bail was said to be the largest on record in the Essex Market Court. The heavy bail was set on the request of the police, who said they believed the couple were implicated in another big jewel robbery in New York City.

Two men were arrested on extortion charges at Central Park West and Eighty-fifth Street in the afternoon after detectives in an automobile had trailed one of them and their alleged intended victim, Miss Barbara Ross, in a taxicab. Miss Ross, who lives at 66 West Seventy-seventh Street, opposite the Museum of Natural History and next door to the Manhattan Square Hotel, had reported that the night before two young men, posing as detectives, had demanded $100 from her after threatening to arrest her on a disorderly conduct charge.

She agreed to meet the men, she told Detective Sergeants Owens, Kiernan and Windberry of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station, at Columbus Avenue and Seventy-fifth Street yesterday afternoon, but when, trailed by the detectives, she went there in a taxicab, they did not appear. Later one of the men, who said he was Irving Prince, 25 years old, of 38 West Eighty-third Street, was alleged to have driven up to the apartment in which Miss Ross lives after having telephoned to her, and escorted her to the Central Park West corner, where the detectives closed in on him when the girl signaled them.

After his arrest Miss Ross pointed to Eugene Fried, 25 years old, of 2,039 Creston Avenue, the Bronx, as the second man who had threatened her while posing as a policeman.

gurge of the constitutional amendment and of the Home Rule act and says that section 12, subdivision 2, of that law declares: "No local law shall supersede any provision of an act of the Legislature which provision relates to matters other than the property, affairs or government of cities, whether in terms and in effect applying alike to all cities or not."

"This provision alone," says Corporation Counsel Nicholson, "and aside from the fundamental objection to any local legislation to be presently noted, constitutes a legal obstacle to the program of local bus legislation proposed by Controller Craig, as embodied in the four bills submitted by him, because of Section 24 of the Transportation Corporation law, which provides that:

"'Any person or any corporation who or which owns or operates any stage route in any city of 1,000,000 inhabitants or more shall be deemed to be included within the meaning of the term 'common carrier,' as used in the Public Service Commissions law, and shall be subject to all the provisions of the said law applicable to 'common carriers,' has been construed by the courts in the bus decisions hereinbefore referred to as making necessary the obtaining of a certificate of convenience and necessity from the Transit Commission before any bus line may be operated.

"Under the decisions, it is my opinion that section 24 of the Transportation Corporations law is a provision which relates to matters other than the property, affairs or government of cities within the purview of subdivision 2, section 12 of the City Home Rule law, above quoted. (Admiral Realty Company, 206 N. Y., 110; in the matter of McAneny vs. the Board of Estimate, 232 N. Y., 377.)

"Therefore, it is beyond the power of the Municipal Assembly to enact the proposed local law (the fourth of the Craig bills listed), superseding Section 24 of the Transportation Corporations law.

"Furthermore, however, there is a more fundamental objection to the enactment of that bill, which applies also to the other three bills proposed by Controller Craig." After further analyzing the new powers conferred upon the Municipal Assembly by the Home Rule act, the Corporation Counsel concludes:

"The City of New York had police power in respect to the care, management and use of its streets and the enactment of regulations for the preservation of safety and health prior to the amendment. The grant in the constitutional amendment is one of power to enact laws 'not inconsistent with the laws of the State,' and the city had such police power when the Court in Brooklyn City Railroad Company vs. Whalen, 193 A. D. 737 (aff'd 229 N. Y., 570) held that the municipal operation of buses was ultra vires.

"The grant of power to the local authorities to legislate in relation to the use of the streets is not and does not include a grant of power to authorize municipal operation of buses, and I am of the opinion that the City Home Rule law does not in any of its provisions grant such power."

How a Lockwood-Greene appraisal prevents insurance losses

HAVE you ever read the fine print in your fire insurance contract? If not, by all means do so. Read the clause requiring you to insure up to eighty per cent of your plant value. Read the clause about the burden of proof of loss resting with the assured. Figure how much it costs you for each thousand dollars you over-insure; how much you risk for every thousand you under-insure.

Lockwood-Greene appraisals give valuations of provable accuracy. They enable you to insure at the exact amount required. They are made by trained men who examine the property intact—not in ashes. And such is the universal confidence in the authority and accuracy of Lockwood-Greene appraisers that insurance adjusters welcome settling claims with Lockwood-Greene appraisals.

REPUBLICAN GAINS SHOWN IN GERMANY

COMMUNISTS ARE WEAKER

By T. R. YBARRA.

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—German Monarchists are losing in strength and German Republicans are gaining—that is, if the outcome of recent local elections is a straw showing which way the political wind will blow on Dec. 7, the day of the general German Reichstag election.

The latest local election was that in the Anhalt district yesterday. It followed close upon similar elections at Hamburg and in districts of supposedly strongly monarchistic sympathies in the former Grand Duchy of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, the heart of German Junkerdom. In yesterday's voting for the Anhalt Legislature the parties favoring a monarchy, openly or on the quiet, barely held their own, whereas the Republicans made decided gains. A striking feature of the election was that the total number of voters was more than 14,000 greater than at the previous Anhalt election early last Summer, and practically all the new voters went to the parties favoring a continuance of the German Republic.

This was a remarkable record, indeed, for a district which—like the Mecklenburg district, which voted a few days ago—was supposedly strongly monarchistic in sympathy.

Not only Monarchists lost ground in Anhalt. The Communists also, who likewise desire—though for very different reasons—the overthrow of the German Republic, made a far worse showing at the polls yesterday than last Summer.

All together it was a day calculated to buoy up German republican hopes greatly, and it is no wonder that the Republican press today is overjoyed and already shouting prophecies of a grand Republican victory on Dec. 7.

Simultaneously with the monarchistic set-backs of the last few days in Anhalt, Hamburg and Mecklenburg comes a furious denunciation of the Monarchists by Count Posadowsky, Minister of the Interior under Kaiser Wilhelm II. and counted in Wilhelm's days an ardent nationalist. Posadowsky hurls bitter words at the Nationalists, declaring that in the vote on the Dawes plan laws they sacrificed their principles to a shameful desire for getting seats in the German Cabinet. Plenty of critics besides Posadowsky have leveled the same accusation at the Nationalists in even more heated terms, but coming from an ex-Imperial Cabinet Minister and ex-nationalist, Posadowsky's onslaught on his former political confrères on the eve of the Reichstag election has special significance and may contribute materially toward driving voters away from the Monarchists into the Republican fold.

The main gains in the Anhalt election were made by the Democratic and Socialist Parties, which stand furthest to the Left among the parties favoring a German republic. This fact is significant also, for it tends to show that the trend in Germany toward republicanism is genuine. Were this otherwise, one might assume that the voters, dissatisfied with the Nationalists, might have veered only slightly Leftward by backing the People's Party, the members of the Republican Bloc standing most to the Right, or voting for Centrists, the conservative backbone of the Republican bloc. Yet in the Anhalt election, where the People's Party cast in its lot with the Nationalists, big gains were made by Democrats and Socialists far to the Left. The Centrists gained only slightly.

Cabinet Calls National Assembly to Hear Dissolution Decree.

BELGRADE, Nov. 10 (Associated Press).—The Cabinet today decided to convoke the Skupshtina tomorrow to hear a decree dissolving it and fixing Feb. 8 as the date for a general election.

The Government, according to newspapers here, intends, as soon as Parliament is dissolved, to lodge a charge of treason against Stefan Radich, leader of the Croatian Peasants' Party, the rumor of whose flight is now said to be unfounded.

The health of former Premier Pachitch is improved, and it is stated that his physicians declare he will soon be able to resume his duties.

had advanced robustly during the morning, when offerings increased, and for a time sales orders exceeded orders to buy.

As a matter of fact, the railroad shares as a whole closed the day with a slight loss from the previous day. This was almost overcome, however, by a gain in the industrials. The market as a whole lost fractionally despite wide advances in such stocks as American Smelting and Refining, American Tobacco, Anaconda Copper, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, the Standard Oil of New Jersey and Utah Copper.

Strong control over the market was evidenced when the railroad shares began to falter and other market leaders were taken up in aggressive style. United States Steel common, under a tremendous volume of turnover, advanced from the day's low of 112⅝ to the high of 113¼. Later it retraveled the same ground and closed where it had started. In the early afternoon it was announced that the price of copper metal had advanced from 13½@13⅝ to 13⅝@14 cents. This brought instantaneous response from the metal shares on the Stock Exchange, and gains ranging from 1 to 2¼ points were established in the copper issues during the final hour of trading. Most of the improvement was reported to be based on a definite increase in the demand for export metal.

The market day was literally filled with sidelights which provided cheer and some basis of actual fact for the advancing prices. One of these was a gain of slightly less than 52,000 tons in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation. Just about such a figure had been expected, but nevertheless Wall Street hailed it as a tremendous bull point, and bought the steel stocks accordingly.

Another incident was the sale of a Stock Exchange seat at $90,000, the highest price in more than a year.

Commission rates on the Stock Exchange have just been raised sharply, and, although actual figures would be difficult to compile, it was estimated yesterday that brokerage fees in the last five days of the new scale have been about $1,000,000 greater than they would have been under the old scale.

In some quarters of the financial district it is said that Wall Street is just beginning to wake up to the fact that it is an international market of great importance. Evidence has cropped out in the last few days that a great deal of foreign capital is coming into American stock and bond markets, favoring the railroad issues particularly. There has been considerable increase, particularly in orders from England and Holland. Most of the securities are purchased outright and are being shipped abroad.

How long the present violent market will last is a matter of speculation. In many conservative banking quarters it is believed that the market has been traveling too fast and that, while in potential value most stocks are worth what they are selling for, there is danger of the markets getting out of hand.

Should the "bull" markets continue, it is suggested that banking institutions and wealthy individuals will furnish a volume of sales that will serve as an actual brake to speculative enthusiasm. Another probability is that some sort of artificial brake, possibly through the money market, will be

ARREST POLICEMAN AFTER MAN IS SHOT

Manager of Chemical Club Is Wounded on Sidewalk in John Street.

HIS CONDITION CRITICAL

Plain Clothes Man and Four Companions Near By When Two Shots Were Fired.

Aloysius J. Tierney, manager of the Drug and Chemical Club, 100 William Street, while on his way to his home at 20 White Street, West Orange, N. J., at 7 o'clock last night was shot in the stomach and dangerously wounded. He had just crossed Nassau Street at John Street when the reports of two shots rang out, and as he dropped to the street Henry Quinn and Charles Flanagan, who are connected with an insurance company at 79 John Street, ran over and lifting him into a taxicab hurried him to the Broad Street Hospital.

"I don't know why anybody should shoot me," Tierney told the two men, strangers to him. "I haven't an enemy in the world."

Patrolman John Brennan of the Old Slip Station, a plainclothes man, was arrested charged with the shooting. He denied it.

Tierney had just been placed on the operating table when the Lieutenant at the Old Slip Station was notified of the shooting by the clerk in the hospital. A few minutes before Policemen Harrington and O'Connor had entered the station with five men, one of them, Brennan. Harrington and O'Connor had told the Lieutenant that when they were standing in John Street near Broadway they saw the five men come out of 11 John Street, an office building, occupied principally by jewelers, and that one of the men fired two shots.

Policeman Is Questioned.

This was at about 7 P. M., they said, but when they seized the five men and started with them for the station they were not aware that anybody had been shot in the vicinity. Brennan was found to have a pistol, but it was fully loaded. Because of the fact that the shots had been fired at about the time Tierney was wounded, the Lieutenant notified Deputy Chief Inspector Thomas F. Ryan. Ryan reached the station in a few minutes from Police Headquarters, and, after questioning the plain clothes policeman notified Assistant District Attorney William P. Ryan of the Homicide Bureau.

Mr. Ryan examined Brennan and the other men at the station and then went around to 11 John Street. He found George Connor, a watchman at 1 Maiden Lane, standing near the building. Connor said he was talking to Policemen Harrington and O'Connor when the five men came out of the office building and he saw one of them fire two shots from a blue-barreled pistol in the direction of Nassau Street.

The Assistant District Attorney also questioned Paul Wischell, superintendent of the building. Wischell said that at about 7 o'clock the five men came to the building and knocked. He refused to let them in, he said, although they said they wanted to visit one of the tenants. Wischell added that one of them, whom he later identified as Policeman Brennan, then pulled a pistol out of his pocket and threatened "to blow his brains out" if he didn't let him and his companions into the building. Wischell said that Brennan also showed him a shield, declaring that he was a policeman, and a pocketbook.

Identifies a Pocketbook.

Wischell then volunteered to accompany Assistant District Attorney Ryan to the station, and when shown a pocketbook which had been taken from Policeman Brennan declared that it was the one the policeman with the pistol had displayed in front of the office building.

Policeman Brennan had previously told Mr. Ryan that he had gone to the building earlier in the evening to visit a man named Reilly who had a jewelry establishment on the sixth floor. The prosecutor before his talk with the superintendent of the building had gone to that floor and found that the office of James Reilly, a jeweler there, was closed, but on examining the stairway leading from the fifth to the sixth floor found a bullet hole in the wall. A closer inspection of the sixth floor, near the entrance to Mr. Reilly's office, revealed a lead slug from a .38-calibre shell. Lower on the stairway, near the fifth floor, Mr. Ryan found the shell of a .38-calibre cartridge.

With this evidence the Assistant District Attorney began a more intensive examination of the plain clothes man and the other four men. Brennan, according to Mr. Ryan, explained that he had an appointment with Mr. Reilly, the jeweler, about a dinner which he and other friends were to give in Brooklyn. While he was being questioned this time Dr. Patrick J. Murray, chief surgeon of the Police Department, came in, responding to a call from Deputy Chief Inspector Ryan to examine Brennan regarding his condition. Dr. Murray, after questioning Brennan and putting him through regulation tests, announced that there was no indication that the plain clothes man had been drinking.

The arrest of Brennan was ordered after Mr. Ryan had become convinced the policeman was not telling the truth and had found that he could not reconcile the stories told by the men with him. The empty shell and a bullet that fitted a policeman's gun were found on the sidewalk near the scene of the shooting. Mr. Ryan, when that evidence had been discovered, commented on the fact that after Brennan was placed under arrest by his fellow policemen, his pistol was not taken away from him immediately. Instead he was allowed to retain it until he reached the station house and the Assistant District Attorney took possession of the weapon.

The men with Brennan all were released. Besides Reilly they were James (Boxer) Hayes of 630 Eleventh Street, Brooklyn; Frank W. Lamb of 9,732 109th Street, Richmond Hill, and John Tagney of 149 Sixteenth Street, Brooklyn, who the police said was a past Exalted Ruler of the Elks.

CITY BREVITIES.

Martha Berry, founder and director of the Berry Schools at Mount Berry, Ga., has issued an appeal to maintain the "Christian Industrial School for Country Boys and Girls." Six hundred are being educated and $150 will keep a boy or girl at the schools for one year. Among New Yorkers interested in the institution are Albert Shaw, Valentine E. Macy Jr. and George Lister Carlisle Jr.

The Sisterhood of the Mount Neboh Congregation will have a bridge party at the Pennsylvania Hotel next Monday afternoon. The proceeds will be donated to charity. The Sisterhood has a membership of 1,452.

A dinner for all aviators in New York and vicinity who served in France during the war will be held tonight at the Delta Kappa Epsilon Club, 30 West Forty-fourth Street, under the auspices of the First Reserve Squadron.

The annual ball in aid of the Brooklyn Hebrew Home and Hospital for the Aged will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria next Sunday evening. A substantial part of the fund for the support of the institution is derived from the proceeds of this annual event.

The auxiliary to the tuberculosis division of Bellevue Hospital is in need of warm clothing for men and boys. Useful articles of this nature are sought and may be sent to Miss Sarah E. Shaw, Bellevue Hospital, 410 East Twenty-sixth Street, or will be called for on request.

The Committee on Arrangements for the dinner to be given tonight in honor of Prince Gelasio Caetani, Italian Ambassador to the United States, and Henry P. Fletcher, at the Hotel Astor, announces that among the guests of honor will be General Robert Lee Bullard and Admiral and Mrs. Charles P. Plunkett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Underwood Johnson, Consul General and Mrs. Emilio Azerio, Lloyd C. Griscom, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Angell, Sidney E. Mezes, and Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler.

Peter Stryker celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his association with the Royal Baking Powder Company yesterday. He was the guest of the company at a dinner at the New York Yacht Club, at which were present all the officers, directors and heads of departments. Mr. Stryker received a gold watch and chain. He is Treasurer of the company.

Charles Rickard, President of the Societe Lyrique Francaise, yesterday received the decoration of Officier d'Academie from the French Government for services in the war.

At Approximately the Price of High-Grade Painted Wooden Refrigerators

Here is a Great Opportunity:

The closing of some of our out-of-town storage warehouses and the concentration of their stocks in our New York warehouses has taxed our storage capacity beyond our expectations. If this were spring, the normal demand would easily move these fine Refrigerators very quickly—but we are now faced with storage and insurance charges all winter. That is why we are offering some of these magnificent Refrigerators at special reductions.

This Is Important For You to Know:

A real Refrigerator must first of all be sanitary—this means that foods must be kept not only cold but dry and clean, without mingling of odors.

It must operate at a minimum of expense for ice, which means that the first cost of a Refrigerator, which should last a lifetime, is a comparatively small factor. The insulation, air circulation and general substantial construction are of the greatest importance.

In all of these respects the Bohn Syphon Refrigerator has proven its pre-eminence throughout the world for many years. The fact that all railroads use the Bohn "Syphon" System and that a Bohn "Syphon" is in every dining car in the United States tell their own story.

By actual official test it has been conclusively demonstrated that the Bohn Syphon Refrigerator saves 25% of ice over practically any other refrigerator ever built.

H. W. FIELD DENIES HE IS INCOMPETENT

Wife, Whom He Had Sued to Recover $200,000, Backs Him Against Nieces.

SAW SHOOTING OF LINCOLN

Defendant in Action Is Said to Be a Grandnephew of Cyrus W. Field.

Hickson W. Field, said to be a grandnephew of Cyrus W. Field and one of the two men living who were in the theatre on the night when President Lincoln was shot, opposed before Supreme Court Justice Lydon yesterday an application by his nieces, Louise Maunsell Field, novelist and literary critic, and her sister, Mrs. Emily Drisler, to have him adjudged incompetent to care for his property.

Field himself filed suit two weeks ago against his wife, Mary Agnes Matthews Field, formerly a nurse, to recover property worth more than $200,000, on the ground that she got it from him by deception and misrepresentation after their marriage in 1916. Field asked Justice Lydon to permit him to drop this suit on the ground that he and his wife had become reconciled.

Field, who is now 75 years old, retired in 1918 as a clerk in the local Sub-Treasury of the United States on a pension, after being employed there forty years. In his recent suit against his wife he asserted that she had all his property and that he had been reduced to poverty. The application of his two nieces stated that he had been a sufferer from epilepsy for years, and they feared that unless a committee of his property were appointed he would either become a public charge or they would have to support him. They contended that he had been unable to care for himself and his property for many years.

When the hearing on the incompetency case was called yesterday it was opposed by Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier as attorney for Field and by Jeremiah J. O'Leary as counsel for Mrs. Field. In support of the contention that Field is able to care for himself he and his wife submitted an affidavit by the Rev. Father John H. Dooley, rector of the Roman Catholic Church of Corpus Christi in West 121st Street, who married the couple, stating that Field came to him before the marriage and embraced the Roman Catholic faith. He stated that the canon law of the Church forbade the marriage of an incompetent person, and that Field responded to all the tests put to him with "extraordinary keenness and intelligence."

Counsel for Mrs. Field asserted that Field had amassed a fortune of more than $200,000 by making judicious investments of the money saved from his small salary at the Sub-Treasury.

Mrs. Field also joined with her husband in asking for a dismissal of the injunction against her because the temporary restraining order had prevented her from drawing any funds for their living expenses since his bank account, which is in her name, has been tied up. She said that unless the injunction is vacated today or tomorrow she and her husband will have to give up the room in which he is lying ill.

Justice Lydon reserved decision on both applications.

EARL CARROLL FREED ON PICTURE CHARGE

Three Judges Find That 'Vanities' Paintings Are Not Improper.

According to Justices Moses Herrman, Daniel F. Murphy and Henry W. Edwards of the Court of Special Sessions, the paintings of girls in the "Vanities," for displaying which are in the lobby of his theatre Earl Carroll, the producer, was arrested, are not indecent or improper.

Mr. Carroll's discharge came at the end of a brief hearing in the Court of Special Sessions. There was but one witness—the policeman who made the arrest—an argument between counsel, and a five minutes' conference between the Justices before they announced their decision. They studied the pictures in chambers, having decided previously that the whole matter was a question of facts and not of law.

"We have examined the exhibits, which are specimens of nudity and find they are not sufficient to hold the defendant," Justice Herrman announced. "We find that the defendant should be acquitted."

Patrolman J. Meehan of the Special Service Squad was the only witness. Under examination by Assistant District Attorney Albert Blogg Unger, he said that he noticed the paintings outside the theatre on Oct. 7. While he was there groups of persons were attracted to them, he said. With a police sergeant and another officer, Meehan said he went to the Music Box Theatre, where they found Mr. Carroll.

"Sergeant Maloney asked Mr. Carroll if he was responsible for the pictures," the officer continued. "He said he was. The sergeant requested him to take them inside and said that if he didn't there would have to be an arrest. Mr. Carroll said he was willing to stand for the arrest."

The prosecution rested its case when James A. Timony, the defendant's counsel, concluded a short cross-examination. Arguing for a dismissal, Mr. Timony asserted the pictures were not immodest but were art studies, made by "one of the greatest artists in the United States."

Mr. Carroll, after his arrest, was held in $300 bail, which he refused to provide, going to the Tombs instead. He remained there four days before accepting his release under bond.

NEGRO MURDERER TO DIE.

"Yellow Charleston" Sentenced for Killing Barron Wilkins.

"Yellow Charleston," a negro who was convicted of killing Barron Wilkins, a cabaret owner in the Little Africa section of Harlem, was sentenced yesterday by Judge McIntyre in General Sessions to die in the electric chair in the week of Dec. 22.

The slayer, whose right name is Julius Miller, killed Wilkins, who also was a negro, at Seventh Avenue and 134th Street on May 24 when the cabaret owner refused to give him money to flee the city ten minutes after "Yellow Charleston" had shot and killed another negro in a quarrel over a crap game in a near-by tenement.

"Yellow Charleston" was poorly attired during the trial, but when he appeared before Judge McIntyre for sentence he wore a new blue suit, which, it developed, had been given to him by Carroll, the theatrical producer, when Carroll was a prisoner in the Tombs waiting trial for displaying nude pictures in a theatre lobby.

The murderer, because of illness, was unable to stand during the long plea of John Caldwell Meyers, his attorney, for an abrogation of the conviction, and Judge McIntyre ordered an attendant to provide him with a chair before he imposed the death penalty. Immediately afterward Charleston was taken to Sing Sing.

The victim of the shooting was a political power among negroes of the city and for many years had conducted cabarets in negro colonies in the lower west side and in Harlem.

VICTIM OF SHOOTING BY BOYS IS BURIED

SCHOOLMATES IN TRIBUTE

Fellow-Pupils Stand Bareheaded as Procession Passes on Way to the Cemetery.

The funeral of Ernest Schwer, 12 years old, was held yesterday from his late home, 8,529 129th Street, Richmond Hill. Charles Hirshfield, 8 years old, one of the four boys being held for his death, was the only one of the boys to visit the home. Charles was the first to run away from Haystown Dump, Richmond Hill, when Ernest was accidentally killed by a gun with which the boys were hunting on Oct. 28. The boys kept the secret for ten days, then on insistent questioning by the police told how Ernest was killed and where his body lay.

Accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Charles Hirshfield of 8,932 129th Street, Charles went to the Schwer home. Mrs. Hirshfield said a few words of consolation to the grief-stricken mother, and when Charles caught sight of the white coffin he cried and insisted that she take him home. They left immediately.

Frank Rotundo, father of Adam, 12 years old, another of the hunting party, came to offer his sympathy. The parents of Arthur and Harold Megan did not call, but sent a floral piece. Their home is opposite that of the Schwers, and the Megan boys were seen looking from a window as Ernest's coffin was carried out of the house. Mrs. Megan was ill in bed, according to her husband, due to her son's part in the tragic death.

A short service was conducted by the Rev. Arthur B. Rhinow, pastor of the Ridgewood Presbyterian Church. Two hours before the service began mourners came to the Schwer home. Up to the time of the funeral the house was crowded with relatives and friends. Outside nearly 3,000 persons gathered. Reserves from the Richmond Hill station were sent to keep the crowd in order.

Mrs. May Schwer, mother of the dead boy, was calm while receiving condolences before the funeral, but during the service she sobbed bitterly, and repeated, "My boy, he is going away forever." Her husband, a city fireman, tried to console her.

After three coaches had been filled with flowers the casket was carried from the house to the hearse on the shoulders of six boy friends with whom Ernest had been confirmed in the Ridgewood Presbyterian Church last Easter. They were Frank Beckmann, Henry Besold, Willard Haag, Harry Well, Robert Wuesterfeld and Raymond Youkass, all of Ridgewood.

The procession passed once around the block on which the Schwer home is located, then went by Public School 54, Hillside Avenue and 127th Street, Richmond Hill, where the 900 children of the school stood outside, bareheaded, in silent tribute to their schoolmate. The school flag was at half-staff. Earlier in the day a special service was held in the auditorium.

The body was buried in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Maspeth, Queens.

This morning the Megan boys, Adam Rotundo and Charles Hirshfield will appear in the Jamaica Children's Court before Justice Young to answer the charges of juvenile delinquency.

Thirty-three Firms File Appearance in $12,000,000 Will Contest.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 10.—When the contest over the will of Miss Emily A. Watson, who left an estate of $12,000,000, brought by five first cousins was called for trial today by Surrogate George A. Slater, counsel for the proponents asked for an adjournment until Nov. 19.

Thirty-three law firms filed appearance in the contest. Some of them represented hospitals and charitable organizations in Manhattan, who inherit a trust fund of $500,000 under the will. The cousin who were cut off without a share in the fortune, although other cousins are large beneficiaries, were represented by Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft and Bertram L. Fletcher. It was reported that a compromise was being arranged for a settlement of the contest.

Police Lieut. Ebert Retired.

Police Lieutenant Henry Ebert of the Fourth Inspection District was retired yesterday on a pension of $1,650 a year. Ebert joined the force Sept. 22, 1893, was made a detective shortly afterward, and in 1907 was promoted to a lieutenancy. He lives at 107-38 117th Street, Richmond Hills, Queens.

RAYNOR CUSTOMERS TESTIFY AT TRIAL

Witnesses Say Brokers Made Frequent Calls for Margin.

CLERGYMAN MAKES CHARGE

Declares Firm Sold Him Out Without Requesting Additional Collateral.

Customers' testimony was introduced yesterday at the trial of William S. Silkworth, former President of the Consolidated Stock Exchange, and eight others in the Federal court before Judge Augustus N. Hand and a jury on an indictment charging conspiracy and use of the mails to defraud. The charges developed out of the failure of Raynor, Nicholas & Truesdell, a brokerage firm which failed two years ago for $4,000,000.

In addition to Silkworth and the three members of the brokerage firm, the defendants are Peter Ovens, office manager for the Raynor concern; Edward A. McQuade and John H. McQuade, who were partners in another enterprise that failed; Francis X. Quillan and Louis Gilbough, former member of the Ways and Means Committee of the Consolidated. De Witt C. Raynor, senior member, has entered a plea of guilty.

The first customer to take the stand was Barnett Gordon, carpenter, of 18 Rivington Street. He testified that he had invested about $1,000 in the bankrupt firm. He said that regularly, the second day after he took a flier in stocks, the firm called for more margin. Gordon identified envelopes and confirmation slips which were mailed to his home. One confirmation slip was for 150 shares of Booth Fisheries and another for 1,000 shares of Candelaria, a mining stock.

Austin G. Bayette, who said that he lived in Pulaski, N. Y., and was battery repair man and stock clerk, testified that he had deposited ten shares of New York Central Railroad common with Raynor, Nicholas & Truesdell as margin for 100 shares of Goodyear Rubber preferred a week before the firm failed. He denied his signature on a card authorizing the sale of the stock.

H. J. Welcher of Newark, N. Y., said that he had not read its contents. His bank he had not read its contents. His account, he said, had consisted of a balance of $550 in his favor when the crash came.

The Rev. L. E. Ford, a Methodist pastor from Salamanca, N. Y., accused the defendants of "selling him out." This did not come out during his examination by Assistant United States District Attorney Peter J. McCoy, but was developed when a juror asked permission to question the clergyman after his excusal by both sides. In reply to the juror the Rev. Mr. Ford said that he had had but one call for margin during the period when he was doing business through the Raynor concern, and that on this occasion, when he hurried into the Scranton (Pa.) branch office, he found that he did not have to put up extra margin because the stock had risen. In another transaction, however, the pastor said his stock had been disposed of without his knowledge.

"They sold me out without calling for more margin," he testified.

The five attorneys for the defense sought to submit the clergyman to a cross-examination, but this was interrupted by the adjournment of court until 10:30 A. M. today.

MURDER PLOT BARED BY CHINESE ON STAND

Court Adjourns and Witness Is Hustled Away After Hostile Move by Spectators.

A Chinese testified against a countryman in a murder case yesterday in the Long Island City Court. Lai On, a cook, told Magistrate James J. Conway that Oct. 12 last Lou Chow had told him that he intended to kill Jer Bong, the victim of hatchet men in his restaurant at 34 West Jackson Street, Corona, the next day. Chow was arrested last Friday in Yonkers on suspicion that he was connected with the killing.

Captain of Detectives John Gallagher said that the slaying was the result of the feud between the Hip Sing Tong and the On Leong Tong, of which the slain man was a member. Chow, through his lawyer, Henry Ferguson, denied any connection with the killing. Mr. Ferguson also is the attorney for the Hip Sing Tong. The accused man stated that his right name was Chin Sing, but the case was continued under the first name he had given.

Detectives had cleared the court room of Chinese spectators before Lai On was put on the stand. Lou Chow eyed Lai On steadily as he took the witness stand and said that Chin Sing, as he had known Chow, came to him in the boarding house at 5 Mott Street on the afternoon of Sunday, Oct. 12, and asked if he had a Spanish dagger.

Lai On said that he asked Lou Chow why he wanted the dagger and that Lou Chow told him that he intended to kill Jer Bong, by whom he was employed as a cook. "He told me that he'd get $1,000 for the killing and offered to give me $500 if I would help him," continued Lai On. "Then I told him that I didn't have a dagger."

A group of Chinese had gathered near the entrance of the court room when Lai On began to testify and when the import of his accusation reached them they made a rush for the interior, four of them managing to get in long enough to view the witness and then run out again as court attendants approached them. Lai On showed great fear at this move and when the Magistrate observed that his nervousness interfered with the fluency of his testimony he adjourned the hearing until Friday and committed Lou Chow to the Queens County Prison without bail.

The crowd was dispersed and Detective Sergeants Martin and Donahue led the trembling Lai On out through a side entrance.

Chin Jack Lem, 49 years old, who gave his address as the Hotel Pennsylvania, but who was alleged to have come to this city Sunday from Chicago, was held without bail for a hearing tomorrow when he was arraigned yesterday in the Tombs Court as a fugitive from Cleveland. Lem, according to a wire from Chief of Police Jacob Graul of Cleveland, is wanted in that city for extorting $70,000 from Wong Sing, a merchant.

Ziang Ling Chang, Chinese Consul General in this city, held a conference behind closed doors at the Hotel Pennsylvania last night with Chinese merchants from different parts of the country and leaders of the Hip Sing and On Leong Tongs in an effort to permanently end the feud between them. The merchants are members of the Chinese Benevolent Association and none of them is connected with either tong. On Oct. 31 last, in cooperation with the Consul General, they succeeded in getting the tong leaders to bring about a cessation of hostilities until next Thursday midnight, through the signing of an armistice.

SAY HERRIOT SPEECH ENDANGERS LOAN

DISCONTENT IS GROWING

Copyright, 1924, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The attack delivered yesterday at Rodez by Premier Herriot against the Opposition and preceding Government is condemned by four of the most important evening newspapers. The general accusation made is that M. Herriot speaks, not as head of the Government, but as head of a party, and that he is fighting for his party at a time he should be fighting for France. Moreover, it is charged that he is endangering the loan he is about to float.

It is even suggested by the Journal des Débats that it is time for a change of Government, and whereas recognition of the Soviets at the time brought little criticism the Matin now attacks this move. The Journal des Débats says:

"France looked to the Premier for reassuring thoughts. Instead she finds only the irritated statements of a party leader. His entire discourse breathes discontent, disappointment and disillusion. The Premier does not seem to be aware of his mistakes and resents criticism of himself as if it were an injustice. It is deplorably bad policy to resort to intolerance and violence on the eve of floating a loan. When a Government is about to appeal to moneyed citizens it should not commence by frightening those citizens. The country's savings do not belong to any political party. If there are rich citizens among the Opposition there are also rich citizens who support the Government. The Government is discouraging some of its friends."

The Temps says:

"M. Herriot reminds one rather of the chief of a political party rather than the head of the Government. He affirms it is his highest ambition to establish among all Frenchmen a 'veritable sincere fraternity.' Does he think the best means to assure that fraternity is, after having declared peace among nations, to declare in violent terms war against all Governments which preceded his own and against all Frenchmen who do not approve his policy?"

The Liberté, after condemning the general policy of the Government, says:

"M. Herriot's party six months ago solemnly promised the country there would be no more loans. Will it dare say today that the loan of November, 1924 will be the last in its term of office, or is it convinced that this term, which has hardly begun, is already nearing its end?"

Leon Bailby in the Intransigeant says:

"M. Herriot's method of governing is to resort to threats, to the unjust attacks of an agitator and to sowing discord throughout the country at the very time it needs all its strength, all its faith and all its friendship. His speech at Rodez is a work of ill-will."

This very general attitude of hostility and irritation in the press is not expected to prove very helpful to M. Herriot in dealing with two extremely delicate problems which face him at the present moment. Tomorrow many thousands of crippled war heroes will march through Paris, and, after placing a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, will continue to the Ministry of Pensions and to M. Herriot's office, where the delegations will express dissatisfaction with the relief promised by the Government within the terms of the new budget. It is known that M. Herriot, while recognizing the justice of the demands made by the pensioned men, has done all in his power to persuade them from making a public demonstration on Armistice Day. Through the Pensions Minister the promise was made yesterday that if fresh credits could be found further relief would be given. But the association, which includes all veterans as well as mutilated soldiers, refused nevertheless to renounce their demonstration.

On the other hand, the Government project for an increase of the salaries of Government officials and employes has not met with the approval of their federation, which finds the distribution of the increases unjust and arbitrary. Various associations of Government officials plan to organize a campaign and hold meetings of functionaries all over France.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The commencement of the reduction of the number of Government employes by 20,000 was decided by the Cabinet tonight, when it approved Finance Minister Clementel's plan to reduce the force of the Ministry of Finance by 2,028. The reduction will begin Jan. 1 and will be brought about chiefly by not filling vacancies and by pensioning the oldest clerks.

MELLEN JR. AND SABIN JR. SWEEP STORE FLOOR

Open Boxes and Mark Christmas Toys on Their First Day in Business.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Sweeping up the stock room floor, opening packing boxes and marking Christmas toys was the work to which Charles Hamilton Sabin Jr., son of the New York banker, and Raymond Sanger Mellen, son of C. S. Mellen, former President of the New Haven Railroad, were assigned today in the department store of W. M. Whitney & Co., where they began to study the business from the bottom up.

Young Mellen, a graduate of Williams College last year and utility outfielder on the baseball team, was found in the basement unpacking a box of toy fire engines.

"Sure, I like it," he said in response to an inquiry as to how he regarded the work. "I was interested in the department store business and I came here to work. I'm here for the business training, and so far it's been line."

Another flight down, in the subbasement, young Sabin was checking up the Christmas stock. He declared he liked the job, but didn't know just what his duties were.

"So far I have tried everything that was to be done, swept the floor, pushed boxes and checked up these things. I don't care what they put me at. I'm here to learn and before I get through I'll know something about this business."

The two youths will work from 8:30 to 5:30, with a half-hour for lunch. They use the same entrance as the other employes and have no special favors. They punch a time clock on entering in the morning and on leaving at night. They are not allowed to use the elevators, but must walk up stairs if their duties take them to the other floors.

The young men spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. A. Whitney at Loudonville. Mr. Whitney is head of the store and is an uncle of young Sabin. Mrs. Sabin is a daughter of the late William M. Whitney, who founded the business years ago.

The young men are following the footsteps of their fathers. Mr. Sabin started as a clerk in the National Commercial Bank and Trust Company and Mr. Mellen began in a minor position with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, finally rising to the office of President.

TOYS

Exhibited in Toyland

One of the most interesting of the many sights to see in Toyland is a sturdy little truck that was built of Meccano construction toys by a six-year old boy. The surprising part about this achievement is not only that its builder was such a small boy, but that he planned and built it without the help of a design or directions from any person.

Educational Toys

For months he planned and worked, revised and rebuilt until he had succeeded in getting his truck just as he wanted it. When you see how scientifically he has worked it out you will be amazed at the amount of ingenuity shown by a boy of his age. All of these construction toys call for a certain amount of this, so are educational. Ask to see the Meccano toys, Erector, Built-e-z and Toy Boymaker.

Men Who "Never Buy in Sales" Were Very Much in Evidence Here Yesterday

They Were Amazed at the Low Prices for Suits of Such Superlative Quality

Here Is a Sale at Which Men of Good Taste Can Buy in an Orderly, Dignified, Deliberate Manner

The Finest Quality Hand-Tailored SUITS for Men and Young Men

$39.75 For suits that were formerly $49.75

$44.75 For suits that were formerly $54.75 to $69.75

THIS IS A DIFFERENT KIND OF SALE

IT is meant for the "man who never buys in a sale." It is meant for the man who usually has his suit custom-tailored at three times the prices at which these hand-tailored suits are now selling.

In this sale there is none of the bargain-table hysteria that results from a "slaughter" of low-grade clothing. Our enlarged men's clothing department and our thoroughly trained salesmen enable you to make your selections in perfect comfort and ease of mind.

NO HURRY! NO SCRAMBLE!

No frantic struggle to grab the suit you think you want, only to find it is a "misfit" when you get it home. This sale opened yesterday with 1710 beautifully hand-tailored suits—an assortment large enough for any man to find a score or more of suits that were "made especially for him."

Remember: These are not merely good suits; They are as fine as any you can buy.

We are proud of this sale because it is acquainting hundreds of the best-dressed men with the fact that Macy's is now New York's headquarters for the best men's clothing sold in this city.

BALDWIN ANNOUNCES POLICY OF STABILITY

friendly and consistent support in the execution of the policy which he himself has so largely facilitated.

"His Majesty's Government is fully confident that the London agreement will enable Germany to become a factor for peace and stability in Europe. Realization of this hope, however, rests with the German people. A new opportunity is opening before them if they will scrupulously observe their obligations and resist all temptations of evasion."

After a reference to the difficult problems in India the Prime Minister mentioned the "large questions of policy affecting the British Dominions, such as preference and defense, which will have to be reviewed by the present Government, and others such as the Geneva Protocol, which the Government is pledged to examine in consultation with the Dominions."

Finally Mr. Baldwin made an announcement regarding the Wembley exhibition which aroused enthusiasm. He contended that the exhibition had been a great success and declared that his Government did not intend that this great enterprise should come to an untimely end. Practically the whole of the capital expenditure had been incurred and the cost of reopening it next year would not be great, but in this matter the Government could not stand alone. If the Dominions and the great industries of this country were prepared to do their part the Government would do its share and ask Parliament to provide a sufficient guarantee in addition to that which already had been provided. Mr. Baldwin said he regarded the assumption of this potential liability as fully justified even in a time when the strictest economy was indispensable in the public service.

He added that not only in the matter of the British Empire Exhibition but in all matters appertaining to their common heritage the Government purposed to seek the cooperation and support of the Dominions.

Among the earlier speakers was Austen Chamberlain, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, who said in part:

"The aim of every statesman in the British Empire is and must ever be to preserve peace. As we expect others to respect our own national dignity, so we will respect theirs. As we hope from them for sympathetic understanding and regard for our special interests and feelings, so we will endeavor to bring the same sympathy and understanding to the consideration of their peculiar position and profit.

"In this spirit we will deal with all nations; but for those of our allies and associates by whose side we fought in the great war we have a partial and deeper feeling and with them we desire more intimate friendship.

"We rejoice that with the invaluable cooperation of the United States some of the difficulties that have recently vexed us have been removed from our path, and we trust that that cooperation in whatever form that may appear fitting to the President and Senate of the United States may not be withheld from us in the difficulties we have still to face.

"Nor do we forget the great service already rendered to humanity by the League of Nations or the immense possibilities of good which it holds if wisely and prudently directed."

CECIL AND PEEL IN CABINET.

Meeting of New Parliament Is Put Off to Dec. 2.

LONDON, Nov. 10 (Associated Press).—Premier Baldwin completed his new Cabinet today by appointing Viscount Peel as First Commissioner of Works and Public Buildings and Viscount Cecil as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

King George called a meeting of the Privy Council at the Palace today and Parliament was further prorogued from Nov. 18 to Dec. 2. This postponement was made for the purpose of enabling the new Ministers to become acquainted with their departments before the meeting of the new Parliament.

When Parliament does reassemble many days will be spent in swearing in the members and electing a Speaker and other officials. Only when these formalities have been completed will the King formally open Parliament with a State ceremony.

With the completion of the Cabinet today, Premier Baldwin will call the Ministers together in council Wednesday morning in order to discuss general lines of policy. The addition of Viscount Cecil is considered of importance owing to his deep interest in the League of Nations. It is also regarded as showing that the new Government's policy with regard to the League will remain unchanged.

The remaining Government appointments are expected to be announced tomorrow. They will have no special interest, as it is understood Mr. Baldwin has decided to reappoint as Under Secretaries the men who held these posts in his previous Administration.

LORD MAYOR'S SHOW DELIGHTS BIG CROWDS

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The new Lord Mayor, to be sworn into office, rode today from the Guildhall to the Law Courts in customary state, and the crowds of women and small children up from the suburbs showed how the ancient ceremonial still retains its popularity in spite of its great inconvenience to business men.

As usual, military bands, contingents of Lancers and Hussars and a battery of artillery gave the soldiers the chief share of the procession, but a real lifeboat, manned by its regular crew in cork jackets, aroused greater enthusiasm as it was dragged by a little caterpillar motor through the streets.

The new Lord Mayor, Sir Alfred Bower, is a member of the Vintners' Company, and the Vintners are the custodians of the swans that swim on the upper Thames, as the well-known public house (saloon) sign, "The Swan With Two Necks," testifies. So today a little group of men in white uniforms, with long staves like boathooks, marched to represent the swan keepers.

Then homage was paid to the large part the Vintners have played in London's civic history. No fewer than thirteen members of that company have been Lord Mayor and they were all represented in the correct costumes of their period, riding gallant horses and attended by squires bearing their banners.

Then at the end came the Lord Mayor himself, and every child thought his wonderful gilt coach, with white-wigged coachmen driving six horses and powdered footman hanging on behind, well worth the long, weary wait till he passed. The coach looked exactly as if it had stepped out of the story of Cinderella, and it was greeted all along the route with cheers and applause.

ASQUITH TO REVIVIFY THE LIBERAL PARTY

LONDON, Nov. 10 (Associated Press).—Former Premier Asquith, leader of the Liberal Party, the losses of which in the recent elections have given grave concern to its supporters, said in an address at a luncheon of Liberal members of Parliament today that there was no use disguising the serious nature of the party's setback.

He asserted, however, that Liberalism was far from dead and he revealed the fact that a small committee of experts was already working on a complete organization for the party, which needed, he said, "an overhauling from top to bottom."

Mr. Lloyd George, who since his retirement from the Premiership has been associated with Mr. Asquith in the party leadership, declared there was "nothing in the situation which ought to dismay us." Meantime, he added, the party had valuable work to do in the House of Commons.

In connection with today's meeting it was reported in political circles in Liverpool that a seat in the House might be found for Mr. Asquith in Denbighshire. The Liberal leader failed to win a reelection from the Paisley constituency in the late election. It is understood that Mr. Lloyd George has already taken action with a view toward finding the Denbighshire seat for Mr. Asquith.

Fashion Avenue meets a new shoe style

YOU must know that Fifth Avenue's Tailored Shoe Salon de luxe is proud to be the first to introduce this new style to the Avenue of Fashion. It is new, from the Paris-sponsored toe to the aristocratic high-spike heel, from low-cut side to instep-ring buckle. See how the delicate straps center in the buckle—like silk drawn through a wedding ring? It clings like silk, too, does this dainty little pump, because it is made with the uncopyable Walk-Over narrow fitting heel. That makes it snuggle luxuriously against your foot so that every step is a delight to you as well as to the passers-by. You can share its beauty and its smart attractiveness with everyone who sees it. You alone know the secret of its snug comfort and correctly clinging smartness.

HADASSAH SEEKING 5,000 NEW MEMBERS

Campaign Launched at a Luncheon Attended by 2,000 Women of Zionist Order.

PALESTINE WORK REVIEWED

Speakers Present Jewish Homeland as One of the Great Hopes of the Race.

A campaign for 5,000 new members of the Hadassah—the women's Zionist organization of America—was launched at a luncheon attended by 2,000 women, in the Hotel Astor yesterday. The guests of honor were Miss Henrietta Szold, President of the Hadassah, and Mrs. Edward Jacobs and Mrs. A. H. Fromenson, two members of the National Board, all of whom have recently returned from Palestine. With increasing restrictions on immigration to the United States, the speakers held out the Jewish homeland as one of the "great hopes" of the Hebrew race all over the world.

In the United States the Hadassah has 182 senior chapters with a paid-up membership of 16,220; 72 junior units, consisting of 87 groups, and 347 sewing circles. It was explained that the primary object of the membership drive was to stimulate interest in the work and raise additional funds for carrying it on.

Miss Eva C. Dushkin, Executive Secretary of the campaign for the chapters in New York City, said the Hadassah medical organization required a budget of $410,000 for hospitals containing 276 beds; for extra hospital activities, such as immigration, rural service and medical school inspection, and six infant welfare stations, four in Jerusalem, one in Tiberia and one in Rehobot. These funds are secured from the World Zionist Organization through the Keren Hayesood, the Joint Distribution Committee, the Hadassah and from revenues derived from Palestine itself.

Miss Dushkin explained that the local women's organizations in Palestine cooperate with the Hadassah Medical Organization. The outside obstetrical service, she said, had been extended from Jerusalem to Haifa and Tel-Aviv, and is about to be extended to Tiberias and Safed. In 1923 approximately 2,000 babies were born with the services of the Hadassah Medical Organization.

Mrs. Marguerite E. Harrison, the writer whose life was saved by a Jewish girl when she was in prison in Soviet Russia, told the luncheon guests that Zionists were regarded as counter-revolutionists in Russia. She said she was in Moskow in 1920 when 150 delegates to a Zionist convention were arrested and kept in prison for many months.

"I have seen the crying need for a refuge for a large section of the Jewish people," Mrs. Harrison said. "It seems to me that the political side of the Zionist movement is overestimated. It is the humanitarian side of the work that converted me to Zionism."

Mrs. Jacobs said her recent visit to Palestine had revealed miraculous changes from her former trip there ten years ago.

"An increased stability was the first thing that I noticed," she said. "There is now a uniform, efficient and reliable Post Office system and a network of good automobile roads through the country. Ten years ago I was advised not to go out in Jerusalem at night, but on this visit I did so freely. There is now an excellent police system. The spirit of hope is growing and the water and power problems are in a fair way of being solved. All of this has been accomplished through the organized effort of Jews."

Miss Szold said it was impossible to know what the people in Palestine were unless one saw them working on the roads and in the workshops.

"America has rightly or wrongly closed her doors," she said, "but Palestine is still the land of promise to our people all over the world. It is a practical way of solving one of our world Jewish problems. Zionism is the organization that will revivify Judaism."

The other speakers were Maurice Samule, author of "You Gentiles," and Mrs. Fromenson.

A fireproof Annex House has been finished for four months, to safeguard at least the weakest of the men and women from fire, and has delighted the patients to the hearts' content of the Sister Nurses. It has been greatly praised by all who have seen it and its beautiful views and felt its wide-sprung air. The Main Home will be for 100 or more, and will prove to be a little triumph of loving charity for these souls for whom as yet few care. We still have somewhat over $100,000 in our Fund, and, of course, need about $300,000 more, as the builders say positively, so that we trust many will hear us in our advertisements to the great extent required by a great disaster.

EDITH RANGER DEAD; BODY LIES IN MORGUE

STRICKEN BY HEART DISEASE

Her Death Recalls Bogus Will Case in Which She Was Defendant With Three Lawyers.

Miss Edith Fanny Ranger, sister of the late Henry Ward Ranger, noted American artist, who left $250,000 to the National Academy of Design, died Sunday night at her residence, 241 West Forty-third Street, under such circumstances that her body has remained in the city morgue for two days, and the funeral services will be conducted under the auspices of the Salvation Army.

Assistant Medical Examiner Gonzales said that Miss Ranger had died of heart disease. She was 57 years old and had been supporting herself largely by renting rooms in her apartment.

Miss Ranger was a life member of the Professional Women's League. An official of that organization said last night that she had no near surviving relative. Her death recalls the tragic events in her life that became public in 1919, when she was tried for conspiracy in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court.

The charge against her involved a curious tale of a bogus will that she was alleged to have attempted to substitute for the genuine will that left her brother's fortune to the National Academy. In the bogus will she received a life interest in the estate. She and her brother had not spoken for twenty years, and while he lived in affluence she had been forced to run a lodging house at 311 West Fifty-fifth Street. The genuine will had been probated when the false will was brought forward by the sister's counsel. Martin W. Littleton appeared for the National Academy of Design and characterized the "will forgery" as one of the boldest he had ever heard of.

Two attorneys were arrested with Miss Ranger, and when a third lawyer who had been associated with them turned State's evidence the case for the prosecution looked strong. But all the defendants were acquitted, the jury apparently being influenced by the defense that Mr. Ranger had executed a later will, which had been lost, and that his sister honestly believed the document she offered for probate was a real will.

The funeral services for Miss Ranger will be held at the Stephen Merritt Chapel, 161 Eighth Avenue, at 11 o'clock Thursday morning.

OPPOSED TO UNION OF CHURCH AND STATE

American Catholics Do Not Need or Want It, Bishop Carroll Tells Women's Council.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10.—American Catholics neither need nor want a legal union of Church and State in this country, Bishop John P. Carroll of Helena, Mont., declared in a sermon at the fourth annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Women today. This is the first meeting of the council away from its headquarters in Washington.

"Union of Church and State may be an ideal condition in a country that is wholly Catholic," Bishop Carroll said. "It is not desirable or practicable in America, and if it were referred by the United States Government to the people the Catholic hierarchy and the Catholic laity of America would unanimously vote against it.

"The constitutional guarantees of religious liberty are sufficient for American Catholics, and they neither need nor want a legal union of Church and State in this happy land of ours"—to quote the words of Theodore Roosevelt—"where religion and liberty are natural allies."

DEPORTS I. W. W. STRIKERS.

Washington Sheriff Drives 225 Into the Next County.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 10.—About 225 alleged members of the I. W. W. were loaded into six automobile trucks near Concrete, Wash., today by Sheriff Conn of Skagit County and a force of deputies, taken to the Snohomish County line, unloaded there and told to "keep going," said a dispatch from Concrete to The Seattle Times.

The dispatch said Sheriff Conn and twenty-two deputies marched upon a bridge over the Baker River leading from Concrete to a hydroelectric plant where a strike was called about three weeks ago, and seized 150 of the men. The men are accused of having obstructed traffic by stopping all persons crossing the bridge who were suspected of being on the way to the plant.

Two of the men, the report said, were allowed to remain on the bridge as pickets, on condition that they did not interfere with traffic.

Sheriff Conn declared that he and his deputies were able to handle the situation without the aid of troops.

FOREST FIRES WANING.

All Extinguished or Under Control in New York State.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Forest fires throughout New York State tonight were extinguished or under control, and for the first time since Nov. 1 the Conservation Commission has experienced the passing of a day without receiving reports of new fires. Nine new fires did start over the week-end, but prompt attention placed them under control, it was said, so that today's record was clear and the fire menace was somewhat lessened.

Commission officials assert, however, that danger of new forest fires still threatens and that until the woodland sections of the State are drenched thoroughly by snow or rain the danger will continue.

The officials said that it was impossible at the present time to lift the ban on hunting and camping in the State reserves or to determine when it might be lifted.

THEATRE TO PROTEST TAX.

London House to Give Seats Free to Purchasers of Candy.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The management of one of the principal London theatres today announced its intention, beginning next week, of giving to each buyer of a box of chocolates a free seat at the play. The cost of the chocolates will range from 10 shillings, entitling the buyer to a seat in the stalls, to 15 pennce, which will carry a seat in the gallery.

The management explained that it was taking this action as a protest against the system which charges a heavy entertainment tax to theatres, but permits the giving of elaborate cabaret shows to dinner and supper guests without the payment of such a tax. The theatre says that the cabaret shows ostensibly are mere adjuncts of food, but are advertised in the newspapers the same as theatrical performances.

Chickering

Queen Anne

Make this Christmas last a lifetime

IF YOU choose a Chickering for your wife this Christmas you will know that her joy in your gift will not be for a day or a week, but for the rest of her life. She and all the family will have gained a new friend—a friend to rejoice with them or to comfort and console.

For more than one hundred years the Chickering has been the loved companion of scores of famous musicians. They have trusted its noble tone to send their message into the hearts of listening thousands. They have had the Chickering in their own homes upon which to develop their genius.

In whatever size you choose a Chickering, from the mighty concert grand to the smallest model, you will find nobility, charm, beauty. And there are designs to harmonize with every type of room.

The Ampico in the Chickering

You can have with the Chickering the incomparable Ampico—the modern marvel—that re-enacts for you the playing of the world's most famous pianists. Come in and hear your favorite pieces; you will realize what a joy it will be to have this feast of music in your home.

You can buy any instrument at Chickering Hall on comfortable terms over an extended period of time. Your present piano will count on the purchase price. Chickering prices, $875 to $2500; with the Ampico, $1800 to $5000.

EVENING CONCERTS
Every Wednesday and Friday

Fourteen concerts noteworthy for their own artistic excellence provide an unusual opportunity also to hear the wonders of the Ampico. The pianists in this list of notable young artists will play in direct comparison with their own Ampico recordings as one feature of the programs:

Hans Barth, Pianist
Milton Suskind
Lyell Barber, Pianist
Victoria Boshko, Pianist

WANTS IMBRIE FUND USED FOR STUDENTS

Government Proposes to Apply Persia's Payments to Educate Her Nationals Here.

SUM WILL REACH $110,000

If Agreement Is Reached the Imbrie Incident Will Be Regarded as Closed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Secretary Hughes today announced that the American Government has proposed to the Persian Government that approximately $110,000 due the United States from Persia in reimbursement of the expense of sending the cruiser Trenton to escort the body of Major Robert W. Imbrie back to the United States be utilized for the creation of a fund for the education of Persian students in the United States. Major Imbrie was killed by a Persian mob while serving as American Vice Consul at Teheran.

A note delivered to the Persian Government by Wallace S. Murray, Chargé d'Affaires at Teheran, on the morning of Nov. 9, says:

"One question which is now outstanding between the two Governments with respect to the late incident is that of reimbursement for the expenses incurred in dispatching an American man-of-war to Persia for the return of the Vice Consul's remains, the expenses of which the Persian Government in its note of July 29 has already expressed its willingness to meet. It is anticipated that this sum will approximate $110,000.

"My Government desires to effect a settlement of this question in a manner that will tend to promote the friendly relations between the two countries. It has, therefore, authorized me to propose that the Persian Government's understanding in this matter be carried out by the establishment of a trust fund to be utilized for the education of Persian students at institutions of higher learning in the United States.

"Upon receipt of information that the Persian Government is prepared to carry out this suggestion the precise arrangements which could best be made to give effect thereto can be easily determined. My Government believes that the Persian Government will be in full agreement with its view that the plan suggested will result in promoting a closer relationship and a better understanding between the peoples of the two countries."

With the settlement of this question, it is understood, the State Department will regard the Imbrie incident as closed.

"Deburau."

THE LOVER OF CAMILLE, with Monte Blue, Marie Prevost, Willard Louis, Terrence Moore, Pierre Gendron, Rose Dion, Rosa Rosanova, Trilby Clark, Brandon Hurst and Rosita Marstini, adapted from Sacha Guitry's play, "Deburau," directed by Harry Beaumont, musical score by Mischa Guterson; Joseph Turin, tenor. At the Piccadilly.

The film version of Sacha Guitry's play "Deburau," masquerading under the title of "The Lover of Camille," is holding forth at the Piccadilly this week. It is only a vague and artless reflection of the superb Belasco presentation of this charming, slow-moving, sad romance. Monte Blue enacts the rôle of Jean Gaspard Deburau, the celebrated Pierrot of the early nineteenth century, whose silent performance took all Paris by storm, attracting the elite and the gutter-snipe, the rich and the poor to the portals of the Théâtre des Funambules.

One is bound to compare Mr. Blue's performance with Lionel Atwill's artistic achievement on the stage, and the conclusion is that, able a comedian as Mr. Blue is, this rôle is not suited to his type. Mr. Atwill's features are singularly delicate and clean-cut, while Mr. Blue's are heavier. He appears to smile in some of his most earnest love scenes. Of course one might say that a clown with a painted face may seem to grin when his grief is greatest. It is also apparent, paradoxical as it may be, that this story of a pantomimist's unrequited love needs, above all, the various vocal qualities and color to give it the full strength of its melancholy beauty. This narrative is not adaptable to the screen, that is to make it comparable to the play.

As Dr. Braun in Ernst Lubitsch's "The Marriage Circle," Mr. Blue gave a splendid performance, his facial expression being just what that character called for. But as Deburau he is pathetic without being effective. In those scenes where he is not dressed as a Pierrot, his make-up appears to be overdone.

Marie Prevost, the minx of "The Marriage Circle," impersonates Marie Duplessis. Miss Prevost is not a beguiling beauty, her prettiness being more of the roguish type, slightly toned down for this rôle. Despite the totally different mental picture we had of this character before viewing this film, we found Miss Prevost quite pleasing and sympathetic.

There are a few sequences in this production which are unnecessarily exaggerated. In the beginning one sees the crowd forging its way along the sidewalks to see Deburau, and to make it plain that the people come from widely different spheres of life, Harry Beaumont, the director, depicts a man and a woman coming from the Paris sewers for their night in the open. They emerge from their underground habitat through the manhole in front of the Theatre des Funambules!

One wonders why Parisians made such a fuss about this Pierrot, as there is nothing Mr. Blue does in the stage scene that would be likely to cause any furor. Yet the audience goes wild over his pantomimic efforts, as it might have done following listening to Paganini play one of his ecstatic variations. Perhaps in Deburau's day such a Pierrot's performance was a joy to behold, their entertainment fare being so meagre compared with Broadway in 1924.

The comedy in this picture is a little crude for such a delicate romance. It would have been wiser to adhere to the play and forego any searching for laughter. Willard Louis, who gave an outstanding performance in "Beau Brummel," is only moderately interesting as Robillard. As years roll on to the tune of seven, one sees the heartbroken Pierrot, bent and gray, while Robillard cavorts around as young as ever.

The scene in the theatre, where Deburau first sees the captivating and vacillating Marie, is effective. You see the expensively dressed woman waiting until the theatre is empty to speak to the renowned Pierrot. Miss Prevost controls her usual buoyancy and her movements are slow and seductive.

Deburau's son at the age of 10 looks as if he were 7, and as portrayed by Pierre Gendron at the age of 17, he looks 27. Mr. Gendron is hardly what Terrence Moore, who plays the child, might expect.

This picture will probably please many of those who have not seen the play, but it will hardly appeal to those who witnessed the delicate, exquisite performance given by Lionel Atwill.

Silent and Spoken Drama.

THE GREATEST LOVE OF ALL, with George Beban, Wanda Lyon, Baby Evelyn, Nettie Bell Darby, O. Zangrilli, Mary Skurkoy, Marie di Benedetta, William Howatt, John K. Newman, Robert M. Doll, George Humbert and others, written and directed by George Beban, who appears on the stage with his company of players; Rosa Polnariow, violinist; organ solo by Harold Ramsbottom. At the Rivoli.

George Beban is appearing this week at the Rivoli in a novelty combination of the silent and spoken drama, the story of which is entitled "The Greatest Love of All." It is rather startling suddenly to see the screen vanish and the stage flooded with light, revealing all the characters in the flesh, gesticulating and talking. Mr. Behan's idea is clever, but his story is weighted with unnatural woe, being an old-fashioned sentimental affair with little plausibility.

It is somewhat far-fetched to have muscular detectives roughly treating an old mother of 76, and we think that the censor ought to have objected to some of the subtitles, in which the District Attorney is declared to be "ruthless in his prosecutions." Why shouldn't a prosecutor perform the task allotted to him?

Mr. Beban wrote and directed this effort, and he seems to have done what he wished with the courtroom scene, such things as leading questions meaning nothing to him so long as the story was unfolded. The jury in the spoken portion of this affair laughs loudly at one time, and the hero would have little chance of giving such an exhibition in a real court. In the story it almost seems as if the District Attorney was a villain because he wanted to rid the city of crooks. And in spite of the fact that one has to take such a narrative for what it is worth, it is, nevertheless, possible that some unsophisticated persons might almost believe it is a reflection of what really happens.

Mr. Beban is efficient in these Italian rôles. His vociferous outbursts in the courtroom scene and his playing in the screen chapters appealed to the audience. One young woman seated behind us delivered her opinion of Mr. Beban's histrionic ability by saying: "He plays good, he does." This actor also provoked a good deal of laughter with some of his characteristic ejaculations.

The weird idea of filling a gold ball shell with high explosive so that when the District Attorney hit it he might be blown to pieces made quite an impression on the spectators. Joe, this hero, relents after having put the ball in the fairway of the golf course and rescues it just as the prosecutor is swinging at it with his brassie. He is hurt, but still clutches the ball. Eventually it is taken from him and placed on a smooth table with a ledge hardly visible. The ball rolls and the audience expects that it will drop to the floor and blow everybody up, but the ledge stops it, with the result that a few hundred sighs of relief are audible in the theatre.

Joe's mother is accused of stealing a bracelet which was put into the basket containing soiled linen by the District Attorney's little girl. Marie di Benedetta is excellent as the old mother, Joe's "sweetheart." This novelty is worth seeing because of the combination of actors in shadow form and in the flesh, but cuts should be made in both chapters.

Gold Medal to 'The Covered Wagon.'

The gold medal given by Photoplay Magazine for the best picture produced and presented in 1923 has been awarded to the producers of "The Covered Wagon," the award having been made by the votes of the readers of the publication. The votes are based on theme, direction, acting, continuity, settings and photography.

"The Covered Wagon" ran for fifty-nine weeks at the Criterion Theatre, and the producers calculated that in various cities and countries it has been viewed by something like 7,000,000 persons.

THE STORY OF REVILLON FURS

The Mink

THE MINK lives near the water and is a quick, strong swimmer, thereby catching fish, its main food, very easily. Its home is a nest usually under the roots of a tree along the stream. Young minks are about six in a litter. In some years mink is plentiful and quite easily trapped. The fur is beautiful, its value depends upon color, depth and silkiness. Mink is a native of the North American Continent—the finest coming from Eastern Canada. No other fur—except Alaska Seal—will wear as well.

PALE DRY

Clicquot Club Pale Dry Ginger Ale is Here—

At last your full money's worth in the best of dry ginger ales

The Clicquot Kid is a good mixer

Clicquot Club Pale Dry is not only a delicious beverage in itself, but it also mixes extremely well with other drinks.

WHEN you take your first refreshing, zestful sip of Clicquot Club Pale Dry—when the indescribably delicate flavor of it first registers on your palate, and the cool, satisfying feel of it caresses your throat—

Then you'll realize why thirst was invented! For a bottle of Clicquot Club Pale Dry is a pint of perfection—the best pale dry ginger ale that human skill and knowledge have yet produced.

You all know the world-famous Regular Clicquot Club Ginger Ale—well, Clicquot Club Pale Dry is as good as that, but different!

There's a delicacy of flavor, a refreshing "feel" to thirsty throats, and an exquisite bouquet in Clicquot Club Pale Dry that nothing short of Forty Years of Knowing How could have created.

The same price, the same quantity, as all our famous drinks. Your dealer has Clicquot Club Pale Dry—you can tell it from the Regular Clicquot Club Ginger Ale by its rich emerald green bottles—beautifully simple, easily recognized bottles with their handsome red-bordered labels. We knew you would rather have the value of Clicquot Club Pale Dry in the beverage itself—not in expensive wrappings. So we put the value inside the bottles—two full glasses of it.

It costs you the same as Regular Clicquot Club Ginger Ale, and there's the same generous rebate for empty bottles. It isn't possible to offer a better beverage for less money, nor is it possible to make a better beverage at any price.

And here's why: The goodness of Clicquot Club Pale Dry didn't just happen—it took forty years of experience in beverage-making to evolve it.

It takes the largest, most modernly equipped beverage plant in the world to produce it—a clean, airy plant set among green fields far from the city's contaminating dust and dirt.

It takes the purest water to make Clicquot Club Pale Dry. Nowhere else in the world have we been able to find water so good for beverage making as here at Millis, Massachusetts. We use only the purest of fruit flavors and spices, the rarest Jamaica ginger root, the finest Cuban sugar to assure its constant goodness.

AMERICAN TRUST CO. IN UPTOWN OFFICE

Opens Branch at Southeast Corner of Forty-first Street and Madison Avenue.

OLD THOMPSON MANSION

New York Title and Mortgage Company Occupies Upper Part of the Building.

The latest additions to the new uptown financial centre that has been growing rapidly about the Grand Central Terminal during the past two years are the American Trust Company and the New York Title & mortgage Company, which opened their new branch office building in the southeast corner of Forty-first Street and Madison Avenue yesterday.

The institutions will occupy the entire building, which was formerly the Colonel Thompson mansion, considered one of the finest residences at the north end of the Murray Hill section. It has been altered for business with a marble banking room on the ground floor.

The American Trust Company occupies the ground floor and mezzanine and offices of the New York Title & Mortgage Company are on the next floor; conference and closing rooms for real estate titles occupy the other floors.

Following the opening of the new branch offices Lawrence B. Elliman of Pease & Elliman gave a dinner last evening to a group of prominent financiers and real estate men at the Racquet and Tennis Club.

Commenting on the remarkable growth and development of the Grand Central zone, Mr. Elliman said:

"The trend of business has steadily moved toward the midtown section of Manhattan, making this centre the logical hub from which will radiate in ever increasing volume world activities.

"The natural trend of the city's development has reached this point because of its accessibility, of its nearness to transportation and the development has been hastened by the constructive foresight of organizations such as the Forty-second Street Properties Association, Fifth Avenue Association and others.

"If one were to describe a circle with a half-mile radius and the American Trust Company's new office as the centre, he would strike the Pennsylvania Railroad Station, the monumental Grand Central Terminal, most of the hotel district, the great retail shops, theatres, clubs, the Forty-second Street transverse with its West Shore terminus at the North River and its fan of connections with Long Island at the East River. It is the centre of the transportation web, the focus of every subway in Greater New York.

"The development of this district began with the tearing down of the old Grand Central Station and the building of the modern structure, an engineering feat accomplished without the stopping of a single train. It was followed by the Pennsylvania Railroad's development and the construction of the magnificent station that forms the gateway to the South and West at Thirty-second Street and Seventh Avenue.

"A city's restlessness to escape the congestion at the lower end of Manhattan and bring business closer to a radiant point, served as the impetus for this development. Wise builders, with the assistance of forward-looking financial institutions, caught the spirit of the movement and have erected and put through in this district probably the most remarkable real estate development in the history of the country. Figures for the year 1923 show a $130,000,000 building program in this zone.

"Figures as far as compiled for the half year of 1924 show about the same growth—10 per cent. of the figure being for alterations to old buildings."

Drain Urges Work for World Peace.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 10.—Replying to an Armistice Day greeting from G. J. C. Lyett, President of the Australian Veterans' Organization, James A. Drain, National Commander of the American Legion, today urged veterans of the World War to renew efforts "to prevent internicine conflict and work unceasingly for the goal of mankind, permanent world peace." The commander also called attention to Fidac, the international organization of World War veterans, through which, he said "veterans of the allied armies work shoulder to shoulder that the hardships which befell them ma ynot be visited on generations yet unborn."

Always a Good Market

THE Wisconsin market never fails. It is chronically dependable. The great diversity of Wisconsin's industries preserves a balance of employment and buying power that is unequalled in any other state. This statement is substantiated by bank clearance figures and Bradstreet's industrial reports.

And back of this industrial diversity stands Wisconsin's "millionaire cow" with her annual, uninterrupted revenue quota of a quarter of a billion dollars.

It is to the fortunate combination of these two vital factors—outstanding industrial diversity and first-rank dairy production—that Wisconsin owes her uniformly consistent prosperity. The Wisconsin sales curve may waver slightly under severe stress, but it never drops violently.

It is not strange, therefore, that Wisconsin should be a good market in times of depression—and a better market NOW—a fact recognized by advertisers and manufacturers who seek a permanent market for their products. The Wisconsin Daily Newspapers, 47 in number, through their influence in 715,000 Wisconsin homes, are a powerful factor in the establishment of such a market. ST. LOUIS is the Ideal Try-out Market

ST. LOUIS is neither North nor South, East nor West, . . . it is part of each. Sectional habits do not influence St. Louis' buying tendencies; because being the central city, it is the composite of the nation. The North might give you one answer and the East, another; but St. Louis will give you part of both.

ABC

You can be sure that your message will be understood in St. Louis. This city has the third highest percentage of literacy among the 12 largest cities in the United States. Two Pacific coast cities have higher averages. In other words, you know that your story will be read and understood in St. Louis.

The ideal try-out market must bring facts as well as dollars—every manufacturer and advertising agent knows that.

St. Louis more nearly represents a national composite opinion than any other city in the United States. That's the reason it is the ideal try-out market. Its response to the advertising of your product is the average of responses that you would get if you advertised in every big population center of the United States. [The reason for this is shown in the column to the left.]

It is an Economical Market

You can get the benefit of this national public opinion of your product very economically in St. Louis, because St. Louis' dominant newspaper—the St. Louis Post-Dispatch—covers the city so thoroughly that you can depend upon it alone to carry your message. More than 500 national advertisers know that the Post-Dispatch gives complete coverage in St. Louis and used it, exclusively, in St. Louis during the first six months of 1924.

77% Gain in Sales Marks 52nd Year in Business

Cribben & Sexton use Chicago Tribune space to Merchandise More Universal Stoves

Every advertising salesman encounters this line of talk:

"Young man, this was a successful concern before you were born. We have never done any advertising, but our factory is busy year in and year out. Dealers buy our product on its merits. We pay our profits out in dividends and we don't need any smart ad man to tell us how to pay them out for white paper or blue sky."

There are many splendid businesses which have been built without advertising. But the experience of Cribben & Sexton shows that past triumphs are no more an answer to the story of this great business force than the excellent qualities of the horse or the kerosene lamp counterbalance the advantages of the automobile or electric light.

The kerosene lamp gave light, but the incandescent bulb gives more light, better light, and instant service. The horse has worked loyally for mankind for centuries and centuries, but he can't keep pace with the automobile. Impressive successes are possible without advertising, but no man knows the real possibilities of his business until he has geared to it this tremendous stimulating force.

807 Universal Dealers listed on this page—a gain of 43% as a result of One Year of Chicago Tribune Advertising

Cribben & Sexton, manufacturers of Universal Stoves and Ranges, began business in Chicago half a century ago. They have warehouses in five other cities from which their dealers, scattered from coast to coast, are supplied. In New York, as well as in Los Angeles, this old Chicago firm is a big factor in the stove business.

One year ago, however, Cribben & Sexton undertook to stimulate sales throughout The Chicago Territory (Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin) by means of Chicago Tribune advertising. A page a month in The Sunday Tribune was contracted for. Based on this campaign, an intensive effort was made to secure dealers in the 502 major towns in each of which The Chicago Tribune reaches one-fifth ormore of the families.

In one year, Cribben & Sexton increase their dealer organization by 43%

This drive began on July 1st, 1923. Cribben & Sexton then had 565 dealers in these five states. After one year of Chicago Tribune advertising, they had 807 dealers, a gain of 43 per cent.

Furthermore, the old dealers have sold more Universal Stoves than they ever did before. During the year 1923 Cribben & Sexton sales outside The Chicago Territory were 6 per cent greater than in 1922. But in the five states of The Chicago Territory (where Chicago Tribune advertising was behind the salesmen and behind the dealers) increase in sales was 77 per cent.

What Cribben & Sexton think of Chicago Tribune advertising is evidenced by their assurance to dealers that 13 more pages will be run during the next year under a non-cancellable contract with The Tribune.

Ask a Tribune man to call and tell you how the vast prestige of The Chicago Tribune, won by 77 years of success and of advertising in this community, can be fitted into your merchandising problems. There is more to Chicago Tribune advertising than the mere purchase of space. We recognize the vital and strategic positions held by jobbers and dealers. We look upon advertising not as a separate entity in itself but as a force to be closely co-ordinated with selling.

Chicago Tribune men are familiar with merchandising as well as with advertising. They have conducted sales campaigns in The Chicago Territory for various lines of business. From repeated contacts with wholesaler and retailer, as well as with manufacturer, they know how to get maximum value from advertising dollars. You place yourself under no obligation in asking a Tribune man to call. You may find, as Cribben & Sexton did, that The Tribune has something worth while to tell you.

ALBANY TAX LIST OPENED TO PUBLIC

MORE BROOKLYN NAMES

Long Island List Also Given Out—Another 1,000 From Third District, Manhattan.

The 1923 income tax lists of the Fourteenth District, Albany, and the First District, Brooklyn, were thrown open to the newspapers yesterday for the first time. About 1,500 tax payments by individuals and corporations in Westchester County, the Bronx and upper New York State became public at the Albany office and 1,000 for Brooklyn and Long Island were made public in Brooklyn. Another 1,000 names were made public at the Third District offices in Manhattan.

Collector of Internal Revenue Cyrus Durey opened the books in the Albany district yesterday. Until then the lists had been closed to the public except on inquiries containing the name and address of a specific individual or corporation. Yesterday the records themselves were opened to the public.

The largest payment found yesterday in the Albany lists was made by a corporation, the Ward Baking Company of New York, which paid $401,983. Other large payments made by corporations were: Beech-Nut Packing Company, Canajoharie, $286,272; Adirondack Power & Light Corporation, Schenectady, $104,720; Lehigh & Hudson River Railway Company, $82,846, and the Beer Park Brew Company, Port Jervis, $42,524.

Among payments by individuals recorded in the Albany district were Robert W. Chambers, novelist, $20,986; the late Charles F. Steinmetz, inventor, $3,525; William L. Ward, Republican leader of Westchester County, $19,767; Oakleigh Thorne, banker, $4,341; Holbrook Blinn, actor, $11,669.

Walter H. Cluett, collar manufacturer, $23,075; Jules Eckert Goodman, the playwright, $11,830; former Governor Benjamin B. Odell, $19,579; Chauncey Olcott, the singer, $3,480; Herbert C. Pell Jr., Democratic State Chairman, $7,720; Elsie W. Hill, Vassar College, $42,945; James L. Quackenbush, general counsel for the Interborough, $16,113; William Muldoon, physical culture expert, $4,21; Fanny S. Crosby, $4,067; Robert E. Farley, real estate man, $2,404; Patrick E. Crowley, President of the New York Central, $5,034, and Amos Tuck French, $5,002.

John T. Rafferty, Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of New York, covering all of Brooklyn, Queens, the rest of Long Island and Richmond, threw open the First District lists to newspaper men yesterday. The Brooklyn records were the last in New York City to be opened for free inspection. Hitherto about 200 tax payments have become public through the submission of individual requests. About 1,000 names were made public yesterday. There are 15,000 corporations and 80,000 individuals listed in the First District.

In the Brooklyn district the largest tax payment found yesterday was made by a corporation. It was $190,541, paid by the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company of 175 Remsen Street, Brooklyn. Another large corporation tax was $62,162, paid by the Drake Brothers Company, 471-17 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn.

The largest individual tax paid in Brooklyn was $182,589, paid by Thomas A. Salvage, of Flushing. A close second was Robert W. Scott of Babylon, with $155,797. Charles A. Peabody of Cold Spring Harbor paid $80,360. Other large payments by individuals were: Lucetta G. Otter, Glen Cove, $60,000; Margaret S. Hill, Glen Head, $58,385; Eben J. Knowlton, Brooklyn, $33,280, and Adrian H. Larkin, Southampton, $24,510.

The largest individual tax payment revealed yesterday in the Third District, Manhattan, was $301,577, listed as paid by H. Sylvia A. H. G. Wilks of 7 West Eighty-first Street. The second was $259,926, paid by Thomas J. Maloney of 170 West Fortieth Street. The third was $237,395, paid by Charles E. Mitchell of 933 Fifth Avenue, President of the National City Bank. About 1,000 payments were made public in the Third District.

Many inquiries for information on tax payments were made yesterday at the Third District offices in the Federal Buildings, Broadway and Fifty-seventh Street. Several lawyers applied for information to help them investigate the claims of married women to share in estates. A real estate man from Long Island asked for prospects. A representative of a trade journal requested a list of all returns so far published in the newspapers. Asked why he did not clip the lists as published in the papers, he replied that it would be too much trouble. He was sent away empty-handed.

PUBLICITY OF TAXES MAY BE REPEALED

at the short session to amend the publicity provision of the law according to their liking, it will be done at that time. But there is to be no compromise to satisfy recalcitrants who might gain some ground if they were not called upon to make a complete surrender.

Since the Treasury Department threw open the tax books a few weeks ago and the newspapers began the publication of the income tax payments, Treasury officials say, there has been a steady stream of protests pouring in to the department from all sections and from men and women in all walks of life. It is understood that the White House mail also has been deluged with protests and requests that steps be taken to repeal the publicity provisions of the law.

Senators and Representatives have brought word to the Treasury and White House that great numbers of their constituents are calling upon them to obtain action in Congress without unnecessary delay, and, while the protests and complaints have mounted into thousands, there have been scarcely any communications commending publicity of tax payments.

In the view of high Treasury officials the publication of these payments has accomplished no good at all and has caused no little trouble.

While the Treasury Department holds that in making public the income tax payments just before election it was simply carrying out the law as written by a Congress which refused to follow the leadership of President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon in regard to the dangers of publicity, there are observers who contend that the Treasury was actuated by a belief that there would be an immediate reaction against the policy forced upon the Administration by the more radical elements in Congress.

The tax publicity provisions have been blamed by the Administration leaders upon the La Follette followers in Congress and certain Senators and Representatives who worked with Mr. La Follette with the purpose of embarrassing the Administration.

All of the publicity proposals were opposed by President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon. The latter was reported at that time as urging the President to veto the tax bill because of the publicity provision, but Mr. Coolidge approved the bill and at the same time made known that he opposed the publicity feature and expected to do what he could to bring about its repeal.

Senator Reed Smoot, Chairman of the Finance Committee, and Representative Green, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, were opponents of the publicity provisions, and will join now in the efforts to obtain its repeal.

Under the aegis of the United States and France, represented by the French Ambassador and J. Butler Wright of the State Department, and before a distinguished and crowded audience, M. Gémier and his company gave their opening performance at the Jolson Theatre last night.

"L'Homme Qui Assassina" is a realistic play, for the most part quiet in tone, and the playing of the company was discreet and reserved. And so it happened that the applause that in the old days might have leaped deafeningly out after some gorgeous tirade in the old declamatory French style or some scene of violent passion and power was toned down last night into something quite as hearty, no doubt, but less demonstrative. Neither the play nor the performance of it made an ovation easy. But the welcome extended to these players from the second national theatre of France and the rapport between these distinguished guests and their American hosts were cordially in evidence.

"L'Homme Qui Assassina" is a dramatic arrangement in four acts by Pierre Frondaie from the novel of Claude Farrère. It was played for the first time at the Théâtre Antoine on Dec. 10, 1912, under the direction of M. Gémier.

The story begins with Sir Archibald Falkland, director of the Ottoman Debt in Constantinople. He and his mistress plot a scheme for ridding themselves of his wife, Lady Falkland, without his losing the child. Sir Archibald Falkland bribes the dissolute Prince Cernuwitz to betray Lady Falkland. Seviqné, a Frenchman, who loves Lady Falkland, finally tells her husband in order to save her from misery and disgrace. And, then, by an irony of fortune, he finds that she loves her betrayer. His friend at court, Mehmed Pacha, arranges his safety. Lady Falkland bids him farewell and the play is over.

In some respects an old-fashioned drama this is, not the usual triangle, but rather a pentagonal affair, with five people entangled in the love situation. There is even a scene in which the true lover watches events from his hiding place, from which in turn he later appears climactically. It was clear that many of the audience felt this outmoding in the play. But it would be easy to overdo this point, for within this tragedy, down deep in its conception and sequence, there was a newer subtlety of method and analysis; and the amount of sheer French inherited stagecraft in the revelation of the situation, especially in the first act, was admirable. The general tone of the piece was daylight prose, good, reasonable development and sophisticated proportions.

The performance by the company was perfect in method and admirable in most respects. But it was too low in pitch for an audience that must receive it in a foreign medium; it needed keying up to an added glow and bright contagion. It was too low vocally also for the size of the theatre, a fault soon mended on succeeding occasions. We must remember, too, that for the French the gap between this method and the established trend of the French theatre is far greater and more striking than it can be for us; we have no conservative tradition and we are long since accustomed to this realism and simplicity of handling effects. There was little novelty therefore for a New York audience in the Odéon's achievement on this opening night of their visit to us. But there was plenty of admiration for the excellent ensemble playing and for the sincerity and high competence exhibited.

M. Gémier, as Sévigné, the lover and defender of the unhappy Lady Falkland, played quietly always but with superb control, with finality, sanity and a profound exactitude in his shadings and gradations. We shall need to see him in a number of parts to appreciate justly the variety and originality that have made him one of the leading figures in the Continental theatre. André Varennes in the brilliantly written part of Mehmed Pasha played with unbounded wit and urbanity, and in the pink of technical surety and poise.

Germaine Rouer, except for her last act, which in the play, it must be said, offers her little, played well, sometimes beautifully, a rôle that had in it much of a certain fine French quality, something that survives from the cool and harmonious beauty of those great ladies in Racine and the classical drama of the past. The company as a whole does not represent the Odeon, but would not do it dishonor. The women, especially, were conspicuous as being really Parisian, well-trained and well-dressed, and not, as so often happens when players come overseas to us, assembled here and there about town with such success as the gods provide.

At the end of the third act M. Gémier stepped out from a capital murder scene and in the same voice that he used in the play, and without golden periods and formal eloquence, made a delightful and applauded speech, in which he spoke of the understanding between France and America, of James K. Hackett's performance of "Macbeth" in Paris at the Odeon, and of the interest and assistance of Otto H. Kahn in the matter of this exchange between the theatres of France and America.

NOTABLES IN THE AUDIENCE.

Our and French Governments Represented—Array of Society.

An interesting audience assembled last night in the Al Jolson Theatre to greet the distinguished actor Firmin Gémier of the Odéon Theatre of Paris, who made his first appearance in this country in the play by Pierre Frondaie, "L'Homme Qui Assassina," which he dramatised from the novel of that title written by Claude Farrar. The appearance of M. Gémier and his company having the official recognition of the United States Government was an occasion for the presence of diplomats and officials from Washington. The French Government was represented by Jules J. Jusserand, who has been the French Ambassador at Washington for many years. He was accompanied by Mme. Jusserand. J. Butler Wright, Assistant Secretary of State, and Mrs. Wright were in one of the boxes and with them were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Richards.

With James K. Hackett, who was instrumental in bringing M. Gémier to this country, were Mrs. Hackett, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Guinness, who arrived recently from London, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Chatfield-Taylor. With Mrs. de Acosta Lydig were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lynch Williams, Mrs. Alice Duer Miller and Henry Wise Miller.

There also were in the audience McDougall Hawkes, President of the French Institute in the United States; Gaston Liebert, Director of the French Bureau of Information in the United States with rank as Minister Plenipotentiary; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Bossom, Mr. and Mrs. Brand Whitlock, Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, Dr. J. Henry Lancashire, Mr. and Mrs. George Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. S. Stanwood Menken, the French Consul at New York and Mme. Charles Brouzet, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hinton Perry, Mr. and Mrs. R. Morris Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. E. Clifford Potter, Miss Alice de Lamar, Miss Miliabeth Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scribner, Rutger Bleecker Jewett, Eugene Blanc, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Guggenheim, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Morton, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wickersham, Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Cravath, Miss Maud A. Leland, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Hand, Mrs. W. D. Gaillard and Pedro de Cordova.

In the box with Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand were Dr. and Mrs. Percy Purnum and Frederick H. Allen. Among others in the audience were Mrs. George Wolcott Hubbell, Mrs. Hubbell Rowland, Mrs. Stilson Hutchins, Robert Lee Keedick, Mrs. L. H. Outerbridge, Arthur Peterman, Miss Edith Wetmore, Chester Aldrich, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Baruch, Mrs. Harrison Irvine, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Leon, Miss May Moulton, Miss Elizabeth Perkins, Murray Hoffman, W. Franklyn Paris, Mr. and Mrs. William Kay Wright, the Countess Franois Bremond d'Ars and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gallatin.

The official boxes were decorated with French and American flags.

After the performance Mr. and Mrs. Kahn gave a supper for M. Gémier in the East Room of the Biltmore. Among the other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hackett, the French Consul, and Mme. Brouzet, Professor Babcock of the New York University, Professor van Dyke of Princeton, ex-Ambassador to the Netherlands; Leon Mothier of the Metropolitan Opera, Albert Blum, Bory Osso of the Society of French Dramatic Authors, and Lucien Lehman, playwright, all of whom had been at the theatre.

While supper was being served there was music by an orchestra conducted by Roger Wolff Kahn, son of the host.

'SIMON CALLED PETER' HAS EFFECTIVE SCENES

A Somewhat Torrid Play at the Klaw Has the Aspects of a Popular Success.

Peter Graham	Leonard Willey
Wilkins	John Barry
Madeleine	June Webster
Hilda Lessing	Evelyn Wight
George Leesing	Carson Davenport
Lieutenant Bobby Jenks	H. Tyrrell Davis
Lieutenant Pennel	Ricardo de Sylva
Captain Fraser	Harry Ullock
Captain Mackaye	Henry Crosby
Captain Drayton	John Gray
Captain Curry	Richard Simson
Lieutenant Jones	George Fuller
Private Sharp	Harold de Becker
Lieutenant Donovan	William Edwin Barry
Major Langton	Herbert Bunston
Julie Gamelyn	Catherine Willard
Tommy Raynard	Josephine Evans
Louise	Lois Sanders
The Leader of the Band	Joseph Merryman

Robert Keable's successful war novel, "Simon Called Peter," has been several years in reaching the metropolitan stage. The play that the Messrs. Goodman and Knoblock have fashioned from Mr. Keable's story has been presented in sundry portions of outlying districts, including Chicago, in the last year or so, and various reports of its merit as entertainment have since been filtering to town. The deferred New York premiere took place last night at the Klaw Theatre, revealing a somewhat torrid drama, a trifle crude in its minor movements, that has the aspects of a popular success. Certainly it was received rapturously enough by its first-night audience.

The theme of "Simon Called Peter," that of the contrast between the teachings of the Church and this world as it is lived in, is akin to that of "Rain." The Messrs. Goodman and Knoblock have set out rather frankly to develop this idea to the limit of its theatrical possibilities. In writing a play that is pretty bluntly theatrical they have achieved effectiveness most of the time. There was one scene last night—a vampirish bit in which Mr. Keable's minister-hero was attacked—when the entire structure seemed likely to collapse in one good outburst of laughter. Once this ridiculous scene was left behind, however, the play had a rather steady melodramatic sweep.

It weakened a bit in a Broadway epilogue, to be sure. The playwrights did not quite have the courage to carry their theme to its logical conclusion—unless memory is in error. Julie and Peter Graham went their separate ways in the novel. But this moment of falsity does not greatly weaken a play that has many bolding and effective scenes.

The indications are that something of an attempt at sensationalism has been made in the production. The vampire's attempted seduction is accompanied by an amount of disrobing hitherto confined to musical entertainments, and the scattered gasps from last night's audience indicated that the effort had not been made wholly in vain.

In its leading rôles the play is well enough acted, although it suffers a bit by reason of the minor performances. Leonard Willey plays the minister competently enough, and with as much attention to the character's spiritual side as the authors seem to have given, which is not a great deal. Catherine Willard, an extremely interesting actress, is in general quite good as Julie, although a shade uneven. There is good work by Herbert Bunston, Harold De Becker, and a youth who played a death scene—the program makes it difficult to identify him.

"THE STEAM ROLLER" HERE.

Dorcas Dill	Olive Wyndham
Kate Thorn	Helen Chandler
Roger Trimble	Fairfax Burgher
Old Ellen	Lillian Brennard
Dora Werthington	Zelma Tiden
Miss Martha Primrose	Thais Magrane
Amelia	Janet Beecher
Mrs. Worthington	Catherine Proctor
Dr. Fun Gow	Ernest Cossart
William Trimble	Bruce McRae

A machine-made comedy with a fair number of merry moments came to the Princess Theatre last night as "The Steam Roller," by Laurence Eyre. Janet Beecher and Bruce McRae are the stars of the new piece.

The evening was not unduly exciting. Mr. Eyre has chosen to present a picture of two sisters (Miss Beecher and Miss Olive Wyndham), of whom Miss Beecher is the more dominant and exacting. For many years there has been kept alive, through Miss Beecher's efforts, the fiction of young William Trimble (Bruce McRae) leaving the country for China through love of her. The turth is, of course, that he was really devoted to Miss Wyndham. And so, when Mr. McRae returns, Miss Beecher manages for nearly three acts to keep him from the real object of his affections, who is herself too subject to her sister to engage upon an enterprise not thoroughly approved by her. There is a sub-plot, too, in an appropriate key.

There is, thus, not much that is new in the matter of substance, and it must be added that the element of novelty is also lacking from the manner of presentation. For good measure, indeed, there is a comic cook, one Ellen, given to keyhole peeping and stage business with her apron.

Miss Wyndham gives a charmingly sweet performance in a stock rôle that falls under the label of grateful. Miss Beecher, in a part that perhaps Mr. Eyre had not logically envisaged, on many occasions overacts an overwritten rôle. Mr. McRae is his own excellent and familiar self as a character that may well have been based upon a score of similar rôles he has played. Miss Thais Magrane is impressive and completely convincing as a familiar, small town spinster. Other minor rôles are played with indifferent degrees of competence by Helen Chandler, Zelma Fiden and Fairfax Burgher. Ernest Cossart is completely submerged and wasted in the part of a cutawayed Chinese missionary.

HOPE HAMPTON TO SUE.

Replaced in "Madame Pompadour," She Will Seek Damages.

Max D. Steuer, attorney for Hope Hampton, the actress who last week was replaced in the leading rôle of "Madame Pompadour" by Wilda Bennett, said yesterday that there would be no legal action on behalf of his client leading to an interference with the opening of the show, scheduled for tonight at the Martin Beck Theatre. He said that papers would be filed, probably Wednesday, in a suit calling for the payment of damages by Martin Beck and Charles B. Dillingham, proprietors of the show, for an alleged breaking of their contract with Miss Hampton.

At the offices of Martin Beck it was said that the advertisement announcing tonight's opening with Miss Bennett in the part played on the road try-out by Miss Hampton spoke for itself and that there was no possibility of a last-minute readjustment restoring Miss Hampton to her original rôle.

JACKIE COOGAN BACK WITH LOTS OF TOYS

He Admired Athens and the Eiffel Tower in Paris—Valentino Returns From Spain.

Three movie stars arrived yesterday from Europe on the Leviathan of the United States Lines and were met at the pier, foot of West Forty-sixth Street, by a number of their admirers. Jackie Coogan, who celebrated his tenth birthday in Geneva, Switzerland, on Oct. 7 with a party at the Hotel Beau Rivage, came back from his first visit to Europe with his parents and his governess, Miss Rita Craven. The juvenile star wore a sailor suit under a natty leather coat and sou'wester which, he said, had been presented to him by a friend in Berlin.

He admired Athens very much and liked the view from the Parthenon, the audience with the Pope and also the Eiffel Tower in Paris. Jackie brought back a large number of presents that had been given to him on his trip, including all kinds of stuffed animals and mechanical toys. He told the reporters that his salary was $18 a week from his father, with special tips of 50 cents when he accomplished anything really smart, like picking out a good actor or actress for some rôle in a picture that was difficult to fill.

Mr. Coogan said that he had received several big offers for Jackie in Europe, but so far had not signed any contract for new pictures.

Rudolph Valentino returned with his wife from a trip to Spain. He wore a small goatee beard, which, he said, would be needed in the picture he is going to do in California, the scene of which is laid in Spain in the fourteenth century. The play will centre on the romantic days of the Moors at Granada and their encounters with the Spanish knights who sought to drive them from their stronghold. He said he had visited Seville, Madrid, Granada and Cordova and found them very interesting.

Nita Naldi, the movie star, who accompanied them on the trip, will play opposite Valentino in the new film which is to be produced by the Ritz-Carlton Film Company.

"A picture which defies one to write about it without indulging in superlatives. So beautifully told, so flawlessly directed that we imagine it will be held up as a model by all producers. Not an instant of ennui, not a second one wants to lose. Held the spectators spellbound, the last fade-out being the signal for a round of applause. Celluloid masterpiece. Never has Mr. Chaney delivered such a marvelous performance. Absorbing narrative. Wonderful suspense. Norma Shearer is charming and John Gilbert is a sympathetic sweetheart. MUSIC
BY RICHARD ALDRICH.

Mme. Landowska's Recital.

Mme. Wanda Landowska returns after her first visit to New York last season, in which she demonstrated the great interest and importance of what she has to give this public, her renewal and revitalization of the music of the elder masters played upon the harpsichord and the piano. She gave last evening, in Aeolian Hall, the first of a series of recitals on both instruments, in which she said in effect, with Browning:

And here's your music all alive again
All once it was alive.

The audience was large and showed great interest in the performance, persisting in the demands for encores and loath to let the player end. The program was devoted to "Johann Sebastian Bach and his beloved masters"; that is, it may be assumed, to the great master, to the lesser masters of his time and just before it, whose works he loved and allowed to influence him, infinitely above them all though he was in genius and technical mastery.

It has often been said that Bach was no innovator; not a Beethoven nor a Schumann, nor a Chopin, nor a Wagner, and not even a Stravinsky nor a Honegger. He was content to take things much as he found them—forms, styles, methods—and to raise them all to a higher power and fill them all to bursting with the power and eloquence of his own genius. He was eager to learn and did learn from everybody who had anything he could assimilate; from Pachelbel, Vivaldi, Telemann, Couperin, Froberger, who were represented on Mme. Landowska's program last evening. And if she had had time she might have added the music of others who had a similar relation to Bach.

The music on this program had widely diverse character and individuality of its own; it had beauty in the guises that musical beauty took in the eighteenth and late seventeenth centuries. And that it had a still potent vitality was amply shown in the keenly sympathetic and revealing performance of Mme. Landowska. She showed again, as she has shown before, exquisite perfection of articulation, unfailing sense of rhythm, prodigal skill in registration, in making use of the varied colors afforded by the two manuals and the many stops of the harpsichord; and her "volant finger" and all her remarkable technical powers were made to serve a deep understanding and sympathetic appreciation of the music she played.

Bach was represented by four of the six movements of his Partita in C minor (unique in ending with a fascinating "Capriccio") and the Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue. All six movements of the Partita would have been heard with pleasure, for it belongs among the ripest of Bach's works and is of those in which his genius in writing for the harpsichord made one of its most engaging manifestations. She played it on the piano, for what reason—unless it was to give a relief to modern ears from the unaccustomed tone of the harpsichord—may only be conjectured. It was the only piece on the program assigned to the piano. Bach, of course, wrote it for the harpsichord—he would have naught of that new-fangled invention.

The Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue Mme. Landowska played on the harpsichord. It is one of the most familiar pieces of the modern pianist's repertory, but it had a new sound as she played it. The harpsichord enriches its romantic warmth with manifold colors and tints and gives many passages a new significance. She used, also, a different version from the one familiar in piano recitals. The program said it was "after the manuscript." Now the piece is extant only in some half a dozen manuscript copies, none of which is the composer's autograph, showing various differences in detail, not fundamental. Bach often retouched and revised his own pieces, and it may be that some of the different versions were made by the master himself. At any rate, there is a choice presented to editors and players as to which they will print or play.

Some of the variants given by Mme. Landowska seemed almost like a sketch of what is usually presented. It may be, as the pianist declared in her notes upon the program, that the usual version is clothed with arbitrary and brummagem variants and that the simpler one would justify itself upon greater familiarity. Her presentation of the "answer" of the fugue commended itself by its effect. But these technical details were of less importance than the fact that Mme. Landowska's playing of the composition was of an intense and penetrating beauty.

The two fugues by Johann Pachelbel upon the "Magnificat" were selected from some ninety-odd that he wrote in the eight "Psalm tones"—that is, the eight Gregorian modes used in intoning the Psalms. These two are said to be in the second and sixth tones respectively, but Pachelbel lived and wrote in a transition period, in which the identity of the Church modes was disappearing, and these fugues seem to modern ears to be approximately in the keys of G minor and F major. There was no visible rebellion on the part of the audience on perceiving this fact, if it was perceived. The little fugues were enjoyed for what they were, pieces of a pregnant and serious expression.

Until a few years ago Bach was supposed to have been so much interested in the concertos of Antonio Vivaldi, his Italian contemporary, that he transcribed no fewer than sixteen of them for harpsichord solo and several more for the organ. It has now been found, however, that of these sixteen almost half were by other composers of the time. The first one which Mme. Landowska played is by Vivaldi. It made a deep impression upon the audience, especially the stately larghetto and the final allegro, captivating in rhythmic outline and delightfully varied in color effect in the performance.

There was a group of shorter though hardly less interesting pieces: a "Bourrée" by Telemann; one of Couperin's exquisitely fanciful little program pieces, "Les Vergers Fleuris"; Rameau's humorous imitation of a hen, and a truly gorgeous piece of solemn music by Froberger, a "Plaint written in London to dissipate melancholy, the which is to be played slowly, with discretion."

Mme. Landowska's encores were not the least interesting part of the evening's music. After Bach's Partita, she played, also on the piano, the prelude in C sharp from the first book of the Well-Tempered Clavichord; then immediately moving the stool over to the harpsichord, she played it again on that instrument—this unique pleasure with instruction as to the different worlds in which the harpsichord and piano exist—and followed it with the inimitably gay fugue.

Next she capped her performance of Rameau's hen-piece with Daquin's cuckoo-piece, "Le Coucou." After Vivaldi's concerto she added a piece in Scarlatti's most brilliant and scintillating manner; at the end she played successively a gavotte and a passepied by Bach and the tambourin from Rameau's "Dardanus." The audience was entranced by all this Old World music and would have welcomed more.

Wiedermann Makes American Debut

Frederick Wiedermann, municipal organist of Prague, made his first appearance in this country yesterday at the Wanamaker Auditorium. Flags of Czechoslovakia flanked the organ at which he sat, a sturdy figure, already bald at 40, but commanding keyboards and pedals with perfect control of the technique and mechanics of the great instrument. In Max Reger's fantasia on Luther's hymn he aroused instant enthusiasm with the weaving of colossal sonorities about the famous old chorale, while endless effects of tone-color to the vanishing point appeared in the player's own arrangement of Liszt's "Pastorale." Besides an original "Christmas Idlery" and a final toccata and fugue, he also accompanied at the piano his song "Love Lost," with others by Rybe and Trnavsky and three of Dvorak's "Biblical Songs," sympathetically delivered by Anton Hok, a Bohemian baritone. Mr. Wiedermann was welcomed by an audience including many local musicians and by a committee of thirty.

Conductor—Ernst Knoch.

After misadventures and vicissitudes owing to bungling and improvident management, the first of the projected performances of Wagner's "Ring of the Niblung" took place last night in Carnegie Hall. The production of "Rheingold" had been in a parlous state virtually up to the rising of the curtain. A change of conductors at the last moment, with explanations and counter-explanations of the cause for so doing, was only one unsettling circumstance. Singers cooperated in other ways than those of song back of the stage, in order that a performance in which they evidently felt a personal interest should go forward. Mme. Mariska Aldrich, recently appointed stage manager and singing in the performance as Fricka, had worked till a late hour with scenic problems. Last but not least, Mr. Gatti-Casazza of the Metropolitan Opera Company loaned the score and orchestral parts of the opera, as William Wade Hinshaw had loaned the management Ernst Knoch, the conductor, who took the baton on the briefest notice, in advance of his directing of Mr. Hinshaw's performance of the "Marriage of Figaro" next Friday night in the same hall.

Under the circumstances the wonder was not that the performance had palpable deficiencies, but that it took place at all, and that, in spite of embarrassing circumstances, it showed rather clearly that the production of the "Ring" in English is not easy feasible, but even an enterprise capable of enlisting popular support. With all the preliminary conditions against the performance of last night, a large audience was in evidence and gave unmistakable evidence of enjoyment.

The performance had unexpected qualities. There are good voices in the cast, fresh voices, much better, in a number of instances, than many that exist and flourish in German opera houses today. There was interpretation that showed marked talent, though it was evident that some of the performers had not had long experience of the routine of the stage, and that the production requires more rehearsal of the grueling kind before it can present the music-drama in a finished manner.

The orchestra, after an inauspicious beginning, gave on the whole an effective performance, to be explained partly by the substantial abilities of Mr. Knoch, and partly by the fact that it is the orchestra which played in the production of the "Ring" by the ill-fated Wagnerian Opera Company one and two seasons ago. Mr. Knoch, a member of that company, had often conducted the orchestra. But a certain glaring deficiency in the performance was not justified by the untoward circumstances to which reference has been made. This was, the prevailing poor English.

To make Wagner intelligible in English translation was the avowed purpose of this production. As a matter of fact, many in the cast could not be understood. Only one member of it achieved the standard which should have characterized all in this important respect. He was Dudley Marwick, the Fasolt. Mr. Marwick used his voice admirably, and was unfailingly clear and dramatic in his treatment of text. In fact, we have not often seen the rôle of Fasolt given such character and significance. One regretted, indeed, that it was Fafner, and not Fasolt, who later exterminated his companion. Mr. Patton's Alberich, which began somewhat in the explosive manner, was later well sung with a fine sonorous tone, with flow and again an English phrase capitally delivered.

After him, in point of enunciation, came George Gordon's Mime, William Tucker's Wotan, Louis Dorney's Loge, Mme. Aldrich's Fricka and Adele Rankin's Freia. But no German theatre of standing would have tolerated singers so unfinished in the delivery of text as most of those who appeared last night. It is a striking commentary upon the prevailing lack of cultivation of their own language by American singers that this contrast of standards should have been so apparent.

These things can and should be improved in English "Ring" performances. For the performance last night indicated almost beyond a doubt the presence of ample vocal material to make such productions possible by more than one company and in more than one city of America.

From the voices of at least two of the Rhine Maidens last night, to the vocal capacities of Mr. Gordon's Mime, Mr. Dorney's Loge, Miss Nadworney's Erda, and Mr. Tucker's Wotan, which is dramatically flat and ineffective, there is enough vocal material and interpretive willingness to achieve an ensemble that will reach its goal.

Wagner's music does not require phenomenal beauty of tone to make it sound, but it imperatively requires diction and interpretation that strikes fire in the theatre. Wagner himself will do the rest. He succeeded measurably, and to the evident pleasure of the audience, last night, though even the usual scenic accessories were subservient.

Nevertheless the backgrounds and lighting effects of Willy Pogany, only partially expressive and practical, were eminently suggestive of what could and probably will be done in future staging of Wagner's operas by means of line, color and illusion achieved by lighting instead of weighty scenery. In short, it was shown that the "Ring" could very well, with adequate preparation, be presented in English. The question for the organization that presented it is that of quality and finish of interpretation.

FILM the worst enemy to teeth
You can feel it with your tongue

Now Find Out
what beauty is beneath the dingy film that clouds your teeth

Note how simple it really is to have the clear, glistening teeth you envy in others—for health's sake and for beauty, you must remove that film, say world's dental authorities. Send the coupon, make this unique test

MODERN science has found a new way to healthier teeth; to whiter, clearer teeth. Now, as an international movement, the people of some 50 different nations are being offered a 10-day test.

Won't you mail the coupon below? Then see for yourself what as little as 10 days of modern dental hygiene will do for you.

Your teeth may be cloudy—film-covered, discolored. If your present dentifrice fails to cope with that situation, it is surely worth while to try, at least, another way.

That stubborn film—how it makes teeth ugly and invites tooth troubles and decay. You must remove it

Look at your teeth. If dull, cloudy, run your tongue across them. You will feel a film. That's the cause of the trouble. You must remove it regularly. It is ever present, ever forming.

Film is that viscous coat that you feel. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It hides the natural luster of your teeth.

It also holds food substance which ferments and causes acid. In contact with teeth, this acid invites decay. Millions of germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So dull and dingy teeth mean more than loss of good appearance. They may indicate danger, grave danger to your teeth.

Send Coupon for 10-Day Test

The charm of your smile depends upon the clean, pearly brightness of white teeth

New methods now that mean greater tooth beauty plus better protection from tooth troubles

Ordinary tooth pastes were unable to cope adequately with that film. Not one could effectively combat it. Harsh grit tended to injure the enamel. Soap and chalk were inadequate.

Now modern dental science has found two new combatants. Their action is to curdle film and then harmlessly remove it. They are embodied in a new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent—a scientific method that is changing the tooth cleansing habits of the world.

To millions this new way has proved the folly of having dull and dingy teeth. The folly of inviting tooth troubles when their chief cause can be combated.

Make this test Remember, every time you eat, food clings to your teeth. Film is constantly forming. The film that ruins teeth; that mars their luster, makes them look dingy and dull. "For health's sake and beauty's sake, remove it three times daily," says leading dental authority.

This new way removes and combats it in scientific safety—it will give you the lustrous teeth you envy—quickly.

Make the test today. Clip the coupon for a free 10-day tube. Or get a full size tube of your druggist. Why follow old methods when world's dental authorities urge a better way?

ARMISTICE DAY.

The sixth anniversary of the Armistice finds European convalescence progressing with accelerated pace. The spirit of the day, from the very first, has been far less joy in victory than gratitude for humanity's escape from a horrible ordeal. There was no assurance that Europe as a whole had escaped its death wound. Several November elevenths had to pass before it was seen that modern civilization would survive the shock. The recurrent anniversaries have been steadily encouraging, and in the now demonstrated results we can find compensation for the agony of the war.

Politically, Europe is in much sounder condition today than when arms were grounded six years ago. Great Britain and France have escaped the despair of communism and the major surgical operation of dictatorship. The fluctuations have been violent enough, as from LLOYD GEORGE's khaki election to Conservative victory, a Labor Government, and again a Conservative victory; or from POINCARE to HERRIOT. But it has all been within the framework of democracy. The German people have displayed an instinct for political sanity not always credited to them. The smaller nations born out of the war or enlarged by the war are establishing their equilibrium. Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia still have hard days ahead of them, but the gloomy prophecies of their early demise have been belied. The fierce play of social forces let loose by the war has subsided.

In this very fact of convalescence there is danger—if the memory of the Armistice is allowed to fade. Since it has been shown on an unprecedented scale how much humanity can endure and survive, the temptation is strong for those who would still play with the lives of men and the fortunes of nations. If the world could stand such a war, then there is a chance that it might stand another such war, or even a greater one. But the memory of the first Armistice Day must be kept fresh as a reminder of how narrowly victory was won and through what untold sacrifices and efforts Europe has struggled back to the promise of full health. A perpetual Armistice Day is forecast, on the one hand, in the recurrent anniversaries, and on the other in the growing strength and prestige of the League, which must live if the world is to escape other Armistice anniversaries than Nov. 11.

THE NEGLIGIBLE SOUTH.

The phrase is not ours. It was used by The Charleston News and Courier in an article about "The Plight of the South," which was written before the result of the Presidential election was known. The aim was to call the attention of Southern people to "the "precarious situation which this sec- "tion has come to occupy politically." According to this editorial view, the root of the trouble in the South at the present day lies in the fact that "it "has virtually no national program "and virtually no national leader- "ship." The News and Courier asks these questions about the South:

> Is it strange that it should be treated by the rest of the country as such a negligible factor? What is it contributing today in the way of political thought? What political leaders has it who possess weight or authority beyond their own State? What constructive policies are its people ready to fight for with the brains and zeal that made them a power in the old days?

The implications of these questions are too severe. The South is not wholly barren in statesmanship. It sends men to both Houses of Congress fit to hold their own with the best men that represent the North. It is not the lack of statesmen which causes the South to appear to lie under a political blight. The true explanation is far different. It has been thrust upon the country in one Presidential campaign after another, until now it must have become plain to all. The solid South is a one-party region. For convenience, it calls itself Democratic, but any other name would have sufficed to cover the forced solidarity of these Southern States. They always vote one way. It is known in advance that they will do so. There is no necessity of conducting in them a political campaign, after the fashion in other parts of the country. Political discussion in the South is purely pro forma. The result at the polls is foregone.

It has long been felt that this state of things has been bad for the politics of the nation as a whole. So long as there was a solid South, something like a solid North over against it was inevitable. Thus the system tended to stereotype and sterilize political thought in both sections. But it is agreeable to note that the thing is coming to be felt to be bad even for politics in the South. It is not a wholesome thing for any State or section to have its political attitude determined, not by the actual and living questions of the present, but by old traditions and prejudices and encrusted habits. The South is surely not "negligible" in the sense of not counting in our national life. But it is unhappily so in the meaning that political managers reckon with it as a fixed element in all partisan calculations. Its electoral votes do not have to be campaigned for; they simply go into the Democratic column automatically.

What will or should break up the political fixity and stagnation in the South cannot confidently be said. But in time the Southern States will doubtless be found differing and dividing like others. For the present it is enough to note with satisfaction that Southerners themselves are increasingly irked by the common assumption that the South can always be depended upon to go one way politically, no matter how the rest of the country goes.

SENATE COMMITTEE CHANGES.

The lottery of death and elections will bring about a number of promotions, by the automatic process of the rule of seniority, in important Senate committees. Mr. LA FOLLETTE, after twenty years in the Senate, has forfeited his privileges by a flaming act of insurrection, though he has long been an insurrectionist, steadily profiting, however, by his classification as a Republican and by the sacred rule. Chairman of the Committee of Manufactures, second on Finance and Interstate Commerce, he has almost reached the top of the two committees for which he is least qualified. The generosity of his colleagues and the time-hallowed "principle" of seniority have protected him. He will have to be more harmless hereafter than is natural to him. The rule will make Mr. BORAH Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee. His curious Russian hallucination is generally felt to be honest and essentially innocuous.

It didn't count a straw when Mr. COOLIDGE was so eager to give him the nomination for Vice President. His character and abilities have made him a peculiar position of his own, and given him a remarkable hold upon public confidence, in spite of occasional errancies and divagations. If the League of Nations and the World Court have nothing to hope from him, neither have they anything to hope from the majority of the committee, as it was constituted in the last and will be in the next Congress. With Mr. COOLIDGE's proposed armament conference Mr. BORAH is sympathetic, whether the rest of the world is or not. The reminder that HIRAM JOHNSON will be second on the committee is almost the first notice that has been received of that eminent character for some months. His admirers must have been saying, in the words of MONTESQUIEU's Uzbec: "Why livest thou "among tombs, divine Mollah? Thou "art fitted to dwell among the stars." And now he is to be second among the major planets of isolation, with Mr. BORAH on one side and Mr. MOSES on the other. MEDILL MCCORMICK will soon shine no more, alas! no more. Mr. BRANDEGEE's death left Mr. BORAH senior member of the Judiciary Committee. The honor of that Chairmanship will now go to Mr. CUMMINS. Mr. MCLEAN will now be Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee.

Senator SMOOT will continue to be head of the Finance Committee. He has shown all the qualities for the place except courage. Perhaps the result of the election will restore to him that much-needed virtue. He is not a candidate for the irritating, in the last two Congresses insubstantial and almost ironical, distinction of "Republican leader of the Senate." Several Senators are "mentioned," including, of course, our ever-ready and ever-present venerated friend, "JIM" WATSON, whose "receptivity" is only stimulated by the fact that he never gets anything in particular and wouldn't know what to do with it if he did. Whip CURTIS of Kansas is in the regular line of promotion. Senator WADSWORTH, to whose "splendid leadership" the New York Republicans are said to owe the [illegible] of Colonel ROOSEVELT, is also put on the eligible list. It isn't worth while to bother much about the choice of a "leader" until the Senate Republicans experience a change of heart and can be induced to follow. It is to be hoped, and even expected as a probable, if temporary, consequence of victory, that Republican discipline will be notably improved. Perhaps the task will be more difficult in the Senate than in the House. As one undivided ninety-sixth of the most "august" corporation of statesmen and college of augurs on earth, a Senator naturally thinks he is no small pumpkins and hates to delegate any of his majesty.

ANOTHER ROLL-CALL.

With Armistice Day, the annual American Red Cross Roll-Call begins. This organization, which had its origin in war, has become the greatest existing agency for meeting mass disasters wherever they may come suddenly: an earthquake in Japan or Costa Rica; a flood in China or in Wyoming; a tornado in Ohio; a plague in India; a hurricane in the Virgin Islands; a mine explosion in West Virginia; a fire in Berkeley, Cal.; a famine in Albania or in Russia; a refugee emergency in Greece. The American Red Cross is a channel for the "unquenchable altruism" which exists generally in our homes. It is one world league in which all can without controversy or reservation seek membership.

This roll-call is almost as much a part of our national life as registering for the elections. But response to it is more than political duty. It is a duty to humanity. Here is a medium through which the solidarity of mankind can be recognized and emphasized in a way helpful to all human relations—a blessing both to those who receive and those who give. Nevertheless, its work, like charity, begins at home. Its "home service" is its prime obligation. The disabled ex-service men and their families have the first call. But it is mindful, too, of those in lack of medical attention and of woman's nursing, especially in the rural districts of this country. And here in New York City there is not only preparation for emergencies but an active ministration of mercy that makes the very symbol of the Red Cross a badge of hope.

THE LARGE AND SMALL COLLEGE.

Last Saturday night the alumni of the College of the City of New York celebrated the completion of the first ten years of the Presidency of Dr. SIDNEY E. MEZES. He has during these years directed the development of this college, supported by the city, so that it has given back immeasurably more to the city in real though intangible benefit than it has received in appropriations. There has been a phenomenal growth and an extension of the facilities of the college far beyond the bounds of the older courses of study. The preceding ten years had been a period of transition both physically and educationally. The city spent over five million dollars for the splendid group of buildings on St. Nicholas Heights. At the same time the admission requirements were raised beyond those of most of the other colleges.

Instead of a few thousand students in 1914, there are now upward of twenty thousand in the day and evening college courses, the Summer school and the special courses for teachers; and so great is the congestion that, despite the spacious new buildings and the use of the old building on Twenty-third Street and of certain temporary quarters in Brooklyn, in the Municipal Building and elsewhere, all who seek admission cannot be received. This enlargement has come about under the sound and quiet leadership of Dr. MEZES. His problem for the next decade will be to keep up with the increasing demand for higher education in this public institution; for even with heightened requirements for entrance, it will not be possible to limit the numbers.

At Williams College, by contrast, the prevailing sentiment among the alumni, as revealed by a questionnaire, the results of which have recently been published in President GARFIELD's report, is in favor of restriction in numbers. The vote was 1,880 to 666, though the limit favored varied from 500 and under to 1,000. President GARFIELD, in drawing conclusions from these and related replies, makes the cautioning observation that all are prejudiced in favor of the environment to which they are accustomed, implying that the returns ought to be taken with some allowance for this prejudice. But even so, there is a very strong feeling in favor of keeping the college relatively small and an educational warrant for preserving this unique American institution in its pure type.

There is an economic teaching unit for such an institution which cannot be profitably expanded. It may be multiplied, as the colleges in Oxford and Cambridge are. But there are certain advantages in holding to the single instructional and administrative unit in such an environment as that of Williams or Amherst or Bowdoin or Hamilton. These advantages cannot be extended by building other like units in close proximity. They should be sufficiently remote from one another to keep each [illegible] with personality and develop it independently. On the other hand, the public municipal college, standing like ancient Wisdom by the street in the midst of the city, with its classrooms, lecture halls and laboratories open day and night, and its students coming at appointed hours from their homes or places of work, and going back to them, multiplies its service by very size so long as it is able to provide teachers and facilities of instruction in the ratio of the demand. In that view, the next decade of the administration of Dr. MEZES should see permanent provision made for the students resident in Brooklyn and other parts of Long Island within the city limits. America needs to keep her small colleges in places apart; but she needs also to build her large colleges larger in the great cities.

STATEN ISLAND'S APPEAL.

Richmond, the Cinderella of boroughs, has no communication with Long Island and Manhattan except by ferry under municipal operation. Perhaps worse still, its post-office facilities are so poor that a letter mailed in Manhattan is not delivered to the person addressed in Richmond in less than twenty-four hours—sometimes thirty-six elapse. Boston, Washington and (with airplane service) Chicago are better accommodated with mail from New York. "Nature," says IRA K. MORRIS in his memorial history, "has always dealt "most liberally with this beautiful "island—whether in the remote days "of Aquehonga-Man-ack-nong or of "modern Staten Island." Unfortunately, the example set by nature man has not followed. Staten Island should be the most attractive suburb of New York, with its seaward-looking hills and its white beaches. It has suffered more from the want of city planning than any other equal area in a metropolitan district in America.

Every now and then the Elder Statesmen of Richmond, individually and collectively in civic organizations, go on the rampage for better things. Just now they are demanding a central post office, with enough sorters and carriers to handle the mail, and a Federal building. There are makeshift post offices at St. George, which gives the shadow but not the substance of character to the northern approach to the island, and at Richmond, the obsolete county town sleeping eight miles away in the hills. Staten Island, having become a borough under the Greater New York charter, is not entitled to a Federal building, according to a Government ruling. But, growing in population despite its handicaps, the Borough of Richmond, fourteen miles by nine, should have a Federal building for courts and post office. If a Staten Islander has business in a Federal court he must go to Brooklyn or to Manhattan—by ferry. Certainly it borders on the outrageous for Richmond to have such inadequate post-office facilities that commuters prefer to mail their letters in Manhattan.

For the time being Staten Island may indulge only in day-dreams about a tunnel to the Borough of Brooklyn, but that is no reason why its people should be compelled to put up with two makeshift post offices eight miles apart when they need a modern main building and up-to-date carrier service.

UNIONS, CORPORATIONS AND "THE PUBLIC."

In an interesting and generally reasonable article in The World's Work the President of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers falls foul of the Railroad Labor Board. "Wages and rates," says Mr. STONE, "should be "fixed by the interplay of economic "forces"—in a word, by "collective bargaining." The "Public," partly in whose behalf the Railroad Labor Board was set up, is a merely "mythical person." In presuming to speak for its rights the board "puts the "Brotherhoods in the position of a "litigant in court rather than an or- "ganized labor union."

When it is a question of organizations of capital, the Brotherhoods are presumably still in favor of restrictive legislation. There "the interplay of economic forces," if unchecked, by reason, is anathema. Mr. STONE would doubtless be scandalized if any one were to suggest that to hold freight and passenger rates subject to the decision of an administrative tribunal is to put the carriers "in the position of a litigant in court" rather than an organized corporation. It is only organized labor that is to be a law unto itself.

Organized labor aspires to become possessed of and to rule our basic industries and public utilities. That is the ideal, the propulsive force, which has established what Mr. STONE calls "labor's chain of banks," of the magnitude and success of which he gives so striking an account. These banks encourage their depositors to withdraw their funds and convert them into bonds of the corporations in which they labor. It is a grandiose project; but who shall say that it is not feasible? No limit has yet been set to the labor and the thrift of the American workman.

Intrinsically there is more in the idea than a mere proletarian grasping after power. It may be highly proper that, so far as is consistent with the national good, our great industries enjoy some such measure of autonomy. No less than labor unions, the great corporations fulminate against the vexation and the blundering of "Government interference," though they do so in less theoretic terms. It is not impossible that in what now seems a whirling chaos of words there is the germ of a fruitful and indispensable development. But it must not be forgotten that as the American workman is laborious and thrifty he is also intelligent and patriotic. To give our public utilities the unlimited autonomy which Mr. STONE demands would produce chaos from which organized labor itself would be among the first to suffer. Nor is it at all clear that the managerial forces in our industries will permit themselves to be outbought and outvoted.

Ideally, Mr. STONE and his associates are very far in the future. Financially and economically, they are on solid ground and are winning forward rapidly. Many of them must already have perceived how indispensable to all the future is conduct in which the gains of organized labor go hand in hand with the prosperity of the whole nation.

AUSTRIA'S NEW CRISIS.

Chancellor SEIPEL characterizes the railroad strike in Austria as the gravest crisis which that country has faced since it came under the financial tutelage of the League of Nations. This is undoubtedly accurate. Not only has the strike paralyzed the transportation system of the country, but it marks, politically, the culmination of a long series of agitations directed against the policy of enforced economy which the Government adopted in order to carry out the financial reconstruction plans of the League. These involved drastic reductions in the personnel of the various Government services, including the railroads, together with increased taxes. As there has been no increase in the wages paid by the Government, this has furnished the radical Socialists with a constant subject for agitation. They have raised what corresponds to the cry of "Wall Street" and the "Interests" against the League of Nations control, and have claimed that the "international bankers" have been "enslaving" the workers of Austria.

Familiar as are these assertions, it is not to be wondered that they have made an impression when it is recalled that Vienna, which comprises about a quarter of the population of the Austrian Republic, fell heir to the greater portion of the vast army of employes who had formerly worked for the Austro-Hungarian Empire, and that the League plan called for drastic cuts in this army of bureaucrats. This seriously impaired the power of many of the politicians, who found themselves faced with the loss of faithful followers.

The situation has been further complicated by the disorganization which followed the heavy speculative losses of last Spring during the drive against the French franc, and by the fact that the improving conditions of Germany have once more lent attraction to the demands of the Austrian political party which has long been advocating union with Germany. As a result the present crisis has as its base the discontent that has been piling up in Austria during the last two years. The effect on the country's internal politics is sure to be serious. That it will do more than temporarily interfere with the League's scheme of reconstruction does not, however, seem likely. The work of Dr. ZIMMERMAN, the League's Commissioner General, will be doubly hard. It is his duty to see that the Austrian budget is carried out as provided in the League program. In so doing he cannot take part in Austria's politics. Even if a new Government is formed with the promise of bringing relief from this "domination" by the League, it will undoubtedly find that it can only follow the policy of Dr. SEIPEL and conform to the financial reforms laid down in the League's program.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Anti-Vivisectionists Will Be Much Pleased.

That remarkable representative of British medicine, Dr. WALTER ROBERT HADWEN, has just won what he and his relatives and friends think a great triumph—a jury in his home town, Gloucester, acquitted him of the charge of manslaughter, brought against him because he had failed to administer anti-toxin to a little girl suffering from diphtheria, and the child died.

The charge might as well have been murder, so far as getting a conviction either in England or this country is concerned, for, of course, the intention to kill was absent, and a duly licensed physician, which Dr. HADWEN is in both countries, has and should have discretionary power to follow his own judgment in diagnosis and treatment. For the exercise of his discretion to be held punishable, neglect of a sort so gross as to be obviously criminal must be proved, and that is difficult.

Dr. HADWEN will be remembered as the man who was imported by our anti-vivisectionists, a few years ago, to support their cause by denying that animal experimentation ever had advanced medical science, that bacteria had anything to do with causing disease, and that all sorts of serums, vaccines and antitoxins were worse than worthless. These large expectations the Briton fully met as a lecturer in several cities and as a witness before a Congressional committee, and a repetition of his opinions was his only defense at the Gloucester trial.

The prosecution, of course, insisted that Dr. HADWEN had against him nearly every physician in every civilized land, but the presiding judge said that this question was not before the jurors, and that all they had to determine was whether or not there had been criminal neglect. And such neglect, he charged, was not proved by the child's death, for it was not certain that she would have lived under any treatment. The Judge made it fairly clear, however, that he thought Dr. HADWEN's rejection of overwhelming medical authority unwise and lamentable.

Of course, after that, the jurors brought in a verdict of not guilty, and then there was a great demonstration of joy both in and out of the courtroom.

Speaks Up for the Rotorship.

According to a dispatch from Berlin, Professor ALBERT EINSTEIN ascribes "great practical importance" to the device of ANTON FLETTNER for utilising the wind as a source of motive power for ships, and when asked why an invention so simple had been so long delayed, recalled COLUMBUS and the egg. This is not much—it is nothing in the way of revealing the nature of Herr FLETTNER's discovery, but as a man like Professor EINSTEIN is competent to decide a simple question of physics, and as it is necessary to assume that he understood the thing he commended, his words are a reason for using caution in talking about Herr FLETTNER's large claims for his towers and revolving cylinders. He must have done something to get such high support.

Yet one wonders that Professor EINSTEIN, who never for a moment thought of keeping to himself what he had found out about relativity, but offered his theories at once to the criticism of all qualified experts, should give what comes near to being a guarantee of a new achievement without telling what it is or how it was attained. A distinguished expon nt of pure science, such as he is, cannot wish to conceal from an interested world a new application of natural laws.

It is all right, or at least easily comprehensible, for Herr FLETTNER to have an eye to the main chance and to think of his patents, if his idea is patentable, but his secretiveness and the postponement of his wonder-ship's voyage across the Atlantic do not inspire either confidence or hopes. So far as can be deduced from the little he has disclosed, the most he possibly can do is to make a better application of the power available to any ship supplied with sails, and that is not at all likely to carry his craft fast or far enough to put steam and internal combustion engines out of business very soon.

They Seem to Be in No Hurry.

Nothing could be much more surprising, when one remembers with what vehemence "adjusted compensation" for the World War veterans was demanded, than the fact that for the second time Major Gen. and Adj. Gen. ROBERT C. DAVIS, in whose hands is the distribution of the bonus, has issued an earnest, almost desperate, appeal for the ex-soldiers to make their applications for what is coming to them.

From more than half of those eligible no claims have been received as yet, and the big force of clerks and investigators employed in the belief that there would be a great rush of demands is threatened with soon having little to do, though its work is not yet half finished.

It might be deduced from this that the clamor for bonuses was raised by considerably fewer than all of those who took part in the war and that many of them feel about the acceptance of the money more or less as did those who opposed the expression of the nation's gratitude to its defenders in this particular form.

Only Spirits Fulfill the Claims.

Why does Dr. HEREWARD CARRINGTON criticize the newspapers for holding that the exploits of the mediums who so interest him are either the result of fraud or the work of spirits? Certainly not all newspapers take that position; at least a few join him in holding that ninety-nine out of every hundred mediums are swindlers, and that the exceptional one in a hundred is a self-deceived victim of illusion as to the nature of the mysterious "something" to the hunting down of which Dr. CARRINGTON has devoted so much time.

As a matter of fact, however, if none of the mediums is under the "control" of spirits, then they really all are frauds, for their invariable contention is that through them the dead can and do speak.

The theory of an unknown and supernormal "something" not spiritistic will not content those who seek and think they receive messages from the departed. Unless they get that, they have a right in every instance to hold their fees to have been obtained under false pretences.

To justify his belief in one medium in a hundred—he says the exceptions are all in Europe, by the way!—Dr. CARRINGTON tells us that of a hundred fiddlers only one is a genius. He exaggerates the number of fiddling geniuses, but the two cases are not analogous, for the ninety-nine fiddlers who are only talented, if that, honestly earn such money or praise as they get, and do not exploit the pockets or the faith of those for whom they play.

ARMISTICE DAY.

I think I hear them stirring there, today,
Who have lain still
So long, so long, beside the Aisne and Loire,
On Verdun hill.

I think I hear them whispering, today,
The young, the brave,
The gallant and the gay—unmurmuring long,
There in the grave.

I think I hear them sighing there, today—
They sigh for all
The glory and the wonder that was life—
Beyond recall!

I think that their young eyes are wistfully
On us who go
So gayly to our sports, this holiday . . .
I think they know!

I think that they are listening today . . .
I feel them near!
Our orators declaim—they answer back,
"Why lie we here?"

Across the fleet, forgetting years it comes,
Today—their cry,
"O World, O World, if it was all in vain,
Why did we die?"

Above the earth's enduring hates, they ask,
"Was it—for this?"
I think they are remembering, this day
Of Armistice!

And oh, I think I hear them weeping there
Who should be sleeping . . .
A plaintive thing—to hear across the world

ROSELLE MERCIER MONTGOMERY.

RENEWS DYE PATENTS FIGHT

Stone Brings Action for Reversal of Dismissal of Suit.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—Restoration of approximately 5,000 German dye patents and trademarks, seized by the Alien Property Custodian and sold to the Chemical Foundation, Inc., for $271,000, was sought today by the Government before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, in argument for a reversal of the dismissal of the Government's suit for their recovery by the Federal District Court of Delaware.

The Government's opening argument, under the direction of Attorney General Harlan F. Stone, was made by Henry W. Anderson, special assistant. The Chemical Foundation's reply will be made tomorrow.

Today's session was before Judges Buffington, Woolley and Davis. Contentions of the Government at the trial in the lower court, including charges that Francis P. Garvan, while Alien Property Custodian, had sold the patents to the Chemical Foundation, of which he became President, were reviewed by Mr. Anderson. He attacked the authority for the sale, pointing out that Frank L. Polk, Under-Secretary of State, had signed the order for the sale on Feb. 26, 1919, whereas President Wilson, for whom Polk had been acting in such matters during the President's absence in Europe, had returned to Washington the night before.

Citing President Wilson's expressed wishes before his departure for Europe, that "fair value" be placed in the Treasury for other seized German property, Mr. Anderson declared that the sale of the patents was "confiscation" because it was "destructive of the monetary value of the property."

"The transaction," he continued, "was the result of a scheme of conspiracy to get control of these patents, and is void as being the result of a conspiracy in doing a lawful act in an unlawful way and for an unlawful purpose."

In addition to Mr. Garvan, Mr. Anderson pointed out, other officials of the Alien Property Custodian's Department became officers of the Chemical Foundation. The charter of that corporation was granted before any of the patents had been seized.

"We are confronted at the conclusion with the appalling fact," he stated, "that these officials, charged by law with control and administration of this property, have so acted that they now stand with the property free from the restraint of the law and in their control to administer it as officers of a private corporation.

"If that can be sustained, then I concede there are few transactions so much in derogation of the rights of the people of the United States that they can be set aside."

Although the "nominal" sum of $271,000 was paid for the 5,000 patents, Mr. Anderson asserted that prior to their seizure a small number of them alone earned $290,000 in one year. He declared that testimony taken in the case showed the sum paid had been agreed upon at conferences in New York between the principals involved, and that at the time they did not know how many patents they were paying for.

The Foundation was represented by Moorfield Storey, Joseph H. Choate Jr., William G. Mahaffy and Selforde M. Stellwagon.

RED CROSS ROLL-CALL.

Mayor Hylan Commends Eighth Annual Appeal.

New York's eighth annual roll-call of the Red Cross, backed by organizations of banking, commercial, industrial and church volunteers numbering more than 4,000 persons, will be set in motion today throughout the city under the honorary chairmanship of Mayor John F. Hylan, with an appeal to every voter to register with his membership his support of the Red Cross's relief and public health work. Last night the Mayor issued the following proclamation:

"Whereas the American Red Cross is carrying forward a work of vital importance to our disabled veterans, the blind and other groups in our community; and

"Whereas the eighth annual roll-call of this great organization is to open tomorrow, Nov. 11, the anniversary of the close of the World War, in which the Red Cross rendered such magnificent service; and

"Whereas the spirit of this service transcends all racial, social and religious barriers, uniting the community in a common devotion to the highest ideals:

"Therefore I, John F. Hylan, Mayor of the City of New York, publicly commend the roll-call of the American Red Cross and urge upon the men and women of our city the fullest possible measure of cooperation, to the end that this great service be not abridged, but continue in increasing value and power."

Under the chairmanship of Gerard Swope, President of the General Electric Company, 173 committees of business men, along with committees of city, county, State and Federal officials and workers, are working to reach every individual in the various groups. A special banking section, headed by Lewis L. Clarke, President of the American Exchange National Bank, has also been organized, with investment houses and exchanges cooperating. A special women's division is under the general supervision of Mrs. William Kinnicutt Draper, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the New York County Chapter, with Mrs. Whitelaw Reid Vice Chairman.

Y. W. C. A. BUDGET DRIVE.

Gift of $60,115.60 Received Toward $300,000 Needed.

The annual budget campaign of the Y. W. C. A. of the City of New York began yesterday with a luncheon at Central Branch, Y. W. C. A., 610 Lexington Avenue, at which $60,115.60 was reported toward the campaign goal of $300,000.

The largest single gift reported was one of $25,000 from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation. Other gifts included $2,000 from Mrs. Henry P. Davison, $2,000 from Mrs. Jonathan Bulkley, $1,000 from Judge and Mrs. John C. Clark, $1,000 from Mrs. William Fellowes Morgan and $500 from Mortimer Schiff. The Business and Professional Women's Teams, of which Miss Jean Reid is Chairman, reported a total of $2,984.55 toward the fund and the home Women's division, of which Mrs. Phillip Le Boutillier is Chairman, $20,466.00. Mrs. William Henry Hays is Chairman of the Initial Gifts Committee, which reported the gift from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation and other gifts amounting to $30,000.

Mrs. John C. Clark, Chairman of the Budget Campaign Committee, presided at the luncheon. The speakers included Mrs. Howard Gillespie Myers, President of the Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. William Fellowes Morgan and Mrs. Lewis H. Lapham. Mrs. Edward Perry Townsend, Chairman of the Finance Committee, announced the amounts collected by teams.

200 CHURCHMEN AT DINNER.

Plans Announced for Completing Financing of Broadway Temple.

Two hundred Methodist clergymen and laymen met last night at a dinner at the Pennsylvania Hotel in the interest of the Broadway Temple to be erected in Broadway, between 173d and 174th Streets, at a cost of $4,000,000. Dr. Christian F. Reisner, pastor, announced that only the last million dollars remained to be subscribed. He said that a week's drive would be launched on Nov. 24 to wind up the financing of the project.

The dinner was given by E. M. Statler. Among those who spoke were John R. Mott, General Secretary of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A.; Watson S. Moore, President of the New York Federation of Churches; Bishop Edgar Blake, resident Bishop of the Paris Methodist Episcopal Church, and Arthur Baldwin.

60 NEW MEN TO SIT IN NEXT CONGRESS

They Are Among the 41 Democrats and 32 Republicans Getting House Vacancies.

TWENTY IN RADICAL BLOC

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Of the 435 members who were elected to the House of Representatives which will be sworn in when the Sixty-ninth Congress assembles in December, 1925, sixty are raw recruits who have had no previous legislative experience in Washington.

Including the thirteen "comebacks" in the list of new members, seventy-three men in the next House will succeed Representatives who held places in the existing body. Of the new members, forty-one are Democrats and thirty-two are classified as Republicans.

There were no conspicuous casualties among Progressive candidates in the recent elections. On the other hand, the Third Party organization made no gains. In the membership elected to the new House, fifteen are set down as simon-pure La Follettites, or Progressives, although nominally they are Republicans. There will be three Farmer-Labor Representatives and two Socialists in the next House.

This will form the nucleus of the Third Party opposition to the Republican majority. This bloc of twenty members probably will put forward a candidate for Speaker against the caucus nominee of the Republican majority.

Party Division of the House.

A final unofficial tabulation of the complexion of the next House made public by Clerk William Tyler Page shows that the lower branch of the new Congress will stand as follows: Republicans, 247; Democrats, 183; Farmer-Labor, 3; Socialists, 2. Republican plurality over Democrats, 64.

If there are any changes the effect will be to increase the Republican vote. The results in only three districts—Second Oklahoma, Fifth Washington and Twentieth Illinois—are in doubt. Mr. Page lists the members from the three districts named as Democratic. There is a prospect that the official count may swing the Fifth Washington District into the Republican column.

Two Representatives in the present House will be sworn in as members of the Senate on March 4. They are Frederick Gillett, Republican, who will succeed Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts, and Thomas D. Schall, who will displace Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota, Farmer-Labor.

The thirteen new members who have served in the House in previous Congresses are:

Representatives-elect James P. Glynn of Connecticut, Charles G. Edwards of Georgia, John J. Gorman and Loren M. Wheeler of Illinois, William M. Carss of Minnesota, Edgar C. Ellis and William L. Nelson of Missouri, Samuel S. Arentz of Nevada, T. Frank Appleby and Herbert W. Taylor of New Jersey, W. Frank Chalmers of Ohio, Anderson H. Walters of Pennsylvania and Harry C. Woodyard of West Virginia.

Familiar Faces to Be Missing.

Several familiar faces will be missing when the next House is called to order. Mrs. Mae E. Nolan of California, the only woman member of the present Congress, was not a candidate for re-election. She will be succeeded by Lawrence J. Flaherty of San Francisco, a Republican. Mrs. Nolan, listed as a Republican, has affiliated with the Progressive bloc.

Other House veterans who either refused renomination or failed of re-election are Representatives Samuel E. Winslow and Frederick W. Dallinger of Massachusetts, Sydney Anderson and Charles R. Davis of Minnesota, Everett Sanders, Merrill Moores and Louis W. Fairfield of Indiana, John C. McKenzie of Illinois, Homer P. Snyder of New York, General Isaac Sherwood of Ohio, James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and J. M. Hooker of Virginia.

In the Fifth Maryland District, where a vacancy was created during the recess by the death of Representative Sydney E. Mudd, honors were divided by Thomas B. R. Mudd, Republican, the late Representative's brother, and Stephen W. Gambrill, Democrat. Mr. Gambrill was elected to the new House, polling 6,087 votes to 5,902 for Mr. Mudd. For the unexpired term of Sydney E. Mudd in this Congress, Mr. Mudd won with 5,867 votes as against 5,587 for Mr. Gambrill.

LIVINGSTON KEEPS CONTROL

Attempt by Some Republicans to Oust Leader Fails.

Attempts by some Republican leaders in Brooklyn to bring about a new line-up of forces as a result of the election have not worked out. The result is that Jacob A. Livingston, who as Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Kings County Republican Committee has long been the real leader of the party in that borough, will continue as such and will control the organization for the next two years at least.

The question of continuing Mr. Livingston in control of the Kings County organization was put directly up to United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, as State leader of the party. Republicans dissatisfied with Livingston's control tried to shift the leadership to former State Senator Charles C. Lockwood, who recently was made Chairman of the Kings County Republican Committee. Their main argument was the poor showing made by the organization at the recent election. Not only did Governor Smith defeat Colonel Theodore Roosevelt by 150,000 plurality in the borough, but the Republicans were able to elect only four Assemblymen. Livingston was charged with inability to get out the vote.

When the matter was put up to Senator Wadsworth he sided in favor of Livingston. George R. Morris, State Chairman, took the same view.

GIVES $15,000 TO HOSPITALS

Edwin Gould Opens Campaign for $1,000,000 Fund.

At the meeting of trustees of the United Hospital Fund, held last night in the United Charities Building, a letter was delivered to President William Fellowes Morgan enclosing a check for $15,000 from Edwin Gould. The gift, Mr. Morgan said, would serve to start the campaign for more than a million dollars needed to provide treatment for the sick poor of Greater New York in the fifty-seven united hospitals. It is expected the amount sought will be obtained by Jan. 1.

Mr. Morgan told the trustees Minot A. Osborn had been appointed manager of the United Hospital Fund.

The trustees present, besides Mr. Morgan, were David A. Anabacher, George Blumenthal, B. Ogden Chisolm, Henry J. Fisher, John Sherman Hoyt, Dr. S. S. Lambert,

MASS THE COLORS & AT VICTORY BALL

FOR RELIEF OF VETERANS

Five Ballrooms Are Thrown Open for the American Legion's Dance on Armistice Eve.

The fourth annual Victory Ball of the American Legion of New York County took place last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. The proceeds will be used for the relief of the disabled, sick, destitute and unemployed veterans of the World War. The ball, of which R. Cholmeley-Jones was Chairman, has for several years been given in celebration of Armistice Eve and has been established as the means of maintaining the American Legion Employment and Welfare Bureau at 129 East Fifty-ninth Street.

There were a number of features during the evening, the most spectacular being the massing of the colors and review by units of the army, navy and Marine Corps and by every military and national welfare organization in New York. Joan Sawyer made her reappearance in a special dance for the first time since her marriage. At midnight there was a tableau depicting the spirit of the American Legion, which was posed by Miss Marion Hurley of the Ziegfeld Follies. Miss Abby Putnam Morrison sang "The Star-Spangled Banner." The five ballrooms at the Waldorf were thrown open and three orchestras played for the dancing.

Other committee Chairmen, in addition to Mr. Cholmeley-Jones, Chairman of the Executive Committee in charge of the ball, were Richard B. O'Connor, Decorations Committee; Leonard Cox, Floor Committee; Russell G. Brewster, Program and Publicity Committee; Miss Estelle O'Brien, Junior Committee, and Miss Mary Moore Remick, Débutante Committee, who was assisted by the Misses Carol Dunbar, Mary Smedberg, Helen Jenkins and Emilie Bushnell, as subchairmen.

In addition to the many organizations taking boxes, the individual boxholders were Mrs. Paul D. Cravath, Mrs. Clarence Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. Julius O. Adler, Harold L. Downey, Mr. and Mrs. John I. Downey, Mrs. William T. Hildrup Jr., Mrs. Edward F. Hutton, Colonel and Mrs. De Lancey Kountze, Mr. and Mrs. Dunleavy Milbank, Ogden L. Mills, Mrs. Howard Pardee, Mrs. Moses Taylor Pyne, Erwin Ira Rackoff, Mrs. George A. Rentschler, Francis L. Robbins Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Stursberg, William K. Vanderbilt, Theodore Whitney, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Williams, Princess Xenia of Russia and Major S. Fullerton Weaver.

The honorary patrons for the ball were President Coolidge, Jules J. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, and Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador. There was a long list of distinguished patrons and patronesses.

Those on Mr. Cox's floor committee were Henry J. Amy, Joseph C. Baldwin 2d, Chauncey Belknap, Maitland Belknap, Lionel T. Bonner, William M. Bramwell, Robert G. Ingersoll Brown, Donald F. Cammann, Colles J. Cee, Randolph C. Coleman, Alvin Devereux, Herbert C. Dickinson, Walter Duke, Hendrick V. Duryea, Louis H. Frohman, Major A. Phelps Hodges, Arthur C. Holden, Nigel Cholmeley-Jones, J. Jefferson Jones, William Kennelly, James McCosh Magie, Hon. Robert McCurdy Marsh, Charles M. Mills, Beverly R. Myles, Robert C. Myles Jr., James A. O'Gorman Jr., Roland Palmedo, Howland H. Pell, E. Dean Richmond, Armin W. Riley, John W. Ross, Ferdinand D. Sanford, Paul Speer, E. Vail Stebbins, James B. Stebbins 2d, Reginald T. Townsend, S. Fullerton Weaver and Howard P. Wortham.

Members of the Junior Committee included: Mrs. F. Huntington Babcock, Mrs. Conrad Berens Jr., Mrs. James Breese, Miss Symphorosa Bristed, Mrs. Melbert Cary, Mrs. Nigel Cholmeley-Jones, Miss Geneviève Clendenin, Miss Rosalie Coe, Mrs. Leonard Cox, Miss Grace Coffin, Mrs. William M. Fleitmann Jr., Mrs. Charles H. Higgins, Mrs. John C. Hughes Jr., Mrs. James S. Larkin, Mrs. A. Palmer Loening, Mrs. Henry M. Polhemus, Mrs. Harold C. Richard, Miss Evelyn Scott, Mrs. Harley L. Stowell, Mrs. Edmund S. Twining Jr.

PATRIOTIC DANCES TONIGHT.

Feigel Post, British Veterans and Others to Celebrate Armistice Day.

Armistice Day will be celebrated with several large patriotic dances tonight, following the Victory ball which took place last night at the Waldorf-Astoria.

The Armistice ball of the Lieutenant Jeff Feigel Post of the American Legion, made up of veterans of the First Division, will be held tonight at the Astor. The President and Mrs. Coolidge, General Pershing, Major Gen. Robert Lee Bullard and Miss Rose Bullard and Colonel and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt are among those prominent in civilian and military life who head the list of patrons and patronesses for this event.

Sir Thomas Lipton has been invited to attend the fourth annual Armistice Day anniversary ball of the British Great War Veterans of America, which will be held tonight in the two main ballrooms of the Plaza. More than 2,000 officers and ex-service men will appear in uniform wearing war time decorations by special permission granted for this occasion by Sir Harry Armstrong, British Consul General. At midnight an elaborate ceremony in honor of the dead will take place. This will include the massing of the colors by 250 veterans. Another event of the night will be the Highland tunes of Angus Fraser, piper to Sir Harry Lauder, and his band of bagpipers.

Miss Helen May, an English dancer, who has come to this country under distinguished patronage, will give two dances at the Armistice ball to be given tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria by the Canadian Business and Professional Women's Club. The list of patrons and patronesses for this dance is headed by the British Ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, and Lady Isabella Howard. Among others who have signified their intention of being present are Major Gen. Bullard, Sir Harry and Lady Armstrong, Major and Mrs. Louis Livingston Seaman, Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, Professor and Mrs. Stephen Leacock and M. Le Brouzet.

GOFF FUNERAL TOMORROW.

Tribute to Late Jurist by Judge Rosalsky of General Sessions.

Funeral services for former Supreme Court Justice John W. Goff, who died Sunday night of pneumonia at his residence, 819 West 104th Street, will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in the Roman Catholic Church of the Paulist Fathers, Columbus Avenue and Sixty-ninth Street. The burial in Kensico Cemetery will be private. Every Judge of General Sessions declared a recess of five minutes yesterday, and a minute was inscribed on the record of each part of the court in memory of the former Recorder of the city.

Judge Otto A. Rosalsky, dean of the Judges of General Sessions, in the course of his tribute to Justice Goff said:

"He felt that the world must be taught that the commission of crime carried with it punishment. He felt that if we carried leniency too far or yielded to soft sentimentality the result would be the degeneration of society, with increase of crime and disaster to the doctrine of the greatest good for the greatest number. He felt that this doctrine would no longer be the guiding principle of our enlightened society if justice were weak."

DR. ALEXANDER BRAUDO.

Russian Jewish Scholar and Historian Dies in London.

LONDON, Nov. 9 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—Dr. Alexander Braudo, prominent Russian Jewish scholar and head of the Russian department of the Petrograd National Library, died of heart disease Saturday night on the eve of his return to Russia. Dr. Braudo was 60 years old. He was one of the leading political figures in pre-war Russia and had left Russia only two months ago to come to England for the purpose of renewing his contact with European scholars.

Dr. Braudo occupied the post of head of the Petrograd Library for thirty-five years and played an important part in Jewish life in Russia. He was active in all organizations whose purpose was the emancipation of Russian Jewry.

While mainly a historian of international prominence, he devoted much of his time to the promotion of education among Russian Jews. He was Secretary of the Society for the Promotion of Education. He was a member of the advisory board of the Jewish Colonization Association and intermediary in Russian affairs for the Alliance Israelite Universelle, the Hilfsverein der Deutschen Juden, the American Jewish Committee, the Anglo-Jewish Joint Foreign Committee and many other organizations.

Exceptions In Policies

People sometimes ask us why we do not insure everything and why we have exceptions in our policies.

There are many things that we do insure against. Little technicalities of small importance are not mentioned and often our client knows nothing of them.

There are also the defects that we do not discover owing to the innate difficulties of title examination and there are the hidden defects that we cannot find. We insure against all these.

The things we do not insure are title troubles of importance that we discover and report to the client when we examine the title. These are real troubles. We state the facts and the client must decide whether he will take title subject to them.

From the Founder's Writings

"There is One Good Wife in the Country" and happy is the man who knows he has her.

But he should tell her so for encouragement in her servitude to make the home a little heaven on earth for the family and their friends.

One travels the world around and comes back invariably to say there is no place like home. Do you remember that you were tearfully homesick the first time you went to Europe among strangers and had to work your way with unknown languages?

The undoing of men and women, who come to large cities from the country, is mainly because they left their homes behind them and nobody seemed to care.

AU QUATRIEME

A Delightful Collection

8 Small Marble Mantels

LOUIS XV., LOUIS XVI. and DIRECTOIRE

Au Quatrieme has unpacked and had set up eight marble mantels which have just arrived from France. They are all delightful small ones, very charming in proportion and design, of types much in demand and especially suited to the bedroom or small drawing-room. The colors of the marble, as well as the styles, are sufficiently varied to end themselves to quite different decorative schemes. There are the dark St. Anne and granite grays, the soft warm tone known as rouge royal and one very beautiful Louis XVI. example of red jasper. And the prices are quite amazingly low.

Very fine Louis XVI. mantel of beautifully marked red jasper with tapering fluted astragalled pilasters and a charming oval rosace of oak, leaf design in the center of the frieze. $375.

OPEN AMERICAN WING AT MUSEUM OF ART

ELIHU ROOT A SPEAKER

Says Colonial Rooms Reveal That Nation's Founders, Though Rugged, Admired Beauty.

OUR HISTORY REVIVIFIED

Kitchens Which Heard Witches' Tales and Ballroom Frequented by Washington Among Exhibits.

The growth of American art from the first handsomely wrought household things of Puritan days through the Colonial periods and through the Revolutionary and early Republican times is pictured vividly step by step in the American Wing of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, which was opened yesterday.

It contains fine old kitchens, living rooms, dining rooms, drawing rooms and ballrooms which have been lifted bodily from old homes, mansions and taverns in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Virginia, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Long Island. A few of the very earliest rooms, which could not be taken intact, have been reproduced.

The rooms are furnished with the things which belong to them from the primitive sticks of furniture and cooking utensils of a seventeenth century New England kitchen to the tiling, the pewter, the brasses, painted hangings and painted wallpaper, silver and china, elaborate furniture, prints, portraits and draperies, which belong to successive periods of social development in America.

One splendid and stately interior belongs to a room in the Powel house at Philadelphia, the headquarters of George Washington in that city. This was built in 1768 and the house from which this room was disengaged and carried off still stands at 244 South Street, Philadelphia.

Ballroom From Alexandria.

Another large interior is the original ballroom of the old City Tavern of Alexandria, Virginia, built in 1793. It was situated eight miles from Mount Vernon and was the stopping place of those who sought out Washington in his retirement. There are records of the attendance of the Washingtons at many birth night celebrations in this old room.

One of the early rooms was taken away from the house built by John Hewlett shortly after 1937 at Woodbury, formerly East Woods, Long Island. A feature of this room is a closet panel which concealed a secret stairway that masked smuggling operations, which were frequent on Long Island, then as since.

Elihu Root, who spoke at the housewarming ceremonies yesterday, said that the noble display of American art in original settings, period by period, brought back the ghosts of early Americans and proved that we were wrong in picturing them as persons of hard, dry, cold lives.

"No one can go through the new wing," he said, "without learning that there was warmth in their lives, that their interests centred about the hearthstone and that there were qualities in their character that made for love of beauty."

This new American Wing is the gift of the President of the Museum, Robert W. de Forest, and Mrs. de Forest. The historic relics, the ancient American handiwork and the works of art that furnish it have been loaned by a long list of collectors and inheritors. The idea of the American Wing, which has never been attempted anywhere else, started with Mr. de Forest, who told yesterday in his introductory speech of the disbelief that had been current a few years ago that any creditable assemblage of early American art was possible.

Obtained Without Vandalism.

"Now, when you see these rooms," continued Mr. de Forest, "some of you may think that we have been guilty of vandalism in taking them from the surroundings which they have belonged to. Let me say just this: There isn't a single room that we have brought from where it was built that would, in all human likelihood, remain or could have remained where it was. We have given them a refuge. We have saved them from destruction—just as we have saved the facsimile of the Wall Street Assay Office, one of the most beautiful things in architecture that this city ever produced. We haven't committed any vandalism at all.

"Since our plans were first made American art, American domestic art, has come into its own. Perhaps it has a little more than come into its own. Perhaps, at the moment, it has more acclaim than future generations would think it ought to have had. It has filled the antiquity shops, it has crowded the auction rooms. It is vogue. And the price which it has gradually come to realize (perhaps we had a good deal to do with it, to our destruction) has been somewhat paralyzing.

"Mr. de Forest and Mrs. de Forest, acting in the noble spirit which has actuated their lives, and Mrs. de Forest, inspired doubtless by the legacy that came to her from her father, undertook to provide the atmosphere in which the products of American household art were born and had their being, and into that enterprise entered with fine enthusiasm Mr. Halsey, the Chairman of the Committee on American Decorative Art, and Mr. Kent and Mr. Atterbury and Mr. Robinson and all of his staff, and they formed an old-fashioned American community, and in their spirit was born again the atmosphere that produced whatever was fine and warming and delightful in old American life.

A New View of Our History.

"The result of providing again that atmosphere is that we have the story told not by what anybody says of our forebears, not by what anybody has written or printed about them, but the story told in the facts, the deeds, the documents they have left, arranged in the said orderly, reverent way, in the little low-ceilinged room of the seventeenth century all the way down, answering in nature to the changing and enlarging conditions of life, to the ballroom where Washington danced and the fine rooms of the early nineteenth century."

The story of the principal rooms and of some of the art in them was told by R. T. H. Halsey, Chairman of the Committee on American Decorative Art, who described the American Wing as follows:

"On its top floor you will find a gallery, the timbering of which is as sturdy as the courage of the men who founded this country. Its architectural treatment suggests the roof construction of an old meeting house at Hingham, Mass., built in 1681.

"It is from rooms like these that the colonists fought against the Indians were planned and the discussions were held which led to the formation of the Connecticut Compact in 1648, which completed the theocratic organization of the Puritan Commonwealth of Massachusetts. It was before firesides like these that the perils of witchcraft were discussed and the stories were told of bairbreath escapes of Goffe and Whalley, the Judges of King Charles I., who found refuge here from the King's officers. Then you will see a typical room lived in by the descendants of the men of Dorchester, Newtown and Watertown, who hewed their way through trackless forests and founded what is now Hartford.

"Then we are to enter a large living room from the country mansion of a rich mid-eighteenth century Newport merchant. Appointed one of the two delegates to attend the Congress called in this city in 1765 to protest against the Stamp act, we can see him driving to it in his coach and four. Next we get a glimpse of the manner of living of a Long Island country gentleman.

Mementoes of Washington.

"A ballroom is one of our three rooms from Virginia—the Colony which gave us four of our first five Presidents. It was taken from a tavern in Alexandria, but a few miles away from Mount Vernon. It was here that Washington attended his last birthnight ball and Lafayette was dined by old comrades-in-arms with great ceremony in 1824 and 1825, when he was making his extended triumphal tour throughout this country.

"Our finest room came from a house built in Philadelphia in 1768. The assertion can safely be made that there is no room extant which possesses such a combination of great esthetic charm coupled with its intimate association with General Washington. We took it from the home of a great Philadelphia Mayor. It had been the headquarters of Washington after the evacuation of Philadelphia by the British. Then commenced an intimacy between Washington and the owner possibly closer than any in the later life of our first President. Washington's diary records his frequently breakfasting, dining or having tea at the Powels'.

"Then we come to the rooms of the early Republic, which show the influence of the classic, brought back from Italy to England by Robert Adam. We have an old room from Baltimore from a house near the tavern where the 'Star Spangled Banner' was first sung. Two rooms from Haverhill, Mass., have furnishings such obtained by many a New England house on the seacoast at the period when Yankee ships were flying our flag in every quarter of the globe and laying the foundation of many a New England fortune. Then there is a beautiful room made up of architectural fragments from Philadelphia.

"Most of the rooms have beauty in themselves. Their furniture, paintings and silver are the work of Colonial craftsmen and their successors, convincing testimony, not only of the artistic skill of the makers, but of the existence of a patronage due to an appreciation of the beautiful among the men who made our Republic possible."

Lenders to the Collection.

Among the lenders of art now on exhibition in the American Wing are Edward W. C. Arnold, W. Gedney Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. John Insley Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Allan B. A. Bradley, the Brooklyn Museum, Thomas B. Clarke, Judge A. T. Clearwater, George H. Clements, Mrs. Robert W. de Forest, Mrs. Carl A. de Gersdorf, Frederick Ashton de Peyster, W. B. Osgood Field, Allen Bvarts Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Garvan, W. Glen Gould, R. T. H. Halsey, Miss Ella Hendrickson, Miss Louise Hartshorne, Peter A. Jay, Pierre Jay, Walter Jennings, J. Wood Alcohol, Curling Irons And Golf Balls Spoil Eyes

Wood alcohol, curling irons and golf balls were accused by the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness of playing a comparatively large part in the accidents to the eyes when that committee met yesterday at the Russell Sage Foundation, 130 East Twenty-second Street. Next to children's play accidents, automobile accidents are the most serious non-industrial source of eye injuries. Explosions and fireworks rank next. The eyes of 200 children were injured last Fourth of July, according to the report.

Dr. Ellice M. Alger said that eye strain was unknown before the growth of "white collar jobs." He said that many children had the bad habit of reading from a book only six inches from their eyes.

DRY AGENTS HERE SET A RECORD IN OCTOBER

933 Arrests Made for 752 Volstead Act Violations, Merrick Reports.

October was a record month for Federal prohibition agents in the Second Division, comprising New York State and Northern New Jersey.

Romaine Q. Merrick, division chief, yesterday sent a report to E. C. Yellowley, Chief General Prohibition Agent at Washington, that there had been 752 liquor law violation cases in the district during October, with 933 arrests.

Mr. Merrick said these figures had not been exceeded here since the Volstead act first went into effect. More than half of the cases—403—were in Manhattan. There were 512 arrests in this borough. The other cases were distributed as follows: Brooklyn, 114 cases, 164 arrests; Albany, 53 cases, 48 arrests; Syracuse, 53 cases, 63 arrests; Buffalo, 103 cases, 126 arrests; Malone, 22 cases, 20 arrests.

When Albert Schwartz, who started Sunday on a honeymoon trip, returns to the office of the National Glass Bottle Company, Inc., at 205 East 101st Street, of which he is President, and his brother, S. Schwartz, Secretary and Treasurer, he will find a summons awaiting him directing his appearance at the Federal Building on a charge of violating the Volstead act.

A raid by Prohibition Agents Izzy Einstein and Moe Smith yesterday resulted in the seizure of several thousand dollars' worth of alleged synthetic pre whisky and genuine bonded spirits. According to the agents, the genuine liquor was being used in equal proportions with the synthetic. Hundreds of fake labels of widely known brands of whisky were seized, the agents say.

Stoneham Trial Postponed to Dec. 1.

The trial of Charles A. Stoneham, part owner of the New York Giants, which was scheduled to begin in the United States District Court yesterday, was postponed until Dec. 1 by United States District Judge J. Stanley Webster. Victor House, Special Deputy United States Attorney General, said that the delay was due to inability to find a Judge free to try the case. Stoneham and six others are accused of having transferred accounts from Charles A. Stoneham & Co. to E. D. Dier & Co., while the latter firm was insolvent.

Retired Merchant a Suicide.

William Depo, 65 years old, a retired merchant, shot and killed himself in his home, 108 Ridgewood Avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday. Police of the Miller Avenue station investigated and announced the case as one of suicide. Mrs. John Thompson, a sister, with whom Depo lived, could give no possible reason for the man's act.

AINSLIE 'PRINCESS' REPUDIATES TITLE

Atalie Ryder Denies Theft Charges Preferred by 5th Av. Art Dealer's Daughter.

CALLS CASE A "FRAME-UP"

Introduces Evidence in Trial to Show She Is Not a "Parasite."

Atalie Unkaiunt Ryder, accused by Mrs. Lucie Benedict of the theft of articles worth $355 from her father, George H. Ainslie, an art dealer of 677 Fifth Avenue and Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, admitted, at her trial yesterday, that she was not an Indian Princess, but denied the grand larceny charge and introduced evidence to show that she was not "a parasite." She alleged the charges were based on a desire by Mrs. Benedict to separate her and Mr. Ainslee.

Under direct examination by her counsel, Mirabeau L. Towns of 76 Wall Street, Miss Ryder declared Ainslee had proposed marriage to her on three occasions and that Mrs. Benedict always was extremely frigid and insulting toward her. She said some of the articles found in her possession by Detective Joseph Arnold of the East Fifty-first Street Station, who arrested her on Oct. 27 last, were given to her by Ainslee and that others were "planted" there by "some one."

The articles alleged to have been stolen by the Princess include a pair of fur-lined slippers, a silk bodice, a small boudoir clock, a black silk petticoat, a green-jeweled headdress, a pink silk bedspread and a lace bedspread.

Starting her testimony, the Princess said she was born in Stillman, Okla., the daughter of a former State Senator, and that she had been educated in Western high and grammar schools, and then had come East to Boston to study at the Northeastern Conservatory of Music.

After the war began she joined the Y. M. C. A. as an entertainer, from which she was honorably discharged after winning a citation for valor under fire from the British Government.

On Dec. 12, 1923, she said, she met the Ainslie and Benedict families. On the invitation of Ainslie, she said, she visited the Ardsley residence of the art dealer in August, where she went to him. He invited her to return and she accepted his invitation.

Once when they were returning from a walk about the estate, she said, Ainslie grabbed her hands when they neared a point called "Romantic Rock" and proposed marriage to her. She rejected his proposal.

Then followed three visits on his part to her residence at 661 Fifth Avenue, near the Ainslie Galleries, when he asked her twice more to marry him. She again refused. Ainslie, she said, on being rebuffed, offered her a position as secretary at $35 a week, which she refused.

Then he offered her funds, but she said she declined to accept them unless he made the offer in a legal manner. Ainslie, she said, then accepted her 90-day note for $500, which she since has repaid. After these two unsuccessful attempts to win her hand, Ainslie was said to have persuaded her to move to an apartment in his city home. This she did in September.

A few days later she said the art dealer came to her and said his children, Mrs. Benedict and George G. Ainslie, were gradually stripping him of all his valuables. The attitude of both children, the witness said, was quite noticeable. They snubbed and insulted her at every opportunity.

Once, complaining of this to Ainslie, she said the latter replied:

"Forget them. I love you, I love you. Ardsley is not the same without you. I want you to make your home with me always."

Later, when she moved to the Hotel Walcott, which was her residence when she was arrested, Ainslie, she said, wrote her two letters, in one of which he declared himself to be worried over her illness. The other, dated April 11, 1924, read:

"Dear Atalie: You must come up on Friday. I miss you so. Have had time to reflect and am sorry for my cruel indifference. Sincerely your friend,

"GEORGE H. AINSLIE."

As the hours of the hearing dragged on the clashes between Mr. Towns and Mr. Levine became more bitter. The latter is appearing as a special prosecutor. He sought to show that the Princess had no standing socially or otherwise and was a parasite. This caused Mr. Towns to jump to his feet many times and denounce the prosecution.

Levine brought out, however, that in June, 1920, Miss Ryder was employed in the comptroller's office of the Tidewater Oil Company of 11 Broadway at a salary of $30 a week, where she was a typist. Her only duties, however, he said, were to make out dividend checks. Later she wrote articles for newspapers. She received a regular monthly allowance of between $125 and $150 from her foster mother, a Mrs. Traynor of West Virginia. She also said she had been regularly employed by Roy Scott Belden, a real estate operator of 681 Fifth Avenue.

The case was adjourned to Thursday morning in Harlem Court.

PLAN AIRCAB FLEET TO FLY AT TAXI RATES

New Organization Will Operate Squadrons in Five Cities at 20 Cents a Mile.

"Yellow aircabs," fitted and painted exactly like Yellow taxicabs, and designed to carry passengers for 20 cents a mile, are soon to be placed on the market, it was announced yesterday. They are to be manufactured in Dayton, Ohio, by an organization headed by Colonel H. E. Hartney, former commander of the First Pursuit Squadron of the A. E. F. in France, and former Chief of Training of the Army Air Service. The announcement was made by Colonel Hartney at the Hotel Astor.

The planes will be marketed in the same way that Yellow taxicabs are sold, and there will be a demonstration fleet of nine aircabs operated in Chicago, with fleets of three cabs each in four other cities. Colonel Hartney said the aircabs would make sixteen miles on a gallon of gasoline, as Yellow taxicabs do, and that their ninety-horse power motors would drive them at a maximum speed of 100 miles an hour, with ninety miles as their cruising speed. The cabs, he said, would be equipped with devices which would make nose dives and the stalling of motors an impossibility.

"The development of commercial aviation is one of the most important matters now confronting the country," Colonel Hartney said. "It is important internationally, as airplanes are going to be the first line of defense in time of war. This is recognized already by Great Britain, France and Italy, who have separate air ministries in their Cabinets. Aviation will become able to be able to pay for the upkeep of an adequate air defense, which is neither practicable nor possible in time of peace.

"The development of commercial flying is really the saving solution of the problem. The only way it can be developed is through successful operation on business lines. It must be made to pay without Government subsidies. Thus far we have not progressed far. There are many reasons. We have no legislation to eliminate the dangerous junk left over from the war or to compel the aspiring flier to properly maintain his plane. The surplus military equipment is constantly crashing down and bringing with it public confidence in flying. The great need of aircraft for national defense, too, has stifled the development of wholly commercial machines, and the military equipment has given the public a wholly erroneous conception of flying."

Mob Singing 'How Dry I Am' Raids Liquor Trial Beats Dry Agents, Threatens to Lynch Mayor

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10.—The trial of Mayor A. L. Pugh of College Hill and Greenlee Hahn, a dry agent operating from Mayor Pugh's Court, on charges of pointing firearms and inciting a riot, was interrupted last night when a mob of more than 500 men invaded the courtroom of Magistrate Samuel S. Williams of Green Township in the Cheviot Town Hall and threatened to lynch Mayor Pugh and his deputies and burn down the Town Hall.

The mob was singing "How Dry I Am" as they entered the court room.

Fifteen special deputies, sworn in yesterday by Marshal John Grinstead of Cheviot, were unable to handle the crowd, and in the rioting that ensued Hayes Perkins, a dry agent from the College Hill Liquor Court, had his nose broken.

The special police forced the crowd from the courtroom and the Mayor, with his deputies and Magistrate Williams, locked themselves in the cellar of the Town Hall, after Mr. Green announced that the trial would be continued until tomorrow afternoon.

Angered by their ejection from the courtroom, the crowd gathered outside the town hall. Leaders of the mob urged them to burn down the building and lynch the men on trial.

Greenlee Hahn, the state liquor agent, was knocked down under the feet of the mob and seriously injured, while an automobile owned by the Rev. Leslie Graham, another liquor agent, was destroyed by fire lighted by members of the mob.

Mayor Pugh and his deputies were removed from the building in Cincinnati police patrol wagons and escorted to their homes. Shortly before midnight several hundred men were still standing about the town hall and police were held on hand to quell any disturbance that might arise.

Mayor Pugh and Hahn were arrested last Monday night on warrants issued by Magistrate Green and sworn to by Mrs. Harry Smith of Dent. They charged that Mayor Pugh and his liquor squad entered her home on Saturday and, after striking her, pointed firearms at her and her husband. The Rev. Leslie R. Graham and Hayes Perkins, liquor agents, also were named in the warrants.

LAY PLOT TO EX-WIFE TO PALM OFF A BABY

GOT DIVORCE IN SEPTEMBER

Testified Then That She Was About to Become a Mother—Baby Ordered Returned.

Supreme Court Justice Gavegan ruled yesterday that Mrs. Lydia Locke Marks, former opera singer, must return a baby boy she had procured under false pretenses from the Willows Maternal Sanitarium, Kansas City, Mo. The case came into court on a writ of habeas corpus for the child obtained by the superintendent of the sanitarium.

Mrs. Marks obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from Arthur Hudson Marks, President of the Skinner Organ Company, last September. She was formerly married to Orville Harrold, Metropolitan tenor, and to the late Robert Talbot, a gambler. She was acquitted in Reno in 1911 of the charge of having murdered Talbot, who was shot.

The opera singer and the organ company executive were married seven years ago, a few days after she and Orville Harrold were divorced. Difficulties arose between them recently and she applied for a divorce in Westchester County. During the trial she asserted that she was about to become a mother. Upon obtaining an interlocutory decree to wed the West, feeling it imperative that she should procure a child.

Testimony disclosed that she went to Kansas City in October and there found a baby boy born Sept. 29 last at the Willows Maternity Sanitarium. The child's name was Irving Harvey. She presented letters to the institution officials purporting to be from friends who had known her in Hannibal, Mo., as "Mrs. Ira Johnson, a widow of good financial circumstances, who wished to adopt a child."

The supposed Mrs. Johnson took the child away and next appeared in St. Louis, Mo., where she procured a birth certificate stating that Mrs. Marks was the mother of the baby.

An affidavit signed by E. P. Haworth, Superintendent of the Willows Maternity Sanitarium, declares that Mrs. Marks is the woman who appeared at the sanitarium and asked to adopt the child and rename him Harold Norman Johnson. No adoption action, however, has taken place so far. When Mrs. Marks returned home word that a child was born to her reached her husband and he began an investigation that resulted in the present disclosures.

$15,000 THEFT CHARGED TO PORT CHESTER GIRL

Bookkeeper Accused by Department Store of Making False Entries to Cover Shortage.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 10.—District Attorney Arthur Rowland made it known today that Miss Jennie Fava, 22 years old, the daughter of Rocco Fava, Commissioner of Public Works in Port Chester, had been indicted by the Grand Jury on three counts, charging forgery in the third degree.

It was alleged before the Grand Jury that Miss Fava, who had been employed by a department store at Port Chester as a bookkeeper, had made false entries in the books and that there was a shortage of $15,000.

District Attorney Rowland said that Miss Fava would be arraigned before County Judge William F. Bleakley Wednesday morning, her attorney, Judge Thomas Connolly, having promised to produce her at that time. Judge Connolly said that Miss Fava was innocent and that he would prove that others had access to the books which it was alleged Miss Fava forged.

Charles Naegele, Pianist, Plays.

Charles Naegele, who gave a recital at Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon, began his piano recital with a Bach-Busoni, which he played in a firm manner with due regard to clearness. The same didactic style was noticeable in his Chopin Sonata, where he was not wanting in romantic interludes. The Schumann "Etudes Symphoniques" completed a program which had been chosen with care and brevity.

Want 400,000 Drivers to Sign Safety Pledge In a Campaign to Lessen Accidents Here

A drive to get the signatures of 400,000 drivers of motor vehicles in New York to a safe driving pledge was started yesterday by Barron Collier, Special Deputy Police Commissioner, in charge of the Bureau of Public Safety.

The pledge which drivers are being asked to sign reads:

"I hereby promise that I will obey all traffic regulations, watch out for children and pedestrians, and drive safely at all times to the end that the appalling sacrifice of life caused by carelessness may be stopped and the streets of New York City made safe."

Each driver who signs gets a certificate to paste on his windshield, which tells that he has pledged himself to aid accident prevention work. The certificate is signed by Police Commissioner Enright and Mr. Collier, and bears the official seal of the Police Department.

Thousands of volunteers are assisting the police in distributing the pledges. Included are the managers of stores, trucking concerns, taxicab companies, commercial corporations using large fleets of vehicles and superintendents of garages where private cars are housed. Because of a rule against stickers on windshields, Charles A. Harnett, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, issued a special order authorizing the certificates. Posters explaining drivers to sign the pledges are being placed in garages and store windows.

"We are hopeful that the signing of this pledge by drivers will aid materially in decreasing accidents," Collier said. "If we may judge the present drive by the success which attended the signing of the safety pledge by school children and parents a year ago, then we are bound to succeed. The school safety pledge was signed in January of last year, and during the following month there was a decrease of 80 per cent. in street accidents in Greater New York."

SIX PERSONS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

TWO DIE IN A COLLISION

Fourteen Are Injured, Five Seriously, in East Orange Bus Crash.

Harry Schwartz, matchmaker for the New Brunswick Athletic Club and the Perth Amboy Athletic Club, well known in pugilistic circles in the East, was instantly killed last night by an automobile on the Lincoln Highway, between Raritan and Selton, N. J. Schwartz, whose home was at 159 Brighton Avenue, Perth Amboy, was struck by a car operated by Frederick A. Warber of 520 Main Street, Milltown. Schwartz was crossing the road on his way to a restaurant. The driver of the car was arrested.

A man and a woman were killed in the forenoon when a motorcycle crashed head on into an automobile in Hicksville Road, near Massapequa, L. I. Dudley E. Gibbons of Willis Avenue, Mineola, who was on the motorcycle, was killed instantly. Mrs. Madeline Wichmann of 248 Bayview Avenue, Amityville, who was in an automobile driven by her husband, died half an hour after her arrival at the Reid Hospital in Amityville from injuries she received when the car upset. Henry Wichmann, husband of the woman, was held blameless for the accident by the police.

A man, believed from papers in his pocket to be Erich Allen Blonquist, was killed last night by an automobile at Carroll and Columbia Streets, Brooklyn. Frank Yodice of 429 Clinton Street, Brooklyn, the driver, was locked up on a technical homicide charge.

John Markoff, 38 years old, superintendent of a farm at Greenburgh, N. Y., near Yonkers, was instantly killed before dawn yesterday by an automobile in Central Avenue, near the Yonkers-Greenburgh line. The occupants of the car fled. Witnesses said that there were three or four women and three men in the automobile.

Frank Stewart, 24, died of a fracture of the skull and burns yesterday morning in the Cooper Hospital at Camden, N. J., within an hour after the automobile he was driving was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad train at the Monmouth Street crossing in Gloucester. Burning gasoline from the shattered tank on his car sprayed over his garments, Stewart was employed in the real estate business at Gloucester.

In a collision last evening between a public service bus and an automobile at Springdale Avenue and North Twenty-second Street, East Orange, N. J., fourteen persons were hurt, five of them seriously. There were about twenty persons in the bus when it struck a sedan owned and operated by Dr. H. J. Moss of 64 Eagle Rock Avenue, West Orange. The physician and two other occupants of his car, Miss Elizabeth Cole of 219 North Ninth Street, Newark, and Albert Bertchan of 329 Park Avenue, Orange, were among the most seriously injured. They were removed to the Orange Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Mary Pierce, 270 Walnut Street, and Mrs. Gussie Ehrlich, 327 Prospect Street, both of East Orange, who were riding in the bus, also were taken to a serious condition to the hospital. Nine other passengers in the bus were attended by physicians and taken to their homes.

Mrs. Clara Frey of 1,335 Palarer Street, Philadelphia, was taken to the Cumberland Street Hospital with a broken right leg yesterday afternoon which she received in Myrtle Avenue and Wallabout Street, Brooklyn, when the automobile in which she was riding with her brother, Herman Benjamin of 9,614 Jamaica Avenue, was crushed in collision with a motor truck of the Street Cleaning Department. The truck was being operated by Mateo Nicolo.

Following a two-mile chase by a policeman in a commandeered automobile Clayton Williamson, who described himself as "a railroad man from Portland, Me.," was locked up in the West 152d Street Station charged with operating an automobile while intoxicated, striking two persons and having stolen the car from Morris De Daff of Central Avenue, Lawrence, L. I. The two injured persons received only minor hurts.

John Hyson, 8, of 442 West Twenty-fifth Street, was removed in a critical condition to New York Hospital last night with internal injuries received when he was knocked down by a motor truck at Eighth Avenue and Twenty-fifth Street. The driver, Frank Jones of 114 Camden Street, Newark, N. J., was arrested.

FIND MISSING GIRL SLAIN.

East Chicago Child Victim of Attack in Lonely Prairie.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Hidden in a patch of weeds in a lonely prairie near East Chicago, Ind., the body of a 14-year-old girl, with her head almost severed, was found by workmen early today.

The girl, Florence Guasca of East Chicago, left her home yesterday afternoon to visit friends two miles away. When she failed to return last night her parents supposed she had spent the night with her friends.

When the body was found most of the girl's clothing had been torn off and the ground showed marks of heavy heel imprints.

Coroner's Physician Frank Townley, who was called before the body was moved, said there was no doubt the girl had suffered at the hands of a degenerate. Her body had been mutilated.

The victim was the daughter of a well-to-do East Chicago family. She was the eldest of five children and appeared older than her age.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in New York City for week ending Saturday, November 8, on shipments sold out, ranged from 8.08 cents to 21.06 cents per pound and averaged 18.13 cents per pound.—Advt.

BEER-RUNNING 'KING' IS SLAIN IN CHICAGO

THEIR AIDS BLOCK TRAFFIC

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Dion O'Bannion, gunman and gang chief, often called "King of the Beer Runners," was shot to death today in his florist's shop at 738 North State Street. His body, pierced by six bullets, lay crumpled on the floor amid the American Beauties and chrysanthemums which he had used as a blanket of respectability to cover his underworld activities.

Two days ago O'Bannion had a new suit made with three special pockets in the trousers—two in front, one behind. Usually each held an automatic. One pocket also held an extra clip, inasmuch as O'Bannion seldom moved without enough ammunition to kill forty-five men if handled with accuracy.

But today he carried only one gun, and it was useless. His right hand, which had been cordially shaking that of one of the three murderers who shot him down, reached vainly for it. From the other hand clattered a pair of shears, for the underworld leader had been following his daylight calling just before death—snipping stems from chrysanthemums to make funeral wreaths for Armistice Day.

And as the shears rattled to the floor there was a great crash, for O'Bannion's body slumped back into a big plate glass showcase in which reposed the most delicate of roses.

The three men whose guns had snuffed out the life of another of Chicago's gun leaders turned and dashed through the front door. They jumped into a dark colored, nickel trimmed car. At the wheel a fourth man stepped on the accelerator and the already running engine sputtered into a roar. A car behind quickly turned into the centre of the street. Two across State Street did likewise, thus protecting the getaway car from traffic. On Superior Street cars from either side of State Street swung up to the corner, blocked other cars and let the killers dash west on Superior and then south on Dearborn. The six cars which had—by seeming accident—blocked all cars but it, leisurely got back into their proper direction, tooted their horns and drove slowly away.

"There'll be more murder," said a veteran detective. "More murder, and it will come quick."

Beer and whisky running was the commonly accepted murder background, but politics came in for its share of gossip. O'Bannion stepped out on election day with 200 sluggers, reports go, and helped the Forty-second Ward, normally Democratic, to go Republican by three to one.

Police Move to Nip Gang War.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—The Chicago Police Department, fearful that the slaying of Dion O'Bannion today may mark the beginning of one of the bitterest gang feuds this city has ever experienced, tonight began a roundup of underworld characters, determined to nip any concerted gang action in the bud.

Alphonse Capone, alias "Big Al" Brown, Vincent Druces, Earl Weiss and Louis Alterie, all well known to various times in bootlegging and beer-running activities, were taken to the State's Attorney's office tonight for questioning, while police squads toured the city in a search for others who they believe may have information about the slaying.

ZR-3 MAY BE TESTED IN ATLANTIC SERVICE

Wilbur Considers Plan to Have Her Make Trips With Passengers as Commercial Carrier.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Plans to send the ZR-3 on practice flights, with a view to familiarizing American crews with her equipment and operation, are under consideration by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur. Under the terms of the contract by which this airship was obtained from Germany she can be used only for commercial purposes.

Suggestions have been made that the ZR-3 should be turned over to private enterprise, as she cannot be utilized for military manoeuvres. Commenting on these today, Secretary Wilbur stated that such action could not be taken without an act of Congress. It is considered likely that when the navy has completed a long series of tests with the ship under the direction of Government experts the ZR-3 may be diverted to commercial use under some plan yet to be devised by the Secretary of the Navy and his advisers.

Secretary Wilbur has under advisement a recommendation made by New York engineers that the Shenandoah, as well as the ZR-3, be dispatched on transcontineneal flights with passengers aboard. Such tests probably will be made. Specific announcement was made by Secretary Wilbur that, whatever disposition might ultimately be made of the ZR-3, the Shenandoah would be retained as a part of the naval service.

Orders for the acceptance of the ship were signed today, and the ZR-3 accordingly will become the property of the United States following appropriate action by the Secretary of State.

Christmas to Be a Holiday On Rural Delivery Routes

Postmaster Morgan called attention yesterday to the following announcement by the Post Office Department:

"Christmas is a holiday on rural delivery routes.

"The public is advised that parcels for delivery on rural routes should be mailed so as to reach the office of delivery at least three or four days before Christmas; also that there is no objection to placing upon the Christmas parcel the inscription 'Please do not open until Christmas,' or words to that effect.

"Christmas last year was observed for the first time as a holiday by the carriers on all rural routes throughout the country. This was an experiment. No complaint has resulted from the suspension of service on that day. Therefore the holiday will be continued."

WHITE MAN KILLED, NEGROES MENACED

TROOPS QUELL DISORDER

Negroes Driven From the Camp Return After the Militia Takes Charge.

HARRODSBURG, Ky., Nov. 10.—After a night of disorder, quiet had been restored tonight in the construction camps that flank the site of the Dix River Dam, a huge hydroelectric project under construction on the Dix River near here.

The arrival of detachments of the Kentucky National Guard stopped clashes between white construction workers and farmers on one side and negro workers at the dam, which followed the slaying of Edward Winkle, 21 years old, a white worker, by a negro laborer on Sunday night.

Sheriff Walter Kennedy of Mercer County tonight said the situation no longer was tense and that no further trouble was expected.

Clashes followed rapidly Sunday night and early today, resulting in a general exodus of negroes from the labor camps. Quiet was restored when thirty-five members of Troop A, Fifty-fourth Machine Gun Squadron, National Guard, arrived in motor trucks and took charge.

Nearly three hundred of the seven hundred negroes employed on the dam, who had been driven from the camp, returned after the arrival of the troops.

They came wandering back in groups of a half dozen or more. All showed the effects of exposure. Many were without shoes, none were fully dressed and a number had no trousers.

One detachment of the guard remained on duty at the dam and another, upon request of the contractors in charge of the work, was used as an escort for the returning negro workers.

All the negroes will be pair off, it was announced, and those who wish to remain at work may do so.

Walter Chance and John Williams, both negroes, were arrested by Sheriff Kennedy at the dam and hurried to Danville for safe keeping. One of them, the Sheriff said, was known as "Big Jelly Roll" and the other as "Little Jelly Roll."

Sheriff Kennedy last night intercepted a crowd driving negroes before them four miles from camp and probably prevented bloodshed. Some of the negroes were barefooted and many were scantily clad. The negroes were taken to a rock quarry near Burgin. Bonfires were kept burning throughout the night to protect them from the weather and food was brought from the Dix River dam.

The dead man, a bridegroom of only a few days, detailed to companions, ten minutes before his death, how three negroes attacked to rob him. He said he had been shot "by Jelly Roll" after he had resisted.

New of the slaying spread quickly. Farmers and white workers rushed to the construction camp, armed themselves with rifles, pistols and shotguns, pitchforks and other weapons and stormed the negro bunkhouses. Others threw stones at the negroes as they fled.

Marshal J. T. Royalty, leaving church at Burgin, was on his way home when from down the road he heard a command "Hands up!" Going to the place, he discovered about sixty white men surrounding the hundreds of negroes at the Burgin depot. A few moments later Sheriff Kennedy arrived and the officers urged the mob to allow law and order to prevail.

ARMISTICE HALTS BOURSE.

Paris Brokers Pause a Minute in Respect—Close for Today.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—The roaring Bourse silenced itself one minute at 2 o'clock this afternoon in observance of Armistice Day, as the Exchange will be closed tomorrow. When the gong rang at 2 o'clock every hat came off and all the brokers faced the centre, many saluting.

In the great, echoing hall, with 2,000 exciting, perspiring brokers and clerks present, there was heard only the click of the news cameras and one strangled cough.

When business was resumed, the brokers gave five minutes to cheering. They also hooted one of the busy photographers who had forgotten to take off his hat. The crowd promptly took it off for him.

Many other armistice ceremonies were held today, including the placing of a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier by a delegation from the Chamber of Deputies headed by President Painleve.

A Ready-Made Overcoat With The Appearance That it Wasn't!

IT IS ready-made but looks as if you had to wait for it. It has the custom appearance of a garment that took time. And in fact, it took just as much time as if it had been made to measure in the conventional way. The only distinction is, it was made ahead of your order instead of afterwards. Instead of your waiting for it, it is waiting for you. Nothing could conceivably be finer than the tailoring, the detail, the fit, or the sense of luxury in this new overcoat we're showing for wintertime.

DR. BRIDES IS ADDED TO COLUMBIA STAFF

WAS ALL-AMERICAN STAR

Chosen as One of Best Guards in 1908, but Played Every Position Except Quarterback.

Dr. Arthur Brides, former star athlete at Yale and in later years line coach and head coach of the Elis, was added to Columbia's football staff for the remainder of the season yesterday and began whipping the Blue and White forwards into shape for the Army game next Saturday and the Syracuse battle at the Polo Grounds Thanksgiving Day.

The retention of Dr. Brides, deemed by many football men to be one of the small group of really great line coaches in this country, means that Columbia will leave no stone unturned in its efforts to send a powerful line against the Army and Syracuse.

For five years he was coach of the forwards at New Haven and in his undergraduate days was an All-American guard on the 1908 team of Walter Camp. In 1917, the first year of the war, he was head coach at Yale. As a freshman lineman he played his first game in a Blue uniform on the team of 1906, and he was a varsity star in 1907, 1908 and 1909, in which years he played every position but quarterback; 1908 saw him as All-American choice at guard, but that did not prevent him from switching into the back field the following season and starring with Ted Coy in the great back field quartet of that year. Starting as centre, Brides tried his hand also at guard, tackle and end before he became a halfback.

Assisted Tad Jones.

His first year as line coach at New Haven was 1912. When Tad Jones came to Yale as head coach in 1916 Dr. Brides came with him to take charge of the line. In 1917 Jones resigned when war broke out, and Brides carried on as head coach. There was no team in 1918, but when Dr. Al Sharpe became head coach in 1919 Dr. Brides was his lieutenant in charge of line coaching. He occupied the same post during Tad Jones's regime in 1920 and 1921, but after that year retired from football to become associated with the Veterans' Bureau. Lately he has resumed the private practice of medicine in this city, but at Withington's request will help out at Baker Field for the next two and a half weeks.

Withington and Dr. Brides have the great fact in common that they both come from the same school of line play—the school of George Foster Sanford. By different routes they branch out from the man who in his prime was hailed as the master of all line coaches. Sanford was mentor of the Yale linesmen in Dr. Brides's first year there, and all the latter knows of line play and coaching he learned from Sanford. Withington, in Percy Haughton's first year at Harvard, 1908, came under the tutelage of "Pop" Graves, one of the great line coaches of old, who was also an apostle of Sanford. Graves later was line coach at the Army, which Columbia meets this week.

Speaking the same football language as Withington, Dr. Brides was able to jump into his work yesterday without any formalities. After ushering the linemen through a spirited session of dummy tackling, he held a special line drill on charging, breaking through, use of hands and feet and other fundamental details of the forwards' play. When words failed him, he resorted to direct action and got into the thick of the scrimmaging. The doctor is still in the proverbial pink of condition and more than held his own.

Varsity Players Scrimmage.

Withington varied the usual program by putting on a half-hour Monday scrimmage for the A team. A combination of junior varsity and Team C players lined up against the first eleven and for twenty minutes tested the Blue and White defense. After the varsity had piled up the scrubs for no gain, the regulars took the ball at midfield and marched down for a touchdown, Emphringham diving over for the score.

Emphringham was at halfback in place of Ray Kirchmeyer, who has recovered from his Cornell injury but was kept out of the Monday scrimmage because the coaches were not in a hurry to rush back into the line-up. Kirchmeyer spent a profitable afternoon polishing his punting. He was the only absentee from the A line-up, but Emphringham's steady improvement in the last three weeks will make the loss less keenly felt if Kirchmeyer should not get into the Army affray.

Dummy scrimmages between A and B and between B and the junior varsity were other features of the workout. Altogether it was the busiest afternoon of the season at Baker Field, with everybody on the move every minute and going strong until after dark. Today and tomorrow Withington will repeat the program and then taper off.

ARMY TEAM FEARS KOPPISCH AND PEASE

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Army's varsity eleven came through the Florida game in good shape physically. The big team was rested today, only those men of the squad who did not play in Saturday's game participating in the loosening-up drill, which Head Coach McEwan ordered to follow the customary Monday chalk talk.

While Army is headed for the Navy now and cannot afford to put itself out in its preparation for that all important contest, the West Pointers are by no means overlooking the Columbia game which comes next Saturday. The Blue and White eleven probably will have to cope with Army's forward passing attack, as it is the purpose of the coaches to endeavor to strengthen that form of Army's offensive in the workouts planned for this week. Army fears the fleet-footed Koppisch and also Pease, the clever quarterback of the Columbia team.

There are other worries for the Army mentors. The line will have to be improved to make a satisfactory showing against the rugged forwards, who are expected to outweigh the cadets, and Army's kicking game, apparently in a slump right now, will come in for a lot of attention. At right end Frazer, the heavy wingman who has been starting in that position in most of Army's important contests, is quite likely to be replaced by Born, a plebe, who came to the Academy last Summer from St. John's Military Academy of Delafield, Wis. Born's work on Saturday was high class, and the coaches are being favorably attracted to him.

The handling of punts in the Florida game was a poor one, Army coaches will stress their work along that line this week with the hope of a vast improvement in that important feature.

Preparations are being made to handle the biggest crowd of the season next Saturday. Temporary stands have been erected on the east side of the field, which will give an increased seating capacity.

J. D. Rockefeller Jr. to Make Debut in Tournament Squash

John D. Rockefeller Jr. will make his début as a tournament squash tennis player tomorrow, when he will play H. V. Miller of the Columbia University Club in a Metropolitan League Class C match. Mr. Rockefeller will represent the Whitehall Club. The two clubs met yesterday, playing six of the seven contests scheduled, of which the Columbia players took five, thereby clinching the match. Although the outcome of the match tomorrow cannot affect the result of the team engagement it will be played. Mr. Rockefeller plays at No. 5 on the Whitehall team. He is a devoted follower of the game and played an exhibition match on the opening of the Whitehall courts.

HARVARD END OUT FOR REST OF YEAR

Robb's Foot Broken in Game With Princeton—Adie Also Severely Injured.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 10.—Not many of the football players who took part in Saturday's game with Princeton were down on Soldiers Field this afternoon, and the only ones who got into the drill between the first and second varsities were not in Saturday's game long. It was far from a joke day behind the secret practice fence, but after going over some of the most glaring errors in Saturday's game, the coaches put on the most cheerful faces they could and got down to work.

"Nothing to say about that game at all," was Bob Fisher's comment, "except that we were kicked to a frazzle."

It is still too early to be sure just how badly off Harvard's regulars are after the hard battle of Saturday. Jack Hammond was down on the field, although not dressed for football, and he will soon be playing, although he hurt his shoulder again.

Daley Is Absent.

Leo Daley's knee kept him away from practice, but there seems to be every confidence in Harvard's camp that he will be all right before the end of the week, although there is small chance that he will be used in the Brown game.

Jack Adie is said to have sustained a severe leg injury, which may handicap his chances for further play this year, and Len Robb, a regular end, is definitely out of football for the year because of his broken foot.

The coaches are thankful that Gehrke's hurts are not likely to prove serious. All in all, the Princeton game probably cost Harvard just one man who was counted on for the first team against Yale, but there is a possibility that another centre will have to be brought along to replace Adie.

The first thing the coaches did today was to bring the scrub team centre, Francis Hague, up to the varsity squad. Hague is a husky player and is captain of the wrestling. He came to Harvard from Santa Barbara.

In the drill today Joe McGlone was switched from quarter to halfback and Nat Hamlen, last year's freshman quarter, ran the first team. This was made up of Robinson and Baldwin, ends; Nash and Lindler, tackles; Dunker and Theopold, guards; Kilgour, centre; Hamlin, quarter, and Howe, Sales and Samboursaki as backs.

The substitutes, who worked in white shirts in the signal drill and dummy scrimmage against the first team, comprised Beals and E. Bradford, ends; C. Bradford and Taylor, tackles; Cochrane and Daniell, guards; Hague, centre; Spalding, quarter, and Puffer, Rogers and McGlone, backs.

C. Bradford Shifted.

Akers, a former quarterback, substituted for Rogers as a carrier. C. Bradford, who has played guard all year, filled in at tackle, but probably because both Greenough and Coady both were absent rather than because he is going to be shifted to the new position.

Coach Fisher has not stated how he will arrange his team for the Brown game, but the first team showed against Princeton that it needed a lot of defensive work in scrimmage, and Harvard's morale surely needs bolstering. For these reasons he is likely to use the best team he can muster against the Providence team, except that no chances will be taken with first-string players who are on the injured list.

BROWN COACHES BUSY.

Hope to Send Strong Eleven Against Harvard on Saturday.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 10.—Brown coaches today started the work of rebuilding the football team which will face Harvard next Saturday in Cambridge. No serious injuries were received in the game with Haskell Indians Saturday, but the trainers are faced with a number of minor hurts which may prove a handicap.

With its record of four defeats and two victories, Brown is determined to win its final three games with Harvard, New Hampshire State and Colgate.

FORDHAM HAS LONG DRILL.

Punting and Signals Are Stressed and New Plays Are Studied.

Frank Gargan, Fordham football coach, began to drive his team yesterday for the C. C. N. Y. battle next Saturday by putting the squad through a long session. A lengthy punting drill and a still longer signal practice composed the afternoon's work. Several new plays and formations were given to Team A and they will be used in the scrimmage today. The regulars will scrimmage against both the scrubs and the frosh eleven. The latter will experiment with the new plays. Since the Maroon engaged in no game last Saturday, the team is in tip-top condition. Captain Brennen is expected to report for practice today, although he will not be scrimmaged until later in the week.

In the first backfield yesterday were Graham at quarter, Manning and Woerner at the halves and Zakszeski at fullback. This combination worked all afternoon, mainly on the forward pass, and a marked improvement is being shown daily in this department. For the greater part of the time Manning was on the throwing end.

C. C. N. Y. TO DRILL HARD.

Will Begin Work Today for Fordham Game, Last on Schedule.

Coach Parker will start today to point his City College eleven for its final game of the year against Fordham Saturday in the Lewisohn Stadium. Beginning today the hardest week of practice of the whole season will get under way with the hope of presenting the strongest combination possible to face the powerful Bronxites on Saturday.

The return of Captain Bob Phildius to end in the last game showed the Lavender wings considerably stronger than before. The entire line showed unexpected defensive strength against Ursinus. Coach Parker will bend his efforts during the next four days to forming a more powerful attack. Practice today will consist of a stiff scrimmage. The regulars will be out in full strength and will be opposed by the Jayvee team which has been equipped with a set of Fordham plays to use against the varsity.

TRIUMPHANT TIGERS REST AT PRINCETON

ROPER FEARS STALENESS

Coaches Feel Their Task Is to Keep Team at Present Peak—Warn Against Overconfidence.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10.—The men who started against Harvard on Saturday and those who bore the brunt of the Tiger attack were excused from practice today by Bill Roper, although they are in fine condition. The Princeton coaches feel that their problem is to keep the men at the top of their game, rather than to try and work up much in the way of new power for Yale. If the team goes into the battle with the Blue with the same speed and amazing energy which it displayed against Harvard it is felt that the present offensive equipment will do. The Tigers were too evidently at the very peak of their game last Saturday for the coaches to risk letting them go stale.

Coach Roper took great pains to impress on the men the danger of overconfidence and to make it understood that Yale will prove a very different proposition from Harvard. He and the others who guide the eleven expect that Yale will present a running attack, supplemented by an overhead game of the same type as that which played havoc with Princeton last year, and they are anxious to build up special defenses. The breaks of the game and the fact that the Tigers held the ball almost constantly throughout Saturday's battle enabled the Tigers to get away without a serious test of their defense, but earlier in the Fall the backs showed signs of weakness against clever forward passing, and the fault must be remedied before Saturday.

Substitutes Line Up.

The substitutes who were put in late in the game to give them experience were all on hand, along with Ed McMillan, the regular centre, who decided he preferred the extra day's work to a layoff, and Roper lined up a team with Shackleford and Darby ends; Baldwin and Rosengarten, tackles; Davis and Crago, guards; McMillan, centre, and Henderson, Hull, Prendergast and Ewing, backs.

With a scrub line reinforced by Bully Dickenson and Al Wittmer of the coaching staff trying to block the kicks, Ewing tried some drop kicks from the 35-yard line with consistent success. The only flaw in the Tigers' play on Saturday was a blocked drop kick and Roper is taking no chances on a repetition against Yale.

Captain Stout, Red Howard and Bob Beattie wandered down to the field but did not stay long. Howard put on a suit and ran around the field a few times, while the others merely watched the scrubs run through Yale plays.

Keene Fitzpatrick was highly pleased with the way the men came through the game and declared that never in his thirty years' experience had he seen a football squad come through a big game with less wear and tear than the Orange and Black warriors suffered Saturday.

Coaches Plan Defense.

Roper and his assistants sent the subs in early, after a short position drill for the individuals and work picking up loose balls and catching punts, but the entire coaching staff devoted itself to the scrubs until long after sunset. They were carefully drilled in the plays which Yale has shown in her early battles, while Roper and Wittmer, who is the directing genius of the secondary defense at Princeton, talked over the proper assignments to be given the defensive backfield against the Blue.

While Roper refused to be specific as to the line-up which will start for Princeton in Palmer Stadium next Saturday, he said that the line probably would remain unchanged, with Captain Stout and Drews, ends; Beattie and Gates, tackles; Hills and Howard, guards, and McMillan, centre.

For the first time in his football career Bruno Hills lived up to the full extent of his possibilities on Saturday, with the result that he turned in one of the finest exhibitions of guard play a Princeton lineman has shown in years. Ted Williams probably will start at quarter, with Caldwell, Dignan and Siegle in the backfield, but Dinsmore, Gilligan, Gibson and Weeks are all sure to get in the fray.

TWO PLAYERS RETURN TO THE NAVY LINE-UP

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 10.—The Naval Academy eleven was much cheered this afternoon by the return to the field of Wickhorst, powerful left tackle, and Forsberg, who began the season as a regular backfield man. Both have been out of the game for some time on account of injuries. They ran through signals this afternoon, and indicated that they would soon be in shape for regular work.

Captain Taylor, who was hurt slightly in Saturday's game, and Welling, fullback, who has been out of the game for ten days, are promised for the middle of the week. The players restricted for scholastic reasons devoted themselves to their books this afternoon. There is every reason to believe that they will overcome their handicap and be ready for the final game.

LAIRD PILOTS PENN TEAM.

Returns to Quarterback Position in Drill—Craig Again Hurt.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—When the Penn eleven started active work for the Penn State battle today, Joe Laird was at quarterback and it is evident the coaches hope to start him in the game Saturday. Laird's collarbone, which was injured in the Lafayette game, still gives him trouble, but he went through the work today without trouble.

With Laird in the Red and Blue backfield today were Leth, Fields and Captain McGraw. The latter appeared on the field with a badly bruised face as a result of his hard playing in the Georgetown game. Fields's injured left arm has improved somewhat and he will be ready for a strenuous week.

It was learned today that Clark Craig, left end, had his nose broken for the second time this season in the Georgetown game Saturday. Thayer took his place in the scrimmage today.

WILLIAMS MAY LOSE STAR.

Injured Leg May Keep Clement Out of Amherst Game Saturday.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Nov. 10.—There is considerable doubt as to whether Clement, the Williams star back and triple threat man, will play against Amherst in the final game of the season Saturday. His injured leg, which kept him out of the Wesleyan game, is bothering him considerably, and unless it improves a lot this week he will be on the side lines again next Saturday. There is little chance that Pease, the Purple's other cripple, will be able to return to his old guard position for the Amherst game. Williams held a light practice today.

YALE TO BE LIMITED TO ONE SCRIMMAGE

SEEKS PERFECT CONDITION

Belief Grows That This May Decide Issue—Bingham May Not Face the Tigers.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.—Instead of ordering scrimmage today, Head Coach Tad Jones rested the first, second and third string varsity players, thus completely shifting plans for the week of the Princeton game. Scrimmage will be limited to a short session tomorrow.

One player, Shep Bingham, who has won a varsity berth, may not be able to face the Tigers. It was learned today that during the week of his absence from practice he has developed water on the knee and has been at the college infirmary. With Dan Lindley and Larry Noble, who were injured in Saturday's game against Maryland, he watched this afternoon's signal rehearsal in street clothes from the sidelines. If he is able to line up on Saturday it will be for only a short period and without any preparation this week. Lindley received a muscle bruise and limped slightly today, but fully expects to be able to jump into the game at Princeton as an emergency halfback for his specialty performance of end running.

Noble's shoulder was so badly injured that he is out of football for this season. He was a promising third-string halfback.

In today's signal rehearsal the line-up was as follows: Ends, Luman and Hart; tackles, Joss and Butterworth; guards, Sturhahn and Root; centre, Lovejoy; quarterback, Bunnell; halfbacks, Cottle and Pond; fullback, Allen.

Except that Bingham is hoped for at left end, this was said tonight to be the likely line-up against the Tigers.

The second-string combination, all of which are practically certain to be sent against Princeton, was reorganized as follows today: Ends, Potts and Osborne; tackles, Richards and Benton; guards, Eckart and Wortham; centre, Burt; quarterback, Bench; halfbacks, Failing and Kline; fullback, Scott.

Another pair of backs who are being groomed for the Princeton game as specialty performers are Jerry Wadsworth, son of the New York Senator, and Ben Cutler.

Today the coaches paid close attention to two promising novices who have been recently switched from the scrubs, Burt Benton and Charles Dana McCoy. Benton comes from South Norwalk, was prepared at Roxbury School and weighs 173 pounds. He was used at tackle against Maryland. McCoy hails from Roswell, N. M., and has starred in the backfield with the scrubs. He weighs 180 pounds and prepared for Yale at the Hotchkiss School.

The conviction is growing at Yale that condition will play a leading part in deciding the event at Princeton and, in consequence, the scrimmaging this week has been limited to one day and deferred until tomorrow. The freshmen, who closed their season against Harvard 1928 on Saturday, have contributed a star line-up to the scrubs for tomorrow's scrimmage against the varsity.

Slight odds were given tonight by Princeton supporters on the outcome of the game next Saturday. Yale followers covered all the money which was offered at 10 to 9, but fought shy of the tenders at even terms.

LEHIGH REGULARS OUT.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 10.—The first Monday holiday in weeks was granted the Lehigh University football team by Coach Baldwin today. There was no practice for the varsity and Baldwin intimated that few of the regulars would be used in the practice this week in preparation for Villanova on Saturday. What practice does take place for the varsity will look toward the Lafayette game two weeks hence.

The hospital list was increased by the addition of Cannon, the speedy end. Several weeks ago he bruised his leg and as a precaution against aggravating the injury Coach Baldwin excused him from all scrimmage. He left with the team for Worcester and was counted on to start the game. Upon the trip the wound became infected, and instead he was taken to a hospital where an operation was performed. He returned with the team and immediately was taken into a local hospital. Although he will be confined for several days no serious results are anticipated.

YALE'S JUNIOR CREW WINS.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.—Yale's annual Fall class regatta was started this afternoon on the Quinnipiac River, when three races over the Henley distance were rowed. Twenty-one crews were entered under the scrutiny of Ed Leader, George Murphy and Don Grant.

The first race between the junior A crew and the senior A crew was won by the juniors by five lengths in 6:54 3-5. In the second race, between the freshman A crew and the sophomore B crew, the rudder on the sophomore boat broke. The freshmen paddled home easily winners. No time was taken.

The third race, between the sophomore A crew and the freshman B crew, was won by the former in 6:43 by 5 yards.

PRINCETON CREW IS NAMED.

Orange Eight Will Oppose Penn in Race on Friday.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 10.—Director of Rowing Spaeth announced today that the Orange crew will represent Princeton in the informal race with Penn Friday as a result of its showing in several trial skirmishes with the Black eight. The race will be the first intercollegiate crew race ever held at Princeton in the Fall and is not looked upon as a final determination of the merits of the crews but as a friendly brush to give the oarsmen something to look forward to at the end of the Fall grind.

The varsity crew as chosen is made up largely of last year's crack freshman eight, with Captain Dyer at Bow, Clark, No. 2; Williams, No. 3; Magee, No. 4; Ballard, No. 5; Van Gytenbeek, No. 6; Goodman, No. 7; Aitken, stroke, and Pirie, cox.

Gardini to Wrestle Johanson.

The third professional wrestling show under the auspices of the Campania A. C. at the Fourteenth Street Theatre tomorrow night will be featured by a clash between Renato Gardini, Italian heavyweight, and Einer Johansen, Princeton wrestling coach. Frank Judson, Harvard coach, is scheduled to tackle Charles Lopainen, Greek wrestler, and John Kilonis will grapple with Cy Rees.

Miller to Box McAdam Here.

Ray Miller, Chicago featherweight, will make his local ring début Saturday night at the Ridgewood Grove S. C., Brooklyn, where he is scheduled to battle Mick McAdam, Scotch boxer, in the main bout of nine rounds.

Paris Paper Thinks Baseball Too Mathematically Precise

PARIS, Nov. 10.—One thousand Americans, fifty Japanese and 100 Frenchmen is L'Auto's analysis of the small crowd which attended the game between the New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox in the Colombes Stadium yesterday. The writer regrets that somebody was not placed near the umpire to give a brief explanation of the game in French before the beginning, as it is "frightful to think that the Giants have been brought such a distance and yet the unitiated left with the impression of having grasped nothing of the game." The other Parisian sporting daily, Echo des Sports, comes to the conclusion that "It is the mathematical precision produced by the remarkable virtuosity of professionals that gives the game its monotonous aspect."

DARTMOUTH FACES STRENUOUS WEEK

Coach Hawley Far From Satisfied His Eleven Is Ready for Cornell Game.

Special to The New York Times.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 10.—There seems to be no doubt that Jesse Hawley is extremely dubious over Dartmouth's chances against the Cornell eleven at the Polo Grounds on Saturday. The reports from the men who saw the big Red team perform against Columbia and Susquehanna prompted Hawley's last-minute decision to start the regulars against Boston Saturday, the coach said, to show that they were unduly overconfident. And the first half, when they could score only one touchdown, made him feel justified in that opinion.

Hawley eliminated the usual Monday respite and sent the squad through the longest signal drill of the year. Darkness did not slow up the practice, as several white balls had been provided. Long after dark the first three teams were drilled in their old formations and in a few new plays. The scrubs, in the meantime, were on the freshman field, practicing the Cornell formations which will be used in the defensive drills later in the week.

The regulars today were not the sprightly team that they were against Yale, Harvard and Brown. These hard battles, combined with playing on a cold day on hard ground against Boston University, appeared today to have slowed them up. The only encouraging sign was Nate Parker's return to uniform. Although he still limps, his wrenched knee was sufficiently on the mend to allow the line star to run through signals for a short time.

Art Smith and Dutch Diehl are still nursing the leg injuries suffered in the Brown game. Despite the rest that they had last week, the men are not in the condition they will have to be in to beat Cornell, it is thought here.

CORNELL PRACTICES UNDER ARC LIGHT

Dobie Starts Heavy Program Before Dartmouth Game With Long Session.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The Cornell team swung into full stride in its preparation today for the Dartmouth game, the Red varsity squad working under the electric lights for two hours. Dobie did not send his charges into scrimmage, but announced that a busy week's program had been planned to round out the team's offensive.

All of the regulars were in uniform and took part in the rehearsal of new plays, but it is doubtful if in the scrimmage planned for tomorrow Dobie will take a chance on Patterson, left half; Morris, left guard, and Affeld, centre, who have been troubled with minor injuries. He hopes to bring the team into its best physical condition of the year by Saturday.

The backs rehearsed in close formation at great length the off-tackle sweep and several other plays Dobie has found adaptable to the type of backs he has developed this year. Molinet, Whetstone and Isley figured prominently in this work. Carey was at right guard and Evans at right tackle, and there is no doubt that the youngsters will be given the preference when the final line-up for the Dartmouth game is announced.

W. AND J. REGULARS MISSING

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 10.—Numerous regulars were missing when the Washington and Jefferson gridiron squad assembled this afternoon for practice leading up to the annual clash with Pitt on Forbes Field next Saturday afternoon. Absentees were Wild and Edwards, ends; Ride, lineman, and Niehaus, back. All were injured in the game Saturday with Waynesburg, and they are under the care of the team physician.

Ride, whose play against Lafayette, Detroit and Waynesburg stamped him as a regular, was so severely injured that it is extremely doubtful whether he will be fit for the Pitt struggle. There is also doubt as to whether the other injured players will recover in time to play against Pitt.

MALONE IS TWICE FOULED.

Is Unable to Continue After Second Offense by Schlaifer.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 10.—Morrie Schlaifer of Omaha fouled Jock Malone, middleweight, of St. Paul twice in the third round of their scheduled ten-round fight here tonight. After Malone had knocked him to the floor with a straight righthand punch, virtually out from the punch that sprawled him momentarily on the floor, Schlaifer arose to weather a storm of rights and lefts, and then swung a blow that was palpably low.

Malone, however, refused to accept the fight, waved the referee aside and plunged to the attack. A hail of rights and lefts had Schlaifer on the ropes when he again fouled Malone, this time so seriously that the St. Paul fighter was unable to continue.

While Malone writhed on the floor, a crowd of angry fans surrounded the ring, but dispersed peaceably when Malone arose in a few minutes. Previous to the fouls, the fight was all Malone's.

FLOWERS A DOUBLE VICTOR.

Stops Two Opponents Inside of Four Rounds in Philadelphia.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10. — Tiger Flowers of Atlanta, Ga., the colored middleweight, stopped two opponents at the Arena tonight in less than four rounds of fighting. In his first engagement, Jerry Hayes, Philadelphia colored middleweight, was the rival for the Southern fighter and he lasted less than two rounds with Flowers.

Next came Hughy Clements, a light-heavyweight from Gloucester, and this fighter was finished in the first thirty seconds of the second round.

VICENTINI STOPS VOGEL IN THE 9TH

South American's Hard Punches Also Have Opponent Groggy in the Fifth.

Luis Vicentini, Chilean lightweight, knocked out Sammy Vogel of Harlem in the ninth round of a scheduled twelve-round bout at the Lenox Sports Club last night. A left hook to the jaw sent Vogel down for the count in his own corner two minutes and ten seconds after the round had begun. Three thousand fans, one of the largest crowds ever to attend a boxing show at the Lenox, paid $4,707 to see the bout.

Up to the time of the knockout Vicentini was winning easily. Vogel outboxed him at times but Vicentini's hard rights and lefts wore him down and he was groggy in several of the rounds. Vogel did his best work in the third session, when he outboxed his opponent. In the fourth he held Vincentini even until near the end of the round, when the Chilean crossed a right to the jaw and almost floored the Harlem boxer.

Vogel fell into a clinch and as the referee separated them Vicentini's legs crossed and he fell to the floor. The referee brushed the resin from his glove when he got up and Vogel profited by the delay. He was groggy when the bell sounded the end of the round.

In the fifth round Vicentini went after his man and soon had him groggy with rights and lefts to the jaw. Vogel, however, stood up under the punishment. In the seventh the Harlem lightweight came back and outboxed Vicentini. The Chilian gave him a terrible beating in the eighth and after battering him all around the ring in the ninth backed Vogel into his own corner and put over the knockout punch. Both men weighed 136 pounds.

In the semi-final of eight rounds Marty Silvers got the decision over Harry London, who was staging a comeback, and in a six-round preliminary Dominick Petrone defeated Harry Herron.

AMATEUR BOXERS TO LEAVE.

Ascension Parish House Boys to Compete in Montreal.

Tom Clarke, one of the boxing instructors at the Ascension Parish House, and four of the club's amateur boxers, will leave this city Sunday night for Montreal, Canada, where the local boys are scheduled to compete on Nov. 17 in a series of bouts against Canadian amateurs.

The members of the team, which will represent the Metropolitan A. A. U., are: Harry Traub, 112 pounds; Tom Curley, 118 pounds; Al Irving, 123 pounds and Al Del Galdo, 135 pounds. Their selection was made by Chairman Jacob W. Stumpf of the Metropolitan A. A. U. boxing committee, and Benny Levine, local official, following receipt of an invitation from L'Association Dramatique Ste. Brigide to send four local lads to Montreal for an intercity tournament.

TERRIS RULES FAVORITE.

Friends of East Side Boxer Backing Him to Knock Out Coogan.

The speed and accurate hitting of Sid Terris are expected to bring victory to the east side youngster over Mel Coogan of Brooklyn when the rival lightweights clash Thursday night in the main bout of twelve rounds at the Rink Sporting Club, Brooklyn. Admirers of Terris are supporting their favorite to score a knockout over Coogan. The ten-round semi-final will bring together Irish Paddy Flynn and Joe Scogni, rival Brooklyn boxers. Charlie Feraci, stable-mate of Terris, will tackle Larry Roach of Newark in a six-round match.

FIRPO AND WEINERT READY.

Boxers End Training Today for Bout Tomorrow Night.

Luis Angel Firpo and Charlie Weinert plan today to wind up their training for the twelve-round bout in which they will be rivals at the 113th Infantry Regiment Armory, Newark, under the auspices of the National Sportsmen's Club tomorrow night.

McTIGUE TO BOX FLOWERS.

Champion Signs for Ten-Round, No-Decision Bout in Toledo.

Mike McTigue, world's light-heavyweight champion, and Tiger Flowers, Atlanta negro boxer, will clash in a ten-round no-decision bout at Ray Bronson's club in Toledo, during the first week in January, according to an announcement yesterday by Charlie Rose, associated with the management of McTigue.

K. O. KAPLAN IS RECOVERING.

Boxer, Ill With the Grippe, Is Reported Out of Danger.

K. O. Phil Kaplan, local welterweight boxer, who is ill at his home in the Bronx, yesterday was reported in an improved condition and on the road to recovery. Dr. J. A. Lundy described Kaplan's illness as resulting from complications after an attack of the grip which forced the fighter to his bed several weeks ago.

BARLEYCORN TAKES ELKRIDGE 'CHASE

MAIBEN ON TWO WINNERS

Special to The New York Times.

PIMLICO, Md., Nov. 10.—The Elkridge Steeplechase, the stake feature of the Maryland Jockey Club's card this afternoon, was another victory for Joseph E. Widener, whose Barleycorn finished first in a field of five. The son of Light Brigade and Five Aces was the 12-to-5 favorite and earned $2,310 for his owner. D. Byers had the mount and the winner carried 137 pounds, running the distance in 3:52 4-5.

Johnny Maiben carried off the jockey honors with two victories. He won the third with Senalado and followed it by bringing Abu Ben Ahdem home in front in the fourth. Two favorites rewarded their followers.

The first half of the Elkridge, which was restricted to the three-year-olds, was slowly run. L. E. Kniffer's Gwen Tudor was allowed to make the pace in the early part of the race, Byers holding Barleycorn under steady restraint during the first part of the race. Around the clubhouse turn on the last circuit of the field Barleycorn outfooted the others and from that point on held them safely, winning by three lengths from Gwen Tudor, which weakened at the end. J. E. Davis's Relentless was buffeted about somewhat, but held on gamely to nose out H. S. Brown's San Dimas for the short end of the money.

Senalado, R. T. Wilson Jr.'s chestnut son of Spanish Prince II and Day's Over, captured the Juvenile Handicap, a six-furlong dash for the two-year-olds, beating six others. The entry of Senalado and Faddist was the favorite, paying $6.30 for a $2 ticket. Senalado was well under 111 pounds and ran the distance in 1:12 2-5.

Abu Ben Ahdem had the speed today to beat H. P. Whitney's Miss Whisk by a head in the race for the Glyndon Purse, a six-furlong dash restricted to the three-year-olds. Miss Whisk was the strong favorite, but the colt gave her seven pounds and a beating. Senator Norris and Bonnie Omar, being among the others finishing behind him. Abu Ben Ahdem carried 107 pounds and ran in 1:12.

Seven went to the post for the Monumental Handicap, a gallop of a mile and a sixteenth for three-year-olds and upward, with the Glen Riddle Farm's four-year-old colt Ten Minutes, the 3 to 1 favorite. He was beaten a head in a great finish by Commander J. K. L. Ross's Golden Rule. Ten Minutes just nosed out H. G. Bedwell's Prince Hamlet for the place.

A blanket finish brought the spectators to their feet at the end of the claiming event over the course of a mile and a furlong. Black Shasta, the rank outsider of the eight which went to the post, came home a neck in front of Bounce, which had only a head advantage of Flax.

Lombardo Sets a New Record In Horse Race in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 10.—By winning his sixth successive race yesterday and breaking the Argentine record for 3,000 metres in three minutes, seven and three-fifths seconds, the three-year-old, Lombardo, is being hailed today by racing critics here as one of the world's fastest horses. Thus far Lombardo has won 185,000 pesos for his owner, Pedro Gandalfo De La Serna. The champion three-year-old was sired here by the English race horse, St. Wolf. He began his career this year and won easily every race he entered.

SQUASH MATCH WON BY HEIGHTS CASINO

STANDING OF THE TEAMS.

	W.	L.		W.	L.
Yale	3	0	Montclair	1	2
Columbia	2	0	Gramercy	1	2
Princeton	2	0	Short Hills	1	2
Crescent	2	0	Whitehall	0	2
Harvard	2	1	Fraternity	0	3
Casino	1	2	N. Y. A. C.	0	3

The Heights Casino of Brooklyn won its first match at squash tennis in two seasons yesterday when it defeated the Montclair A. C. on the Casino courts in Brooklyn in the third series of matches in the metropolitan Class C interclub championship. Last year the Casino played in Class B and did not win a match. In its first two starts in Class C this season it was defeated, but yesterday the Brooklyn players brought their continuous succession of setbacks to an end with a 5 to 2 victory over the Jersey team.

Yale, Columbia, Princeton and the Crescent A. C. each won its third successive match of the season yesterday and are tied for the leadership of the league. Harvard, which had been successful in its first two starts, lost to the Short Hills Club on the Crimson courts, 5 to 2. Princeton defeated the Fraternity Clubs, 6 to 1. Yale won a close match from the Gramercy Park Squash Club, 4 to 3, and Columbia prevailed against the Whitehall Club on the latter's courts, 5 to 1. The seventh match was postponed until tomorrow, when John D. Rockefeller Jr., No. 5 on the home team, will play Ed. V. Miller. The Crescents were at home to the New York A. C. and won at 5 to 2. MIXSELL EXTENDED TO BEAT LOUGHMAN

GUERNSEY HARD PRESSED

Has Stiff Battle Before Conquering Muller—Whitlock and Rand Triumph.

Frank M. Loughman of the New York Athletic Club came close to gaining one of the outstanding victories of the squash tennis season thus far yesterday when he had Dr. H. R. Mixsell of the Princeton Club match-point in the opening round of the national Fall scratch tournament which got under way at the Yale Club. Mixsell, who returned to competition this year after an absence from the courts last season, has ranked among the first ten for a period of years and is the leading player of the Princeton Club, playing at No. 1 on the Class A team.

Loughman is ranked in Class B, playing No. 1 on the New York A. C. team in that division. After losing the first game by the narrowest margin, Loughman captured the second and held a lead of 14—12 in the deciding game, one stroke short of victory. Mixsell, however, fought off defeat and captured the match at 17—15, 11—15, 17—14.

Fifty-two players compose the tournament entry, six of them ranking within the first ten. In addition to Dr. Mixsell there appear on the list two former national champions, R. Earl Fink of the Crescent A. C. and Auguste J. Cordier of the Yale Club; Charles M. Bull of the Crescents, Otis L. Guernsey of the Yale Club and F. S. Whitlock and William Rand Jr. of the Harvard Club. Thomas R. Coward of the Yale Club, former national champion, who was the winner of this tournament last year, is not defending his title, having been called out of town.

Guernsey, like Dr. Mixsell, also had a stiff battle on his hand for his first match and was carried to three games by Edwin Muller of the Harvard Club before winning at 15—6, 11—15, 15—7. Whitlock was forced to show some of his best squash tennis to dispose of Norman F. Torrance of the Crescents, winning at 18—17, 15—10. Rand had an easy time in advancing at the expense of H. M. Turner of Yale at 15—8, 15—4, while Bull gained his second round bracket through a default.

Fink Will Play Today.

Fink and Cordier drew byes in the first round and are scheduled to make their first appearance in the tourney this afternoon, the former meeting L. H. Sonneborn of Yale and the latter taking on W. Murray Lee of the Columbia University Club, runner-up last season for the Class B championship.

Among the other players to advance from the first round were Charles J. MacGuire of Yale, Morris Phinney of Harvard, Arthur Goldburg and L. Bradford of Yale. MacGuire defeated R. L. Farrelly of Princeton, the Class B champion, 15—3, 15—10. Phinney was carried to three games by J. C. Rochester, a newcomer from the Fraternity Clubs, who put up a game of much merit. The score was 15—10, 12—15, 15—7. Goldburg put out Joseph Walker Jr., a club-mate, at 15—11, 15—8, and Bradford eliminated M. M. Sterling of the New York A. C. at 15—12, 15—9. John G. Neely of Princeton, C. M. Dingee of the Fraternity Clubs, R. B. Haines of Columbia and William Adams Jr. of Yale advanced by default.

A terrific smash, shoulder high, that traversed the side wall with the speed of Coward's cannonball drives, was the weapon with which Loughman came so near to defeating Mixsell. So much pace did the New York A. C. star have on the ball that again and again his opponent was unable to get his racquet on the ball, or if he did touch it, it was only to send it into the telltale or to knock it out of court. The ball not only had a high trajectory but bounced so far off the ground that it was almost impossible for Mixsell to time his shots properly and meet the ball squarely.

Loughman gained a lead in the first game and apparently had it in hand when his opponent, changing from a smashing game to one of mixed pace and bringing all his craft born of years of experience to bear, pulled up on even terms with Loughman and set the game at 14-all. He then took three out of the four next points and won the game. In the second chapter Loughman's drives were going at their best along the side walls, through the centre of the court and diagonally across. It mattered not where he directed the ball, it was the speed with which it traveled that bewildered his opponent, and the game went to Loughman by a margin of four points.

Loughman Gets Six in Row.

Mixsell started off strong in the deciding game, bringing all his resources to bear, mixing up his pace and playing the corners with great skill. He gained a lead of 11-7 and apparently was out of trouble. But Loughman was far from through. The New York A. C. representative proceeded to run six points in a single hand, earning every one of them on his cannonading shots.

Mixsell was in the hole now, with defeat staring him in the face and he played with great caution. He won the next point and then Loughman, after retiring him, took the following one, making the score 14-12 in Loughman's favor. In the next rally Mixsell brought off a pretty round-the-corner shot, throwing his opponent off with a change of pace and got the hand-in.

The Princeton star's service came to his aid in this critical juncture and he took two points in a row on service, delivering the ball so close to the side-wall that Loughman was able only to scrape his racquet along the wall. The score was now squared at 14-all and the game-set three points. Mixsell was retired and during the next two hands he held his opponent scoreless while he got three points himself, winning the game at 17-14 and the match.

The summaries:

Yale Soccer Team Eats Sugar To Increase Energy, but Loses

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 10.—Though fed sugar in an attempt to increase their physical energy during the game with Pennsylvania here Saturday, Yale's soccer team failed to respond sufficiently to defeat the visitors, who won by a score of 5 goals to 1. The "sweetening" of the Eli soccer men was part of experiments being carried on at Yale to determine the efficacy of supplying sugar to offset its depletion in the blood during violent exertion. The experiments are being conducted by Professor Yandell Henderson of the Department of Applied Physiology and the Yale Department of Health, according to The Yale News, which announces the result of Saturday's test as "noticeable but not convincing," in view of the defeat of the Yale team

HARRIS IS PLEASED WITH HIS CONTRACT

Washington Manager Denies Trouble With Griffith Over Salary for 1925.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Reports that Stanley Harris, 1924 "miracle man" of baseball, was at loggerheads with President Griffith were denied today by the youthful manager himself, who said he signed a 1925 contract three weeks ago and was "delighted" with the terms it carried.

The new contract supersedes one made prior to the 1924 season, when Harris took the helm of the Washington club, which was to have run through the forthcoming season. The fact that Harris brought across a pennant winner, however, naturally changed the complexion of the 1925 salary clause.

Rumors emanating from cities with American League franchises that the young manager had encountered difficulties with Griffith on the salary question were termed "bedtime" stories by Harris. He would not disclose the terms of the new contract but remarked, "You can rest assured that I did not sign for less."

Orioles May Tour With Athletics.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10.—Jack Dunn, manager-owner of the Baltimore International League Baseball Club, said today that if suitable arrangements could be made, the Orioles and the Philadelphia Americans would train close together in Florida next Spring and that the two teams would play a series of games there and on the way North.

Bush to Lead Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 10. — Ownie Bush has accepted terms to manage the Indianapolis club of the American Association again next year, it was announced by William G. Smith, owner of the club. Bush piloted the team to second place in the association last season.

CLOTHES IN THE NEW YORK MANNER

Just received—
New *Chevilands

THE supply of Cheviland suits with which we started the season was large—but not large enough.

This beautiful fabric—our own exclusive blend of cheviot and shetland wools—captured the fancy of so many men that we had to fill up the ranks with a large group of new suits. And here they are.

New colors. New patterns. The suit illustrated is a new peaked-lapel model, in a soft grey, with a delicate over-plaid, so faint that it is felt rather than seen. There are other rich mixtures of grey and brown, with interveinings of green and blue, as well as the gamefeather tones which reproduce so handsomely in Chevilands.

HERRESHOFF PLANT TO CONTINUE WORK

OLD POLICY IS ALTERED

Radical Departure Made in Decision of Firm to Accept Work of Outside Designers.

Contrary to reports circulated several months ago that the famous Herreshoff yacht-building plant at Bristol, R. I., had been sold and would go out of business, information was received by yachtsmen here yesterday that the company had been reorganized and would continue to build yachts as heretofore. It is true that part of the plant, the shop in which steam boilers were made during the war, has been sold, but all the shops in which yachts were built, including the famous cup defenders, remain as they were in the reorganized concern.

Information was received that the Herreshoff shops, or the Herreshoff Manufacturing Company, its official title, will be fully prepared to build yachts of its own design or those planned by other designers. The plant will also do the usual repair work and the hauling out and storing of yachts. Nathaniel G. Herreshoff, known as "Old Nat," who has drawn the plans of many noted defenders of the America's Cup, will remain as supervising designer and will be assisted by his son, Sidney Herreshoff.

Old Stockholders Interested.

R. F. Haffenreffer, a capitalist of Providence, R. I., is a large stockholder in the new corporation, and a number of the old Herreshoff stockholders are interested in the rejuvenated concern. Captain Brightman, for many years superintendent of the yacht-building yards, will continue in this capacity.

One change in the policy of the reorganized Herreshoffs will be that the work of outside designers will be taken in. This was done in only one case on record in the past years of the old firm's existence, which began in the late '50s. It was the invariable policy of the company to design and build all the yachts for which it received orders. The one unusual instance was in the case of a yacht designed by John G. Alden, the noted Boston naval architect, a few years ago.

Work on this vessel was started, according to the story, during the absence of Nat Herreshoff, who on his return to the plant ordered his shipwrights not to build the yacht. It took vast efforts by Mr. Alden, along with a meeting of stockholders, to convince Old Nat that the work should be completed. This was the only time the "all Herreshoff" plan was departed from. It is believed that the new policy of the "open shop" for all designers will result in much more work for the famous firm.

Cup Defender Designed.

Following the civil war the little yacht building plant at old Bristol, on the westerly shore of Narragansett Bay, 12 miles above Newport, boasted of but one small shop on the southern edge of the town. Great days in yachting followed, but it was almost thirty years later that Vigilant, the first cup defender designed at the plant, came out. She proved a wonderful yacht, and the wizards of Bristol then followed Vigilant with Defender, Columbia, Reliance and Resolute. The last named yacht, which defended the cup in 1920 against Shamrock IV., is still laid up at the old Bristol works and said to be still in seaworthy shape.

Besides the cup yachts the Herreshoff plant turned out many other individual boats and classes of racing yachts which achieved fame in competition. This plant was the builder of the speedy New York Yacht Club 50-footers, now the fastest class racing on Long Island Sound. The New York Yacht Club 30-footers, which recently celebrated their twentieth racing season, also were the product of Herreshoff's.

Although the reorganization plans have just been completed, it is understood that orders have been received at Bristol for several Bar Harbor 31-footers for use next season at the Maine resort. Yacht racing had a notable revival at Bar Harbor and that vicinity during the past season.

With Sir Thomas Lipton seriously considering a challenge for a race in 1926, it is now within the range of possibilities that the Herreshoff plant will turn out still another cup defender.

Besides sailing craft, the firm will continue to build power-driven vessels, as in the past.

22 OUT FOR N. Y. U. FIVE.

Seven Veterans Respond to Call for Basketball Candidates.

Head Coach Howard Cann sent out the call for all candidates for the N. Y. U. basketball team yesterday afternoon. Twenty-two men reported at the University Heights Gymnasium and were put through the usual preliminary drill which always precedes the more strenuous training. Of the number that reported seven were members of last year's squad of twelve men.

FORDHAM HAS COURT DRILL.

Squad of 35 Basketball Candidates Reports for First Workout.

The Fordham University basketball team began practice for the coming season yesterday and thirty-five candidates reported to Coach Kelleher for the initial workout. Former Captain Cavanagh and White, speedy forwards of last year's team, were among the squad.

BILLIARD RESULTS.

Joseph Concannon of Brooklyn and Charles Seaback of Boston broke even in the first two matches of their series of six in the National Championship Pocket Billiard League at the Recreation Academy in Brooklyn yesterday. Seaback won the afternoon game, 100 to 69, in thirty-eight innings, leading all the way. His high run was 28, four better than Concannon's. The Brooklyn representative was the winner at 100 to 40 in the evening, going out in the thirty-seventh inning. The play was even until the thirty-fourth inning, when Concannon made a run of 41, deciding matters. Seaback's high run was 15.

O. Laurio defeated James Maturo in the opening game of the New York State professional pocket billiard championship at Lawler Brothers' Academy in Brooklyn last night, 100 to 86. Maturo was off stroke and was unable to get the balls running right, even when he had them grouped well. Laurie took the lead at the end of the eighth inning and held it almost continuously until he went out in the thirty-fifth inning. His high run was 13, while Maturo's was 10.

In the Brooklyn straight-rail championship at Lawler Brothers' Brooklyn Academy last night Joseph Honsch, the defending champion, won his fifth successive victory by defeating C. P. Kortman, 125 to 87, in twenty-nine innings. He made a high run of 26, while Kortman's best run was 17.

Robert L. Cannefax, national three-cushion champion, ran 50 points in fifty-two innings in an exhibition match against Joe Fischer at Yank Adams's Academy in the Bronx last night. His high run was 6, Fischer's 3.

Tadao Suganuma, former holder of the junior 18.2 crown, made an unfinished run of 200 in the second inning of an exhibition match at Julian's Fourteenth Street Academy last night, defeating Louis Cohn, 200 to 0.

Sam Garfunkle defeated Rodney Geiston in the first game of the play-off of the three-handed tie resulting in the annual three-cushion tournament at Daly's Academy last night, 50 to 37, in forty-one innings. Geiston will meet George La Rue tonight.

Erich Hagenlacher defeated Philip Meise, 200 to 11, in five innings, at the Fourteenth Street Academy last night, making a high run of 196. In the amateur straight-rail tourney at the same academy Ed Gore defeated Frank Berg, 200 to 150, in eighty-one innings.

George La Rue and Leonard Kenney won two close games in the Greater New York three-cushion tourney at the Hoppe Academy last night, the former defeating Henry Preston, 35 to 34, in thirty-one innings, and Kenney outscoring over Manny Letzer, 50 to 49, in seventy-three innings.

Husbands Meet in Golf Final; Loser's Wife Beats Winner's

A unique situation prevails at the Hudson River Country Club, located at Greystone-on-Hudson, N. Y. When the men's amateur club championship was played the finals narrowed down to C. V. Benton and R. L. Oakley and when the last round was finished Benton was the winner by the margin of 3 up and 2 to play. Later on the women members of the club held their club championship tourney and the last two survivors were Mrs. R. L. Oakley and Mrs. C. V. Benton. This time, however, the proceedings were reversed, for Mrs. Oakley was the winner. The four trophies for winners and runners-up in the two events therefore repose in two homes.

CHICAGO PLAYERS LEAD IN CUE RACE

Maupome First and Kieckhefer Second in National Three-Cushion League.

Pierre Maupome of Chicago is the leader in the National Championship Three-Cushion League race and Augie Kieckhefer, another Chicago entrant, is second, but the fight for third place is a four-cornered one among Robert Cannefax of New York, the champion; Tiff Denton of Kansas City, last year's champion; Johnny Leyton of St. Louis and Gus Copulos of Detroit. Maupome has won all four games he has played and Kieckhefer is credited with three victories out of four games, but the third place deadlock finds the four players with the same record of eight games won and four lost.

The standing of the players, with the games won and lost, the high runs and best games, follow:

	W.	L.	H.R.	B.G.
Maupome, Chicago	4	0	7	47
Kieckhefer, Chicago	3	1	9	70
Cannefax, New York	3	4	8	38

HAGEN IN OPEN TOURNEY.

Farrell and Brady Also Entered for Princess Anne C. C. Event.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 10.—More than fifty prominent professional golfers already have entered for the Princess Anne Country Club's open golf tournament, which opens here Friday.

With other entries expected, the array of talent promises to rank high among recent events of the kind. The purses are the largest ever offered in this section.

The entrants already listed include Walter Hagen, American and British open champion; Joe Kirkwood of Australia; Emmett French of the Youngstown Country Club, runner-up in the national open tournament at French Lick Springs; Fred McLeod of Washington, Harry Hampton of the Detroit Country Club, John Farrell of New York and Mike, Brady of the Winged Foot Golf Club, Mamaroneck, N. Y.

GOLF CLUB PLANS FOR BANNER YEAR

Westchester Biltmore Appoints Officials to Serve for Coming Twelve Months.

The Westchester Biltmore Country Club at Rye, N. Y., which underwent considerable reorganization during the past season, already has set plans in motion for making 1925 a banner year. Officials have been appointed to serve until the last Saturday in October, 1925, when a general election will be held. There are twenty-three members on the Board of Governors, which is headed by John McEntee Bowman, who is likewise President of the club. The members of the committee for the coming year are: George S. Brown, William A. Carobell, Earle E. Carley, George F. Downs, Austin J. Feuchtwanger, Joseph F. Haggerty, J. W. Harriman, Oliver Harriman, William T. Hoops, H. Roy Jackson, Alfred Jaretzki, Edwin N. Knapp, E. P. McEnany, Eugene D. Miller, Charles A. Moore Jr., Percy Rockefeller, L. W. Spindler, George W. Sweeney, James H. Turner, J. Henry Walters and E. L. Wemple.

M. Roy Jackson is Vice President of the club and Eugene D. Miller Secretary and Treasurer.

Chairmen of the various committees follow: House Rules, Oliver Harriman; Beach Rules, Joseph F. Haggerty; Membership, E. P. McEnany; Initiation, William T. Hoops; Real Estate, George S. Brown; Roads, Edwin N. Knapp; Sports, E. L. Wemple; Swimming, Harry H. Good; Polo, John McEntee Bowman; Gun Club and Squash, Austin J. Feuchtwanger; Tennis and Social, William A. Campbell; General Entertainment, Joseph F. Haggerty; Smoker, William A. Gibson; Movies, Dr. A. G. Dwan; Green, L. G. Spindler; Golf Tournament, James H. Turner; Handicap, John B. Campbell.

Mrs. Harry Noonan is Chairman of the committee on ladies' golf, other members being Mrs. Harold H. Barnard, Mrs. Anthony Bassler, Mrs. S. W. Long, Mrs. Myra D. Paterson, Mrs. Nash Rockwood, Mrs. Oscar G. Seebass and Mrs. J. J. Sinnott.

According to the report the resident membership quota, fixed at 1,500, is now within 130 of completion.

Johnny Farrell and Bobby Cruickshank, Westchester and New Jersey professional stars, who are to be teammates at Tampa, Fla., during the Winter, have been selected to start the ball rolling against Duncan and Mitchell when the two British stars reach America for their third tour of the country. They will meet the Britons in their first match, which is to be played at Tampa, probably on the Palma Gela course, overlooking the Davis Islands, on Sunday, Dec. 7. This is the second match arranged for the two British stars, who will play Hagen and Sarazen a week later at St. Augustine. Immediately after the match, on Dec. 14, Duncan and Mitchell will leave for the Pacific Coast, where they are scheduled to play their first match on Dec. 20.

Levine and Spencer to Box.

A six-round bout between Hilly Levine, Coney Island bantamweight, and Willie Spencer of the east side will feature the boxing card at the Broadway Exhibition Association, Brooklyn, Monday night. In four other six-round encounters the principals will be Yale Okun vs Tom McKiernan, Billy Miller vs. Joey Abrams, Jackie Coburn vs. Henny Goldberg, and Moe Ginsberg vs. Joe Eppy.

Reds Not to Buy Coast Stars.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 10.—The Cincinnati Reds will not purchase any Pacific Coast League baseball stars, August Herrmann, President of the club, announced today following a conference between the directors and Manager Jack Hendricks.

"BRED IN OLD KENTUCKY"
20 FINISHED SADDLE HORSES
To Be Sold Thursday Evening, November 13, 1924
at DURLAND'S RIDING ACADEMY, 5 West 66th Street
Under the Management of The Durland Company.
by Messrs. SHELBY T. HARBISON & CO., Lexington, Ky.

An abbreviated description of Mr. Harbison's splendid Kentucky Saddle Horses.

WILL ROGERS: Brilliant horse; very fine action. Br. ge., 15.3½ hands. Magnificent show prospect; brilliant saddle horse when in action. Mild mannered, well schooled. Splendid horse for novice to start in show classes, very clever.

SHENANDOAH: Bay ge., 5 yrs., 16 hands. An extra fine young horse. Splendid prospect for ribbon winner. A real Denmark horse, with extreme quality.

ARTHUR TRAIN: Br. ge., 6 yrs., 15.2 hands. Beautifully colored and attractively marked horse, with a lot of white. A rare riding horse, up to weight and is clever as any horse gets to be. Splendid type.

PRINCE PEAVINE: 5-gaited saddle horse. Ch. ge., 5 yrs. About 15¾ hands. A remarkable saddle horse, with full mane and tail. Peavine bred, correct type from tip to tip. Up to carrying a big man and gentle enough for the job. Clever.

WAKENA: Registered Bay m., 6 yrs., 14.1 hands. Ladies' type. Model in conformation. Captivating horse. Has been shown and won; can win again.

PEPPY BETTY: Magnificent stock pony. Br. m., 5 yrs., 14.3 hands. Used as stock pony. Handy, clever, finely bred and prospect for something extra good. Months have been spent mannering and making these horses gentle to roads and city sights. We pronounce them ready for our customers' use. Several have been shown and are real good show prospects. We offer them as a choice lot of finished saddle horses. Every horse sold under full guarantee. Nothing like them will come to auction again this year. Catalogs, with full description, from

THE Mildness—The Character—The Blend of fine tobaccos—these have made El Producto's reputation as the one cigar for real enjoyment.

But, above all, the one thing that maintains El Producto's reputation is the fact that the cigar never varies.

In every shape and every size, you will find the same mild, yet distinctive blend. You found it yesterday and today—you will find it tomorrow. El Producto has never varied—and never will.

No wonder such an army of men swear by it!

AUTOMOBILE SALON A LUXURY DISPLAY

Leading Coach Builders Represented —Autos Sent From Four Nations of Europe.

More than seventy high-class motor cars, the majority of which reveal the latest tendencies in body designs by the leading coach builders in this country, were on display at the automobile salon which was opened yesterday in the Hotel Commodore ballroom. Most of the cars are closed models. The salon, organized twenty years ago to provide an annual exhibition of foreign cars, has become within recent years an exhibition more prominently identified with the progress of the coach-building industry.

Four foreign nations have exhibits. Italy is represented by the Isotta Fraschini and the Lancia; Belgium, by the Minerva and Excelsior; France, by the Renault and Voisin, and Germany, by the Mercedes. In the Mercedes exhibit is the first product of the combined Mercedes and Benz companies, recently merged. The car has a wheelbase of 148 inches and is equipped with a supercharger which has been freely used on racing cars, but seldom on stock passenger vehicles. The supercharger is said to go automatically into operation at a speed of seventy miles an hour and can provide a speed of 100 miles an hour, a rate considerably above the legal speed limit.

The new Cunningham car model is shown for the first time. This is one of the leading American eight-cylinder cars. Another model is a luxurious touring car finished in rich maroon. There are beautiful cars from the American Rolls-Royce factory, one being a smart gray roadster with red striping.

Among the American cars exhibited with custom-made bodies are the Cadillac, Lincoln, Locomobile, Marmon, Mercer, Packard, Pearless, Pierce-Arrow and Willis Sainte Claire. One of the Lincoln cars with a Le Baron body is a brougham model, the interior of which is designed in the Adam period, the design being taken from a sedan built by the Adam brothers for Queen Marie Antoinette.

Among the body builders represented are Fleetwood, Brunn, Judkins, Locke, Le Baron, Holbrook, Springfield and Rume. The Springfield bodies are two sedans on Peerless chassis, the five-passenger car being finished in brown, with a hairline black striping and a centre strip of gold.

The show will be open every afternoon and evening this week.

Hoover Heard in South Africa.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The speech of Secretary Hoover on Government ownership of railroads, broadcast from Washington on the night of Sept. 29, was picked up in Eastern Transvaal, South Africa, by a Mr. Smits, an amateur at Rendrina, according to a report today from Johannesburg to the Department of Commerce.

RHYME BY KEATS SOLD FOR $3,000 AT AUCTION

Rosenbach Company a Heavy Buyer at Sale Here of the Arnold Collection.

The most important book sale of the season so far began yesterday afternoon at the Anderson Galleries and will be concluded this evening. The collection is that of William Harris Arnold and contains rare manuscripts as well as autograph letters. The total for the first two sessions reached $60,016.

The Rosenbach Company, which was one of the heaviest buyers, paid $3,000, the highest price of the day, for an original autograph letter in rhyme by John Keats to his brother George. The same purchasers paid $1,850 for an original autograph manuscript of seven verses by Keats; $1,200 for a collection of 146 autograph letters by Nathaniel Hawthorne; $1,000 for a copy of the first edition of Samuel Johnson's "The Lives of the Most Eminent English Poets"; $1,000 for an autograph presentation copy of Charles Lamb's "Elia"; $1,950 for an autograph presentation copy of the first issue of the first edition of James Boswell's "The Life of Samuel Johnson," and $2,050 for the autograph manuscript of Robert Burns's poem, "Queen Mary's Lament."

Miss Edith Reynolds gave $1,450 for an autograph letter by Keats and the Book Row Book Shop paid $1,275 for another letter by the same poet. Two other letters by Keats were bought by the Rosenbach Company for $1,300 and $1,350 each. An autograph presentation copy of Dickens's "The Posthumous Papers of the Pickwick Club," was bought by Charles Seasler for $1,250. J. F. Drake gave $800 for the original autograph manuscript of a portion of Samuel L. Clemens's "A Tramp Abroad." Jerome D. Kern gave $700 for a dedication copy of Dickens's "The Posthumous Papers of the Pickwick Club." W. M. Hill gave $725 for a copy of the first issue of the first edition of Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter."

Man 42 Convicted 31 Times.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Matthew Levins of this city, who was arraigned in the County Court at Goshen today, is believed to have the worst criminal record in the State for the number of convictions at his age—42 years. He has been convicted thirty-one times and served time in the Elmira Reformatory. Today he pleaded guilty to assault and Judge Wiggins remanded him for disposition later. Doctors are to examine him.

RUSH TO BUY RUGS FOR SPRING SEASON

BETTER LINES IN DEMAND

Prices for Some Higher Than the Fall Quotations—Several Grades Unchanged.

Not since the boom days of the war has interest in the opening of a new wholesale season in floor coverings been greater than it was yesterday, when the leading lines of rugs, carpets and linoleums were priced for the Spring of 1925. Not only was this interest reflected by the large number of buyers, mostly jobbers in this city, but in the amount of business transacted. Much of it was booked during the day, but a good part consisted of confirmation of orders tentatively placed before the goods were priced. In some instances buyers were said to be waiting at the entrance of the salesrooms for the doors to be thrown open and business to begin.

Probably never have new rug lines been more beautifully designed, or color schemes been more restful and harmonious than those embodied in the new season's offerings. Chinese motifs, both antique and modern, are seen in profusion. Persian effects have also been made use of. Many attractive rugs show the use of allover effects in small conventional designs, as well as ornamental scroll patterns of fair size. Plain rugs in soft colors are not infrequently seen, some of them with borders of the same color in another shade. Others have agreeably contrasting colors in their borders.

How the Prices Ranged.

In the actual business of the day, the better goods were said to be selling best. Wiltons and the choicer grades of axminsters moved more freely than velvets or tapestries. In some lines the velvets and "taps" were not advanced over the last Fall prices current, while in others they were priced somewhat higher. A good idea of the old and new price ranges on rugs may be had from the following table, which gives the Spring prices made by the Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Company on the 9x12 sizes, and also those contained in the three lists issued by that company during the Fall wholesale season:

	Spring.	Third Fall.	Second Fall.	Original Fall.
AXMINSTER.
Alpine	$24.00	$24.00	$24.00	$25.20
Ardsley	$28.80	26.40	25.20	26.40

Wilton	50.40	50.40	50.40	50.40

No Change in Some Lines.

Examination of the table will show that while advances have been made on axminster rugs the velvets and tapestries show no change from the final Fall figures. In the carpets the reverse was true. Axminster carpets were unchanged, while the only velvet carpets that were not advanced were those which had been increased in price since the final Fall list was issued on July 1. The carpet advances in the new list range from 5 cents a yard on "Riverside" velvets to 20 cents on 6-4 Wilton velvet special and Wilton velvet filling goods. All prices on the Smith Company's lines are guaranteed against decline to March 1.

	Spring, '25.	Fall, '24.
Berkshire tapestry	$20.00	$19.50
Saranac tapestry	23.00	22.50
†Wilton velvet	33.00	29.35
Marmon axminster	27.75	27.00
Burwin axminster	36.00	33.50
Bassorah, axminster	39.50	37.75
Imperial Bussorah	43.75	....

Hartford Saxony	100.00	100.00

One Advance of $2.40.

Comparison of the Bigelow-Hartford Fall and Spring carpet price lists shows a general marking up for the new season. In the cheaper lines of plain tapestry and velvet carpets the advances range from 6 to 15 cents a yard. In the one higher-priced velvet, the 6-4 goods shows a rise of 75 cents. Advances in the Axminster carpets run from 15 to 25 cents in the cheaper lines, while plain Wilton carpets are from 20 to 25 cents higher. The sharpest advance in the piece goods list is shown on Hartford "Saxony" 8-4, which is $2.40 higher than it is quoted in the Fall list.

In the Bigelow-Hartford pattern goods "Lemington" velvet carpets are from 20 to 40 cents higher. Rises in the Axminsters run from 15 to 30 cents, while those in body Brussels touch 40 cents. The Wilton carpets show advances ranging from 20 cents on three sizes of "Merrimac" Wiltons to $2.40 on 8-4 Hartford "Saxony" goods.

The rug lines sold through the wholesale department of W. & J. Sloane, selling agents for the Mohawk Carpet Mills, Inc., and for C. H. Masland & Sons, are priced higher than the last quotations for Fall delivery. Wilton rugs have been increased 5 per cent. The new prices of Stephen Sanford & Sons, Inc., range from unchanged to slightly higher. Axminster goods in this line are up about 4 per cent.

Spring prices made on Wilton rugs by the M. J. Whittall Associates include $150 for the 9 by 12 size of "Anglo-Persians," against $138.75 at the opening of the Fall season. The same size of "Tepraz" Wiltons is priced for Spring at $105, compared with an opening Fall quotation of $97.50. Prices on other Whittall goods, which become effective on Dec. 1, are in proportion to the two quoted.

URGE A STANDARD LOAF.

Report to Governor Silzer in Jersey Asks Fixed Weight.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 10.—A bread loaf of standard weight was urged in the annual report of J. Harry Foley, State Superintendent of Weights and Measures, submitted to Governor Silzer today. Inspectors of the department have succeeded in checking up short-weight coal deliveries and prosecuting those responsible, the report said. Local officials have cooperated with the department agents.

Some method of co-ordinating efforts of manufacturers and dealers in ice cream was declared to be necessary, and the report urged that ice cream in bulk be sold by weight instead of by measure, as at present. People of New Jersey consumed 6,558,881 gallons of ice cream in 1923, the report showed.

Youngstown Wages Reduced.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 10.—Wages of sheet and tin workers will be reduced from 40½ per cent. above base to 39 per cent. for November and December as a result of the bi-monthly examination of selling prices held here today by representatives of the manufacturers and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. The average price of No. 27 and 28 gauge black sheets was $2.45 per 100 pounds as compared with $2.50 for the preceding two months period.

Some Change in Linoleum Prices.

Many of the prices quoted yesterday on linoleums for the com ng Spring season failed to show changes from those current at the ending of the Fall season, but others either advanced a little or declined in comparison with the opening Fall figures. Quotations on the products of Congoleum-Nairn, Inc., showed no change from the final Fall figures, but those of the George W. Blabon Company had several variations. Compared with the opening Fall figures, marble inlaid linoleum, "A gauge," was advanced two cents a square yard for Spring. Most of the other Blabon inlaid goods were unchanged, but declines of one cent a square yard on one line and five cents on another are indicated in the new list. Printed and passage linoleums made by the Blabon Company showed no revisions, but reductions of 5 to 10 cents were made in prices on linoleum rugs. Two new large rugs of this type are now offered, as is a new line of felt base rugs. Blabon battleship linoleums were unchanged on "Invincibles," but unpainted backs were reduced two cents a square yard. Most of the plain goods were one to two cents a square yard lower than the Fall opening, but no changes took place in cork carpet or cork mats. Larger discounts for quantity purchases are quoted on Blabon goods generally.

Burlap Shipments Increase.

October shipments of burlaps from Calcutta to North American ports amounted to 82,000,000 yards, the largest total since June last, according to a cable received here yesterday by C. E. Rockstroh & Co., Inc. This figure compares with 59,000,000 yards in September and 84,522,000 yards in October, 1923. It brings the grand total of shipments from Jan. 1 to Oct. 1 up to 191,640,000 yards, against a total of 803,767,000 yards in the same period last year. On this basis the average monthly shipments this year have been about 79,000,000 yards, against an average consumption of the goods that is put at from 85,000,000 to 90,000,000 yards. It is to this fact that the present high prices of the goods in this market are attributed.

Offers New Kind of "Scooter."

A new type of toy of the wheel goods variety is now being offered by a local concern in the form of a brake "scooter." The brake is in the shape of a roller that is applied to the front wheel by a lever device placed on the handle of the "scooter." The roller is made of cast aluminum, which turns as the brake is applied, thus eliminating friction and wear on the tire and bringing the "scooter" to a gentle stop. It is claimed to be the only type of brake "scooter" that will not throw the rider when the brake is applied. It retails at $6.98 and is equipped with one-inch balloon tires and a rubber running board mat.

Spring Silk Orders Growing.

Quite a satisfactory volume of orders for broad silks for Spring delivery is being booked, according to the leading wholesalers here. The interest of buyers in the recent showing of these goods by the prominent houses was marked, and since that time substantial orders have been coming in. The reception given to the printed silks, which form a large group in the new lines, is said to have been very good, surpassing expectations in many instances. The novelty appeal of the prints has again proved their strongest selling point. Ribbed and reversible silks also figure largely in the business being taken for the new season, as do satin crepes, flat crepes and the sheer silks in the more staple goods.

Issues Retail Toy Manual.

To assist in the efficient training of salespeople in retail toy departments, a manual on toys has just been compiled by the Prince School of Education for Store Service, under the auspices of the National Retail Dry Goods Association. As the reason for bringing the manual into being, it is pointed out that there are probably more questions asked in the toy department of a store than in any other single department. To provide the information by which these questions may be answered, the manual in 212 pages goes into very comprehensive detail regarding the many varieties of toys the average stores sell, features of their construction and use, and suggestive selling points for the salespeople. The book deals with playthings for children of all ages ranging from merchandise primarily for infants to the more complicated electrical and mechanical toys, including radio outfits.

Holiday Merchandise Selling.

While demand for main articles of apparel, such as dresses and coats, continues sluggish, due to the lack of favorable selling weather, the wholesale buying of essentially holiday accessories is reported to be quite active. This includes the whole field of gift items, such as handkerchiefs, umbrellas, hosiery, neckwear, dress trimmings, gloves to some extent, perfumery and toilet articles and similar merchandise. A feature of the packing directions this year is the greater attention given by retailers to boxed sets of these varied articles. This indicates that greater attention than ever will be given to the sale of boxed merchandise during the coming holiday period in the effort to swell retail turnover.

Gray Goods Prices Higher.

Gray goods prices were again advanced in this market yesterday, sales of 39-inch 68-72 printcloths having been made at 10¼ cents for late delivery. For 38½-inch 64-60s 9 cents was paid, and buyers also took 38½-inch 60-48s and 38½-inch 44-40s at 7¾ and 6 cents, respectively. Sheeting prices were also firmer, but the volume of transactions in that part of the market was not as large as that in printcloths. Business was done in 39-inch 5-yard sheetings at 8¾ cents, as well as in 5.50s at 7¾ cents. Buyers were offering 10¾ cents for 37-inch 48-square, four-yard sheetings, with sellers unwilling to take less than an eighth more for them.

Ribbon Trade Is Busier.

Ribbon manufacturers here report a substantial volume of late orders for novelty holiday merchandise. It is expected that this business will continue for some weeks to come, as retailers are still believed to be underbought on their seasonal needs. This buying has tended to increase the trading in the wider merchandise, which has been in comparatively restricted demand. Tinsels, brocades and other fancy effects worked out in metal constitute the main groups in which the recent interest in the wider goods has centred. From a yardage standpoint, however, the staple satins and moires and some of the narrower fancies are selling best.

PREACHER WEEPS IN COURT.

Faces Trial on Charge of Taking Unauthorized Collection.

Weeping as he protested his innocence, the "Rev." Isaac Solomon vainly pleaded yesterday with officials of the English Lutheran Church of the Redeemer in Yonkers, when he appeared in City Court charged with taking up an unauthorized collection at the Sunday School service.

Judge Charles W. Boote adjourned the case until tomorrow and advised Captain Cooper of the Yonkers Detective Bureau to have District Attorney Arthur Rowland notified. Attorney Charles Wallace, for Dr. Solomon, protested that his client had committed no crime. He admitted that he took up a collection, but asserted that the Sunday School Superintendent himself contributed to it. Wallace insisted that Dr. Solomon was innocent and should be acquitted. Judge Boote said:

"He lied in open court by giving a wrong address, and no evangelist or good Christian should do that.

5TH AV. IS 100 YEARS OLD.

Governor Smith Will Speak at Centennial Dinner on Nov. 20.

In a message broadcast from Station WEAF last night, Captain William J. Fedrick, General Manager of the Fifth Avenue Association, said:

"My friends, Fifth Avenue is 100 years old. It is difficult for you to realize that at the date of its birth in 1824 it was a rural roadway known as the Middle Road, through which flowed sparkling brooks. Today, the anniversary of its one hundredth birthday, one sees the marvelous development and the transformation of this roadway into the world's greatest thoroughfare, a section pre-eminent as a commercial, artistic and cultural centre.

"The value of the land and buildings along this roadway from 1826 to 1844 was approximately $3,500,000; today this section is valued at more than $500,000,000. It is fitting, therefore, that such a birthday should be made the occasion of a centennial celebration, which will start next Monday, the 17th, and will continue for one week. At the centennial dinners to be held on Thursday, Nov. 20, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel at 7 P. M., Alfred E. Smith, thrice Governor of the State of New York, will deliver the centennial oration in behalf of the Empire State.

"That this civic event is well worth bringing to your attention, my friends, let me say that both public and parochial education interests of the City of New York are taking part in the celebration through prose and poetry contests and pageantry, and a day has been set apart when the Principals and the teachers in our various schools will call to the minds of our children the part that Fifth Avenue has played in the upbuilding of this community."

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Advance and Reaction in Stocks, With Another 2,000,000-Share Day—Sterling at $4.63.

Another day of 2,000,000-share transactions on the Stock Exchange brought prices 1 to 3 points higher in the early trading; following which came so great a mass of realizing sales as to cancel most of the earlier advance, leaving final prices on the average slightly below Saturday's closings. This alternation is perfectly familiar in markets of the present sort. The professional speculator buys heavily at the week-end; on Monday morning, following reflection over Sunday, the "outside public's" buying orders are received in quantity. Their execution drives prices still higher, whereupon the "professional" sells to take quick profits. This is the invariable machinery. The seeming reversal of the market's form has at such times no necessary bearing on the day's news, or indeed, on the future course of prices. The rest of the week determines that.

In an ordinary market, the late reaction might have been ascribed to some incidents of yesterday; notably a report of orders on the Steel Corporation's books, showing much smaller increase in October than had been expected, and a further rise in rates for time-money. The fact that, at yesterday's closing quotations, sixty-day loans on collateral brought ¾ of 1 per cent. more than on Nov. 3 and on commercial paper ¼ of 1 per cent. more, may possibly have emphasized the professional realizing, though the rates as they stand are still extremely low for this time of year. That the Steel Corporation's unfilled orders should have risen only 51,490 tons, instead of the expected 100,000, was disappointing on its face. It is probably explainable by the fact that orders "conditioned on election results" were not released in October, yet that demands for immediate delivery had speeded up production and disposed of old orders. It is the month-end returns of November and December which will show the real drift of things.

There was no check yesterday to the rise of sterling; a 2¼-cent advance brought it to $4.62, an advance of nearly 13 cents since the British election. The figure is interesting, in view of the fact that $4.69 was the best rate reached in the violent end-of-the-year advance of 1922. Open trading in the new German reichsmark was officially begun yesterday at Berlin. On our market, nothing happened except maintenance of the price at the exact gold par of exchange. The cables seem to indicate that the German Government has left restrictions enough around the trading to prevent the creation, for the time at any rate, of a really "open market" which would reflect the varying prospects of German finance and foreign trade.

Yesterday's wheat market went to $1.54½, the highest price of the present season; the day's rise carrying it well above the previous maximum of $1.52¾, reached on Oct. 16. During the intervening period, the price had fallen to $1.38½. Since that price was touched on the day before election, much will no doubt be made of wheat's "response to the vote." But the course of wheat prices is explainable on very different grounds. Until a week ago, the foreign grain-importers had been holding back their buying orders, or shifting them to other markets. But the quite unexpected news that prospective exports from Australia and Argentina would have to be cut down more than 75,000,000 bushels from last year put a new face on the situation. Coming after the shortage in Canada and Central Europe, this outcome of an extraordinary season would seem to leave the key to the world's grain trade in our country's hands.

A monthly Government crop report was given out yesterday, but it had no bearing on wheat, for which the October estimate of yield is left unchanged until the final revision in December. The department gave a fresh forecast on the corn yield, however, which was not without interest as showing what the harvest weather has done, even to that one unlucky crop of 1924. It adds 18,500,000 bushels to the October estimate, naming a total 15,000,000 above the forecast of the best-known "private expert." But this still leaves for the corn crop the smallest yield since 1913.

MONEY.

MONDAY, NOV. 10, 1924.

Stock Exchange call money was firmly maintained at 2½ per cent. all day, a charge which coincided with Friday's minimum and final. There was plenty of money around, and only a little calling, which made the outside market ¼ to ⅛ per cent. lower. There was a better demand for time money, with an advance of ¼ in all maturities beyond sixty days. The distant maturities were sharply bid for at 3¼@3½. Commercial paper also hardened ¼, to 3¼@3½ per cent. Dealers reported portfolios comfortably filled with paper that had accumulated over the past week, and attributed higher charge to use of money in other channels; and the fact that banks anticipate sharp increase in business.

Beginning March 22, 1923, the Stock Exchange officially quotes Liberty bonds in units and fractions, the fractions being 32ds of a unit, and the quotations after the decimal point representing one or more 32ds. In the above table, therefore, the figures of highest and lowest prices during 1924 and since date of issue are reduced to the form now used in the Stock Exchange quotations.

FORWARD BUSINESS OF U. S. STEEL GAINS

An Increase of 51,490 Tons Over the End of September Is Reported.

BUY FOR PROMPT DELIVERY

Outlook for Rest of Year Is Regarded as Good Despite the Price Trend.

The United States Steel Corporation reported yesterday an increase in its forward business of 51,490 tons as compared with the total on the corporation's books at the end of September. The unfilled tonnage on Oct. 31 stood at 3,525,270 tons and on Sept. 30 it was 3,473,780 tons. On Oct. 31, 1923, the total was 4,672,825 tons and on Sept. 30 of that year it was 5,035,750 tons.

While the showing for October was considered favorable, the increase of 51,490 tons between Sept. 30 and Oct. 31 is less than a third of the increase of 184,000 tons that was reported between Aug. 31 and Sept. 30. In contrast with these previous periods, however, the corporation's production and shipments in October were larger than in either September or August. The month proved to be an exceptionally favorable one for operations, which was reflected in the increased shipping activity. Shipments were between 1,000,000 and 1,050,000 tons, an average of 37,000 to 38,000 tons a day for the twenty-seven working days in October, while in September these amounted to between 900,000 and 925,000 tons.

Presages a Good Finish.

Members of the steel trade pointed out that the continued increase in the Steel Corporation's forward business since the middle of the year could be taken as a good indication of business through the remainder of the year, despite the fact that prices of steel products, which of late have been stiffening, are still considered unsatisfactory. Sufficient tonnages in the leading products are still being offered at concessions to hold down prices to a large degree, it was said, while some of the larger interests are reported to be behind a movement to raise the average level on steel products as the result of the abandonment of the Pittsburgh base.

It was also pointed out that had operations at the plants of the United States Steel Corporation been at the reduced rate they were in September, the increase in forward business between Sept. 30 and Oct. 31 probably would have equaled the increase of 184,000 tons in September. No general increase in production and shipments by the corporation is expected during the current month, and thus far incoming orders are reported slightly above those in October.

Prompt Delivery Buying.

The bulk of the buying, however, is said to be for prompt rather than first quarter delivery, the tendency being to hold back future commitments at this time.

The following table gives the unfilled tonnage on the books of the Steel Corporation at the close of business of each month for the last three years:

AMERICAN CAN DUE TO CUT MELON SOON

Company Is Expected to Split Up Common Shares, Giving Five New for One.

WILL PAY AT RATE OF $2

The long expected stock melon for holders of shares in the American Can Company, the organization founded in 1901 by Daniel G. Reid, and which has since grown to be the most important factor in the can business, will be cut early next year.

It was learned in an authoritative quarter yesterday that the present common shares, which pay a regular dividend of $5 per annum, with $1 extra, will be split up, and five shares of new stock issued for each one of the old. The dividend rate on the new shares will be $2. The stock is one of the most active of the speculative issues quoted on the New York Stock Exchange. It recently sold up to 142¾, as compared with the year's low price of 95. It closed yesterday at 141.

News of the proposed split came from bond houses that have been engaged in accumulating the corporation's 5 per cent. gold bonds, of which $4,988,500 will be called at 102½ per cent. of par and interest, as of Feb. 1, 1925. This will make way for the stock dividend, leaving no obligations ahead of the common and preferred stocks. The debenture issue, which is not due until Feb. 1, 1928, provides that sity days' notice must be given on a dividend date before the bonds may be called. Therefore, it is considered quite likely in bond circles that this notice will be issued as of Dec. 1. The bonds are quoted over the counter at 101-101½ and it has been reported that the corporation itself has been a heavy buyer of its own debentures, thus reducing the obligation which will be met early next year.

In addition to these bonds the corporation has two stock issues. One is of $41,233,300 of 7 per cent. preferred stock, the other $41,233,300 of $100 par value common stockx. It is this stock which will be split on a 5 for 1 basis early next year, according to reports.

The corporation's earnings, as established from its annual reports, have been remarkable. Current assets at the end of its fiscal year were placed at $51,418,865, as compared with current liabilities of $10,183,617. As of the end of the year the company had $13,173,329 in cash. The net income in 1923 was $10,983,094, equivalent to $19.64 earned on the common stock. The profit and loss surplus at the end of the year stood at $87,570,751.

Plants are maintained by the company in forty-four cities, producing tin cans, boxes and containers for vegetables, fruits, meats, fish, oils, paints, greases, tobacco, coffee, tea, cereals, syrup, chemicals, &c.

American Beet Co. Negotiating for Three Concerns in Midwest.

Advices from Detroit yesterday that the American Beet Sugar Company was negotiating for properties of the Minnesota Sugar Company, the Northern Sugar Corporation and the Red River Sugar Company were confirmed at the local offices of the American company, the properties of which are in California, Colorado and Nebraska.

The negotiations are understood to be nearing completion. The terms were not revealed here. Tentative terms, according to the Detroit reports, call for the payment of $117 a share for the preferred and $49 for the common stock of the Northern company, and $10 for the preferred and $21 for the common of the Minnesota company. All these figures are said to be minimums. So far as these two companies are concerned, the deal would involve at least $8,300,000 under the terms quoted. Both companies are controlled by affiliated interests. H. A. Douglas is President of both.

TRUST COMPANIES GAIN.

The country's trust company resources for the year ended June 30, 1924, were $16,025,502,000, a gain of $1,584,042,000, or nearly 11 per cent. more for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923, according to the "Trust Companies of the United States," just issued by the United States Mortgage and Trust Company of New York. Deposits for the period increased from $11,626,983,000 to $13,289,148,000, while the number of companies reporting was 2,562 against 2,478.

OCTOBER SALES SHOW GAINS

Both W. T. Grant and Ginter Companies Report Increases.

Increases in sales during October over the same month a year ago were reported yesterday by the W. T. Grant Company and the Ginter Company. The W. T. Grant Company reported sales of $2,561,108, an increase of 27 per cent. over October, 1923, and for the ten months sales of $17,502,205, an increase of 19.78 per cent. over the corresponding period of 1923.

The Ginter Company of Boston reported for October sales of $1,178,672, against $900,207 in October, 1923, a gain of 17.95 per cent., and for the ten months ended last Oct. 31 sales totaled $10,137,520, against $9,296,093 the year before, a gain of 9.04 per cent.

Railway to Issue Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The New Orleans, Texas & Mexico Railway Company applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission today for authority to issue $1,740,000 of 5 per cent. equipment trust certificates to be sold at 98.48 per cent. of par, the proceeds to be used to acquire 500 box cars, 500 automobile cars, 250 coal cars and two dining cars.

Borden Company Declares Dividend.

Directors of the Borden Company declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2 a share on the common stock, payable Dec. 1 to stock of record Nov. 18. Heretofore dividends have been paid semi-annually in instalments of $4 each. The payment of this $2 dividend makes $10 a share paid in 1924.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Owing to the death of Clinton Gilbert, his office will be closed today.

C. F. Childs & Co. are expanding their organization to include offices in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland and Fresno.

Prescott & Co. announce that they have installed a direct private telegraph wire to Stitt Brothers, Springfield, Mass.

Harold B. Van Cott, formerly with the Manufacturers Trust Company, is now associated with Parker, Robbins & Co.

The Chemical National Bank of New York announced yesterday that it was the first national bank of New York City to report a per cent. cash payment for its officers and employes in the annual Red Cross Roll Call.

FRENCH TO LIMIT LOAN TO $100,000,000

Will Be Sufficient to Repay Morgan & Co. and Meet Other Needs, Financiers Say.

While French loan negotiations have not been closed, it was disclosed yesterday that the amount of the loan would not exceed $100,000,000. This, it was stated, would be sufficient to take care of all Government needs and was all the Government desired.

Details were lacking, but it was apparent that the Government would not require new money for some time. The present credit of $100,000,000, set up by J. P. Morgan & Co., was believed sufficient to meet all French demands, and the long-term issue, it was believed, would be used to pay off whatever advances had been made by the New York banking house and would leave a large balance for French needs.

Banks which are expected to play a part in the underwriting recently circularized their clients, pointing out the investment values of the prospective loan. It was understood they did not want to be in the position of having the loan "break" overnight, and, expecting it momentarily, had taken preliminary action. According to their reports, the status of the loan negotiation had not changed. It was said to be in the "touch and go" stage, with bankers prepared to sell the bonds the moment the French Government should give the word.

FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

Recovery In French State Bonds Continues—London Firm, Paris Irregular.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Prices moved irregularly on the Bourse today. Old 3 per cent. rentes, 1 franc 45 centimes higher at 50 francs 5 centimes; 5 per cent. war loan, 1 franc 35 centimes higher at 59 francs 95 centimes.

Exchange on London rose 15 centimes to 87 francs 55 centimes per sovereign; the American dollar was quoted at 19 francs 2 centimes, against 19.13 last week.

The Bourse will be closed tomorrow, Armistice Day.

BAKING STOCKS ACTIVE.

Merger Rumors Cause Rise in Some, Decline in Others.

After the announcement of George G. Barber, Chairman of the newly-organized Continental Baking Corporation of an offer for the stock of the United Bakeries, a statement issued on behalf of Mr. Barger yesterday said that as "pending negotiations" with other companies were concluded, announcement would be made immediately to the public. "Premature announcements are harmful to the public and to all concerned," Mr. Barber said.

"The Continental Baking Corporation," he added, "is interested fundamentally in the bread business and the advantages to be derived from the quantity production and distribution of bread and cake from both the public and their own standpoint."

The offer to exchange shares of the new Continental Corporation for those of the United Bakeries apparently had an adverse effect on United stock yesterday, which was quoted at the close of trading 1⅝ points off for the common on transactions of 7,100 shares. The preferred was off ½ point on transactions of 2,100 shares. American Baking Company common, however, rose 3 points. Fleischmann advanced 3¼ points. Loose Wiles, on the other hand, lost 5 points, Ward Baking Company common A and B lost 1 and 1⅝ points, respectively, and the shares of the Grennan Baking Company were unchanged for the day. Cushman's Sons was 1½ points lower.

TIME MONEY RATES UP.

Advanie ¼ of 1 Per Cent. in Anticipation of Increase in Business.

Time money rates stiffened yesterday in anticipation of the call for funds expected to come soon from American business. The bank rate on four to six months' loans was moved up one-quarter of a point to 3¼@3½ per cent., and the commercial paper rate advanced similarly to the same levels. Marking up of quotations was described as a necessary prelude to increasing business.

In the meantime, the rates in the call money market went down. The Stock Exchange quotation was 2½ per cent. all day, but there was an overflow of funds which went into the outside market at 2 to 2¼ per cent. The call loan rate on bankers' acceptances was lowered from 2½ per cent. to a flat 2 per cent.

MAY PAY EXTRA DIVIDEND.

Foundation Company's Directors to Decide Tomorrow.

Directors of the Foundation Company will meet tomorrow for dividend action, and it is understood they will go into the meeting with open minds as to whether or not an extra dividend shall be paid. In the first nine months of the year earnings were slightly more than $500,000, and it is expected that the net for 1924 will be approximately $1,000,000, or around $15 a share on the common. In some quarters an extra dividend is anticipated. In view of this the stock yesterday crossed its previous high level for the year.

STERLING REACHES NEW HIGH FOR YEAR

At $4.62 15-16 It Comes Within Ten Points of Best Price Since the War.

MYSTERY IN THE BUYING

Failure to Take Profits Causes Belief That Government Is Aiming to Make Par.

In extremely heavy buying by American banks, the English pound sterling soared again yesterday to another new high price for this year, and at $4.62⅞, the high point yesterday, it was within 10 cents of the best post-war price established on Feb. 21 of last year. Considerable mystery surrounded the new buying of sterling; it failed to bring forth the volume of profit-taking which in the past has characterized every appreciable advance of sterling, and strengthened a belief in banking circles that the British Government might be aiming to move its currency back to par.

Dealers said that heavy offerings were made of sterling for purchases of American grains and other commodities, but buying was so strong that it absorbed all the sterling bills offered, and, save for momentary dips, the price trend was upward. Speculation, they said, was widespread, its geographical bounds including China and Japan in the East and practically all countries in Europe to the West.

By some bankers it was believed that the American election result had played an important part in the advance, although normally a condition that would be interpreted as bullish in America, and consequently bullish on American exchange, would not prove bullish for the currency of a competitive nation. The name of Dawes, according to this suggestion, was well known throughout Europe as the author of the reparation plan, and while little distinction was made by the rank and file of Europe between the candidacies of Coolidge, Davis and La Follette, the fact that Dawes had won the Vice Presidency was interpreted as good news for all Europe, which interpreted his victory as American endorsement of the Dawes plan.

The Far Easterners were said yesterday to be taking a heavy beating in sterling. On every advance, it was reported, orders to sell sterling had been entered in Shanghai, Peking, Tokio and other cities of China and Japan. Most of these selling orders were quickly turned into covering operations when, after brief recessions, the London bill again started upward.

Opinion was sharply divided as to whether the British Government felt able to return the pound sterling to par. To do so would mean that the pound sterling would have to return to a gold basis, and bankers doubted if the time was yet ripe. At the same time it was noted that Holland, France, Sweden, Norway and Germany, among other countries, had stabilized their currencies either at or under par, and there was said to be reason to believe that England would fall in line.

A noteworthy feature was reported by dealers who said that in the past every ten-cent rise of sterling had been accompanied with heavy conversion of these bills into American securities. Yesterday it was said that holders of sterling were inclined to continue holding on, presumably waiting for still better prices. This strengthened the belief of some New York bankers that the Government was taking a hand.

At its high point of $4.62⅞, the pound sterling yesterday was 9½ cents above its closing price of last Saturday and at yesterday's closing quotation of $4.62 the bill was up 2¼ cents net.

SILK INDUSTRY PROSPERING.

Survey Shows a Gain in Both Production and Profits.

That larger sales production and profits are in prospect for the silk goods industry is indicated by a summary of current conditions made public yesterday by the Standard Statistics Company.

Their index of silk mill activity has risen from a level of 19 per cent. below normal to 17 per cent. above. While this marked gain illustrates the marked revival in busines which the silk industry has recently been experiencing, a further pronounced betterment is indicated for the next six months, according to this authority, as the volume of both sales and production is gaining in momentum and will run far ahead of that for the Fall and Winter months of 1923-1924.

Among the principal factors which are expected to further stimulate business are depleted stocks in the hands of retailers, which will necessitate a heavy replenishment demand; expansion in activity in the clothing and kindred manufacturing trade; and a level of raw silk prices sufficiently low to permit quotations which will serve both to increase demand and manufacturers' profits.

Manila Electric Income Report.

The Manila Electric Corporation reports a net income of $116,992 for October, compared with $118,661 in the same month of last year. For the twelve months the net income available for depreciation and dividends was $1,406,674, against $1,281,798 in the same period of last year.

Canada Ford Stock $460 a Share.

The first sale of a full 100-share lot of Ford Motors Company of Canada was made yesterday on the floor of the New York Curb Exchange. The sale was at $460 per share. Previous transactions were in ten-share units.

DRIVE IS RENEWED FOR RAIL MERGER

Van Sweringens Begin Series of Conferences Here to Settle Differences.

HARMONY IS REPORTED

Pere Marquette Officials Pressing for Better Treatment of the Minority Stockholders.

C. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen of Cleveland have arrived in New York with a corps of assistants to make the drive which they hope will assure success in organizing the proposed $1,500,000,000 Nickel Plate system, to consist of the present Nickel Plate, the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Hocking Valley, the Erie and the Pere Marquette. The first of a series of conferences which may extend over the greater part of the week was held yesterday. Others of more importance and with more bearing on the outcome of the venture will be held this morning.

At the office of White & Case, 14 Wall Street, yesterday morning the attorneys for the Van Sweringen interests, for the bankers, and for the various railroads represented again went into the details of the original plans. Following this meeting W. A. Colston, Vice President of the Nickel Plate and counsel of the Van Sweringens, stated that the progress of the entire merger was satisfactory. He pointed out that all of the parties to the conference were working in harmony and that so far as the lawyers were concerned there were no hitches in the proceedings.

This meeting was followed by a conference in the afternoon at the office of White & Case by the two Van Sweringen brothers, their counsel and one of the partners of White & Case. Just what was done at this meeting was not disclosed. Those familiar with the whole undertaking were of the opinion that an attempt was made to find a proposition to submit to the merger committee this morning at the office of E. N. Brown, Chairman of the Pere Marquette Railway, 120 Broadway.

It is expected generally that the Van Sweringens will be formally notified at the conference this morning that the officers of some of the railroads included in the system find it impossible to accept the proposed leases which fail to provide for the minority stockholders who do not deposit their stock. If the Van Sweringens can present a counter proposition at this meeting they will be in a much stronger position than otherwise.

The members of the general committee of the proposed Nickel Plate which will meet this morning consists of O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, J. J. Bernett, President of the Nickel Plate; W. J. Harahan, President of the Chesapeake & Ohio; W. L. Ross, Vice President of the Nickel Plate; F. W. Underwood, President of the Erie, and E. N. Brown, Chairman of the Board of the Pere Marquette. The Van Sweringens easily control the majority of the committee since all the members represent their interests directly with the exception of E. N. Brown of the Pere Marquette and F. D. Underwood of the Erie.

Chairman Brown of the Pere Marquette is expected to present a detailed report showing just why the Pere Marquette cannot accept the leases outlined, and suggesting that changes will have to be made.

RATE HEARING IS RESUMED.

Interstate Commission Gets Arguments on New England Division.

The fight between the New England railroads and the trunk line railroads over the division of the freight rates was resumed yesterday before representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the rooms of the Merchants' Association.

The trunk lines, including virtually all of the railroads east of the Mississippi River and north of the Ohio, are asking for a readjustment of the division with the New England railroads. Headed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford the railroads of New England are asking that instead of cutting the rates the percentage be increased.

The decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission that the share of the New England railroads be increased 15 per cent. became effective on April 1, 1923. Many of the railroads in the trunk line systems declared that the increase was confiscatory, and the Central of New Jersey and the Delaware & Hudson began a fight for a readjustment.

The outcome of the case will have a direct bearing on the earnings of such railroads as the Central of New Jersey, the Reading, the Delaware & Hudson, the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Lehigh Valley, the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Nickel Plate and the Baltimore & Ohio

EXPORT COPPER ADVANCES.

Gains 10 Points on Inquiries From All Consuming Countries.

Export copper moved up ten points yesterday on a demand which embraced orders or inquiries from virtually every consuming country. First sales were made at 13.70 cents a pound, f. a. s., New York harbor, while later transactions were at 13.75. This was equivalent to 14 cents, c. i. f., London, Hamburg or Havre, and compares with sales on Saturday at 13.65 New York, or 13.90 European ports.

A feature of the copper demand was the sharp advance in the shares of the copper producing companies. Inspiration, Anaconda, American Smelting & Refining, Cerro de Pasco, Calumet & Hecla, Seneca, and virtually the entire group of coppers advanced from a fraction to more than two points. So far as transactions in the commodity itself were concerned, none was said to have been unusually large.

Panhandle Refining Co. Earnings.

The Panhandle Production and Refining Company reports a net income of $76,569 for the third quarter after taxes and charges, but before sinking fund, depreciation and depletion. This compared with $68,511 in the same period of last year. For the nine months the net income was $331,715, compared with $333,908.

Detroit Edison Calls Bonds.

The Detroit Edison Company announced yesterday that it would redeem its entire issue of ten-year 8 per cent. convertible gold debenture bonds, series of 1931, at the Bankers' Trust Company, 16 Wall Street, on Jan. 10, 1925, at 105 and accrued interest to that date. The bonds are convertible into stock, at the holder's option, up to Jan. 9.

Granby Consolidated's Report.

The Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Company, Ltd., reported yesterday for the quarter ended Sept. 30 net income of $38,729 after expenses and interest, but before depreciation and depletion, and for the nine months net income of $512,985.

Pittsburgh Steel Reports Loss.

The Pittsburgh Steel Company reports for the quarter ended Sept. 30 a net loss of $364,536 after estimated Federal taxes, compared with net income of $561,717 in the same period of 1923. Sales were $3,918,852 against $5,008,062.

Heavy Sales of Pig Iron.

Local sales of pig iron exceeded 50,000 tons last week, according to figures issued yesterday. This was the best showing in many months. Bookings in the previous two weeks were 15,000 and 30,000 tons, respectively.

INTERNATIONAL LOANS NOW $29,100,000,000

Total Has Grown From $21,599,717,000 Since the Armistice, Six Years Ago.

While the internation loans on Armistice Day, six years ago, totaled $21,599,717,000, today they total $29,100,000,000 as the result of $7,500,000,000 of post-armistice loans. These figures have been compiled by the Bankers Trust Company in anticipation of a meeting to be held soon at Paris or London to discuss the interallied debts.

Of the post-armistice loans it is estimated that $4,000,000,000 represents simply accrued unpaid interest. Of the remainder, about $1,500,000,000 was loaned in compliance with pre-armistice agreements, and to a considerable sum represents the value of surplus war materials sold on credit, while the sum of around two billion dollars is made up almost entirely of loans for relief and reconstruction.

At the date of the armistice, according to the Bankers Trust Company's estimate, our loans totaled $7,077,115,000. By Sept. 28, 1920, the total had reached $9,466,285,000. Thus in two years of peace, the loans had increased $2,389,-169,000. Of this amount $295,467,000 represented accrued interest; therefore, the actual increase was about $2,000,000,000. About one-half of this amount was used to clear up war accounts. The balance, and more than another billion dollars obtained from other sources of income, appear to have been spent by foreign governments in the United States during these two years for food and other supplies.

According to the Bankers Trust Company survey, "The total of post-armistice internation loans for relief and reconstruction was $1,913,189,000. Of this amount the United States lent directly $878,488,000, which was undoubtedly used for relief purposes.

"Other post-armistice lenders for relief purposes were: France, $759,397,000; Italy, $114,104,000, and Great Britain, $161,240,000; although some of these loans were known to have been made indirectly by the United States, for example, loans of $62,000,000 each made by England and Italy to Austria, the funds for which are known to have come from Washington.

"The large post-armistice borrowers for relief, in alphabetical order, were Austria for $153,424,000, Belgium for $306,244,000, Czechoslovakia for $263,240,000, Poland for $420,200,000 and the Serb-Croat-Slovene State for $416,647,000.

"Clause 26 of the armistice agreement stated that 'the Allies and the United States contemplate the provisioning of Germany during the armistice as shall be found necessary.' It was not until the middle of the following March that the Allies could agree among themselves as to how this was to be done. Then arrangements were made to sell Germany for cash $200,000,000 worth of provisions. There appears to have been no loan in connection with this transaction."

GRAIN EXPORTS INCREASE.

Last Week's Nearly Double Week Preceding, but 3,377,000 Bushels Under Maximum.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Exports of grain from the United States last week totaled 13,260,000 bushels, against 6,806,-000 bushels for the previous week.

The detailed figures for last week as compared with the previous week were made public by the Commerce Department today as follows:

Wheat, 9,132,000 bushels, against 5,370,000 bushels; barley, 2,693,000, against 890,000; corn, 70,000, against 86,000; oats, 636,000, against 264,000; rye, 729,000, against 706,000; United States and Canadian wheat flour in transit, 745,000 barrels, against 286,000 barrels.

The season's largest weekly exports of grain have been 16,637,000 bushels, in the week ending Oct. 11; its largest wheat export 11,248,000, in the week ending Oct. 25.

DUTCH GOLD ARRIVES.

Shipment of $3,000,000 Received by Federal Reserve Bank.

Another shipment of Dutch gold was received by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York yesterday from the Bank of the Netherlands. The consignment consisted of gold bars valued at $3,000,-000. Information as to the purpose of the shipment could not be told, the local bank acting as a confidential agent in the transaction.

Within recent months the Government of Holland has been building up dollar balance steadily, and recently its exchange unit, the guilder crossed par.

Bank Named as Depository.

The American Exchange National Bank has been appointed depository under an agreement entered into by a committee consisting of Walter H. Bennett, Chairman, Frederick J. Lisman and L. Edmund Zacher with sundry bondholders of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad Company first consolidated mortgage 5s, due in 1934, and the Des Moines & Fort Dodge Railroad Company first mortgage 4s, due in 1935.

Railway Signal's Profits Higher.

The General Railway Signal Company reported a net income of $642,680 after interest and charges for the first nine months of 1924, compared with $414,477 in the same months of last year. After making allowance for the preferred dividends the company reported a nine months' surplus of $533,596, compared with $324,477.

Treasury to Withdraw $6,157,000.

The United States Treasury will withdraw $6,157,000 from member banks of the Federal Reserve District of New York next Saturday. The amount, which is one of the largest Treasury withdrawals in recent months, will be used for current Government requirements.

Marlin-Rockwell Reports Loss.

MAY WHEAT AT $1.60 IN BUSTLING MARKET

Prices Keep at the Top to the End, With Heavy Sales on Buyers Readily Absorbed.

AN IMMENSE TRADE ON

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—While wheat prices held within a range of around 2 cents, there was an immense trade on, with December and May selling at a new high on the crop and closing with net gains of 2@3 cents, May selling above $1.60 for the first time since May, 1921. At the top prices showed 9¼@ 16¼ cents above the low of a week ago, and the advance brought out extremely heavy profit-taking, but it was readily absorbed and the finish was about the top.

As the bulk of the new speculative trading is going into the deferred delivery, the December went to about 6¼ cents under the May at the last. Bullish foreign news, with Liverpool up 4¼@ 4½d, showing more strength than the North American markets, was responsible for the liberal buying.

Cash houses were aggressive buyers, part to remove hedges against sales of 1,500,000 to 1,750,000 bushels, largely Duluth Springs. Premium on the latter was advanced 1 to 5 cents over December, c. i. f., Buffalo, and local handlers advanced the asking price of hard Winters to 4 cents over December, but no sales were reported.

The fact that Liverpool advanced in the face of near record world's shipments and an increase of over 4,000,000 bushels in supplies on ocean passage, led to a material change in sentiment in some quarters.

Argentine cables told of continued drought and said that estimates on the exportable surplus of 112,000,000 bushels would have to be cut down unless they received rains. In Australia wet weather continues.

Winnipeg was closed today but will be open tomorrow as will Liverpool, while American grain markets are closed.

An increase of 4,805,000 bushels in the visible supply swelled the total to 94,-707,000 bushels against 89,902,000 the previous week and 71,443,000 last year.

Primary receipts for the day were 2,665,000 bushels; week ago, 3,851,000; last year, 766,000. Shipments were 1,-908,000 bushels; week ago, 825,000; last year 287,000.

The Government report on corn given to the trade after the close was somewhat in excess of trade expectations.

Futures were firmer and closed at 1@ 1¾ cents higher, with considerable enlargement in the outside trade.

The visible supply decreased 620,000 bushels for the week, and is 7,477,000 against 8,097,000 the previous week and 1,044,000 last year.

Primary arrivals were 575,000 bushels; week ago, 573,000; last year, 343,000, and shipments, 682,000 bushels; week ago, 212,000; last year, 157,000.

Oats gained ⅛@⅜ cent, with other grains, while rye moved up 2¼@2¾ cents, there being some foreign buying in the latter grain. Local sentiment is extremely bullish on rye.

EXCHANGE SEATS GO HIGHER

Morin S. Hare Buys H. S. Frankenheimer's for $90,000.

The New York Stock Exchange membership of Harold S. Frankenheimer was sold yesterday to Morin S. Hare for $90,000, and the seat of Edward H. Roselle to Richmond Proskauer for $82,000. It was pointed out by officials of the New York Stock Exchange that two intermediary sales have been made of Exchange seats, one at $85,000 and one at $89,000. The names of the purchasers of these seats, however, have not yet been announced.

Up to the last month or so Stock Exchange seats were going at $75,000 to $80,000 and the recent sales reflect a sharp increase.

Would Issue Gold Notes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The St. Louis-San Francisco Railway Company today applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to issue $3,000,000 of 6 per cent. collateral gold notes in lieu of a note previously held by the Director General of Railroads, and to pledge as collateral security for the notes $4,000,000 of prior lien mortgage gold bonds.

Atlas Tack Reports Net Loss.

The Atlas Tack Corporation reported a net loss of $26,707 in the third quarter compared with a loss of $17,945 in the same period of 1923.

Rates Soar in Post-Election Boom —Sterling Features in Session of Heavy Trading.

The post-election boom in European exchanges carried on again yesterday. Transactions continued on an enormous scale, sweeping the general list at a fast pace to the highest points touched on the present movement, and in the case of sterling, guilders, Sweden and Norwegian kroner put these at new records for the year. It was a session of tremendous speculative and commercial buying in which not even the increased offerings of export paper, and the liquidation by previous longs, made more than a mere dent in the forward swing.

Sterling, of course, was the chief feature. London checks selling up to $4.62 15-16, a gross gain of 2 1-16 cents from Saturday's final, and unequalled since late May, 1923. An indication of the feverish bidding which went on in this remittance was shown by the report, unconfirmed up to the close, that one prominent institution made a bulk order of the business on its books at the time sterling was selling around the day's top and paid $4.63¼ for cable transfers, which would work out to a rate of $4.62 7-16 for checks.

Holland guilders at 40.02 cents established a price unequalled since December, 1922, and at this point was approximately three-eighths of a cent under par. Sweden and Norway exchanges sold at new highs at 26.86 cents and 14.91 cents, respectively. Other Continentals, including the French, Italian, Swiss, Belgian and Spanish, were strong and at substantial improvement over Saturday's closing. South Americans and Far Easterns also surged forward in keeping with strength elsewhere.

$20,000,000 LOAN BY NORTH CAROLINA

State Plans to Open Bids on Nov. 25 at a Rate Not to Exceed 4¾ Per Cent.

The largest piece of prospective public financing since the National City Company and associates sold $67,400,000 of City of New York 4¼ per cent. corporate stock and bonds on June 2 came into sight yesterday. It consists of $20,000,000 State of North Carolina highway and school bonds. The State will open bids on Nov. 25 and tenders will be made by at least four New York banking syndicates.

The bonds will mature in from five to thirty-nine years. The State stipulates that the coupon rate shall not be more than 4¾ per cent. Its last business done here consisted of $10,000,000 of 4¼ per cent. highway bonds, sold on a 4.35 per cent. basis to the First National Bank and associates, after spirited bidding.

It was also learned that a deal is pending whereby the Central Iowa Power & Light Company will receive $6,500,000 through the floating of that amount of first mortgage 6 per cent. Series A gold bonds, due Nov. 1, 1944. The issue is expected to be offered this week by A. C. Allyn & Co. and banking associates at par to yield 6 per cent. A public utility issue of larger amount was said also to be in prospect, to be floated by Dillon, Read & Co.

Sale of a new issue of $6,850,000 three-year convertible 6½ per cent. notes of the Skelly Oil Company, maturing Oct. 1, 1927, was announced yesterday by a banking group headed by Hayden, Stone & Co. and Luke, Banks & Weeks. The notes were sold at 101½ and carry the privilege of conversion into stock of the company at $25 per share for ever $25 face value of notes.

Offering of $1,836,000 Charlotte (N. C.) 4½ per cent. gold bonds, due Feb. 15 and March 1, 1926-1965, is made at prices to yield from 4 to 4.40 per cent. by the First National Bank, Redmond & Co., J. G. White & Co., Inc., and F. E. Calkins & Co. The bonds are issued for water, street, sewer, municipal and school building purposes.

Myron S. Hall & Co. have sold at 95, to yield 6.37 per cent., a new issue of $1,000,000 Erie Railway Company first and refunding mortgage 6 per cent. gold bonds, due Oct. 1, 1954. The company owns a street railway system in Erie, Pa., operating about sixty-seven miles of track and serving 128,000 people.

Closing of books is announced on issues offered yesterday. These consisted of $1,500,000 Philippine Government 4½ per cent. bonds, underwritten by the Chase Securities Corporation, Blair & Co., Inc.; Hallgarten & Co., White, Weld & Co. and Hornblower & Weeks, and of $1,000,000 Atlantic Joint Stock Land Bank 4 per cent. bonds, offered by William R. Compton Company, Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and Harris, Forbes & Co.

Heads of Twelve Federal Banks Meet in Washington to Discuss Policies.

Representatives of New York banks and industrial, public utility and railroad corporations, all of whom are looking forward to an era of business expansion, showed a lively interest yesterday in the meeting now being held in Washington by the Governors of the twelve Federal Reserve banks.

According to reports, the Governors would discuss ways and means of nursing the prosperity movement by aiding it with the best possible banking policies, and at the same time would discuss measures for keeping the prospective expansion from getting out of bounds. Memories of 1920, when American merchants and bankers woke up to find themselves financially winded after a hectic boom period, were said to be still fresh, and a repetition of such a disaster in 1924 and 1925 was to be avoided through the medium of early precautions.

Prior to the meeting, it was said that it would represent little more than a routine session at which the details of Federal Reserve banking practice would be discussed. However, Wall Street was inclined to believe yesterday that these discussions would be broadened to take into consideration more vital questions. The Advisory Council of the Federal Board, it was made evident several weeks ago, has already gone into the subject of future business policies, and it was said that more concern was felt over too rapid a pace of industrial development than over the possibility that an industrial revival might not come at all.

Gold inflation has been checked thus far, and it was said that Reserve Bank policy had been largely instrumental in averting this danger, which many British and European financiers believed unescapable. The Washington discussion would be utilized, according to this viewpoint, to go further into the study of possible gold inflation and to forestall it.

Prosperity indices were said yesterday to show fair weather in prospect. The foundation, according to financiers had been laid through the settlement of world wide problems in the last few months; first the clearing up of the reparations problem, then the floating of a loan to Germany, later the triumph of the Conservative Party in England and, last week, the removal of the so-called La Follette threat against American business.

Determining Value as a Basis for Financing

A check of all the substantial bond issues for a year shows that An American Appraisal is used more than four times as frequently as any other to determine the value of the buildings, equipment, land and other resources offered as security.

In financing, as in all other important operations involving provable and disinterested determination of values, An American Appraisal is The Authority.

THE AUTHORITY

The combined government taxes (Income, Excess Profits, and War Profits) on American Business in the disastrous year of 1921 were $701,575,000! Yet this enormous sum fell $54,125,000 short of equaling the enormous burden of bad debt losses for that same year. And this condition exists today and every year. Think of it! Think also how it could be which would immediately lift this bad debt burden and guarantee your resources against abnormal, unexpected losses. What's more, American Credit Insurance fixes and tends to reduce your normal expectancy of loss, thorough a collateral collection service that's the last word in efficiency.

Leading Manufacturers and Jobbers in all lines of business carry American Credit Insurance. May we call and explain just how our service will fit your business.

Notice to Holders of
NEW YORK SHIPBUILDING CORPORATION
FIRST MORTGAGE THIRTY-YEAR FIVE PER CENT. SINKING FUND GOLD BONDS
Dated November 1, 1916.
Due November 1, 1946.

Pursuant to Section 1 of Article Four of the Mortgage of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation to The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Trustee, dated November 1, 1916, securing its First Mortgage Thirty-Year Five Per Cent. Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, the undersigned Trustee hereby gives notice that the bonds of such issue will be purchased by the Trustee for the Sinking Fund provided in said mortgage, to an amount sufficient to exhaust one hundred eighty-seven thousand five hundred dollars ($187,500), being the moneys now held by it in such Sinking Fund. The Trustee hereby invites from the bondholders offers for the sale to it on November 24, 1924, of such bonds. As provided in said Mortgage, such offers shall in each case be for all or any part of the bonds so offered. The lowest offers to the aggregate amount not exceeding an amount sufficient to exhaust the moneys now held in the Sinking Fund will be accepted, provided that the price or prices accepted will in no event exceed, in addition to accrued interest, one hundred two and one-half per centum (102½%).

As soon as may be, on or on or after November 17, 1924, the undersigned Trustee will notify bondholders whose offers are accepted, so that delivery of the bonds covered by such acceptances may be made to the Trustee at its office in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on November 24, 1924.

All offers must be in writing, be enclosed in sealed envelopes, state the number or numbers of the bonds offered, and name the price or prices at which the same are offered.

All offers must be received at the office of the Trustee on or before noon of November 17, 1924.

THE UNION TRUST COMPANY OF PITTSBURGH, TRUSTEE.

To the Holders of Collateral Trust Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of Cutler Securities Corporation of Delaware, Formerly Cutler Mail Chute Company of Delaware:

Pursuant to Article IV. of the Indenture dated January 1, 1921, securing the Collateral Trust Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of Cutler Securities Corporation of Delaware, formerly Cutler Mail Chute Company of Delaware, the undersigned Trustee hereby gives notice that bonds of such issue will be purchased by the Trustee for the Sinking Fund provided in said Indenture, at prices not exceeding one hundred per cent. of the principal amount of said bonds and accrued interest in addition thereto, and to an aggregate amount sufficient to exhaust the moneys now held by it in such Sinking Fund, to wit, $30,641.42. Offerings are hereby invited from the bondholders. The lowest offers at not exceeding said price and to an aggregate amount not exceeding said sum of $30,641.42, now held in the Sinking Fund, will be accepted. If these bonds are offered at the same price by two or more bondholders in excess of the amount available for the purchase of said bonds, the right is reserved to accept part only of the bonds offered by any such bondholder.

All offers must be in writing, be enclosed in sealed envelopes, state the number or numbers of the bonds offered, and name the price or prices at which the same are offered, and must be received at the office of the Trustee on or before twelve o'clock noon of November 25th, 1924.

As soon as may be, on or after said date, the undersigned Trustee will notify, by mail at the addresses given by them in their offers, those bondholders whose offers are accepted. Delivery of the bonds covered by such acceptances must be made to the Trustee at its office, 115 Broadway, New York City, on or before December 10th, 1924.

Dated at New York, this 6th day of November, 1924.

CORN ESTIMATE UP 19,000,000 BUSHELS

CHANGES IN STATES VARY

Potatoes Top the Record Years of 1917 and 1922, and Tobacco Yield Is Short.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The smallest corn crop since 1913 was the reward of American farmers this year, who planted the fifth largest acreage to that crop in the history of farming. Not only was the harvest substantially below those of the last four years, but the merchantable quality of this year's crop is the lowest in thirty years, with the exception of 1917.

Preliminary estimates of production, issued today by the Department of Agriculture, placed the crop at 2,477,588,000 bushels, the acreage at 105,604,000, or 1.4 per cent. more than last year, and the merchantable quality of the crop at 63.2 per cent. Corn production during the last four years has averaged more than 3,000,000,000 bushels.

Production averaged 23.5 bushels per acre, as compared with 29.2 bushels last year and 27.6 bushels, the ten-year average. Sections that were not frosted made material gains over earlier expectations, and an increase of about 19,000,000 bushels in the total crop over last month resulted. Much corn that was frosted in Iowa, the largest producing State, and other States had dried out with a minimum of souring and molding, though much of the frosted corn is chaffy, shriveled and loose on the cob.

Stocks of old corn on farms Nov. 1 were estimated at 101,924,000 bushels, or 8.3 per cent. of the 1923 crop, compared with 83,856,000 bushels a year ago and 107,330,000 bushels, the average of the preceding five years.

The white potato crop, estimated at 454,119,000 bushels, is slightly larger than the big crops of 1917 and 1922, yields in Northern States running far above earlier expectations because in some regions the crop escaped frost and continued growing far into October. Per capita production this year is 4.08 bushels, compared with an average of 3.76 bushels per capital during the last twenty years.

The average yield ran to 121 bushels per acre, as compared with 99.1 bushels in the ten-year average.

FOR CORN.

Penn.	53,244,000	Missouri	119,114,000
Ohio	93,262,000	S. Dakota	104,162,000
Indiana	124,281,000	Nebraska	197,856,000
Illinois	302,775,000	Kansas	137,241,000
Wisconsin	86,570,000	Kentucky	74,000,000
Minnesota	126,336,000	Texas	79,232,000
Iowa	328,640,000	Oklahoma	66,912,000

FOR WHITE POTATOES.

Maine	38,486,000	Wisconsin	33,230,000
New York	46,625,000	Minnesota	49,444,000
Penn.	26,782,000	N. Dakota	14,076,000
Ohio	10,455,000	Colorado	11,155,000
Michigan	38,227,000	Idaho	10,921,000

Drought in important Southern producing States greatly reduced the sweet potato crop, estimated at 75,620,000 bushels, or about 25,000,000 bushels below the five-year average and the smallest crop since 1916.

Flaxseed production returned this year to the high level of the period from 1902 to 1908 and a total crop of 30,652,000 bushels is estimated, passing the record crop of 1902 by more than 1,000,000 bushels.

Tobacco production is 361,000,000 pounds less than last year, with a total crop of 1,213,975,000 pounds estimated. Bright tobacco shows a decrease of 115,000,000 pounds, cigar types 63,000,000 and Maryland and Eastern Ohio export types 1,817,000. Quality of the crop varies in New England, is good in Pennsylvania, not so good in the Miami Valley of Ohio, and poor in Wisconsin. Quality in Kentucky will depend upon rains. Maryland export suffered some from frost. Bright tobacco in the main producing regions is slightly better in quality than last year, though still low. The apple crop, estimated at 177,238,000 bushels, is slightly above the five-year average but smaller than last year. Prospects are particularly poor in Washington, Idaho, Michigan and in commercial sections of Pennsylvania, and Maryland. The total commercial crop is estimated at 27,188,000 barrels.

The harvest of pears has been exceeded only once, in 1920. Production has about doubled since 1909. California leads with 4,867,000 bushels.

Peanuts suffered from unfavorable weather, the smallest crop since the Government began to keep a record, the estimate being 562,535,000 pounds.

The weight per measured bushel of grains was announced as follows: Wheat, 58.9 pounds, against 57.4 last year; oats, 33.4 pounds, against 32.1; barley, 47.0 pounds, against 45.3.

Acreage and indicated yield for the corn crop, as estimated yesterday by the Government, compare as follows with the estimates of the preceding month and of the same month last year:

Acreage—	Nov. 1, 1924.	Oct. 1, 1924.	Nov. 1, 1923.
	105,406,000	105,406,000	103,112,000
Indicated crop (bu.)—
	2,477,588,000	2,459,000,000	3,029,192,000

	Acreage.	Crop, Bushels.
1924	105,604,000	2,477,588,000
1923	104,158,000	3,046,387,000
1922	102,846,000	2,906,020,000
1921	103,740,000	3,068,569,000
1920	101,690,000	3,230,150,000
1919	97,170,000	2,816,318,000
1918	104,467,000	2,502,665,000

The successive monthly forecasts of the corn yield this season have been as follows: In July 2,515,000,000 bushels; in August, 2,576,000,000; in September, 2,513,000,000; in October, 2,459,000,000; in November, 2,477,588,000.

The forecast of corn production in thousands of bushels, by the principal producing States, was as follows, compared with the October forecasts and the actual harvest of 1923:

	November Estimate.	October Estimate.	Actual 1923.
Pennsylvania	53,244	48,556	61,640
Ohio	93,262	90,651	159,859
Indiana	124,281	115,222	192,616

Nebraska	197,856	208,834	272,032
Kansas	137,241	148,578	122,149

Preliminary estimates of production of other crops compare as follows with the actual harvests of 1923 and with the 1918-1922 averages; figures in thousands of bushels, except where other measurements by thousands are indicated:

	Nov., 1924, estimate.	1923, actual.	Five-year aver.

ORDERS $10,000,000 RAIL CONSTRUCTION

$4,500,000 IN NEW CARS

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Buys Varied Equipment—Other Inquiries Received.

A contract for construction work involving an expenditure of $10,000,000 was awarded yesterday by the Illinois Central Railroad; the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railroad placed orders for new equipment and the General Railway Signal Company announced that the Great Northern had placed orders for 400 miles of signaling.

In line with this activity is the report that equipment makers since Sept. 1 have received orders valued at $100,000,000. Another $100,000,000 has been hinging on the outcome of the election, and it is now believed that the greater portion of these orders will be placed within the next few weeks.

The contracts for $10,000,000 of work awarded by the Illinois Central yesterday include the bridges and grading on the 168-mile Edwood cut-off which will run through Southern Illinois. This road when completed will give the Illinois Central another line from Kentucky to Chicago, and at the same time will materially reduce the grade, the curvature and the distance. The contracts were widely distributed, according to the advice received from Chicago.

The new equipment purchased by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé will total more than $4,500,000. It includes 500 refrigerator cars, 500 gondolas and 1,000 box cars. The refrigerator and gondolas are from the American Car and Foundry Company and the 1,000 box cars from the Pullman Company. According to officials of the company, this is the last equipment order the Atchison will place this year.

Another order reported was that of the Southern Railway for 1,000 steel underframes for freight cars. The purchase was made from the Briginia Bridge and Iron Works.

Among the new inquiries for equipment was that of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern for 500 steel underframes.

COMMODITY PRICES.

Cash Coffee Advances to Record High Figure—Substantial Improvement in Other Staples.

Cash coffee established another new high price in yesterday's trading, No. 7 Rio advancing 1¼ cents to 25 cents, a level several cents beyond the maximum touched in the post-war inflationary period of 1910-20. On basis of present consumption it is expected that current Brazilian crop of slightly less than 10,000,000 bags, supplemented by other coffee, will fall far short of the world demand. Eggs was another staple to move into new high ground at 46@52 cents, an advance of 2 cents over previous top. Grains, cotton, lead, copper and tin also showed higher values, while provisions and other metals were steady.

Following are the cash prices for the principal commodities in the wholesale markets at the close of business Monday, a week before and a year ago. Prices are those of the New York cash markets, unless otherwise indicated:

COTTON UP SHARPLY IN A BROAD MARKET

MAY CROSSES 25 CENTS

The cotton market broadened out yesterday under the largest volume of business in some time and the buying movement swept prices upward nearly a cent a pound. Activity that succeeded Saturday's Government report attracted interests that had been doing little during the buoyant stock and grain markets, so that quotations started the day at a sharp advance. With sterling at $4.63, new high figures for the year, with domestic mills showing more disposition to secure raw material and absence of definite selling pressure from the South, January sold at 24½ cents, while May crossed the 25 cent level. Final prices showed a gain of 73 to 80 points.

An accumulation of over-Sunday buying orders started the week with an advance of 20 to 30 points and demand for cotton both here and in New Orleans very similar to that at lower levels the Monday following the previous Washington report, caused a steady advance in later trading. The action of grain and securities following the election last week encouraged speculative activity, while the reluctance of Southern holders to sell freely at recent lower price levels, increased the demand from many quarters.

Europe has thus far been a more persistent buyer of raw material than domestic spinners, and a healthier dry goods situation developed broader buying from nearly all sources. Commission house business expanded and the South failed to offer a sufficient amount of cotton in the shape of hedges to retard the upward movement. Contracts discharged from the ring to a degree that rushed the list up virtually a cent a pound, or a rise of a cent and a half from levels prevailing immediately before the report on Saturday.

Quotations at the Southern spot markets were advanced 50 to 85 points on sales of about 48,000 bales. This brought prices in Galveston to 24.35 and in New Orleans to 24.30, while the December position in New York closed at 24.12.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

Live Stock Markets at Chicago.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Receipts of 77,000 hogs were above expectations, but the largest shipping orders in over seven months and higher prices for provisions and corn, tended to prevent a material decline. Values were 25 cents lower at the start, but part of the loss was regained toward the last, with a top of $10.10 and a day's average of $9.35. Shippers took 21,000, the largest for any day since last March. Fat lamb values dropped 50 cents due to a material increase in offerings. The year's top was $13.75, although a few fancy light sold to city butchers at $14.15. Feeders sold up to $14.50 for 59-pound Dakotas. Aged sheep were generally steady. Receipts were 30,000. The better grades of steers were steady but other kinds declined 15@20 cents lower. Receipts were 23,000. Best heavy steers topped at $10.50 and yearlings at $13.00.

THE NEW

Steinway BUILDING

109—113 West 57th Street
106—116 West 58th Street
A 15 Story Office and Business Building

Advertising Agencies

DECIDING upon the location of an advertising agency involves accessibility along with character in the building.

The prestige of the New Steinway Building is already established; its accessibility is evident.

The space, which may be entire floors of 11,730, 11,000 or 8,600 sq. ft., or smaller units, lends itself to practical and economical partitioning for executive and general offices, and segregation of departments.

The office floors are soundproof. The light is practically continuous on four sides, with low adjoining structures. There are 40 windows, for example, on the 9th floor of 11,730 sq. ft.; while the 14th and 15th floors of 8,600 sq. ft. have 35 windows. North light on the 100 ft. width of building assures ideal exposure for art department.

Leases are being made for occupancy during the Spring of 1925. We invite you to see the plans, and learn the details of the New Steinway Building.

1440 BROADWAY

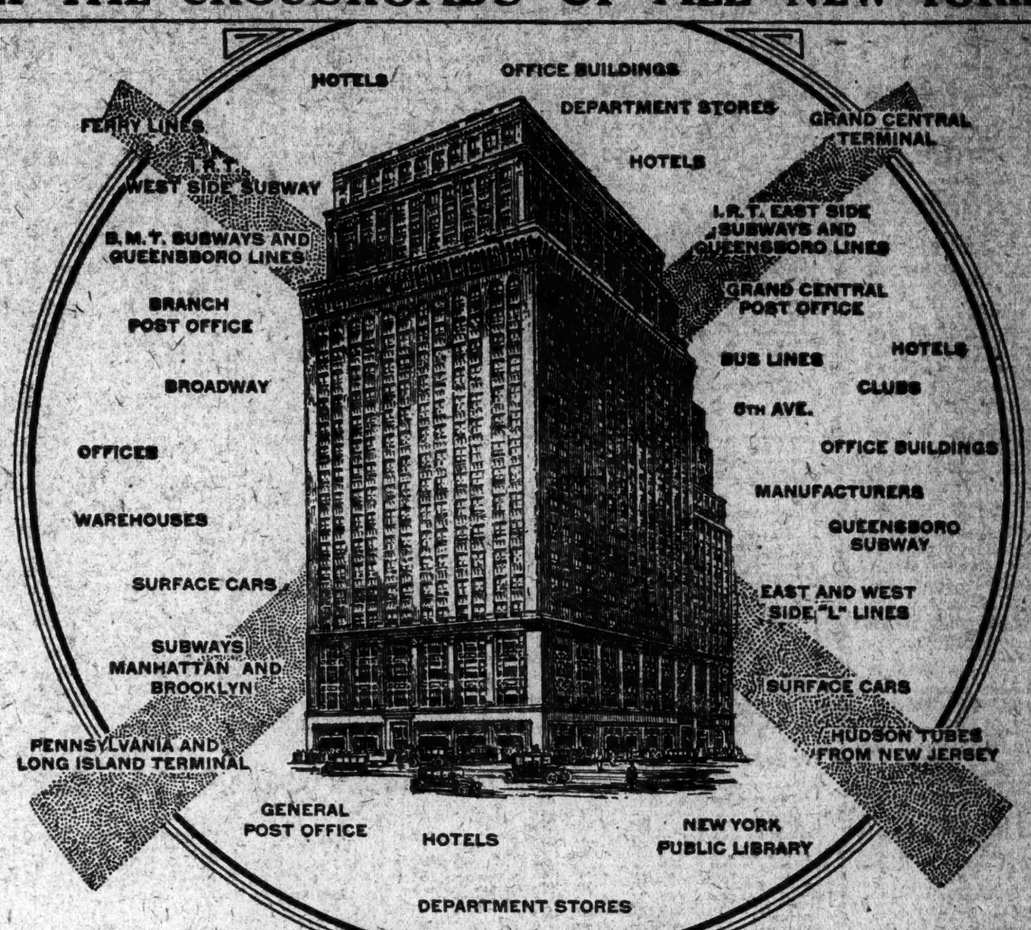
AT THE CROSSROADS OF ALL NEW YORK!



MAKE a memorandum of what you require for complete satisfaction in a new business home—then compare what you need with what is offered in the new 25 story, giant-like, office building—1440 BROADWAY.

It stands at the CROSS ROADS OF ALL NEW YORK—midway between the Railroad Terminals—with Subways at the door—and surrounded by all the other Transit Facilities of the city.

Its location will give tenants a valuable advantage—saving time—conserving energy—helping to get the day's work done "on time."

A new and improved service to tenants will make this building unique in its promptness of service and completeness of accommodations.

A study of the floor plans of 1440 BROADWAY will show how its arrangement of floor space gives maximum light with a conservation of footage. Ready for occupancy February 1925.

Floors range from 15,260 to 24,200 square feet, designed to permit sub-division in any size, according to your needs.

PENNSYLVANIA BUILDING

Facing Pennsylvania Terminal

The Gateway to BIG Business

Tenants of the PENNSYLVANIA BUILDING will have select neighbors.

The whole building is characteristic of strength—dependability—dignity. The spacious marble entrance and halls reflect business efficiency.

This 22 story building will have many different types of enterprises—large and small—but only ONE standard of business character.

MALE HELP WANTED.
Salesmen.

SALESMEN,

LOCAL AND TRAVELING.

We are receiving numerous letters from our customers all over the country asking us to have our representative call on their friends.

We are receiving daily many repeat orders over the telephone and through the mail. You won't have to look for new business for your income, as we pay on repeat orders the same as original order.

Our plants at Hammondsport and Rheims, N. Y., are working at full capacity day and night to keep orders filled.

WILL PAY YOUR COMMISSIONS UPON RECEIPT OF ORDERS.

This company, established in 1879, 45 years ago, has a high rating in Dun's and Bradstreet's.

We have openings for several executive salesmen who can handle men.

Out-of-town men write.

THE TAYLOR COMPANY,
Butte 1117 and 1118.
162 West 42d St.

SALESMEN.

Does an income of from $50-$90 per week interest you?

These are the bona fide earnings of our salesmen during the past month, and most of them are new men recently added to our sales organization.

This company is now conducting an aggressive advertising campaign among the consumers of electric current and offers a real opportunity to a number of earnest, intelligent, energetic young men to engage in the Electrical Appliance Business.

Our men receive a thorough training in practical selling and are given real help in obtaining business which enables them to earn substantial commissions right from the start.

The company sells a large variety of useful Electrical Appliances that are in constant demand all the year round, and the opportunity for building up a personal clientele is unlimited.

Come in and have a real talk about our business with Mr. Stadstad, 34 West 33d St., between 10 A. M. and 2 P. M. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

THE UNITED ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER CO.

SALESMEN.

Men of selling ability are offered an opportunity to secure very large earnings by joining a selling organization, now being developed, as distributor of a new, revised and popular book specialty which is endorsed and recommended by the most prominent men in the country and city, and needed by every business and professional man; no canvassing in this territory; leads furnished, and full cooperation given.

Experience in our line not needed; we train you, and demonstrate by actual closing of prospects in your presence.

The industrious salesman, on our liberal commission basis, can earn in excess of $100 a week; in other territories men are running from $800 to $1,500 a month.

See Salesmanager,
Room 407, 13 Astor Place.

SALESMEN.

We are sorry we cannot tell you personally of the huge sums our men are earning regularly every week; you owe it to yourself to call for a few minutes and investigate; you can't lose, and the few minutes you spend may be the beginning of an extremely bright future; the work is an introductory sale of official source records, backed by the largest military organization of the world; demonstrator takes you out and keeps showing you until you can "put it over" yourself; should you prefer territory outside city, will advance expenses; when you are familiar with proposition; commission basis; you are cordially invited to call, 10 to 12, 2 to 4.

MALE HELP WANTED.

SALESMEN.

I have for some qualified man in this city an exceptional business opportunity which ordinarily would require an investment of capital on his part.

In this case he will not need his own capital provided he can meet fully with requirements of the situation. He will have to have a reasonable measure of real sales ability and very much more than average executive potentialities. Whether or not he has previously made large earnings will not materially matter. However, he must be a man whose ambition is commensurate with his own working ability. We want a big minded business man who believes sincerely in highest and who will just as sincerely value a legitimate opportunity, limited solely by his own business reach.

In addition to the unusual opportunity linked with this opening, he will have the further valuable advantage of becoming associated with some very prominent New York business men in a strong and established corporation. He will have the opportunity to represent these men in the sale of an excellent security. A substantial commission provision will make very satisfactory earnings attainable from the start. If a man between 25 and 48 who can provide the highest character references and meet the aforementioned requirements this will be a rare chance to establish himself in business in a big way. W 279 Times.

SALESMEN.

A large manufacturer of guaranteed floor coverings, with branches and warehouses in most of the largest cities, has several openings in the sales force for the calibre of salesmen who have had successful sales experience in the smaller towns and villages, who show possibilities of developing into branch managers.

This company will only consider serious-minded men of the higher type, as the liberal commission arrangement it makes with its men in restricted territories enables them to earn $5,000 to $10,000 a year, as will be demonstrated to the men we employ right in their own territories.

While floor covering experience is an advantage, it is not essential, as each man is given approximately a week's training in the house before being sent on the road with a district sales manager, for which time he is paid a nominal salary of $50.

Do not apply unless you have an automobile, preferably of the smaller coupe type; can show a successful sales record in small towns, and are willing to work hard five and a half days a week, calling on every general store, furniture and hardware dealer in your territory.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The tropical disturbance remains practically stationary over extreme Eastern Cuba without change in intensity. The disturbance that was over Wyoming Sunday night has advanced to Minnesota and a second one to central over Eastern Colorado. High pressure prevails in the Atlantic States, with principal centre over New England. Pressure is high on the Middle Pacific Coast and relatively high over Saskatchewan.

During the last twenty-four hours rains have occurred in the Pacific States, in the Upper Mississippi Valley and the lower lake region, and rains and snows in the Middle and Northern Plateau and Northern Rocky Mountain regions. It has become decidedly warmer over the Southern Plains States, the West Gulf States and the Missouri and Middle and Upper Mississippi Valleys. It has become cooler in the Northern Rocky Mountain region and the Northern Plains States. Elsewhere changes have been unimportant.

The outlook is for unsettled weather, with showers in the Ohio Valley and Western lower lake region on Tuesday and in the Ohio Valley, the lower lake region and the north portions of the Middle Atlantic States Wednesday. It will be warmer Tuesday in the Ohio Valley and lower lake region and Wednesday in the Middle and North Atlantic States. Elsewhere in the States east of the Mississippi River the weather will be generally fair.

The tropical disturbance remains practically stationary over extreme Eastern Cuba, and strong winds are indicated for that vicinity in the next twenty-four hours.

COMPARATIVE WEATHER CONDITIONS.

In the following record of observations at United States Weather Bureau stations you will notice that the temperatures given are the highest during the twelve hours from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M. and the lowest during the preceding twelve hours from 8 P. M. to 8 A. M.; the barometer reading and condition of weather are those recorded at 8 P. M., and the rainfall is for the twenty-four hours ended at 8 P. M.

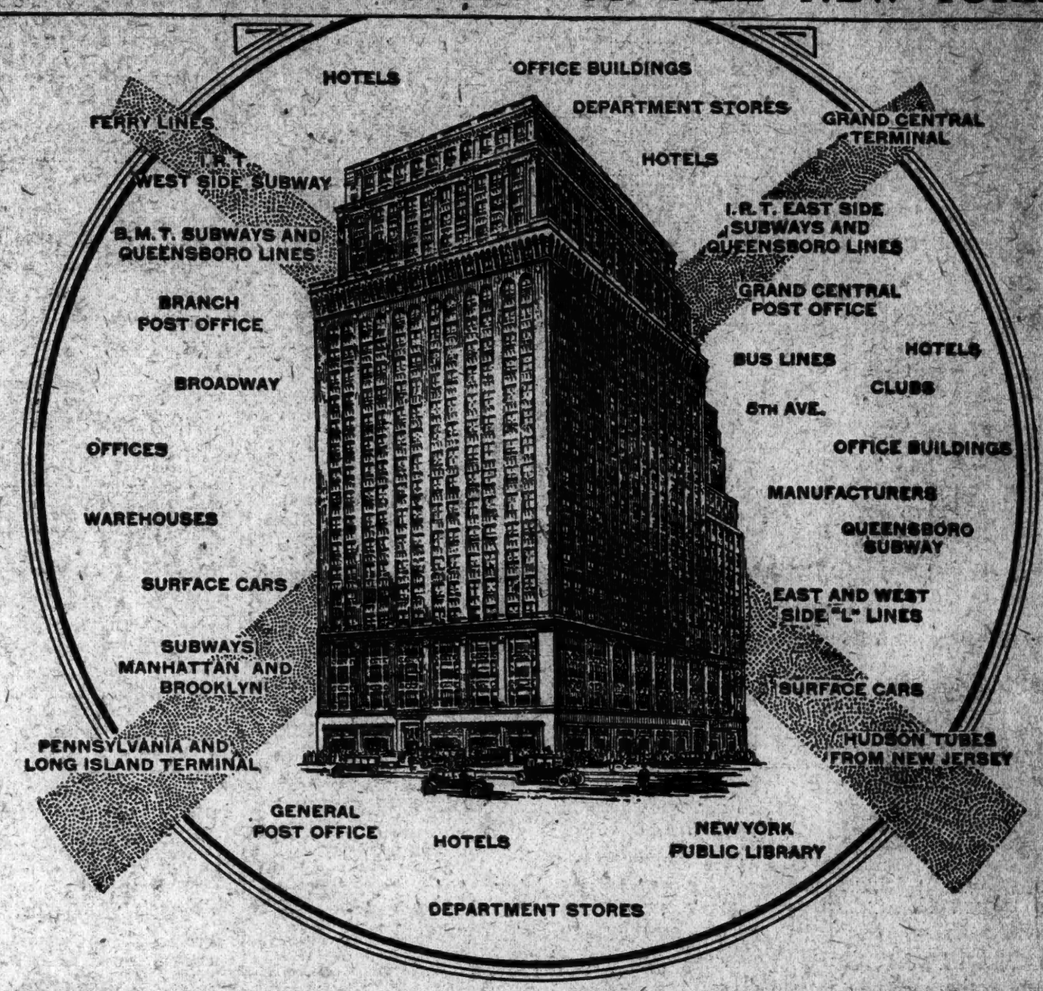
AT THE CROSSROADS OF ALL NEW YORK!



MAKE a memorandum of what you require for complete satisfaction in a new business home—then compare what you need with what is offered in the new 25 story, giant-like, office building—1440 BROADWAY.

It stands at the CROSS ROADS OF ALL NEW YORK—midway between the Railroad Terminals—with Subways at the door—and surrounded by all the other Transit Facilities of the city.

Its location will give tenants a valuable advantage—saving time—conserving energy—helping to get the day's work done "on time."

A new and improved service to tenants will make this building unique in its promptness of service and completeness of accommodations.

A study of the floor plans of 1440 BROADWAY will show how its arrangement of floor space gives maximum light with a conservation of footage. Ready for occupancy February 1925.

Floors range from 15,260 to 24,200 square feet, designed to permit sub-division in any size, according to your needs.

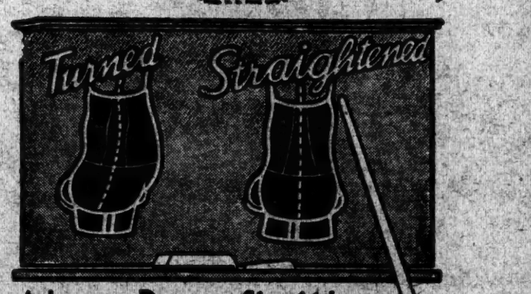
The Coward Shoe



A Lesson Parents Should Learn

When children's ankles "turn" it is a sign of weakening in the bony structure of foot and ankle. The Coward Arch Support Shoe is made to overcome this defect.

The Coward Extension heel, extending well forward, gives proper and effective support to arch and ankle. The Orthopedic last permits free and natural development while it grips the heel and ankle gently but firmly.

Growing, active children need this shoe.

Spots On Clothing
May now be easily and quickly removed with NACTO
The Perfect Fabric Cleaner

Leaves no "ring" and cleans absolutely CLEAN—the heaviest grease, tar, paint, oil, grime and greasy food spots—no matter how stubborn or how old.

A clean rag, a few drops of NACTO—rub the spot and it's out—instantly! Will not injure fabrics or colors. Works like magic on materials of all kinds—goes twice as far as ordinary cleaners and is much more effective.

Nacto Removes Chewing Gum

Non-Explosive—Safe to Use

For Cleaning Auto Upholstery Nacto is used and recommended by leading motor car manufacturers.

In cans or bottles—10c, 25c, 50c—at drug and auto supply stores. If your dealer cannot supply you, phone Harlem 5048, or write Nacto Cleaner Corp., Madison Ave. and 126th St., N. Y.
